Hey Everybody, it's Jimbo! – Very Frank Words – 059 (11/28/15) 33:18 [751] Very Frank Words - art by Clara Tse ¶ Way back in 2003 the late 1990's and early 2000's, internet podcast pioneer Frank Edward Nora wrote a bunch of lyrics for a New Jersey "Folk Space Rock" band called 'Fuzzy Daupner' [history] [songs/lyrics]. Most of the lyrics Frank wrote were turned into music by the band and performed at many locales. ¶ In the Spring of 2015, Jimbo ran across these songs for the first time while doing the show, The Frank Nora Time Machine – Hosted by Jimbo. Long story short, Jimbo asked Frank if he could take a shot at writing his own music for some/parts of those same lyrics – but not in the conventional way – more like – the 'Jimbo way'. ¶ Jimbo shuffled his feet and never did do much of anything with the lyrics – until about two weeks ago. And what you have here is the creation of the two. The lyrics are very Frank-like and the music is… well… Jimbo-like. Frank liked what he heard and Jimbo was also pleased and so the project has been released for all to hear. ¶ Jimbo chose the name 'Fuzzy Wuzzy' for this project (in an obvious homage to Fuzzy Daupner). ¶ All words by Frank Edward Nora. All music by Jimbo. The wonderful artwork is by Clara Tse (many thanks!) and a lot of PQ Ribber influence from his 'Shocking Baby Secrets'. What we have here is an Overnightscape Underground musical eruption. ¶ If you wish, you can download the this entire project (iTunes-ready) here. ¶ THE SONGS: 01 Stimulating Rio .. 02 Jar of Air from Dreamland .. 03 Boring Books Other People Read .. 04 I Had an Open Mind .. 05 Rows and Columns .. 06 Was Dana Plato a Loser? .. 07 Always Forget to Water My Plants .. 08 I Have Agreed .. 09 Inelegant Remains of Ice Cream Cake .. 10 Afraid of the Real Real Thing .. 11 Field of Silly Flowers .. 12 Sketching Dragons with Crayons .. 13 Dirty Fingers .. 14 Sign of the Malls .. 15 Sad Old Trees .. 16 Out of Phase .. 17 Love is All Around Me (Circle) .. 18 Is Anything Ever Gonna Be Easier? .. 19 Trapped .. 20 I'm A Pretty Cool Guy .. 21 Gun Metal Grey .. 22 You Could Be Mine .. 23 That's All I Got .. 24 Let Me Shut Off ¶ * The Crazy World of Vic and Sade ¶ * All Jimbo's Onsug music and more: Soundcloud page

Hey Everybody, it's Jimbo! – Special: Best of Jimbo QS 1 – 091 (2/19/16) 49:46 [751] In early 2014, Jimbo took it to heart when he heard PQ Ribber, of The Quaquaversal Satellite, ask his listeners for contributions to his show. ¶ It began small and quietly but then it all kind of snowballed into this Yeti-like monster known as “Jimbo”. Before you knew it, Jimbo was recording almost everyday and his monologues got longer and longer. ¶ For the first month or so, Jimbo didn’t keep any show notes, so a lot of the material there on the QS was ‘unknown’. But today, the best of that material re-reaches the light of day and Jimbo presents you with “The Best of Jimbo from the Quakquaversal Satellite sessions, Part 1!” ¶ This is not a timid fellow. He was new to podcasting and he’s experimenting with all kinds of ideas. The sound isn’t always great, but this is one kooky guy letting it all hang out. ¶ A thousand “thank yous” to PQ for allowing me to use this material from his show, for considering me “family” and for allowing me to ruin his show for months with my mindless monologues and goofy stuff. ¶ * includes the bonus: “Special Talent”, (2016) based on a 2014 QS bit ¶ contents ¶ not live but alive .. Hey Everybody, it's Jimbo! – 161 My Old OTR Podcasts (4/5/17) 35:28 [913] In 2010-11, not knowing what I was doing and having the world's worst microphone, I haphazardly began recording a series of short podcasts about various aspects of old-time radio. Even to this day, this is not really done anywhere and it's my belief that someone could have a really popular show (maybe even with sponsors) if they knew what they were doing and would dedicate a few hours a week to such an endeavor. I didn't play OTR shows back then, I would simply state my opinions about various aspects of OTR. At the time, it was the most popular thing I did online BY FAR – and I did it with absolutely ZERO funds. I remember trying hard to obtain a microphone, but to no avail (I was homeless, then). It wasn't too long after I began this that I found "Vic and Sade" — which literally changed my life (seriously)! ¶ Anyway, none of the audio here sounds great. I had in mind a 10 minute daily show. Somehow, I ran out of steam early on, despite the fact that I had plenty of faithful listeners and followers right off the bat (plus, I was plugged into a community that was — and still is — eager for this sort of thing). ¶ I just talked about whatever I wanted to talk about in the world of old-time radio. Here are a sample of a few of my shows: ¶ CONTENTS: ¶ I Hate 'Herman the Duck' (Burns and Allen) .. I Don't Like Mary Livingstone (The Jack Benny Program) .. Gale Gordon (various shows) .. Hey Everybody, it's Jimbo! – 164 Ten Random Two Minute Clips from Vic and Sade (4/12/17) 20:33 [913] The other day, in the tremendous (if I may say so) ONS Central podcast I mentioned that you could probably take 2 minute clips of random "Vic and Sade" episodes and find 'genius'. I'm not sure if I said those words exactly, but I pretty much said that. ¶ So I sat down and picked 10 random episodes of "Vic and Sade". It just so happens that 8 of 10 of these are from 1939 and 1940. But again, it was random. Then I chose 2 minute segments out of each. ¶ Five of the episodes I chose the time segment 2 minutes to 4 minutes. The remaining episodes, I chose clips from the 3 minute to 5 minute mark. ¶ Can 'genius' be found? ¶ CLIP 1: 40-01-09 Boys Copy Numbers Sade Tells Gossip // CLIP 2: 44-06-16 Piercing Blue Eyes // CLIP 3: 41-04-04 Dinner Invitation Withdrawn // CLIP 4: 39-11-21 Smelly Clark Solicits Gifts // CLIP 5: 39-01-02 Lodge Regalia Out On Loan // CLIP 6: 1939 Letter to Walter // CLIP 7: 40-05-03 Engine Cab Ride to Chicago // CLIP 8: 39-04-03 Rush Draws List of Acquaintances // CLIP 9: 39-09-xx Mr Gumpox Offers Sade A Stall // CLIP 10: 40-07-13 Short Bio of Little Dipper ¶ "Vic and Sade" was created and written by Paul Rhymer. Hey Everybody, it's Jimbo! – 165 PQ Ribber Hates Jimbo (4/13/17) 13:42 [913] PQ Ribber recently released an album called WYOMING ESCALATOR 3 under the pseudonym, "Nitroglycerine Pep Club". Jimbo contributed to some of the songs on that piece of work. ¶ However, during the making of the album, PQ and Jimbo exchanged musical ideas numerous times. Many of these were violently* rejected by Mr. Ribber and a sad Jimbo was left to lick his wounds. ¶ Until now! Jimbo takes most of the songs Mr. Ribber rejected and has turned them into this EP that he calls, "PQ Ribber Hates Jimbo". ¶ All of the songs here (except the very first two) were originally written by PQ Ribber – Jimbo just added junk on top of what was there. ¶ * it wasn't so much "violence" as it was PQ was probably altered "burrito-hungry" and just forgot where he put the files. ¶ Hopefully everyone knows this is all in jest! PQ is "ok" :) Seriously, thanks to PQ for his great music! ¶ I really don't know the names/titles of these songs. Ask PQ Ribber.

Hey Everybody, it's Jimbo – 182 Dawn (9/8/17) 18:19 [918] A very creepy recording that was recorded in SE Georgia; first of all, I was with the recorder the whole time and heard none of the sounds on this recording except the demonic owl (at about 4:15) which was a very spooky moment and the other animals (dogs, roosters, crickets) and a falling pine cone or two. But the other spooky moment involved a very bright floating object that acted like a slow-motion hang-glider which I noticed about halfway through the recording. It had to have been over the ocean and it didn't look like anything I recognize. Associated with this(?) are the odd tones picked up on the recording all the way through it. I had the recorder in the same place I recorded the other ambient sounds during this "Irma Project" that I am doing and the "tones" were inaudible to my ear and it was virtually quiet outside. So who knows what I recorded? When you listen to the audio (headphones suggested) keep in mind what is written here about the floating object. The whole experience was a surreal event. (Recorded 9/8/2017 at 05:40 EDT, I used a dead cat but there was no wind)

Hey Everybody, it's Jimbo! – 184 Questions for Dave from Wisconsin! (9/10/17) 34:13 [918] The ONSUG is fortunate. Every now and then, someone really cool and well-rounded finds us. "Dave from Wisconsin" (aka Dave Duckert) found "Vic and Sade" YEARS before Jimbo did – but that led him to Jimbo and Jimbo led him to the ONSUG! Dave is lots of fun and is full of homespun humor and stories and has been a virtual staple on the Overnightscape Central for months now. Jimbo has put him under his hypnotic power to do his bidding in his attempt to control all of Obliviana!!! But for real, Jimbo is getting to know Dave just like you are. Ask him a few questions in the comment section if you want. The MK Ultra keyword phrase to activate Dave is “beef punkles”. ¶ Jimbo asked Dave (and Dave’s special guests) about: “Vic and Sade” .. Hometownville

Hosted by Jimbo

Hometownville is a village somewhere around turn of the 20th century Alaska. They have a little technology and the government has used goats to cause the Mandela Effect. Yeah, it's really, really confusing and absurd – the way it ought to be — in a fun show!

Hometownville: Episode 08 – WTF 1.0 (10/15/16) 19:26 [907]

The show, "Hometownville", wasn't always the award-winning your-sides-will-ache audio program that you currently enjoy on ONSUG. About 7 weeks ago, Jimbo sat down and created this monologue, which was to be the beginning of Episode One.

You will hear voices you don't normally hear in the "community igloo" and plenty of other strange stuff – including the ill-fated Mayor Whatchamcallit. Hold on to your loved one, this could be quite a ride!

For fun and nostalgia, Jimbo brings back to life (ala' Gadzooks!) several fun skits from Hometownville. This is not necessarily "The Best of", but more of a representation of the show that we all look back on with fondness.

In reality, the show was doomed for failure because of logistics. But we gave it a shot and certainly, many good things – including memories and smiles – came out of it.

Saved From Oblivion

2014-2015
Hosted by Jimbo

Jimbo takes you into his own, hand-picked treasures of old-time radio. He tells you just a bit about the episode and then lets the show do the talking. For brevitiy, this show and all future shows, will last 40 minutes or less.

Saved From Oblivion – Ghost Hunt (4/20/14) 27:11 [752] Welcome to Saved from Oblivion! ¶ Jimbo takes you into his own, hand-picked treasures of old-time radio. He tells you just a bit about the episode and then lets the show do the talking. For brevitiy, this show and all future shows, will last 40 minutes or less. ¶ Today's show features Ralph Edwards, who is known mostly for his game show hosting. However, in this episode of Suspense, Edwards gets a real chance to act. ¶ Check out "Ghost Hunt" (from 1949). Jimbo's all-time favorite Suspense episode!

Saved From Oblivion – Lear Guess What (4/21/14) 28:00 [752] Welcome to another Saved from Oblivion! ¶ Jimbo takes you into his own, hand-picked treasures of old-time radio. He tells you just a bit about the episode and then lets the show do the talking. For brevitiy, each show will last 40 minutes or less. ¶ Today's show features two short programs. The first show features Orson Welles, in a show simply known by the sponsor's name: Lear. He gives us his own news commentary of the day (in post-war July 1946) and my bet is that he will surprise you with his passion and charisma, as he reveals his feelings about an African-American veteran who was unjustly abused by the police. ¶ The second program, called Guess What, is much lighter. It's an interactive quiz program. When you play along and try your own hand at the quiz, you will find it's not so easy. This show was directed at the late teen and young adult audience. Were kids in the early 1950's that much smarter than us, with our internet?

Saved From Oblivion – Overly Dramatic Etymologies (4/22/14) 26:54 [752] Welcome to another Saved from Oblivion! ¶ Jimbo takes you into his own, hand-picked treasures of old-time radio. He tells you just a bit about the episode and then lets the show do the talking. For brevitiy, each show will last 40 minutes or less. ¶ Today's show features many short programs. The first show, The Police Reporters, is the episode called, "The Omelet that Cost a Man His Head". It's from 1933. It's proof that 90% of radio in the early 1930's was perhaps a little too dramatic. However, this is what makes it fun, listening to the theatrics. ¶ The second program, and those after it are from the more intelligent program, but a very short 1959 series called, Basil Rathbone, Word Detective. Mr. Rathbone, a well-versed Shakespearean actor of note, did these programs for Underwood typewriters. What we have here are word/phrase etymologies presented to us in his wonderful style. Fun and informative!

Saved From Oblivion – Nightwatch (4/23/14) 29:52 [752] Welcome to another Saved from Oblivion! ¶ Jimbo takes you into his own, hand-picked treasures of old-time radio. He tells you just a bit about the episode and then lets the show do the talking. For brevitiy, each show will last 40 minutes or less. ¶ Today's show features a program called, Nightwatch. In the middle to late 1950's, Nightwatch was a Cops-like radio show, where a man with a tape recorder went out with the Culver City, California police on calls. The results are sometimes bizarre and other times mundane. ¶ The best part of all, is that you get a window into 1950's life (usually the seedier side) and you'll get a view of how "the other half" lived.

Saved From Oblivion – Dunninger (4/27/14) 28:16 [752] Welcome to another Saved from Oblivion! ¶ Jimbo takes you into his own, hand-picked treasures of old-time radio. He tells you just a bit about the episode and then lets the show do the talking. For brevitiy, each show will last 40 minutes or less. ¶ Today's show features a program called, Dunninger. Born Joseph Dunninger, this performer blazed a path few took: he was radio's number one mentalist, seer, etc. Despite claiming to debunk spiritualism, he himself performed the same sleight of hand! ¶ He was in league with Houdini and others and is said to be the model for The Shadow! Hoo hoo hoo ha ha ha ha! ¶ This episode comes from 1944.

Saved From Oblivion – A L Alexander's Board of Mediation (4/29/14) 29:57 [752] Welcome to another Saved from Oblivion!Jimbo takes you into his own, hand-picked treasures of old-time radio. He tells you just a bit about the episode and then lets the show do the talking. For brevitiy, each show will last 40 minutes or less. ¶ In our world, it's nothing to see mediation on TV. Judge Judy, Judge et al… they are everywhere on the tube. ¶ In the 1940's, shows like this were rare. But there was one show where this exact thing took place: A.L. Alexander's Mediation Board. However, there's not just one judge here, but a bevy of mediators. Each has their say. ¶ This episode, in particular, is full of eyebrow-raising sparks, and is kind of shocking for 1943, the year this episode ran. There appears to be a fight or a row of some sort, where there is silence for a half a minute or so while calm can be restored…

Saved From Oblivion – Dr IQ The Mental Banker (5/6/14) 33:28 [752] Silver dollars, candy bars and a hearty, "I have a lady in the balcony"! All this fun and more on one the tougher quiz shows of the 1930s-40s, Dr. I.Q., the Mental Banker. (This episode is from July of 1939). ¶ Contestants came from the audience… and not just men and women, but also children. While there was a Dr. I.Q. show for kids, they could – and often did – play in the adult version. ¶ This wasn't an easy quiz game! Try your wits and maybe you will win some silver dollars!

Saved From Oblivion – 20 Questions (5/16/14) 30:55 [752] Here's the same game you played as a kid – the animal, vegetable, mineral game, Twenty Questions! It's fun, and these people are experts at it. ¶ A time killer, no doubt, but all in fun. I mention (on the audio) that the show was done in the 1950's, but this episode is in fact actually from 1946.

Saved From Oblivion – 21st Precinct (5/17/14) 26:55 [752]People ask me all the time, what's my favorite old radio program after Vic and Sade? ¶ It's a fairly easy choice. The 21st Precinct was a well-written and acted show from the 1950's. It's similar to Dragnet but much better in almost every respect. ¶ Every show began this way: 21st Precinct. It's just lines on a map of the city of New York. Most of the 173,000 people wedged into the nine-tenths of a square mile between Fifth Avenue and the East River wouldn't know, if you asked them, that they lived or worked in the 21st. Whether they know it or not, the security of their persons, their homes, and their property is the job of the men of the 21st.

Saved From Oblivion – Dear Adolf (5/18/14) 29:20 [752] WW II brought out the best in most writers it seems, and such is the case with Stephen Vincent Benet, who wrote six letters to Hitler from people from different walks of life, in a dramatic radio series called, "Dear Adolf." ¶ I present to you two episodes (roughly 14 minutes long, each) that I think you will find engrossing, well-acted and certainly well-written. The first is "Letter from an American Farmer" starring Raymond Massey.The second episode here features acting by Helen Hayes, who was probably the most-respected radio actor of her day, even above actors Orson Welles and that ilk, in "Letter from an American Housewife and Mother". Both are from 1942.

Saved From Oblivion (011) – Suspense: Classified Secret (9/30/15) 29:10 [752] After almost a year-and-a-half hiatus, Saved From Oblivion returns from the dead! And it returns in style: Suspense (from 1955) and the exciting episode, CLASSIFIED SECRET. ¶ It's Hitchcockian, with twists and turns aplenty. Saturday afternoonish-type fun.

Saved From Oblivion (012) – Suspense: The Giant of Thermopylae (10/1/15) 28:42 [752] Jimbo refuses to wait another year-and-a-half before returning with another bout of Saved From Oblivion. ¶ Again, a Suspense episode. The Giant of Thermopylae is from 1954 and it's a fun white-knuckler (or was in '54) and still has a bit of an impact today.

Saved From Oblivion (013) – Escape: A Shipment of Mute Fate (10/2/15) 26:08 [752] The script, "A Shipment of Mute Fate", was so well-received by audiences that it ran several times on the popular Escape series and a few times on it's contemporary series, Suspense. This particular episode stars Jack Webb in one of his finest and most-exciting radio performances; this one is from 1947.

Saved From Oblivion (014) – Escape: A Study in Wax (10/3/15) 29:05 [752] The tense audio story here illustrates what can happen when two men are cooped up in a cold, isolated place and don't appreciate the same type of music! ¶ From the radio series, Escape, February 1, 1953.

Saved From Oblivion (015) – Suspense: Peanut Brittle (10/4/15) 30:31 [752] Yet another edition of Saved From Oblivion! I try and bring you the best – or most unusual – old radio I can find and present it to you in an efficient way. ¶ In this episode of Suspense (1957), a new prisoner gets into a game of dominoes, where the stakes are peanut brittle candy. It may sound sound like a lot of innocent fun, but trust me, it isn't.

Saved From Oblivion (016) – Quiet Please: The Thing on the Fourble Board (10/5/15) 24:24 [752] This strangely-named episode of Quiet Please probably holds the rank of the 'creepiest OTR episode ever'. Without giving away too much, this is a story about an oil derrick worker who finds something very unusual. The show's ending is quite unexpected and will blow you away. All of this (and Jimbo's intro) in less than 25 quick minutes. You will enjoy this one. I'll even bet you will want to share it with someone as well.

Saved From Oblivion (017) – Escape: Leiningen Versus the Ants (10/11/15) 30:41 [752] A plantation owner goes to war with a horde of gigantic ants! Gripping action, well-thought-out fun. Starring William Conrad; from Escape, May 23, 1948.

Saved From Oblivion (018) – Quiz Kids Sept. 3, 1950 (10/12/15) 31:34 [752] Hear the Einstein-like brains of the Quiz Kids here as they dole out answers and quips like only they can. Be it teen Joel and his mathematical genius or five year-old Angus and his knowledge of the presidents, these kids will astound you. It's 1950's fun and all free and hand-chosen by your Onsug pal, Jimbo.

Saved From Oblivion (019) – Fibber McGee and Molly: Pot Roast (10/13/15) 25:56 [752] After the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, one of the scarcities in the United States was beef. In this very funny episode of Fibber McGee and Molly (from 1942), the McGees are just about to sit down and indulge in a rarity: pot roast. Put your feet up, relax and have your stomach rumble along with Fibber.

Saved From Oblivion (020) – Suspense: Mission Completed (10/14/15) 30:01 [752] Jimmy Stewart plays a paralyzed veteran who seeks revenge on his former Japanese captor. From Suspense, December 1, 1949.

Saved From Oblivion (021) – Suspense: To Find Help (10/15/15) 32:10 [752] Saved From Oblivion was created to easily let you hear the best (and at times, the strangest) from radio's "golden age". The radio show, Suspense, was among radio's longest-lasting and brightest programs. There are almost 1000 episodes to choose from and probably 80% of them are what I would call "high quality". ¶ This episode, "To Find Help", is from 1949 and was a remake of an earlier version that was done in 1945. This later version is superior to the other, in my opinion, and this is why I have chosen to let you hear this one. ¶ Starring the great stage and film actress, Ethel Barrymore and Hollywood's second-favorite male dancer, Gene Kelly, these two team up as an unlikely pair in what truly is a spooky psychological thriller (common after World War II both on film and radio).

Saved From Oblivion (022) – Gunsmoke: Home Surgery (10/27/15) 31:07 [752] It's time again for another old-time radio treasure. This one from the Gunsmoke series. ¶ Sheriff Matt Dillon must take matters into his own hands out on the prairie when a settler needs dire medical attention. Not only that, but listen carefully how Chester, Matt's pseudo-deputy, is left to clean up the mess afterwards. I'm sure that was fun. ¶ A very serious episode with a bit of an underlying mystery.

Saved From Oblivion (023) – Escape: Three Skeleton Key (10/28/15) 31:01 [752] Just in time for Halloween, the classic, "Three Skeleton Key". This is horror at it's finest, but it isn't ghosts or goblins that are cast as the cruelest foe, but rather, little furry animals (hint: they're not 'Japanese Pocket Squirrels'). ¶ This may have been Vincent Price's first 'horror' role; though I'm not sure. What I am sure of is that this show will scare the pants off you. ¶ Do you listen to Saved from Oblivion? How about leaving a comment and letting me know? It will be appreciated.

Thanks for joining Frank and Jimbo!

Three consecutive episodes from the ONS archive, including The Overnightscape #63; what a tremendous episode this is — a Frank Nora spectacular, an Overnightscape Hall of Fame-ish type episode.

Here, Frank is learning to rample for very long stretches without the interruptions of his Madplayer music gadget. Also, his boundless enthusiasm (especially for malls) is very evident and fun to listen to in this episode.

Includes: Introduction, from The Overnightscape #61 (5/20/04) RuPaul's flawed logic, Abu Ghraib and rednecks and Sonic the Hedgehog and time travel and Fox news and Arabs abortion, from The Overnightscape #62 (5/23/04) the 'Letterman run', Da Vinci Code, Grand Central Station and Vermont and fiddleheads, The Overnightscape #63 (5/29/04) mall adventures in the outskirts of Philadelphia – Exton Mall and King of Prussia Mall and crappy cigars, guacamole controversy, patching out

In our journey, we are at a point where Frank has found a rhythm, I believe. It is a special point in his storied career as an internet audio pioneer. He is making the most of his hour-long shows, providing lots of content. In order for the Time Machine to remain as bereft as possible, I may just knock out one of his shows at a time, at least until Frank changes his show from one hour.

From The Overnightscape #65 (6/6/04): looking like a UPS man, piracy I, piracy II, Beavis and Butthead and Sifl and Olly, death of Reagan, 6-6-86, meteor showers and Halley's Comet and Comet Kohoutek and Hale-Bopp, patching out

Believe it or not, Jimbo's back (although, he does not appear) in yet another episode of The Best of The Frank Nora Time Machine. Jimbo does add a LOT of new music, including previously unreleased tracks from "Very Frank Words" and the Fuzzy Wuzzy musical project (with words written by Nora for Fuzzy Daupner but music and performance by Jimbo.)

However, the heartbeat of this episode (and all of the Nora/Jimbo Time Machine episodes) is the fleshing out of Nora's better bits in his far-off/somewhat-forgotten episodes. Jimbo hopes to present a new episode now and again and also plans to write numerous pieces of music to go along with them.

Cool Junk U Missed 001 – The Central 01 (12/15/15) 57:21 [752]

A new series from Jimbo that's dedicated to exposing the listener to ONSUG clips they may have not heard before.

This first episode explores some of the early days (late 2010/early 2011) of PQ Ribber's Overnightscape Central; which featured the fascinating views of anyone who chose to participate and then was backed by PQ's quirky commentary.

I expect this series will focus on the Central, but many other shows will also be highlighted.

A fascinating look at THE DAY THE EARTH STOOD STILL (1951), IT CAME FROM BENEATH THE SEA, THE INCREDIBLE SHRINKING MAN and THEM!, four above-average 1950's films that dealt with radiation and/or nuclear weapons.

ONSUG hosts Doc Sleaze (Sleazecast/Schlock Express), Marc Rose (Fusebox) and Shambles Constant (The Malt Shop/Radio Free Shambles and many more) join producer Jimbo (ONS Central, Hey Everybody it's Jimbo!, Vic and Sadecast, Hometownville) attempting something he's never done before: documentary audio.

The Friday Maze #2: January Jones is a Fembot (6/20/17) 59:41 [915]

Another episode of The Friday Maze, a show so old that I wasn't even Shambles Constant yet. You may be thrown a bit by the fact that I'm called Arthur Jaz here, and in fact so am I, but sadly there is little that can be done about it unless I were to do some serious editing on these bad boys, which would defeat the purpose of preserving them in all their glory (your mileage may vary).

The Shambleshow

Hosted by Shambles Constant

At the start of 2012, Shambles ends Anybody's Guess and starts The Shambleshow, focusing more exclusively on the longform monologue format. He also records several of his adventures, including a family vacation in Wisconsin and a visit to his childhood stomping grounds at Patterson Bay in Illinois. Topics include meeting Sophie Aldred of Doctor Who fame, a middle school stage play he was in, the Marx Brothers, the supposed end of the world on 12/21/12, and a whole lot more. The Shambleshow continues its run up until August 2013 when Shambles takes a long hiatus from recording shows.

Shambleshow Announcement

STAND BY FOR THIS IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

Coming soon: a new phase, new format, new era for The Shambleshow, starting with episode #103. The ongoing series hosted by Shambles Constant will be released on a frequent, semidaily basis, in episodes of roughly 30 minutes in length. Exact starting date has not yet been determined, but if all goes well it will be before the end of July. As of today (7/14/13) two shows have been recorded, and Shambles (that's me!) has been quite pleased with the results.

Meanwhile, the recordings from this year's vacation to Minocqua, Wisconsin will see release eventually, but will no longer be packaged as Shambleshows. They will now be released as episodes of Falling Cow in the Field.

The Tapestry series will return at some future date, but for now it's on hold.

Falling Cow Productions is excited to continue its association with the Overnightscape Underground. Now dance, merry listeners!

These tiny little old shows have been resting in a tiny little old folder on my digital voice recorder for the past two months. The time has come to release them into the wild.

Radio Free Shambles: Teen Intervention Day (4/22/17) 1:01:37 [913] Let's step back in time now to 1992. Young Shambles Constant and his friends experience Teen Intervention Day, a day in which the faculty attempts to solve all the difficulties of adolescence in a mere eight hours. A valiant effort but one destined for failure if the irreverence of these not-so-troubled teens is any indication. You will hear crappy Bob Dylan impressions, references to inside jokes that even present-day Shambles no longer understands, an afterschool rehearsal for the student production of Little Shop of Horrors, and one of Shambles's friends engaging in a battle of wits with some girl on the bus. Also, young Shambles on this particular day is being a bit of a jerk to his friends. Recorded 3/10/92. RFS 114.

The original recording was about 3 hours and 21 minutes long; I had to cut a few bits out that would have revealed personal information about people I knew at the time or that had copyrighted music playing for too long to be considered fair use. Middle-Eight Dream State #3: Field Recording Box Set (12/31/22) 9:08:40 [981] I am reviving the Middle-Eight Dream State series, albeit under a different premise. Whereas Radio Free Shambles will continue to chronicle some of my day-to-day adventures, and Bumper Chain Cosmic carries on under its weekly schedule of collected found audio, Middle-Eight Dream State will contain longform and/or experimental material and will be released whenever seems appropriate to my weird creative impulses. Included in this episode: Minocqua Unabridged (recorded 7/2/2013) – the full recording which was released in severely edited experimental form as part of The Lost Minocqua Recordings; Arizona 1989 (recorded 6/2/1989 through 6/10/1989, starts at 3:39:37) – the audio portion of the video footage from the family trip to Tucson, Arizona when I was 14; and Springfield Adventure (recorded 7/10/2021, starts at 6:17:16) – my recording from a visit to the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library and Museum with my wife, daughter, and mother. Middle-Eight Dream State #4: Insomniac (1/31/23) 1:30:06 [982] Middle-Eight Dream State is a series that contains longform and/or experimental material and will be released whenever seems appropriate to my weird creative impulses (or possibly once a month). This particular episode consists of a semi-random sound collage of clips from my personal archive of field recordings and audio journal entries. All of these clips are between three and five minutes in length (except the very last one which is about seven minutes), and most of this material has never been released on the Overnightscape Underground in any form. Recorded between 1987 and 2023, compiled 1/23/23. M8D 004.

Middle-Eight Dream State #5: Celebrations 1987-88 (11/5/23) 3:12:59 [992] Middle-Eight Dream State is a series that contains longform and/or experimental material and will be released whenever seems appropriate to my weird creative impulses (okay, so it's been a while). This episode is audio taken from an old VHS tape which I had converted to digital format about two years ago. It contains footage of a series of parties celebrating various birthdays, as well as two Christmases, with my family and two other families we were close friends with at the time. I was 12-13 years old during this period. The lighting wasn't always up to snuff, but naturally that doesn't concern us here at all. Portions of this audio have been released in Falling Cow Compendium and Bumper Chain Cosmic episodes, but this is the entire videocassette with all banter, laughter, and talky-talk intact. Recorded 11/13/1987 through 12/25/1988. M8D 005.

Middle-Eight Dream State #6: Disney World, 14 May 2026 (8/25/26) 3:27:03 [1025] Middle-Eight Dream State is a series that contains longform and/or experimental material and will be released whenever seems appropriate to my weird creative impulses (okay, so it's REALLY been a while). This episode is a field recording from our family trip to Disney World back in May. All told, I recorded almost 13 hours of material. (The rest will be released in the near future.) Keystone Victrola: Jack Benny, Set #1 (5/17/15) 2:00:12 [541] Starting a new series of Keystone Victrola episodes featuring OTR comedy shows arranged into sets. Keystone Victrola will alternate between The Jack Benny Program, Fibber McGee & Molly, and Lum and Abner (and quite possibly other OTR comedies as time goes on). This episode consists of the earliest Jack Benny episodes known to exist, originally broadcast in 1932 and 1933. These early Benny shows are a bit of a mixed bag, but there are glimpses of greatness and much of historical interest contained therein. Enjoy! ¶ Jack Benny, Set #1 (5/2/32-4/21/33) ¶ Jack's First Episode on the Radio (5/2/32), Review of 1932 (1/1/33) *, Bertha the Sewing Machine Girl (1/22/33) *, Mary Does "She Done Him Wrong" (3/31/33), Guest Edward G. Robinson (4/21/33) ¶ *Partial (all material that is known to exist)

Keystone Victrola: Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #1 (5/24/15) 2:45:45 [541] The earliest known episodes of Fibber McGee & Molly in existence, including a series of fragments from Marian and Jim Jordan's earlier Smackout program. Note the pre-McGee appearance of the Little Girl character (AKA Teeny). The first three McGee shows predate Wistful Vista and the wacky characters found there. ¶ Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #1 (1931-9/23/35), Smackout excerpts (1931), The Motorcycle Cop, the Judge, and Fibber (4/16/35), Hot Dogs and a Blowout (4/30/35), A Dip in the Ocean (7/15/35), The McGees Win 79 Wistful Vista (8/26/35), Anything to Get Out of Scrubbing the Back Porch (9/23/35)

Keystone Victrola: Lum and Abner, Set #1 (5/31/15) 1:16:26 [541] The earliest existing shows from Lum and Abner. Friday Night Sociable is one of my all-time favorite pieces of OTR audio. Lion Hunting is an "orphan episode" from an otherwise lost storyline. The oil well storyline was apparently being wrapped up at the start of 1935. From this point on a large percentage of episodes have been preserved for our enjoyment. ¶ Lum and Abner, Set #1 (1933-1/9/35), Friday Night Sociable (1933) , Lion Hunting (1934) , Selling The Oil Well (1/4/35), Squire Skimp President (1/7/35), Squire's Visitor (1/8/35), Oil Boom is Over (1/9/35)  ¶ *Partial (all material that is known to exist) ¶  One or more lost episodes followed this one in the original broadcast run

Keystone Victrola: Jack Benny, Set #2 (6/8/15) 2:00:00 [541] More episodes of The Jack Benny Program, all complete in the archives this time. Jack does some of his first movie parodies here, which will later become a staple of his program. The first existing birthday show comes along, and it is not (as will later become customary) Jack's birthday, but Mary's! Mary is a much different character at first: young, naïve, and not at all snarky. ¶ Jack Benny, Set #2 (6/2/33-12/10/33), Sherlock Holmes and King Kong Part 2 (6/2/33), Who Killed Mr. X (6/9/33), Mary's Birthday (6/23/33), Uncle Tom's Cabin (12/10/33)

Keystone Victrola: Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #2 (6/14/15) 1:57:45 [541] Some more very enjoyable Fibber McGee & Molly shows. Oh, that crazy Fibber, always tryin' to get away with sump'n 'r 'nuther. Heavenly days, McGee. The latter two episodes are the first two in the batch of 67 shows that had been missing from the archive and were recently rediscovered. In addition to Teeny the little girl, Marian Jordan also plays the fast-talking Geraldine at this point in the series. ¶ Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #2 (10/28/35-11/25/35), Halloween Party (10/28/35), Papering the Dining Room (11/4/35), Lighting the Furnace With Gasoline (11/18/35), Buying Vegetables At A Roadside Stand (11/25/35)

Keystone Victrola: Lum and Abner, Set #2 (6/19/15) 1:35:54 [541] More fun with Lum Edwards (Eddards) and Abner Peabody! We get to actually follow a continuing storyline (for the most part – there is a gap between 1/25/35 and 1/30/35). A little deception in launching their matrimonial bureau (the Match.com of its day) leads to Abner getting into hot water with the missus. Two Broken Arms aired on my pre-birthday, making its debut exactly forty years before I did. ¶ Lum and Abner, Set #2 (1/18/35-1/31/35), The Pine Ridge Matrimonial Bureau (1/18/35), Mail For The Matrimonial Bureau (1/21/35), Reading The Mail (1/22/35), Matrimonial Bureau Moves (1/23/35), Telegram For Abner (1/24/35), Abner To Meet Hortense (1/25/35) , Is Abner Having An Affair (1/30/35), Two Broken Arms (1/31/35) ¶ Partial (all material that is known to exist)

Keystone Victrola: Jack Benny, Set #3 (6/29/15) 1:53:53 [541] More fun with The Jack Benny Program! Some of this audio footage is of lower quality than I would hope, but it is all still a valuable part of old time radio history. Jack is starting to slow down his pace a bit, which is all to the good. Sponsored by Chevrolet (not Jell-O, Grape Nuts, or Lucky Strikes, those come later). Mostly fragments of shows here, although we do get portions of six consecutive shows from early 1934. ¶ Jack Benny, Set #3 (2/11/34-3/18/34) ¶ Miniature Women (2/11/34) *, Don't Live Right (2/18/34) *, My Life as a Floorwalker in Omaha (2/25/34) *, Duel in the Graveyard (3/4/34) *, Haunted House – Request Letter from John Dillinger (3/11/34) *, An Arizona Western – Play of the Golden West (3/18/34) * ¶ *Partial – all material that is known to exist

Keystone Victrola: Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #3 (7/2/15) 1:57:33 [541] We're seeing out 1935 (in the McGee chronology at least) in style! The McGees do some rampling on the streets of Wistful Vista, Christmas shopping at a local department store, arranging a rousing game of bridge, and ringing in the new year of 1936. It'll be loads of fun, I betcha! ¶ Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #3 (12/2/35-12/30/35) ¶ Man On The Street Radio Interviews (12/2/35), Christmas Shopping (12/9/35), The Bridge Game (12/16/35), New Year's Celebration (12/30/35)

Keystone Victrola: Lum and Abner, Set #3 (7/12/15) 1:38:18 [541] The old fellas have to pretend that Abner's arms are broken (it makes sense in context) while also selling special flashlights for Horlicks (an interesting parallel to a real-life advertising promotion on the part of the show's sponsor). Along the way they find themselves running against each other to be President of the Jotem Down Store, to be decided by write-in vote. Lots going on here… enjoy! ¶ Lum and Abner, Set #3 (2/1/35-2/12/35) ¶ Finance Reopening Of The Jotem Down Store (2/1/35), Horlicks Flashlights (2/4/35), More Letters Arrive (2/5/35), Who Will Be President (2/6/35), Lum Tells On Abner (2/7/35), Abner Collects From Insurance (2/8/35), Nervous Lum (2/11/35), Lum Arrested (2/12/35)

Keystone Victrola: Jack Benny, Set #4 (7/21/15) 2:02:20 [541] Welcome aboard, Don Wilson! The great radio announcer begins his twenty-year association with The Jack Benny Program. And here we have a bunch of fragments; in fact, only one of the seven episodes represented is complete in the Benny archives. The audio is of varying quality, but that's still better than no Benny at all! Enjoy. ¶ Jack Benny, Set #4 (4/1/34-5/18/34) ¶ Guest Alois Havrilla – The Eternal Triangle (4/1/34) *, First Show for General Tire – Frank Parker's Music Store (4/6/34), Bridge Game (4/13/34) *, New Hampshire Through a Keyhole, or Lord of the City (4/27/34) *, The Hills of Kentucky (5/4/34) *, Home Cooking at Don's (5/11/34) *, Jack is Taking a Taxi to the Studio – A Visit to the Parkers (5/18/34) * ¶ *Partial (all material that is known to exist)

Keystone Victrola: Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #4 (7/28/15) 2:00:39 [541] The McGee antics continue in these fun episodes from early 1936! ¶ Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #4 (1/13/36-2/3/36) ¶ Master of the Kennel (1/13/36), Running the Drug Store (1/20/36), McGee Tangles With a Tough Chef (1/27/36), Crime Expert McGee (2/3/36)

Keystone Victrola: Lum and Abner, Set #4 (7/30/15) 1:51:14 [541] All right, so there's a spoiler in the unofficial title of the last episode in this set. But don't let that stop you from enjoying the show! Step back in time with me to February 1935 in the lively little town of Pine Ridge. ¶ Lum and Abner, Set #4 (2/13/35-2/25/35) ¶ Dick Gets Lum Out Of Jail (2/13/35), Lum Is Winning (2/14/35), Campaign Posters (2/15/35), Restocking The Store (2/18/35), Squire Cashes Abner's Check (2/19/35), Newspaper Reports (2/20/35), Squire's Donation (2/21/35), Vote For Lum (2/22/35), Lum Wins (2/25/35)

Keystone Victrola: Jack Benny, Set #5 (8/7/15) 2:08:02 [541] Schlepperman! Sam Hearn will stick around for a few years. The show's format is resembling its more popular 1940s stylings more and more all the time, albeit with more corny jokes. In the last ten minutes of this collection Morton Downey, Jr. gets a surprise namecheck despite that he is not yet two years old. (Hint: it's more a reference to his singing father.) Jack, Mary, Don Wilson, and some other people star in these shows from 1934. ¶ Jack Benny, Set #5 (7/20/34-9/21/34) ¶ Who Killed Mr. Stooge Part 5 (7/20/34), The Stooge Murder Case Part 1 – to New York on the 20th Century Ltd. (8/3/34) *, The House of Rawchild (8/24/34) *, The House of Benny (8/31/34), School Days Part 2 (9/14/34) *,School Days Part 3 (9/21/34) * ¶ *Partial (all material that is known to exist)

Keystone Victrola: Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #5 (8/12/15) 1:57:43 [541] Today (8/12/15) is my tenth wedding anniversary, and it seems fitting that I release this collection of episodes from that great married couple (on-air as well as off), the McGees (AKA the Jordans). ¶ Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #5 (2/10/36-3/2/36) ¶ A Job in Grand Rapids (2/10/36), Visiting Fireman (2/17/36), Waiting for the Radio Repairman (2/24/36), ¶ Encyclopedia Salesman (3/2/36)

Keystone Victrola: Lum and Abner, Set #5 (8/24/15) 1:52:22 [541] We're coming up to the circus story arc, which may just be my favorite arc of early Lum and Abner. Radio Free Shambles is in hiatus until sometime in September – oh yeah, did I mention that?* – but we've got us some Keystone Victrola OTR fun and good times to give away. Roll up, roll up! ¶ * August has been a very busy month. ¶ Lum and Abner, Set #5 (2/26/35-3/8/35), The Jotem Down Store Reopens (2/26/35). Boss Abner (2/27/35), Ten Cases Of Wonder Soap (2/28/35), Squire Buys The Rights To The Soap (3/1/35), Divide The Store (3/4/35), Divide The Merchandise (3/5/35), Trader Abner (3/6/35), Trading With Snake (3/7/35), The Circus Comes To Town (3/8/35)

Blind Duncan's Blues, Chapter 1: Winter in Duncanworld (2-26-12) 4:20 [561] Blind Duncan's Blues by Arthur Jaz (aka Shambles) ¶ This is my first novel, Blind Duncan's Blues, which I completed in 2004 and am now releasing here upon an unsuspecting public. Blind Duncan's Blues is a novel consisting of interrelated short stories about a boy named Duncan Pierce. It covers various incidents in Duncan's life, ranging from the age of eighteen months through about eleven years. There are eighteen chapters in all, which will be released sporadically on Onsug.com. Read by the author. ¶ There are certain autobiographical elements to this book, but they mainly consist of general impressions of what it was like to be a child in the early 1980s in Illinois. I never had an older brother who made me eat cat food; my parents had a much happier and stronger marriage than Duncan's own folks; none of my teachers ever made me wear a dunce cap. The situations that arise for Duncan from being in a large family (as well as a dysfunctional one) I had to either steal from other people's experiences or fictionalize entirely. ¶ However, I did start writing stories at an early age, and I did play Santa Claus one year in the Christmas program. Most of the rest is fictionalized. ¶ I am currently working on a sequel, Bentleyville Tigers, which will be completed one of these days.

Great Moments From Lum and Abner

A compilation of some of my favorite clips from my favorite old-time radio program, Lum and Abner.

Great Moments From Lum and Abner, Part 1 (6/23/13) 1:01:39 [561] A compilation of some of my favorite clips from my favorite old-time radio program, Lum and Abner. First of four audio releases. I'm hoping these clips will give you a good idea who the varied characters are. Keep in mind that most of these characters were played by either Chester Lauck (Lum Edwards, Grandpappy Spears, Cedric Weehunt) or Norris Goff (Abner Peabody, Dick Huddleston, Squire Skimp, Mousey Gray, Ulysses S. Quincy, Doc Miller). These clips are taken from various storylines from the run of the series, but hopefully I've included enough that they can be easily followed outside of context of the episodes. The "two old fellows" manage the Jotem Down Store for most of the series, with the occasional side venture into some other business, including a movie theater, a circus, a bank, and a radio station, among many others. This collection just barely scratches the surface of this top-notch old-time radio program, which aired from 1933 to 1954. Oh, what a beauty day!

The Sounds of Disneyworld, Part 1 (3/27/14) 2:12:37 [561] Part 1 recorded 9/24/13 through 9/26/13. ¶ Shambles and the Constants explore Disneyworld! Includes Mad Tea Party, Enchanted Tales With Belle (I was cast as one of Belle's guards), Under the Sea, Buzz Lightyear's Space Ranger Spin, Walt Disney's Carousel of Progress, Space Mountain, and all sorts of other Magic Kingdom fun. ¶ Parts 2 and 3 coming soon to an Onsug near you.

The Sounds of Disneyworld, Part 2 (4/10/14) 2:34:08 [561] Part 2 recorded 9/27/13. ¶ Shambles and the Constants explore Disneyworld! This time we're at Epcot. Follow us from the front gate all the way through much of the park, and let's have fun! ¶ Part 3 coming soon to an Onsug near you. ¶ Not to be confused with Frank Edward Nora's Sounds trilogy.

The Sounds of Disneyworld, Part 3 (4/16/14) 2:25:50 [561] Part 3 recorded 10/2/13 and 10/4/13. ¶ Shambles and the Constants explore Disneyworld! We're back at Epcot, catching a few attractions we had missed before (and a revisit to Turtle Talk; the audience participation makes every visit with Crush a little different). Starting at about 1:05:51, and continuing for the next hour, you will hear an ambient soundscape as I walk all the way around the countries of the Epcot world. (In fact, I think I walked all the way around twice!) ¶ In the last ten minutes Jackie and I do The Sum of All Thrills, where you can design your own roller coaster track. Jackie wrote a report on this experience for school. She said she really enjoyed it, and her teacher said her report turned out great. ¶ This concludes the Sounds of Disneyworld Trilogy.

The Lost Minocqua Recordings

The Lost Minocqua Recordings, Part 1: Wisconsin Lottery Tickets (4/13/16) 25:53 [901] At long last the recordings from my trip to Minocqua, Wisconsin way back in July 2013 are finally beginning to see the light of day... well, in condensed edit form anyway. This is the first of a series of six episodes, each projected to be roughly a half hour in length, presented in a sort of audio collage. They will be released sporadically over the next month or two. Part 1 recorded 7/2/13, edited 4/9/16.

The Lost Minocqua Recordings, Part 2: The Rest of the Drive (4/17/16) 34:38 [901] More summer vacation fun with audio collage. Part 2 of 6. Recorded 7/2/13, edited 4/9/16.

The Lost Minocqua Recordings, Part 3: Fishing Kickball Casino (4/20/16) 28:36 [901] The audio collage continues as we arrive at our destination and engage in a variety of activities for the remainder of the day. Part 3 of 6. Recorded 7/2/13, edited 4/14/16.

The Lost Minocqua Recordings, Part 4: Shambleshow? (4/28/16) 44:00 [901] In which I roam around on my own in an odd state of vacation malaise. Much rampling contained herein. Part 4 of 6. Recorded 7/3/13, edited 4/20/16. ¶ Special note: Due to a scheduling snafu, there will not be another Lum and Abner Showcase episode released this week because I forgot to record one. Yeah, my bad.

The Lost Minocqua Recordings, Part 5: Paraded (7/12/16) 27:43 [904] We conclude this series (Part 6 has been cancelled due to substandard recording) with a sound collage of the Lac du Flambeau parade. Recorded 7/4/13, edited 7/4/16.

Shambles – Misc

2011-2018
Hosted by Shambles Constant

Assorted shows by Shambles.

Eighteen Eyes (2-5-12) 55:18 [561]

A new sound collage from Falling Cow Productions, created by Shambles of The Shambleshow. This collage is layered with old-time music (frequently manipulated for extra weirdness), a discussion panel from the Chicago TARDIS Doctor Who convention on November 25, 2011, and occasional intrusions of my field recording Water Fights at Angela's as well as other sounds. Embrace the randomosity!

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivs 3.0 United States License. Attribution: by Shambles – more info at onsug.com

Glass Parameters (3-20-12) 4:38:57 [561]

New from Falling Cow Productions, Glass Parameters is a compendium of old-time radio shows with a science fiction (for the most part) theme. Also featured are several songs recorded in the first half of the 20th century, a considerable amount of talky-talk from me (this is Shambles typing this, so I'm the me I mean), and perhaps another treat or two in here somewhere. And now the show notes:

Yearning, Just For You (Gene Austin, 1925), Glass Parameters Intro, And The Moon Be Still As Bright (Dimension X, 9/29/50), Ray Bradbury and other topics, Selections from Sunny Side Up (The Victor Light Opera Company, 1930), driving to work, The Blue Eyed People (Theater Five, 12/30/64), melanin, Brown Eyes, Why Are You Blue? (Nick Lucas, 1925), The Twilight Zone and other topics, clip from Attack of the Monsters (1969), DVD box sets of public domain films and other topics, Encountering New Race (Planet Man, 1950), where to find more Planet Man, Shine On Harvest Moon (The Southerners, 1930), preservation of pop culture and other topics, The Time Machine (Escape, 5/9/48), a brief word from Jackie, Sugar Lump (The Victor Military Band, 1914), The Time Machine and other topics, Queen of Space (Space Patrol, 11/15/52), rain, Love Me Tonight (Annette Hanshaw, 1929), stories in multiple forms of media and other topics, Meet John Smith, John (Quiet Please, 10/3/48), Glass Parameters Outro, Destination K.C. (Kansas City Seven, 1944).

And now the important texty-text about Creative Commons licensing and stuff like that:

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivs 3.0 United States License. Attribution: by Shambles – more info at onsug.com

And now (or any time at all, all you gotta do is call) you can listen to Glass Parameters. And I'll be there!

Anytown, USA (4/16/13) 1:11:24 [561]

Sound collage of clips from many episodes of various American old-time radio comedies, arranged in random, haphazard, often repetitive fashion, then scrambled up again and again just for good measure. I did not listen to any of the clips (or even the episodes they came from) beforehand, so the resulting collage is as much a surprise to me as it is to you. Compiled 3/25/13.

Change Your Mind (11/27/17) 1:21:10 [920]

An old cassette tape consisting of music demos and rehearsals and random moments featuring my high school/college friend Jay, myself, and whoever else happened to be around. I do not play any instruments on this recording, nor would I have had any business doing so. I do sing on occasion (for which I apologize in advance); I also portray a couple of original characters in comedy bits, as does Jay. Several of the songs (marked with a *) contain lyrics I wrote. Recorded November 1994 through sometime in 1997.

Iteration (1/17/18) 30:57 [922]

Sound collage for your enjoyment, or at least tolerance. Random bits and pieces from a field recording at a local park event back in 2013, the most recent Tapestry episode, and the Highway 209 – Florida track from Onsug Radio provided the sounds for this one – sliced, diced, and pureed into the final product you will find here.

Timelines (1/22/18) 21:51 [922]

The main timeline splits off into two. One of them continues to run in the correct speed. The other one starts to slow down. When the first timeline ends, the second one increases its speed in hopes of finding out where the first one went.

Use of headphones is highly recommended for the full effect.

Chadcast: Freaky Fried Friday of Jimbo and Chad – (5/20/16) 1:21:18 [902]

A cosmic event switches Chad and Jimbo resulting in a crossed up audio journal that serves as a diary of a day, and a historical record of the mixed up cosmic circumstances leading to this Freaky Fried Friday. It's electric.

JM: Got up at 5:54 am (muggy feeling, it's quiet, I see the big spider, the dogs stayed over – awaiting them to get up so I can take them out)

CB: woke up at 6:30 and my mom had left after visiting all weekend, I made cereal with fresh blueberries, my dogs like to line up to receive their one blueberry each morning. I made coffee with one artificial sweetener, drove to work and did'nt fall asleep driving

JM: Thinking hard about what to cook for lunch… (bone-in rib eye – cooked on the grill, baked potatoes, corn on the cob, or should I cook bacon cheeseburgers on the grill?)

CB: made it to work, turned on TV in guest area, fixed myself a big glass of water and grabbed a diet coke from the fridge, felt like i was going to fall asleep, stared at computer, Read media guide from magazine targeting municipal power companies. They have a lot of percentages and factoids that they are proud to share.

JM: Watched "Gunsmoke"; it was about "what the whiskey-drummer saw". I enjoyed it very much as I also had Mentos candy, fruit flavored, although they were a bit stale. When I watch Gunsmoke, I always wonder how they keep getting around the fact that Kitty basically works in a brothel and Matt Dillon obviously indulges her every so often.

CB: picked my wife up for lunch, went to sonic, she had a BLT with cheese, tots and iced tea, I had a number one mustard

burger, fries, and iced tea, we listened to dr laura make fun of her callers

JM: My favorite baseball team, the Texas Rangers, fisticuffs and bravado; a glorious sight for any fan who feels their team may have fallen asleep at the switch. I've just been reading about it and re-watching the fight. I felt like I was a part of the fight.

CB:came back from lunch and left early to go to autobody shop, the place where they fixed my car, wasn't fixed right, some type of plastic clip was broken and the gap between panels look funny, they said they would order some parts. I went home and went to sleep.

JM: I drink my water out of one gallon plastic containers. The water does not have to be (and usually is not) cool or cold in any way shape or form. The water remains out and in handy access; always ready for me to quench my thirst

CB: I tried to record for central at my desk, using my gtrack, but it was all too complicated and made me feel like a prisoner to these devices, I turned it off and grabbed my portable recorder, the little red sony that I like, it has a flip out USB port and since it records in mp3, it makes it simple. But then I added some intro music and a soundFX bed in audacity.

JM; I enjoyed my lunch on the front porch. I somehow had a kernel of corn get into my nose today. After removing it, I saw a lizard walk over it.

CB: Laura came home, the dogs went crazy barking, then I cut some croissants in half with my Texas bread knife, always cut them cool, when they are warm, they get all pillow and cloud like, so I cut up a couple avocados and made some quick salt and pepper guacomole, it tasted great with the buttery bread.

Schlock Express: Ladies Night – (8/21/15) 30:44 [791] This edition of the 'Schlock Express' focuses on the fairer sex, looking at Lindsay Shonteff's two low budget movies featuring lady private eye Harriet Zapper, before finishing up with Italian jungle exploitation classic 'Tarzana the Jungle Girl'.

Schlock Express – B Movie Britain (9/17/15) 47:09 [791] This time the Schlock Express travels deep into the heart of B Movie Britain, where we meet The Projected Man, find out if The Earth Dies Screaming and have a close encounter with The Terrornauts as they abduct a 'Carry On' star. Along the way we'll meet some of Britain's top schlock producers, Hammer's fallen idol in exile Terence Fisher and his excursions into B Movie Britain and pass through Merton Park studios, spiritual home of British Schlock.

Schlock Express – Nasty Videos (10/28/15) 1:05:56 [791] This time we journey into the murky world of 1980s direct-to-video releases, the last resort of Britain's beleaguered exploitation film industry. Taking in sex crazed killer computers, video nasty inspired psycho-killers and brutal gang warfare in Manchester's clubland, we explore the careers of three of the UK's most prolific, yet least known, film makers. From down-on-his-luck old pro Derek Ford via low budget maestro Michael J Murphy, the Express winds its way to the lost movie making empire of the legendary Cliff Twemlow.

Schlock Express – Where the Spies Are (11/30/15) 36:06 [791] To celebrate the release of a new James Bond movie, we look into the world of 007 knock offs, with the Schlock Express making a dangerous journey to wherethe spies are. From sun drenched Portugal, where TV's Dr Ben Casey battles porn obsessed villain Hammerhead and his crew of British character actors, via a global quest to discover whether Jaguar Lives, we wind up in Italy to check whether it's OK Connery as we follow the excapades of Sean's plastic surgeon, hypnotist, secret agent and jobbing builder brother. Along the way, we'll try to ascertain just what it is that makes the real Bond, well, Bond.

Schlock Express – Slap and Tickle (2/22/16) 41:01 [791] The Schlock Express journeys back to seventies Britain to investigate the evolution of the British sex comedy. From the 'ripped from the headlines' of the 'Sex Clinic', we join Scotland Yard's investigation into the nefarious activities of 'The Sex Thief' before getting 'Spaced Out' in a tale of alien abduction by tinfoil spaceships. Along the way, we uncover 007's sex film connections and Bob Saget's 'appearance in a sex comedy.

Schlock Express – Black Magic (5/25/16) 36:06 [902] Join the Schlock Express as it journeys into the dark world of occultism and black magic. This time around we take a look at the way witchcraft has been portrayed by exploitation cinema. Along the way we'll see Ian McShane hallucinating that he is a bear in an obscure seventies fable of witchcraft among the jet setters, learn the naked truth about the dark arts in an over earnest faux documentary, before watching cinematic magic as Italian occult Mondo gold is transmutated into all American witchcraft Schlockumentary!

Schlock Express – London Swings (12/18/16) 39:18 [909] The Schlock Express takes a journey back in time, to the so-called 'Swing London' of the late sixties and early seventies. But did London really swing? Italian 'Mondo' movie 'Naked England' gives us an outsider's look at 'Swinging England' – free drugs, transvestites, violence, happenings and lots and lots of nudity – before we turn to three of the titans of British celluloid sleaze to give us the gutter level view of the era. Sex killers stalk the swinging scene in Lindsay Shonteff's 'Night, After Night, After Night', teenagers find themselves ruthlessly exploited in the groovy capital city in Pete Walker's 'Cool it Carol' whilst the 'Groupie Girl' uncovers the seedy side of the pop scene in Derek Ford's sexploitation classic

Schlock Express – The Horrors of it All! (4/18/17) 33:42 [913] The Schlock Express is back on the rails and heading back into the seventies to explore the evolution of British horror movies. From the prehistoric terrors to be found of the 'Horror Express', through the freak shows and experiments of 'The Mutations' to the brain eating, electric drill brandishing cannibal grannies of 'Frightmare', we take a journey from English Gothic horror traditions, through sex, nudity and Soho to urban gore and the proto slasher movie. It's all here: Telly Savalas chewing up the scenery, Tom Baker as you've never seen him before and little old ladies' cracking open skulls to get at the brainy goodness within! So jump aboard the Schlock Express now!

Schlock Express: Mondo Soho (1/8/18) 37:00 [922] The Schlock Express is back on the rails, taking a look at London's Soho in the sixties through a Mondo lens, courtesy of three classic 'shockumentaries'. First stop is a trek through the 'West End Jungle' and its clip joints, photography 'clubs' and escort agencies. We also see 'London in the Raw', with its vista of East End pubs, West End clubs, meths drinkers, drug addicts, cat food eating beatniks and hair transplants. Finally, we confront 'Primitive London' and its tribes of mods, rockers and beatniks, horrible murders and factory farming.

Schlock Express: Italian Style! (8/15/18) 33:28 [929] The Schlock Express goes on a continental summer excursion to take in the sights of classic Italian exploitation movies. Watch as beautiful women are urged to Strip Nude for Your Killer in possibly the sleaziest Giallo ever made, while the Doc muses on the sexual politics of seventies slasher movies. Rogue cops, meanwhile, Live Like a Cop, Die Like a Man as the 'polizioteschi' genre goes psycho. Finally, The Wild Beasts, the bastard mutant offspring of the Mondo movie and, well, God knows what, sees drugged up zoo animals invade the streets of Frankfurt in some of the most irresponsible film making in the history of exploitation!

Schlock Express: Psychedelic Heist (9/30/18) 28:57 [930] Travel back in time with the Schlock Express to examine a trio of swinging sixties psychedelic heist movies. Watch silver fox Stewart Grainger battle killer nuns as he tries to get to the bottom of 'The Trygon Factor'! Thrill to the psychedelic antics of Italian anti-hero Diabolik as he robs the establishment and keeps it all in his far out hideout! Finally, gasp as middle aged drop out 'Duffy' conspires to commit a sea going groovy bullion heist! Along the way, we'll ruminate over how the swinging sixties mythologised itself and the morality of movie heroes!

Schlock Express: The Devil's Work (2/27/20) 30:51 [947] The Schlock Express is back to look at cinematic portrayals of the Devil and all his works. We kick off with a continental excursion to get 'Nude for Satan', followed by some home counties deviltry with 'Satan's Slave', before winding up by looking into 'The Eye of Satan', another ultra low-budget outing from Cliff Twemlow and his merry Manchester direct-to-video crew.

Schlock Express: Space Oddities (5/21/20) 35:17 [950] Schlock Express is back with a no-frills lockdown episode. From plastic bikinis and clunky robots to space heroes with drawn on moustaches, we take a look into the wild world of Italian Star Wars knock offs. ¶ Kicking off with The Humanoid and its cast of James Bond veterans, we move on to possibly the high point of this sub-genre with the magnificently surreal Starcrash before plumbing the depths with Alfonso Brescia's poverty stricken space opera, Star Odyssey.

Schlock Express: Fun With the Living Dead (1/28/25) 43:48 [1006] Doc Sleaze is back with his 'other' show (after a lengthy hiatus) for some 'Fun With the Living Dead'. So, board the 'Schlock Express' for a journey through a selection of seventies and eighties zombie movies which all take radically different approaches to the living dead. From shambling Voodoo monsters to respectable – but dead – citizens and from the graveyards of Old England to the coastal resorts of New England, join our journey through four different perspectives on the zombie.

Schlock Express: Cannibal Capers (3/18/25) 50:00 [1008] Doc Sleaze welcomes you back on board the 'Schlock Express' for some 'Cannibal Capers'. This time around we explore the bizarre world of the Italian cannibal movie, including a softcore/cannibal crossover, before taking a look at some foreign attempts to cash in on this most Italian of exploitation genres, including an entry that draws on the UK's own cannibal story traditions.

Schlock Express: No Justice For Vigilantes (6/27/25) 1:01:06 [1011] We're back on the Schlock Express to explore the world of low-rent vigilante movies, looking at the difference between rogue cops and vigilante cops enroute. A selection of eighties titles gives us a chance to explore the idea of Vietnam as a causal factor in urban vigilantism, lady vigilantes fighting for the kind of feminism that male viewers of this schlock can cheer on and a fake sequel to a non-existent original.

Hosted by Doc Sleaze

DS – 1: A Man Called Sleaze (12/22/17) 36:25 [909] A new start for Doc Sleaze incorporating some musings on the nature space, time and identity with regard to the web. While special guest Hillbilly Joe composes a theme song and tells us of how the Good Doc helped Cletus triumph against all odds in the Fuckle County 'King of Filth' contest, the Doc himself asks: 'Who is Doc Sleaze?' Will answers be forthcoming? Probably not, but that doesn't stop Doc from asking the questions.

DS – 2: The Myth of the Perfect Christmas (12/24/17) 39:54 [921] Season's greetings and goodwill to all! Christmas past and present collide as Doc Sleaze's musings on modern festivities are contrasted with archive recordings of Christmas 1940 in war torn London (including part of the real King's Speech). While the Doc dissects the 'Myth of the Perfect Christmas', battles Christmas shoppers and settles down to enjoy some seasonal TV, 1940 Londoners prepare to enjoy a rationed Christmas in the air raid shelters. (Music: 'Sleaze's Greetings' by Doc Sleaze via Music Maker Jam).

DS – 3: Between Two Bank Holidays (12/31/17) 37:19 [921] Caught between Christmas and New Year Bank Holidays, Doc Sleaze ponders the paradoxes of January Sales in December, online shopping and the neediness of the web and why it has to make everything personal. Meanwhile, 'Behind the Blue Door' – the most insightful Dr Who podcast on the net – investigates, with the aid of the Alternative Doctor Who Appreciation Society, the "Doctor Who Never Was". Finally, Big Ben chimes us into the New Year. Music: 'Sleaze's Greetings (New Year Remix)' by Doc Sleaze via Music Maker Jam.

DS4: Doubled Up (1/30/18) 1:01:29 [922] Bela Lugosi Meets a Brooklyn Gorilla! Zombies on Broadway! Watch Out, We're Mad! From Lewis and Martin impersonators to the fake Terence Hill and Bud Spencer, a look into the world of fake movie double acts – and their doubles!

DS5: A Kind of Limbo (3/1/18) 42:18 [924] The Doctor's Wife (1953) extols the virtues of Ex Lax as part of our meditation on illness and medicine. Dire diagnoses! Sickening side effects! Weird dreams and witchcraft by e-mail! Hairy feet as the key to health! All part of a general rumination on the limbo long term sickness can leave us in!

DS6: Tea and Terror (4/23/18) 37:45 [925] Ripped from the headlines! Doc Sleaze risks life and limb to uncover the truth about the recent nerve agent attack on his hometown! Was it all a 'false flag' attack by the local Chamber of Commerce to drum up tourism business? ('Tea and Terror' tours, anyone?) Local TV and police responses – caught on the hop? Are the Russians out-sourcing assassinations? The role of SPECTRE. Is the UK being held to ransom? The investigation is conducted with assistance from The Satan Bug (1965), 7 Golden Women Against Two 07 (1966), Assignment K (1968), Special Mission Lady Chaplain (1966), Agent For H.A.R.M (1966) and Secret Agent Super Dragon (1966).

DS7: Taking Back the Streets (From the Street Entertainers) (6/29/18) 33:15 [927] Desperate to put out a new episode, Doc Sleaze raids his blog for some recent musings on pop culture. Pausing only for an altercation with a living statue, our fearless host ponders the problems of the rogue paperwork generated by maverick cops before dissecting so called 'must see TV' and posing the question of whether Netflix is the true descendent of Universal Pictures B Movie unit? Finally, having declared that modern pop culture is rubbish, we explore some unpopular opinions on supposed pop culture classics. Guest appearances from Clint Eastwood, Boris Karloff, John Carradine and Lon Chaney Jr.

DS8: Shooting Wars (7/7/18) 32:59 [928] The world of war movies examined, anachronistic equipment fighting on both sides and shooting conventions. New movies from old! The use of 'cut and paste' techniques explored – watch Tobruk become Raid on Rommel and 633 Squadron transform into Mosquito Squadron. Republic serials and TV shows using second hand footage. Italian war movies and recycled props and footage. Strategic support provided by Tobruk (1967), Raid on Rommel (1971), Mosquito Squadron (1969) and Eagles Over London (1969).

DS9: The Wrestling (10/25/18) 49:20 [931] British wrestling remembered. The Doc recalls the halcyon days of 'The Wrestling' in the 1970s. Kent Walton, Dickie Davies and 'World of Sport'. Every Saturday at Four O'clock – The Wrestling. Mick McManus, Big Daddy, Giant Haystacks and Jackie 'Mr TV' Pallo remembered. Les Kellett – hardest man in British wrestling. Brian Glover and Pat 'Bomber' Roach: from wrestling ring to film and TV. Was it all fixed? Audience participation. WoS – British TV wrestling reborn? The immortal Kent Walton signs us off.

DS10: Ghost Stories (11/30/18) 45:24 [932] As the nights draw in and Winter approaches, we gather around a crackling fire to recount (and sometimes debunk) tales of ghost ships, while the master of the ghost story, Algernon Blackwood himself, joins us to tell his chilling tale 'Lock Your Door'. Why do ghost stories continue to fascinate us? Does everyone have a ghostly experience to share? Where are the modern ghost stories of the haunted world wide web? ¶ (Apologies for the quality of the Algernon Blackwood segments – they are audio from a 1949 short film, now in the public domain).

DS11: A Merry Christmas and Custard! (12/23/18) 44:40 [933] After being visited by three ghosts, Doc Sleaze learns to embrace the true spirit of Christmas. Hearing that a Christmas pudding containing £80 in silver sixpenny pieces has been stolen from a local orphanage, the Doc sets off in pursuit of the thieves, braving the perils of mince pie throwing carol singers, a suicide bomber Santa and nearly drowns in custard. This synopsis probably bears no relationship to the actual content of this broadcast – except that it is about Christmas and carols are sung. Merry Christmas (with custard).

DS12: Commercial Break (1/31/19) 58:08 [934] Doc Sleaze recalls his youth via the medium of TV commercials, providing a commentary on a series of UK television ad breaks from 1967 to 1982. We chart the development of the TV ad, the changing product mixes advertised on TV and even encounter the odd celebrity endorsement. Dudley Moore assures us that size isn't everything while Arthur Fowler from 'East Enders' tries to convince us that that Britain's most reviled car is actually cutting edge. Talking chimps, Martian robots and many more bizarre spokespeople try to sell us stuff they just wouldn't advertise on TV any more.

Into the Time Warp #1 – Doomsday Picnic (3/31/18) 1:22:29 [924] Gildy and Leila confront their mortality in two episodes of The Great Gildersleeve from 1946. Dave in Kentucky provides background and commentary, and explains why these episodes are still relevant to our lives today. ¶ Theme song, 1st verse: "Man, I'm sick of this bathtub gin! Put the 21st Amendment in! I made a quantum leap into a time warp! Get my Congressman on the phone! I'm tired of subsidizing Al Capone! I made a quantum leap into a time warp! While we've been caught in this Prohibition, the Reds are plotting some new sedition. Hitler's takin' over in Berlin, I'm a-drinkin' this bathtub gin, and I'm a-doin' that rag, doin' that Time

Warp Rag!"

Into the Time Warp #2 – Dueling Propaganda (6/1/18) 1:38:33 [927] Mr. and Mrs. Piper ("The Couple Next Door") fight for the right to teach their own version of history to their kids. When this conflicts with the official narrative of the state, the forces of government, media, society and big business unite against them. Dave in Kentucky uses the ensuing propaganda war as an excuse to present his own version of the truth. But that's okay, because his propaganda is true! ¶ Theme Song, 2nd verse: "Mussolini's got the trains on time! FDR had best get off the dime! I made a quantum leap into a time warp! I lost a million when the market crashed! I can't remember where the rest is stashed! I made a quantum leap into a time warp! While we've been starting this Great Depression, the Reds are plotting an insurrection. The market's takin' it on the chin, I'm still drinkin' my bathtub gin, and I'm a-doin' that rag, doin' that Time Warp Rag!" ¶ Show Art: Peg Lynch & Alan Bunce as Mr. & Mrs. Piper, the Couple Next Door.

Into the Time Warp #3 – Resurrections (8/10/18) 1:43:15 [929] Dave in Kentucky resurrects the subject matter of "Themes Like Old Times #5" in this special crossover episode, which includes the resurrections of: (1) Mary Lamont, (2) the Dr. Kildare series, and (3) Lew Ayres' career. ¶ Theme Song, 3rd verse: "Thought I was stuck in 1933! 1940's lookin' good to me! I made a quantum leap into a time warp! Won't never drink no more bathtub gin! Gee, I hope that Wendell Wilkie wins! I made a quantum leap into a time warp! Japs flying sorties in the Pacific! The nineteen-forties still look terrific! Ain't nothing worse than what we just been through! Ain't no question what I'm gonna do: I'll be a-doin' that rag, doin' that Time Warp Rag!"

Into the Time Warp #4 – Road Trip (8/24/18) 1:44:23 [929] In 1940, Jack Benny treats the regular cast members of his radio show to a four-day vacation in Yosemite National Park, but first they have to drive there in Jack's vintage 1923 Maxwell. Easier said than done, and a lot quicker too! Dave in Kentucky provides the commentary to this four-episode story arc, with Jack, Mary, Rochester, Phil, Dennis and Don providing the laughs. Still funny after all these years!

Into the Time Warp #5 – Radio Priest (1/1/19) 1:34:24 [934] A brief history of the radio career of Father Charles E. Coughlin, who went from ardent supporter of FDR to one of his harshest critics, resulting in the loss of both his weekly radio show and his weekly magazine. Was he really anti-Semitic and pro-Nazi, as his enemies claimed, or were these charges merely Stalinist denunciations designed to de-platform him? Inquiring minds want to know! Posted on the eightieth anniversary of Father Coughlin's New Year's Day message for the year 1939, which this episode analyzes in detail, providing extensive historical context.

Into the Time Warp #6 – Federal Reserve (2/8/19) 1:25:31 [935] The conclusion of our two-part retrospective on Father Charles E. Coughlin, the radio priest who influenced many across America, Catholic and non-Catholic alike, through his weekly broadcasts from the Shrine of the Little Flower in Royal Oak, Michigan. Last time we examined some of his political views and his defense against charges of anti-Semitism. This time the emphasis shifts to his economic views on banking, money creation, and the Federal Reserve, based on two of his broadcasts from April of 1940, just before he was banned from the public airwaves.

Into the Time Warp #7 – Shep in Kentucky (3/6/19) 1:38:04 [936] Before he defected to WOR in the Big Apple, Jean Shepherd worked at several other radio stations, four of which (WSAI, WCKY, WKRC, WLW) were in the Cincinnati area. During one of these brief bouts of employment, Shep spent a summer in Covington, Kentucky. Dave in Kentucky introduces and comments on four show segments in which Shep in New York talks about Shep in Kentucky. While staying mostly out of the master storyteller's way, Dave does manage to sneak in one of his own stories near the end. (Show art: WKRC promotional photo, circa 1948.)

Into the Time Warp #8 – July Heat (7/26/19) 1:22:11 [940] Dave in Kentucky proudly presents two high-quality episodes of Broadway is My Beat from July, 1951. Larry Thor stars as Lieutenant Danny Clover, a New York plainclothes detective with both a flair for the poetic and an impatient desire to cut to the chase. The heat is on in more ways than one in this gritty police procedural. Feel the heat! ¶ Show art: Larry Thor (CBS Radio publicity photo, circa 1951).

Into the Time Warp #9 – Father Coughlin on Propaganda (5/30/20) 58:37 [950] Join Dave in Kentucky for an examination of the first half of Father Charles E. Coughlin's Golden Hour of the Little Flower from May 9, 1939, entitled "Propaganda at Work". Note the early hands-free microphone, circa 1930s.

Into the Time Warp #10 – Back Back Back (7/9/20) 3:06:04 [952] To celebrate the imminent return of major-league baseball, Dave in Kentucky presents the 1957 All-Star Game, and talks about Chris Berman, the '56 and '57 Chevys, Sputnik, the Red Scare, Reds and Redlegs, stuffing the ballot box, the Cincinnati Times-Star, Burger Beer, Waite Hoyt, Ed Bailey, Johnny Temple, Roy McMillan, Don Hoak, Frank Robinson, Wally Post, Gus Bell, Buddy Bell, David Bell, George Crowe, Ted Kluszewski, Ford Frick, Willie Mays, Hank Aaron, Ted Williams, Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra, Jim Bunning, disenfranchising the fans, Harry Caray, Falstaff, Budweiser, Jim Brosnan, The Long Season, Pennant Race, Jim Bouton, Ball Four, Fred Hutchinson, Giants and Dodgers moving to the West Coast, different versions of the national anthem, the Three Stooges and more. ¶ Show art: the best buck-fifty you never spent.

The Closet Excavationist #1 – Acoustic Blues (1/9/19) 58:30 [934] How did the sale of a house, the purchase of a new washer and dryer, and a reading from a psychic medium spawn a brand-new show that is like a cross between "Tape Land" and "Al Capone's Vaults"? You'll never know unless you listen to this episode! ¶ Episode 1 deals with, among other things, the rediscovery of four blues recordings from "ought-five" that had been thought lost. Be one of the few living humans who have heard these! Dave in Kentucky provides the audio liner notes.

The Closet Excavationist #2 – School Days (1/19/19) 1:01:34 [934] The closet excavation continues, with the latest find being an old photo album containing the school picture shown in the show art. Dave in Kentucky conducts this one-hour seminar on the academia of yesteryear. Are you smarter than a second grader? Is pi round or square? Who was hotter, Fran Allison or Shari Lewis? Inquiring minds want to know! Take your seat beside Little Jackie Benny and have a heaping helping of pi doled out to you by Quizmaster Dave. There's the bell; class is now in session!

The Closet Excavationist #3 – Happy Trails (2/15/19) 1:00:37 [935] Tonight, on a very special episode of 'The Closet Excavationist', spend an hour with Dave in Kentucky as he reminisces about life on the farm in the 1960s, running the gamut from juvenile Westerns, playsets and capguns to sex, drugs and rock 'n' roll, from the Sons of the Pioneers to the Quicksilver Messenger Service, and from the coming of age to the saying of goodbye.

The Closet Excavationist #4 – Procrastination (6/28/19) 1:03:00 [939] Dave in Kentucky talks about the books and movies that have been occupying all his time and preventing him from cleaning out his closet. (Well, he'll blame it on that, anyway.) Dave reviews both of Harper Lee's novels (To Kill a Mockingbird and its sequel, Go Set a Watchman) as well as the movie with Gregory Peck, George Orwell's 1984 (both the book and the movie), plus Stanley Kubrick's 2001: A Space Odyssey and Friedrich Nietzsche's Thus Spake Zarathustra.

The Closet Excavationist #5 – Grandma's Trunk (7/3/19) 1:00:03 [940] Join Dave and Lisa in Kentucky as they dig through the contents of Dave's grandma's old trunk, which has remained unexplored for many years. Will they find the mysterious belt of which the medium spoke last year? Press play to find out.

The Closet Excavationist #6 – Sister's Trunk (7/12/19) 1:15:57 [940] Another week, another old trunk for Dave and Lisa to go through, in search of the elusive belt or "something else" that goes around one's waist. This latest "treasure chest" had belonged to Dave's older sister before she passed away a few years ago.

The Closet Excavationist #7 – Apron Strings (7/20/19) 33:18 [940] Lisa was unavailable, so Laverne (see show art) co-hosts with Dave in Kentucky as he examines a couple of academic papers from a half-century or so ago. Parental over-protection, separation anxiety and school phobias are discussed in both psychological and personal terms. Dave reminisces, Laverne comments.

The Closet Excavationist #8 – Monkey Business (8/1/19) 56:43 [941] Do the dead listen to The Overnightscape? Why else would Frank Edward Nora be mentioned in a reading by Dave and Lisa's psychic medium? Was Dave in Kentucky's apron-string theory confirmed or denied? Did Dave's grandpa object in principle to rural electrification, farm planning, crop allotments and the like, or was he simply an inveterate procrastinator? Find out the answer to some of these questions (perhaps) on this episode of The Closet Excavationist.

Killer Serials #18 – The Dain Curse, Part 1 of 4, "Black Lives" (2/11/26) 2:14:39 [1019]

Dave in Kentucky brings back his Killer Serials series, transitioning from Old Time Radio serials to magazine serials, and from homemade song parodies to AI-generated songs. First up: Dashiell Hammett's The Dain Curse, as it appeared in the pulp magazine Black Mask from late 1928 to early 1929. This first installment ("Black Lives") is from November 1928, and is thus in the public domain, in this timeline, at least. The reading is by Dave in Kentucky, with occasional feline ambience by Mr. Bean.

Musical Selection Start Time
1. Jazz Agent (instrumental) 0:00
2. Diamond in the Grass 2:27
3. Noir for Miles (instrumental) 18:31
4. Two Men 35:43
5. Cherchez (as the French would say) 40:31
6. Minnie and Rhino 1:02:10

8. Hopped-Up Mama 1:35:53
9. A Heck of a Frame 2:10:16

1. "Jazz Agent" (instrumental) by Suno.ai (v5)

2. "Diamond in the Grass" by DaveKY & Suno.ai (v4.5)

If you couldn't see a diamond when it's lying in the grass
And you can't tell if it's solid or it's liquid or it's gas
It could be a wisp of fog or just a little bead of dew
So you'd have no way of knowing if it was a diamond true

3. "Noir for Miles" (instrumental) by Suno.ai (v4.5)

4. "Two Men" by DaveKY & Suno.ai (v4.5)

As I walked back through the gloom
I found my way to a room
Where there was a dead man lying on a wall-bed
He had been there for a week
He was beginning to reek
As tends to happen in time, you know, to all dead

We know that Upton's his name
What we don't know is his game
But we think the man he lost to had a long nose
He's got a slug in his chest
And one just under his vest
And those are two pretty good signs something wrong goes

Two men, one had to quit

Too small for a two-way split
Two men couldn't play nice
One could play rougher; he kept the ice

5. "Cherchez (as the French would say)" by DaveKY and Suno.ai (v4.5)

The Chevalier Bayard
Was trying very hard
To champion his lady's reputation
If it was three a.m.
You won't hear that from him
Such hours would require investigation

Cherchez, as the French would say
La femme, before she gets away!
La fille blanc et la fille jaune
Seek all ze girls, before they're gone!

Cherchez, as the French would say
La femme, before she gets away! &c.

6. "Minnie and Rhino" by DaveKY & Suno.ai (v4.5)

Minnie's boyfriend Rhino
Was something of a wino
And often let the vino lead him round
And when he got to drinking
He'd brag instead of thinking
And that was when the bottle let him down

Oh, but that was okay
She loved him anyway
With a love that ostrich feathers just can't hide
Yes, that was all right
Especially at night
He made her feel all Tingley, deep inside

Rhino had some money
And you might think it's funny
That a man who seemed as shiftless as he did
Could carry such a cash wad
Enough to make our Dash nod
When by all rights he ought to keep it hid

Oh, but that was okay
She loved him anyway
With a love that ostrich feathers just can't hide
Yes, that was all right
Especially at night
He made her feel all Tingley, deep inside

Well, Minnie had the answer
She tiptoed like a dancer
Around the explanation for the cash
He didn't steal no ice, man
He won it shootin' dice, man
And that's the honest truth now, Mister Dash

Now everything's okay
She loves him every day
With a love that ostrich feathers just can't hide
Yes, everything's all right
Especially at night
He makes her feel all Tingley, deep inside

7. "When Facts Are All Assembled" by DaveKY & Suno.ai (v4.5)

If the woman wasn't married when
She showed up with her daughter
The baggage that she carried then
Was more than she had oughter
But if she's not the mother dear
Then why do they resemble?
Could there have been another here
When facts are all assembled?

And what about those private eyes
Those erstwhile jury-fixers
How are they fitting in, these guys
Into this odd admixture?
But if she's not the mother dear
Then why do they resemble?
Could there have been another here
When facts are all assembled?

8. "Hopped-Up Mama" by DaveKY & Suno.ai (v4.5)

She was a hopped-up mama who couldn't quite cope
A hopped-up mama at the end of her rope
A hopped-up mama without any hope
A hopped-up mama with a skin full of dope

Go to her room, pound on the door
Shuffling feet, crossing the floor
Let's get her dressed, and then in the car
Home would be best, and that ain't too far

She's a hopped-up mama who can't quite cope
A hopped-up mama at the end of her rope
A hopped-up mama without any hope
A hopped-up mama with a skin full of dope

The roadster missed the blue sedan
The curb was kissed, the shit hit the fan
Then we were decked, and then we were done
And then she was wrecked, in more ways than one

A hopped-up mama who can't quite cope
A hopped-up mama at the end of her rope
A hopped-up mama without any hope
A hopped-up mama with a skin full of dope

9. "A Heck of a Frame" by DaveKY and Suno.ai (v4.5)

Two sisters
Fighting for survival

Two sisters
Deadly sibling rivals

Then one day
Finally the daughter
Learned gunplay
Like her auntie taught her

Yes she taught her a game
So the gun could be blamed
It was a heck of a frame
She was the deadliest dame

Yes she taught her a game
So the gun could be blamed
It was a heck of a frame
It was the curse of the Dains

10. "Noir for Miles (slight return)" by DaveKY & Suno.ai v4.5

Sneak Preview – The Dain Curse Single (4/13/26) 7:27 [1021]

Dave in Kentucky's "Killer Serials" series has been presenting Dashiell Hammett's The Dain Curse as it appeared in Black Mask from late 1928 to early 1929. It features not only Hammett's original text, now in the public domain, but songs based on the events of the story, turning it into a sort of "mock opera". Words are by Dave in Kentucky, music and show art by Suno.ai (v4.5). Here's a sample.

Background: One of the story's characters, named Gabrielle, is addicted to morphine. Near the end of the story, the protagonist (who is twice her age) helps her kick her habit, despite her being very difficult and disagreeable about the process, as you might expect. Side A, "These Morphine Blues," is sung from her perspective before her cure; Side B, "Sit Down, She Said," is from his, after her cure.

Fahrenheit 450 #1 – Idle Tools in the Devil's Hands (2/2/21) 30:18 [959] Dave in Kentucky launches yet another new show, this one based on the "dangerous" books he is reading or has read. Will this be another abortive attempt, or will he actually make it to double-digit episodes this time? Only the alien time-travelers know for sure.

Fahrenheit 450 #2 – An Anthem for a Post-1984 World (2/15/21) 30:16 [959] Dystopia, anyone? Dave in Kentucky continues his looks at books that are only one degree of separation from being burned — or at least fried like Bacon. This episode finds common ground between the ultra-capitalist Ayn Rand's Anthem and the inexplicably-socialist George Orwell's 1984.

Fahrenheit 450 #3 – Question: When Does Money Die? (3/2/21) 30:04 [960] Father Coughlin returns, this time in book form. Dave in Kentucky relates Coughlin's views on fractional-reserve banking to Adam Fergusson's book about hyperinflation in the Weimar Republic following World War I. Could it happen again in 21st Century America, just as it happened again in 21st Century Zimbabwe, or 21st Century Venezuela? And could going totally cashless accelerate the process? Inquiring minds want to know.

Fahrenheit 450 #4 – Burn the Book or Burn the Movie? (3/31/21) 30:05 [960] Dave in Kentucky compares and contrasts the 1951 novel Fahrenheit 451 with the 1966 movie based on same, and in passing talks about Ray Bradbury Theater, HBO, Stacy Keach's Mike Hammer, Mel Gibson's Gallipoli and The Year of Living Dangerously, Linda Hunt, Dr. Seuss, Yertle the Turtle, "Little White Jimbo", "Jake" from State Farm, "Mikey" from Life Cereal, "Rachel" Levine, Twitter vs. Gab, free speech, Julie Christie and Dr. Zhivago, among other topics.

SERMONS #1 – "In the Beginning…" (4/27/21) 30:16 [961] Dave in Kentucky offers a verse-by-verse analysis of the first two chapters of the Book of Genesis, as he launches yet another new show. Will this one finally turn out to be his true calling? God only knows. ¶ Also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #2 – Serpents & Siblings & Spawn, Oh My! (5/10/21) 29:48 [962] Dave in Kentucky continues his look at Genesis from an "ancient astronauts" perspective, including Chapter 3 (Eve & the Serpent), Chapter 4 (Cain & Abel), and Chapter 5 (the generations preceding Noah), as well as much supplemental material from the non-canonical Book of Jasher. ¶ Also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #3 – They Might Be Giants (5/25/21) 29:30 [962] Dave in Kentucky expounds and expands upon the first four verses of Genesis 6, when the "sons of God" mated with the "daughters of men" and produced giant offspring. The Ethiopic Book of Enoch (aka First Enoch) provides the full story, which is begun here and will be continued (and possibly concluded) in the next episode. ¶ Also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #4 – Of Watchers & Nephilim (6/7/21) 29:30 Dave in Kentucky concludes the story of Enoch & the Watchers that was begun in the previous episode, and poses the following questions: Are the Nephilim giants, fallen angels, ancient astronauts, or all of the above? Does the term Nephilim apply to the Watchers, their offspring, or both? Are the Watcher and the "holy one" from Nebuchadnezzar's dream in Daniel 4:13 two distinct beings, or only one? Who are the irin, the malachim, and the cherubim? Tune in for the answers; you just might learn something. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #5 – Noah's Barbecue (6/21/21) 30:35 [963] In this episode, the Yahweh Elohim decide to destroy mankind — or do they? Noah and his family are spared, plus enough other creatures to repopulate the planet, so what was the point? Noah is grateful, however, so he builds an altar and barbecues some of the surplus clean beasts for them. This becomes a tradition, even after the gods are no longer physically present. But the meat could still be consumed via long distance, as in the contest between Elijah and the Prophets of Baal, with its highly disturbing denouement! ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #6 – Noah's Hangover (7/5/21) 30:30 [964] What happens the morning after the big barbecue bash Noah threw for the Yahweh Elohim, when he discovers that he has passed out drunk without a stitch of clothes on and become an object of ridicule as a result? Spoiler alert: Family ties are stretched well past the breaking point. Also, what was the Tower of Babel, and what method was used to confuse the language of its builders? Dave in Kentucky has the answers, or thinks he does anyway. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #7 – Abram and Sarai (7/16/21) 30:27 [964] Against the backdrop of rapidly-declining lifespans, the epic soap opera of Abram and his wife Sarai unfolds. After enriching themselves by pimping and hoeing to the rich and famous, they engage a surrogate mother to produce an heir, but that is not what their alien overlords had in mind. What was the nature of the plague visited on Pharaoh's house due to his dalliance with Sarai? What was behind the Yahweh Elohim's insistence on circumcision? What was the significance of Hagar the maid's encounter with El-roi the angel? Listen and learn. This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #8 – Abraham & Sarah (8/5/21) 29:39 [965] The continuing story of Abraham and Sarah, including Abraham's and Lot's encounters with the Yahwelian landing party, Abraham's haggling with the Lord, the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah and how it led to the decline and fall of the ancient Sumerian civilization, what happened between Lot and his daughters in the fallout shelter, what if anything happened between King Abimelech and sexy nonagenarian Sarah, Abraham's revelation about Sarah's parentage, the medical procedure that enabled the birth of Isaac, and Lots more. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #9 – Abraham & Isaac (8/17/21) 29:05 [965] Once it appears that Abraham and Sarah's "miracle baby" Isaac will survive to become a legitimate heir, Abraham sends the secondary heir and his mother the maid packing, then is shocked to find out that Isaac is scheduled to be the entrée at the Yahwelians' next barbecue, with Abraham serving as grillmaster. Abe's predicament is compared to that of Job, as well as to that of the Gregory Peck character in 1976's The Omen. Was Abraham's Kierkegaardian "leap of faith" justified by virtue of the absurd, or was it unjustifiable by virtue of the insane? ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #10 – Kissin' Cousins & Red Lentil Stew (9/13/21) 30:12 [966] Isaac's first cousin Rebekah is selected by the Yahweh Elohim to be his bride, in defiance of the dangers of inbreeding. After a childless decade or two, a Yahwelian fertility procedure results in fraternal twins, the hairy Esau and the slick (perhaps too slick) Jacob, who eventually cheats his slightly older brother out of his birthright. This leads to a discussion of what our birthright is, and who is trying to cheat us out of it. Dave flips to the back of the book for the answers (in Revelation 13) and presents his own ideas about the mark of the beast, the name of the beast, and the number of its name, as well as about the infamous number 666, which (we are told) is the number of a man. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #11 – Isaac, Rebekah & Sons (12/29/21) 29:40 [969] The story you are about to hear may or may not be true. It involves cases of mistaken identity, disputes over water rights, receiving blessings under false pretenses, plots of revenge, and violations of airspace by unidentified craft. Some of the names may have been changed, but not for the purpose of protecting the innocent, since no one involved was innocent. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #12 – Swindles, Superstitions & Spells (2/9/22) 29:37 The love triangle of Jacob, Rachel and Leah can be summed up in the words of the Lovin' Spoonful: "Sometimes you really dig a girl the moment you kiss her, but then you get distracted by her older sister." Except in this case, it's the girls' father who masterminds the distraction. A battle of wits ensues in which two con men attempt to out-con each other, and two sisters vie for the same man's affection, by methods both normal and paranormal. It's a Biblical confection with a musical surprise in the middle. Sit a spell, listen a spell, maybe even fall under a spell. Dave in Kentucky does the casting. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #13 – Encampment of the Gods (2/21/22) 30:38 The Biblical soap opera continues, with Laban in hot pursuit of Jacob and his family. Once he catches up, Rachel proves herself to be a clever smuggler, whereupon a treaty establishes a demilitarized zone. Jacob happens upon an encampment of the gods, and wrestles with one of them until dawn. Esau greets Jacob's party with a force of four hundred men. Dinah is defiled, but her defiler wants to make an honest woman out of her, which requires that he and the other men of his country submit to genital mutilation. Say what?? ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #14 – From Jacob to Israel & Esau to Edom (4/30/22) 30:33 [973] Jacob's sons play a dirty trick involving circumcision, and Jacob is outraged, though not in any moral sense. Accepting Yahwelian protection, Jacob banishes any other gods, real or imagined, and builds an altar to the Yahwelians. El Sadday, the Almighty God, appears to Jacob and renames him Israel before beaming back up. The lineage of Esau culminates in the dukes and kings of Edom. Who were these Edomites, and if they were a different race than the Israelites, how did that happen, since both groups sprang from the same pair of twins? Inquiring minds want to know. Inquiring minds want to know. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #15 – Of Joseph and Judah (5/18/22) 29:54 [974] Joseph's brothers get tired of him tattling on him, so they sell him into slavery, where he must resist the persistent advances of his master's promiscuous wife. The aptly-named Onan commits a capital offense by practicing the coitus interruptus method of birth control. The widow Tamar plays the harlot, and Judah gets his former daughter-in-law pregnant. There's not much here about ancient alien astronauts, but it's pretty hot stuff, so give it a listen anyway. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #16 – Dream Weaver (6/3/22) 30:05 [975] Joseph interprets the dreams of Pharaoh's butler, Pharaoh's baker and Pharaoh himself, and gives such accurate readings that he is not only released from prison; he becomes Pharaoh's second in command and immediately launches a major government project to deal with a predicted catastrophe. Soon to become a major motion picture in an alternate timeline. Scenes include: "Take me, Mandingo," "Pharaoh's corn," "'E's an 'Ebrew," "I Married a Sun Worshipper," and "Wouldn't you like to be a prepper, too?" ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #17 – The Prepper Gene (6/17/22) 29:57 [975] After bringing in the sheaves throughout seven years of plenty, during the following lean years Joseph gradually releases surplus grain from the Strategic Corn Reserves. Word reaches famine-stricken Canaan that Egypt has plenty of food, so Jacob sends ten of his sons there to buy some, where they fail to recognize Joseph as their long-lost brother. He recognizes them, but he doesn't let on. Instead he accuses them of being spies, frames them for theft, lets them cool their heels in jail for a few days, then releases nine of them but holds one hostage until they return with their other brother, Benjamin. Paybacks are hell. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #18 – The Road to Serfdom (7/2/22) 30:02 [976] Is the universe teleological, or merely logical? Who or what was the Gnostic demiurge? Did Egyptian cattlemen conduct range wars against Hebrew sheepherders in the Land o' Goshen? Did Ancient Egypt suffer hyperinflation due to too much silver chasing too little bread? How can people with livestock aplenty suffer from a famine? (No, they weren't vegan.) Was there an Agenda 2030 B.C.? These and other questions are asked and/or answered as the epic story of Joseph continues. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #19 – Hebrew Speedwriting (7/11/22) 30:28 [976] How did the lack of vowels in ancient Hebrew writing lead to mistranslations and mispronunciations? Were the Hebrew patriarchs morally upright, or were they just a bunch of hooligans? Was their morality (or lack of same) determined by their environment, or was it in their DNA? How might German translators have contributed to the mispronunciation of Biblical names? These and other questions are asked and answered as we peruse the final chapters of Genesis, covering the last days of Jacob and Joseph. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #20 – Eden Reconsidered (7/30/22) 30:16 [976] If you think the Garden of Eden story in Genesis 2 through 4 is just a fairy tale, think again. And listen again, because Dave in Kentucky got it wrong the first time around, and corrects the record with this episode, revealing the location of the garden, the real reason man was created, and perhaps most surprising of all, the identity of the serpent. (It ain't the devil.) ¶ Show art: The Rebuke of Adam and Eve (1626) by Domenico Zampieri (aka "Domenichino"), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #21 – Bull Rushers & Bush Burners (8/11/22) 29:56 [977] A new book of the Bible, a new theme song, but the same old host. Dave in Kentucky begins his exposition of Exodus. Topics include Egyptian Replacement Theory, Habitat for Midwives, Hebrew Lives Matter, Egyptian Lives Don't Matter, Hebrew-on-Hebrew Crime, the degradation of holographically reconstructed patterns, and the effect of time dilation on the lifespans of the gods. Plus, in a look back at Genesis: How Lot's wife was turned into a pillar of salt. ¶ Show art: Pharaoh's Daughter Finds Baby Moses (1886) by Edwin Long (1829-1891), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #22 – Let My Extras Go (8/20/22) 29:59 [977] The hologram in the "burning bush" gives Moses a mission, should he choose to accept it: to go to Pharaoh and demand the release of the Hebrew slaves so they can serve the Yahwelians instead. Moses is provided with the gadgetry and passwords necessary to complete the assignment, and is teamed up with his slick-talking brother Aaron, who serves as his mouthpiece. Once the hologram self-destructs, Moses applies for and is granted leave by his employer and father-in-law, His Excellency the Priest of Midian. Moses packs up the family, loads them on the family ass and heads back to Egypt, but along the way a near-fatal encounter with a Yahwelian results in spousal conflict and genital mutilation. Then when Moses and Aaron present their demands at Pharaoh's court, Pharaoh not only refuses to release the Hebrew slaves, he increases their workload out of spite. Oy vey! ¶ Show Art: a still from Cecil B. DeMille's 1923 version of The Ten Commandments, from a scene filmed in the Guadalupe Dunes of Santa Barbara County, Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #23 – Ecological Dominoes (9/1/22) 30:00 [978] A series of ecological disasters ostensibly designed to convince Pharaoh to release the Israelite slaves into Yahwelian custody only serves to strengthen Pharaoh's resolve to keep them under Egyptian rule. But of course Jehovah El-Sadday knew all along that this would happen, so he has kept a few surprises in reserve. Also: Was Moses' reluctance to engage in public speaking due to a speech impediment? ¶ Show art: Moses and Aaron Speak to the People (1896-1902) by James Tissot (1836-1902), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #24 – Escalation of Hostilities (9/14/22) 30:31 [978] When their "Domino Theory" of ecological disasters fails to produce the desired results, the Yahweh Elohim resort to chemical weapons and weaponized weather modification, fittingly resulting in plagues on a Biblical scale, but Pharaoh still refuses to free the slaves. Just who was this stubborn Egyptian king? By piecing together the historical, Biblical and scientific records, Dave thinks he has found the answer. ¶ Show art: The Plague of Boils and Blains (1896-1902) by James Tissot (1836-1902), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #25 – The Silence of the Lambs (9/28/22) 29:56 [978] The death squads of the gods fan out across Egypt, finally convincing Pharaoh to release the Israelite slaves, who have stocked up on borrowed goods that they have no intention of returning. (Is that any way to treat thy neighbors?) The ensuing blood bath is enough to make Dave in Kentucky consider pollo-pescatarianism. How many children of Israel set out on the Exodus? Did they leave from the city of Rameses, or from Avaris? And what's so special about unleavened bread? ¶ Show art: The Death of Pharaoh's Firstborn Son (1872) by Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema (1836-1912), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #26 – Parting Shots (10/10/22) 30:02 [979] What did Moses forget that caused him to have to take the long way around to the Promised Land? Did the Exodus take place in Egypt's Middle Kingdom, 2nd Intermediate Period, or New Kingdom? Which Land o' Goshen city did the Israelites depart from, Rameses or Avaris? What "revelation" did Mark Twain have when he viewed the erupting Kilauea volcano in Hawaii? To what body of water does the Hebrew name "Yam Suph" refer? How would Mr. Wizard explain the parting of the Red Sea? Who issued Cecil B. DeMille's Artistic License? Dave in Kentucky answers all these questions, and more. ¶ Show art: Map of the Sinai Peninsula (1888) by the American Bible Society, Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #27 – Floor Show at the Coconut Grove (10/15/22) 30:17 [979] With their Egyptian pursuers all washed up, the Israelites celebrate on the shoreline. Sister Miriam is the hit of the party, and shows promise as a pop singer. In the days that follow, however, they must face the harsh reality that drinkable water, edible food, and usable routes are not easy to find. Fortunately they have friends in high places who can airdrop K-Rations, engineer massive gamebird kills, and show them how to purify water. When it comes to navigation, however, Moses and Aaron are on their own, and it takes them forty years to figure it out. ¶ Show art: The Songs of Joy (1896-1902) by James Tissot (1836-1902), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #28 – Striking Water & Doing the Wave (10/29/22) 30:36 [979] They say you can't get blood from a turnip, but how about water from a rock? Dave lets you in on how it might have been done. Also, correlation may not imply causation, but it can be a pretty good indicator that of two correlated events, one may be causing the other. What is sometimes less clear, however, is which is the cause and which is the effect. "Go Israelites, beat Amalekites!" Finally, take your father-in-law's advice and learn to delegate before you work yourself to death. ¶ Show art: Moses Draws Water from the Rock (1642) by Francois Perrier (1590-1650), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #29 – Descending in Smoke and Fire (11/11/22) 30:01 [980] At the behest of the Yahweh Elohim, Moses sets up a security perimeter behind which the Israelites can safely view the spectacle of a Yahwelian ship descending in smoke and fire, and landing on a plateau atop Mt. Sinai. When the Yahweh have second thoughts about allowing the humans to breach that perimeter and mingle with the gods, Moses goes back down to ensure order while the speaker system of the gods blares out a Top Ten list of commandments. Dave in Kentucky provides the linguistic analysis. ¶ Show art: "The Ten Commandments" Bible Cards (1907) by the Providence Lithograph Company, Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #30 – "If a Man Sell his Daughter…" (11/18/22) 30:06 [980] Less well-known than the Top Ten commandments, and perhaps rightly so, are the Top One Hundred or so that follow. Dave in Kentucky isn't quite sure which of these deserve a bullet, but he will break them down for you, including the ones about animal control, witchcraft, and bestiality. While the Top Ten were composed by the Big Idea contingent of the Yahweh Elohim, the remaining laws were apparently developed by a committee of legalistic bureaucrats, with uneven results. ¶ Show art: Inspecting New Arrivals (before 1917) by Giulio Rosati (1858-1917), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #31 – "Into the Midst of the Cloud" (11/27/22) 30:00 [980] The Top One Hundred Commandment Countdown finally concludes, as Dave in Kentucky discusses the Golden Rule and Kant's Categorical Imperative, the practice of usury, the origin of the Divine Right of Kings, the physical urges of the gods, the different types of justice, the basics of agricultural land management, the suppression of inconvenient history, the origin of the patriarchy and much more, including whether Moses went up in a cloud of smoke. Grab yourself a Manna Ready to Eat and get ready for some edification. ¶ Show art: Moses on Mount Sinai (1895-1900) by Jean-Leon Gerome (1824-1904), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #32 – Origin of the Lost Ark (12/11/22) 29:46 [981] This episode presents Chapter One of the prequel to Raiders, with more chapters to follow as we progress through the Old Testament, and also deals with the design and construction of the Tabernacle, the Menorah and the Holy Coffee Table. Why was the Tabernacle just a big tent, and why did all its furniture pieces have rings and poles for carrying them? Did the Yahweh Elohim suffer from yeast intolerance resulting in ungodly flatulence? Why do churches traditionally have such high ceilings? Why was the Ark even called an ark, since all that gold made it far too heavy to float? As always, Dave in Kentucky leads the speculative investigation into our distant past. ¶ Show art: Moses and Joshua in the Tabernacle (1896-1902) by James Tissot (1836-1902), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #33 – The Holy Barbecue Grill (12/26/22) 30:54 [981] In addition to the Ark, the Holy Candelabra and the Holy Coffee Table, the Yahwelians order the construction of a curiously oversized barbecue grill, made to a godly scale yet tended at least part of the time by a priestly class headed up by Moses' older brother Aaron, one of whose vestments is a twelve-gemstone breastplate of "Lights and Perfections" (Urim and Thummim) which in concert with the Ark of the Covenant provides a means of communication when the Yahwelians are not physically present in the Tabernacle. Dave in Kentucky speculates on the nature of the code they may have used. ¶ Show art: Part of an illustration from the 1890 Holman Bible, artist unknown, Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #34 – The Holy Incense Burner (1/7/23) 29:47 [982] More instructions for how Aaron and his sons are to conduct the high priest's office, more specifications for furnishings for the tabernacle, and recipes for oils and perfumes that are so special they are considered intellectual property. While the original Creator Elohim were concerned with Big Ideas, the Yahweh Elohim tended to micro-manage everything, including the exact procedures for dispatching the countless animals who ended up on the Holy Barbecue Grill. What's the difference between a "wave" offering and a "heave" offering? How much was the annual half-shekel tabernacle tax in today's dollars? And if sacrificing a lamb twice a day was purely symbolic, how come bread and wine was served with it? ¶ Show art: Illustration from Henry Davenport Northrop's Treasures of the Bible (1894) showing the High Priest at the Altar of Incense, artist unknown, Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #35 – The Golden Calf & Other Lesser Gods (1/11/23) 30:11 [982] Yahweh recommends a contractor and a sub-contractor to build the tabernacle and its furniture, prescribes drastic punishment for anyone working on the Sabbath, and gives Moses two stone tables with something inscribed on them, though not necessarily the Ten Commandments. When Moses descends the mountain, he finds that leaving his brother Aaron in charge was a big mistake, so he turns big rocks into smaller rocks and proceeds to commit atrocities on a Biblical scale. What god did the golden calf represent, and why was dancing naked around it considered an appropriate form of worship? Dave in Kentucky thinks he has the answers. ¶ Show art: The Israelites Dancing Around the Golden Calf (1899) by Henri-Paul Motte (1846-1922), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #36 – Holy Moses or Horny Moses (1/21/23) 30:24 [982] Since Moses broke the original tables of testimony in a fit of rage, Lord Yahweh teaches him a lesson by forcing him to hew new ones and do part of the engraving himself, instead of having them pre-hewn and professionally engraved by skilled Yahwelian artisans. Dave in Kentucky explains how the lack of vowels in ancient Hebrew writing led to mistranslations, and why the distance to a star system is not the sole determining factor in the amount of time dilation that occurs during lightspeed travel to that system. Did Moses come out of his Yahwelian meetings with a bright, shiny face, or with hornlike implants in his forehead? Dave doesn't know for sure, but he thinks he can explain either one. Maybe not the headlight beams, though. ¶ Show art: Moses and the Messengers from Canaan (1621-1624) by Giovanni Lanfranco (1582-1647), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #37 – Exodus Ends but the Exodus Doesn't (2/6/23) 30:36 [983] The Promised Land is still a ways off when Moses types "30" or "THE END" at the bottom of last page of the Book of Exodus. Who knew?? No doubt a sequel is in the works. Why was there was so much repetition in the early books of the Bible? What language were the stone tablets written in? Were there 603,550 adult male Israelites or were there six hundred squad leaders commanding 3,550 fighting men? What do Ray Bradbury, Devo and Weird Al Yankovic have to do with anything we're talking about? Tune in and Dave in Kentucky will tell you, or at least tell you what he thinks about it. Also: a preview of what comes next in the series (hint: it ain't Leviticus) including some tasty classical accordion music. (Baroque, actually.) ¶ Show art: The Erection of the Tabernacle and the Sacred Vessels by the illustrators of Figures de la Bible (1728) by Gerard Hoet (1648-1733), Public Domain. ¶ Closing theme: Part of "The Arrival of the Queen of Sheba" from Act III of Solomon (1748) by George Frideric Handel (1685-1759), Public Domain, performed by the Accordion Ensemble ARTE in 2017, Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 4.0. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #38 – The Kebra Nagast (2/11/23) 30:14 [983] The Ethiopian sacred text known as the Kebra Nagast tells the full story of the visit of the Queen of Sheba to King Solomon, including what happened to the Ark of the Covenant. It is a decidedly non-canonical and somewhat steamy story, and the action will get even hotter in the next episode when we investigate the Song of Solomon, also known as the Song of Songs, arguably the sexiest book of the Bible. Dav(e) in Kentucky conducts the proceedings, but not the accordions. ¶ Show art: The Visit of the Queen of Sheba to King Solomon (1890) by Sir Edward John Poynter (1836-1919), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "The Arrival of the Queen of Sheba" from Act III of Solomon (1748) by George Frideric Handel (1685-1759), Public Domain, performed by the Accordion Ensemble ARTE in 2017, Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 4.0. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #39 – The Song of Solomon & Makeda (2/17/23) 29:30 [983] The love story of King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba is memorialized not only in the movies and the Kebra Nagast, but in the book of the Bible variously known as the Song of Solomon, the Song of Songs, or the Canticle of Canticles. It resulted in a male love child being born during Queen Makeda's return journey to Sheba (Ethiopia). When this man-child attained his majority, he resolved to make his own pilgrimage to Jerusalem to visit his father, a trip that culminated in a plot to steal the Ark of the Covenant from the Temple of Solomon. ¶ Show art: Movie poster from the silent version of The Queen of Sheba (1921) with Fritz Leiber as King Solomon and Betty Blythe as the titular queen, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "The Arrival of the Queen of Sheba" from Act III of Solomon (1748) by George Frideric Handel (1685-1759), Public Domain, performed by the Accordion Ensemble ARTE in 2017, Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 4.0. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #40 – Location of the Lost Ark (2/22/23) 30:02 [983] Unhappy with King Solomon's plan to deport and exile them, the Delegation of the Firstborn plan to salvage some of Solomon's fabulous riches for themselves, by absconding with the Ark of the Covenant. Azaryas, the son of the high priest Zadok, hatches a plot worthy of one of those 1960s Rat Pack heist movies. Call it Azaryas' Eleven. It's the third and final installment in the Kebra Nagast trilogy, also known as the Ark Arc. ¶ Show art: "Ark of the Covenant church in Axum, Ethiopia" (2004) by Adam Cohn (own work), Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 3.0 Unported. ¶ Theme music: "The Arrival of the Queen of Sheba" from Act III of Solomon (1748) by George Frideric Handel (1685-1759), Public Domain, performed by the Accordion Ensemble ARTE in 2017, Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 4.0. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #41 – "O Thou Who Camest from Above" (3/1/23) 29:48 [984] Dave in Kentucky gets back on the Biblical track by beginning a new book, Leviticus, and introducing a new theme song, "O Thou Who Camest from Above," by a couple of prominent Wesleyans. No animals were harmed in the making of this episode, but they were certainly slaughtered by the millions in Levitical times. I am tempted to use the term "Animal Holocaust" but I'm sure that would be deemed insensitive, to say the least. ¶ Show art: "National Sin-of-Ignorance Offering" by the illustrator(s) of John Dilworth's Pictorial Description of the Tabernacle in the Wilderness: Its Rites and Ceremonies (1878), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "O Thou Who Camest from Above" (words 1762, music 1872) by Charles Wesley (1707-1788) and Samuel Sebastian Wesley (1810-1876), Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2023), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #42 – Serial Sacrifices (3/10/23) 29:36 [984] The animal bloodbath continues, as Dave in Kentucky tries to make sense of a system in which the religious authorities, legal professionals and public health officials are all the same people, and public health is promoted through religious edicts with the force of law. Hey, that sounds a lot like the past few years! Compensation for the priests is handled in much the same way: Since the priests make the laws, they can support themselves by levying taxes on the public. Hey, that sounds a lot like Congress! ¶ Show art: Landscape with the Sacrifice of Noah (1814) by Joseph Anton Koch (1768-1839), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "O Thou Who Camest from Above" (words 1762, music 1872) by Charles Wesley (1707-1788) and Samuel Sebastian Wesley (1810-1876), Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2023), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #43 – Strange Fire (3/22/23) 30:13 [984] Decked out in their priestly finery, the newly-consecrated priests carry out the apparently pointless slaughter of numerous animals, leading up to the glory of the (hologrammatic) Lord appearing to all the Israelites, not just the priests, and the consumption by (phaser) fire of the slaughtered animals. Shortly thereafter, the danger of the newly-installed priests not taking their priestly duties seriously enough is demonstrated in dramatic and tragic fashion, temporarily putting Aaron off his feed. ¶ Show art: The Two Priests are Destroyed (1896-1902) by James Tissot (1836-1902), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "O Thou Who Camest from Above" (words 1762, music 1872) by Charles Wesley (1707-1788) and Samuel Sebastian Wesley (1810-1876), Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2023), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #44 – Clean & Unclean Food & People (4/2/23) 29:43 [985] Old Testament Healthcare was based on the two strategies of making healthy food choices and limiting exposure to the most harmful communicable diseases, both of which are illustrated in this episode. Somewhere along the line we got away from that and started to emphasize pills and injections instead. Study the original medical texts with Dr. Dave in Kentucky. (No, he's not a real doctor, and he doesn't even play one on a podcast, but so what? Does having a license to drive mean you're a good driver? Does having a license to kill mean you're a good double-nought spy? Only Jethro Bodine knows for sure, and he's an idiot.) ¶ Show art: Two illustrations ("The Leper at the Altar" on the left and "The Leper" on the right) from two different editions of Cassell's Illustrated Family Bible, circa 1880, artist(s) unknown, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "O Thou Who Camest from Above" (words 1762, music 1872) by Charles Wesley (1707-1788) and Samuel Sebastian Wesley (1810-1876), Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2023), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #45 – Unclean Emissions (4/10/23) 30:29 [985] After offering a few public health tips about dealing with the clothes and houses of recovered lepers, Dave in Kentucky gets down to the nitty-gritty of the various unclean emissions, nocturnal and otherwise, of us carbon-based life forms. Take a deep dive into the subject matter, but try not to get any on you. ¶ Show art: Carbon Emissions, a photograph by Emma Harris, circa 2019, Public Domain Dedication. ¶ Theme music: "O Thou Who Camest from Above" (words 1762, music 1872) by Charles Wesley (1707-1788) and Samuel Sebastian Wesley (1810-1876), Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2023), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #46 – Scapegoating (4/18/23) 29:29 [985] The scapegoat was both a literal goat that was abandoned to perish in the wilderness, and the disobedient Watcher to whom the goat was thus sacrificed. Leviticus hearkens back to the Book of Enoch, in which we are told to ascribe all sin to Azazel, who taught men to wage war with swords and shields, and women to wage war with jewelry and cosmetics. Also: more on the dangers of consuming blood and fat, and strict new prohibitions against incest. ¶ Show art: The Scapegoat (1854) by William Holman Hunt (1827-1910), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "O Thou Who Camest from Above" (words 1762, music 1872) by Charles Wesley (1707-1788) and Samuel Sebastian Wesley (1810-1876), Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2023), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #47 – Unfruitful Multiplication (4/28/23) 29:36 [985] What do child sacrifice, man-on-man sex and bestiality have in common, and why are they not to be recommended? Dave in Kentucky provides the Yahwelian perspective and motivation. Also: why Canaan was not for the Canaanites, how to avoid food poisoning without understanding it, practical jokes to play on the deaf and the blind, and the punishments for various infractions. Spoiler alert: the death penalty is a very popular punishment. ¶ Show art: Artist's view of a sacrifice to Moloch, from Bible Pictures and What They Teach Us (1897) by Charles Foster, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "O Thou Who Camest from Above" (words 1762, music 1872) by Charles Wesley (1707-1788) and Samuel Sebastian Wesley (1810-1876), Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2023), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #48 – Rules for Me, but not for Thee (5/4/23) 30:25 [986] In this, the penultimate Levitical episode, Dave in Kentucky discusses the rules that applied only to the priests. Why were hunchback priests, midget priests, and priests with flat noses barred from serving in the Holy of Holies? What flaws in food or service would prompt a Yahwelian diner to send back a meal, complain to the chef, and call the manager to the table? Also: feast days and how to properly observe them. ¶ Show art: "Priests of the Tabernacle" from Bible Pictures and What They Teach Us (1897) by Charles Foster, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "O Thou Who Camest from Above" (words 1762, music 1872) by Charles Wesley (1707-1788) and Samuel Sebastian Wesley (1810-1876), Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2023), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #49 – The Great Fifty-Year Reset (5/9/23) 29:56 [986] Just as man needs a day of rest every seven days, the land needs a year of rest every seven years, or so decreed the Yahweh Elohim, and it's still good agricultural practice today. Somewhat questionable, however, is their insistence that everything rests and resets every fifty years. Prisoners are set free, all property reverts to its original owners, and all debts are forgiven. (All debts, mind you; not just student loan debts.) Get ready to yabal the shofars; it's Jubilee Time! ¶ Show art: "Blowing the Trumpets at the Feast of the New Moon" by the illustrator(s) of the 1890 Holman Bible, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "O Thou Who Camest from Above" (words 1762, music 1872) by Charles Wesley (1707-1788) and Samuel Sebastian Wesley (1810-1876), Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2023), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #50 – The Great Flood Reconsidered (5/17/23) 30:17 [986] In addition to the Biblical account of the Great Flood, there were at least three earlier Middle Eastern accounts, in the Eridu Genesis, the Epic of Atrahasis, and the Epic of Gilgamesh. The human heroes of these stories were Ziusudra, Atrahasis, and Utnapishtim, respectively. Were these just different names for Noah, or were they different people altogether? Was the Yahweh who decided to drown mankind the same Yahweh who decided to save them from drowning? Was the flower of monotheism grafted onto polytheistic roots? Were the Igigi "lesser gods" just lower-class Anunnaki? And just exactly what did the gods carry in their handbags? Dave in Kentucky will attempt to answer all these questions and more, and while he may just be talking to the wall, he hopes there's somebody listening on the other side of that wall. ¶ Show art: From an ancient Sumerian cylinder seal depicting the god Enki talking over a wall to Ziusudra, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #51 – Creation Reconsidered (5/27/23) 29:50 [986] Dave in Kentucky begins his own translation of the Hebrew Bible as follows: "In beginning, gods created the skies and the land, and the land was unformed and empty. And darkness covered the ocean surface, and wind from the gods blew across the surface of the waters. Then said the gods, 'Let it become light,' and it became light. And the gods saw that the light was beneficial, and they alternated it with the darkness. They called the time of the light 'day', and the time of darkness 'night'. Thus there was evening and morning from Day One." More than a translation, this is an interpretation and an elucidation of Earth's history involving two different groups of alien gods, the original creator gods and the much-later Yahweh Elohim. Epic in scope, yet condensed to thirty minutes of audio, it is a story of technologies as diverse as weather modification, terraforming and lawn sprinkler installation. ¶ Show art: The first few verses of the Hebrew Bible, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #52 – A Plurality of Numbers (6/4/23) 29:13 [987] Dave in Kentucky finally gets started on the Book of Numbers, and we soon find out why it's called that. There's a little more of the singular vs. plural stuff, too, left over from the previous episode. Discover why the Levites received a Selective Service exemption, how the Israelites conducted their census, and when the Levites and their livestock became the substitute firstborn. Also: the Quimbaya artifacts, pareidolia, and gaslighting. Finally, did the Ark of the Covenant's wooden carrying poles remain in the metal rings of the Ark at all times? If so, why, and if not, why not? ¶ Show art: La Marche des Israelites dans le Desert (1784) by Joseph Romain Joly (1715-1805), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #53 – Voodoo Children of Israel (6/11/23) 30:39 [987] Like all good furniture movers, the Israelites wrapped their furniture in protective coverings before heading off down the road. But how do you cover an altar that is supposed to maintain an eternal flame? And how do the movers transport items that will kill them if they touch them, or perhaps if they even look at them? Dave in Kentucky analyzes this logistical nightmare, as well as the Sotah Ritual, a voodoo-like curse by which a man could purportedly determine if his wife had been cheating on him. Was this superstitious claptrap, or clever psychology? ¶ Show art: "The Sotah Ritual" by Jan Luyken (1703-1762), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #54 – "Wagons, Ho!" (6/21/23) 30:00 [987] When the Israelites pulled up stakes and set out through the wilderness and across the desert, did they travel in a wagon train? Why did Samson believe the source of his great strength was his hair? Was it a blessing to see the face of God, or a death sentence? Weren't all the animal sacrifices literally overkill? Did the voice of God emanate from an old-time radio receiver? Dave in Kentucky doesn't have all the answers, but at least he poses some interesting questions. ¶ Show art: Early photograph showing an ox-drawn covered wagon, date and photographer unknown, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #55 – Fog Machines & Floodlights (6/27/23) 30:02 [987] An active volcano in the distance, which appeared as a pillar of smoke in the daytime and a pillar of fire at night, had previously led the Israelites to Mt. Sinai, where more smoke and fire accompanied the landing of a Yahwelian ship carrying a very important personage with a very important legal document. What better way to lead the Israelites through the wilderness than by artificially producing the symbols that they were already accustomed to following? Also: Passover, bugle calls, manna, food cravings, and fire-of-Yahweh overreactions. Bonus question: Are Jabal al-Lawz and Jabal Maqla the Biblical Mt. Horeb and Mt. Sinai? ¶ Show art: "The Tabernacle in the Wilderness" by the illustrator(s) of the 1890 Holman Bible, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #56 – Return of the Nephilim (7/5/23) 30:04 [988] Complaining about the lack of variety on the menu leads to even less variety for the following month, and a large number of deaths. Miriam doesn't like the fact that her brother Moses has married an Ethiopian woman, so she engages in some seditious talk with her easily-influenced brother Aaron, whereupon as punishment she is turned even whiter than she already was. Moses sends twelve spies to scout out the Promised Land, where they encounter the Anakim, who are giant descendants of the Nephilim. But how is this possible if the Nephilim were wiped out in the Great Flood? Also: Speculation about the role interstellar objects like Oumuamua and the Borisov Comet might have played in the development of early man. ¶ Show art: "Quail in the Wilderness" (1698) by Caspar Luyken (1672-1708), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #57 – Sinkholes & Deathrays (7/11/23) 30:12 [988] Are the Anakim, Nephilim, Watchers and Anunnaki all branches of the same family tree? Do giant tools imply giant tool-users? Does Dave's falsetto voice remind you of a Monty Python skit? Why send out spies if you're not going to believe their reports? Is gathering firewood on the Sabbath deserving of the death penalty? Which is more deadly, a sinkhole or a death ray? Dave in Kentucky tells you what he thinks, and all he asks is that if you don't like his answers, just please don't kill the messenger. ¶ Show art: "Destruction of Korah, Dathan and Abiram" by the illustrator(s) of the 1890 Holman Bible, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #58 – Budding Rods & Bamboo Rhizomes (7/24/23) 29:36 [988] The Yahwelians rig yet another miracle by means of their superior scientific knowledge, but they leave some clues indicating how they did it. Dave in Kentucky attempts to solve what Erle Stanley Gardner might have called The Case of the Blossoming Rod. Also: Did the Levites live high on the hog on the public dime? Why did the Edomites hold a grudge against the Israelites? Why were Moses and Aaron denied access to the Promised Land? Et cetera. ¶ Show art: "Aaron's Staff Buds" (1860) by Julius Schnorr von Carolsfeld (1794-1872), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain. All music performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021-2023), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #59 – Attack of the Seraphim (8/2/23) 29:41 [989] Were the "fiery flying serpents" with six wings who attacked the Israelites angels or jet planes? How did a snake on a pole heal the victims of these attacks? Why did the World Health Organization, the American Medical Association and numerous other medical groups adopt this symbol as their own? What's the difference between the Rod of Asclepius and the Caduceus? Why did Balaam's ass see the angel (malach) in the middle of the road while Balaam did not? Who or what made the ass speak? Dave in Kentucky speaks from a similar source as he suggests answers to these and other questions. ¶ Show art: "Moses and the Brazen Serpent" (ca. 1650) by Esteban March (1610-1668), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #60 – Unauthorized Human Sacrifice (8/21/23) 29:41 [989] Why does Numbers 23:19 point out that the Elohim are neither men nor sons of men? Isn't that redundant? Well, not necessarily. What does the fact that Jesus is both the son of God and the son of man imply? Did the Israelites engage in human sacrifice as well as animal sacrifice? Dave in Kentucky provides answers, and speculates about the existence in ancient times of two competing alien races, the Yahwelians (natch) and the Baalites. ¶ Show art: "Pinchas Killing Zimri and Cozbi with a Spear" (late 17th or early 18th century, colorized) by Otmar Elliger, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #61 – "Keep the Virgins for Yourselves" (9/17/23) 28:52 [990] After Moses is told he will die soon, without ever setting foot in the Promised Land, he deals harshly with the women and children taken prisoner in the Midianite campaign. He would have dealt harshly with the Midianite men, too, but these had already been exterminated by Phineas the Impaler. ¶ Show art: "The Women of Midian Led Captive by the Hebrews" (1896-1902) by James Tissot (1836-1902), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #62 – More Booty, Virgin & Otherwise (10/1/23) 28:12 [991] After helping the Israelites conquer the Midianites, the Yahwelians received tribute which included thirty-two Midianite virgins, without blemish. Why? Strange. Hey, why do you think they call it booty? And it's not like they hadn't mated with earth women before, notably in Genesis 6. Also: cultural destruction and ethnic cleansing of the Canaanite peoples, the laying out of the borders of Israel, and a recap of the main events of the Exodus. ¶ Show art: "Moses Ordering the Slaughter of the Midianites" (circa 1650) by Claes Corneliszoon Moeyaert (1592–1655), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #63 – Suburbs of a Sanctuary City (10/22/23) 30:14 [991] Why did the Levites live in the inner city while their sheep lived in the suburbs? Why were Hebrew heiresses forbidden to marry men from other tribes? When were the first sanctuary cities established, and which homicide suspects were provided safe haven in them? The answers to these and other questions are here in this podcast. ¶ Show art: "The Daughters of Zelophehad" (circa 1908) by the illustrator(s) of The Bible and Its Story Taught by One Thousand Picture Lessons (1908) edited by Charles F. Horne and Julius A. Bewer, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #64 – Lands of the Giants (10/31/23) 30:14 [991] The Great Flood did not rid the world of giants, any more than it rid the world of normal-sized humans. After the Nephilim came the Anakim, the Emim, the Horim, the Zamzummim, the Avim, and God knows how many other plus-sized races or tribes. King Og of Bashan, with his thirteen-and-a-half-foot bed, was thought by Moses to have been the last of the giants, but we know that Goliath came along later. The Bible provides the information; Dave in Kentucky provides the commentary. Show art: Ancient Sumerian carving depicting normal-sized humans in the presence of an Anunnaki giant, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #65 – Consorting with a Slutty Goddess (11/9/23) 30:35 [992] Did Yahweh have a girlfriend who also fooled around with Baal and perhaps other gods? Is this one reason the Bible insists that he is a jealous god? And what does it have to do with cutting down trees or knocking down totem poles? Dave in Kentucky has the answers. (The purported answers, anyway.) ¶ Show art: Clay figurine of the goddess Asherah (circa 13th century B.C.) by an unknown artist, Public Domain. Photo by David Harris of the Israel Museum of Jerusalem. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #66 – "As a Consuming Fire" (11/19/23) 30:50 [992] Were the giants called "Anakim" in Hebrew members of the giant race called "Anunnaki" in Sumerian? Was the Ark of the Covenant the same as the Ark of the Testimony, or were they two quite different boxes, with two quite different functions? What does Deuteronomy 10 mean by a "heaven of the heavens," a "god of the gods," and a "lord of the lords"? Dave in Kentucky will 'splain it to you, loosely. ¶ Show art: An apparently modern work depicting the Ark of the Covenant going before the Israelites into battle, destroying their enemies "as a consuming fire." Title, artist and dates unknown. (Sources failed to attribute.) ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #67 – Serving Other Gods (12/13/23) 29:45 [993] If there is only one God, why are we commanded not to serve any others? If God knows everything already, what new information can tests of faith give him? If he is all-powerful, why doesn't he just destroy the competition and be done with it? And if he is totally benevolent, why does he destroy so many people? Dave in Kentucky poses the questions, but you'll have to provide your own answers. ¶ Show art:

"Baalites" (1896-1902) by James Tissot (1836-1902), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #68 – The Divine Right of Kings (1/18/24) 30:38 [994] What did King James mean when he declared in The True Law of Free Monarchies that the king is "the lord of all gods"? Was this a reference to the Yahweh Elohim? Why did all adult male Israelites have to travel three times a year to designated locations where they would deliver their tithes and pay their tribute to their Yahwelian overlords? Dave in Kentucky speculates. ¶ Show art: Frontispiece of Thomas Hobbes' Leviathan (1651) by Abraham Bosse (1604-1676), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #69 – Of Heifers Bovine and Human (2/6/24) 29:49 [995] What is the difference between divination and prophecy? Was "the devil" just another of the minor Elohim? How can false prophecy be detected? Did the Israelites have an all-volunteer army? How were city governments punished for failing to detect and punish the crime of murder? How could a man decide whether he was in love with a female prisoner, or just infatuated? Dave provides the Deuteronomic answers. ¶ Show art: "Laws Concerning Unsolved Murder" (c. 1886), artist unknown, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #70 – Thou Shalt Cover Thy Poop (2/17/24) 30:44 [995] Were all men brothers, or only fellow Israelites? What precautions needed to be taken to prevent unintentional crop hybridization? Why was it inadvisable to plow with an ox and an ass? How important was policing the latrine when the commanding officer was in camp? Dave in Kentucky addresses these and other important questions. ¶ Show art: "Native of Palestine Working with an Ox and an Ass, Holy Land" (c. 1895), colorized, photographer unknown, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #71 – A Blessing and a Curse (3/19/24) 29:57 [996] In this episode, the Israelites are instructed to take a food tithe to the seat of occupied government and appear before a Yahwelian representative while Lord Yahweh himself views the proceedings remotely (from the sky) and bestows blessings accordingly. Learn (among other things) why the law is both a blessing and a curse, what it means to uncover your father's skirt, and the fate of those who not only did not fear Yahweh, but who feared none of the Elohim gods. ¶ Show art: "Offerings of the First Fruits Carried to the Temple of Jerusalem" (circa 1700) by Augustin Calmet (1672-1757), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #72 – More Blessings & Curses (4/13/24) 28:10 [997] Moses continues his extremely long-winded sermon, in which he enumerates all the blessings the Israelites will receive if they obey the Yahwelian commands, and all the curses they will endure if they disobey. ¶ Show art: "Israel at Mts. Ebal & Gerizim" (circa 1720) by Jan Luyken (1683-1762), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #73 – Elyon Assigns Yahweh Israel (4/24/24) 30:26 [997] After he finally gets done with his long-winded sermon, Moses passes the torch to Joshua Ben-Nun and teaches Israel a long-winded song in which it is revealed just how the Chosen People were chosen, and just who chose them. Dave in Kentucky maps pantheons, ancient Hebrew to ancient Sumerian. ¶ Show art: "Ptolemy II Philadelphus talking with Jewish scholars in the library of Alexandria and having the Septuagint explained to him" (17th century) by Jean Baptiste de Champaigne (1631-1681), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #74 – Moses Faked His Death (4/30/24) 30:00 [997] Did Moses fake his own death, or did he have help? Where did he go, and how did he reappear approximately 1200 years later at the Transfiguration of Jesus? Who was that Elias fellow that appeared with him, and how did he get there? How did Moses go 40 days and nights without eating food or drinking water when he finally retrieved a pair of intact stone tablets from Mt. Sinai? What made his face so shiny when he came down? Dave in Kentucky has the answers to these and other important questions, and he tells the story both verbally and musically, with the able assistance of the Suno AI. ¶ Show art: "Moses Viewing the Promised Land" (circa 1890) by an unknown illustrator of the 1890 Holman Bible, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "Moses Faked His Death" (2024), words by Dave in Kentucky, music by the Suno AI, performed by the Suno AI. ¶ This show is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivs 3.0 Unported License. SERMONS #75 – The Council of the Gods (5/11/24) 30:17 [998] Dave in Kentucky takes an in-depth look at the first two chapters of the Book of Job, and finds not just one God, but several gods. Was Satan one of them? Was he one of the Watchers who descended to earth and spawned the Nephilim? What is Yahweh's place in the polytheistic pantheon? Was he subordinate to any other god? If so, who? Answers are found in the canonical Book of Deuteronomy, the semi-canonical Book of Enoch, and even in the Psalms. ¶ Show art: "Council of the Gods before the Deluge" (circa 1550) by Virgil Solis (1514-1562), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "A Bet With Satan" (2024), words by Dave in Kentucky, music by the Suno AI, performed by the Suno AI. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #76 – Jericho's Last Stand, Part 1 (5/17/24) 29:48 [998] Why did the Ark of the Covenant go ahead of the Israelites, when before it had traveled in their midst? Why were the people commanded to stay more than half a mile away from it as it entered the Jordan River? Were those really Levites carrying the Ark, or something else? Why did Joshua's spies visit a prostitute in Jericho? Why are all Dave in Kentucky's AI-generated songs in the Bluegrass style? Why ask why? ¶ Show art: "The Israelites Cross the Jordan River" (1866) by Gustave Dore (1832-1883), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "Jericho's Last Stand" (2024), words by Dave in Kentucky, music by the Suno AI, performed by the Suno AI. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #77 – Jericho's Last Stand, Part 2 (5/21/24) 30:02 [998] Dave in Kentucky completes the first two-parter of the SERMONS series with the story of how "Joshua fit de battle ob Jericho." What do soldiers marching across a bridge have to do with why the walls came a-tumblin' down? How did Rahab's house of ill repute remain standing, since it was built into one of Jericho's walls? Why does Ella Fitzgerald make an appearance in this episode? Take a listen and find out. ¶ Show art: "The Seven Trumpets of Jericho" (1896-1902) by James Tissot (1836-1902), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "Jericho's Last Stand" (2024), words by Dave in Kentucky, music by the Suno AI, performed by the Suno AI. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

Troubles abound as he discovers that corruption within the ranks has caused a lack of enthusiasm for the campaign by his superiors. Receiving an ultimatum from the commander-in-chief, he takes drastic corrective action. ¶ Show art: "Achan and Joshua" (circa 1899) by James Tissot (1836-1902) or a follower, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "Achan and Ai" (2024), words by Dave in Kentucky, music and performance by Suno.ai (v3.5). ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #79 – Mopping-Up Operations (7/15/24) 30:10 [1000] After the battles of Jericho and Ai, which were previously described in detail, the rest of the conquest becomes kind of a blur. There are a few interesting moments, however, like when huge rocks fall from the sky and the sun stands still for about a day. And oh yeah, when a neighboring tribe pulls a scam on Joshua and as punishment they are made to serve as lumberjacks and water boys. ¶ Show art: "Joshua and the Five Kings" (1896-1902) by James Tissot (1836-1902), Public Domain Theme music: "Mopping Up" (2024), words by Dave in Kentucky, music and performance by Suno.ai (v3.5). ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

Dave in Kentucky explains, with the able assistance of Suno (his songwriting partner) and Pi (his personal A.I. and Bible reader).Show art: "El-Khalil (Hebron)" (1857) by Charles William Meredith van de Velde (1818-1898), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "Caleb's Mountain" (2024), words by Dave in Kentucky, music and performance by Suno.ai (v3.5). ¶ Bible reading: Pi.ai. Easter Special: To Raise the Dead (3/20/22) 1:00:27 [972] The moveable feast of Easter isn't until mid-April this year, but God only knows whether any of us will still be here by then, so let's make some hay while the sun still shines. Segments include several clips from Father Coughlin's radio show from the 1939 and 1940 Easter seasons, Zephaniah's prophecy of the coming "Day of Wrath", and a public-domain recording of the Dies Irae (Day of Wrath) section of Mozart's Requiem in D minor from 1926! Also, Dave ponders (1) what it may or may not mean to be born again, (2) how one day could possibly be as a thousand years, (3) the significance of grave markers such as crosses, stars, pyramids and obelisks, (4) why the church frowned upon cremation for so many years, (5) St. Paul's argument for a general resurrection of the dead, (6) whether that general resurrection will be more like Night of the Living Dead or Jurassic Park, and (7) exactly when and how the historical Jesus might have been raised from the dead. ¶ This episode, along with all regular episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

"Icepigs" (1/9/26) 2:29 [1018]

It's a song about a hockey team, right? Yeah, that's the ticket. Words are by Dave in Kentucky, music and show art by Suno.ai (v4.5).

The Icepigs are coming, demanding papers please
The Icepigs are coming, so get down on your knees
And you must have your papers
Or you must say goodbye
You must obey our orders
Or else prepare to die

The Icepigs are coming, demanding papers please
The Icepigs are coming, so get down on your knees
The Icepigs are coming
So you must say goodbye
The Icepigs are coming
You'd best prepare to die

Icepigs, say goodbye
Icepigs, prepare to die
Icepigs, say goodbye
Icepigs, prepare to die
Icepigs, Icepigs
Die, Die!

Mike Boody from Birmingham, Alabama, joined Onsug with the 18th episode of his show The Midnight Citizen in February 2011. The Midnight Citizen 25 — "Vindication" 50:05 (4/24/11) [711] It seems creative people have the hardest time getting vindicated for their actions — working super hard on a project, whether it be novel, or screenplay, or acting, only to see their efforts evaporate into the universe of ephemeral appreciation. Well, no more — at least for me! Tonight, I look back on some of my ideas, past and present — ones I've spent huge chunks of time obsessing over, and throw them out there for your enjoyment. And you will enjoy, and I will finally feel vindication for spending most of my life inside my own head.

The Midnight Citizen 29 — "Super 8 Day" 54:50 (6/14/11) [711] After months of stayin' away from the pictures, I go back in full force with "Super 8". Folks are describing this one as the perfect valentine to early Spielberg, a bunch of kids in late 70s suburbia making movies and dealing with aliens. Why does that make me hesitant? Listen as I talk about my reservations before leaving for the theater, and find out if I was right after I get home and give ya my full review.

The Midnight Citizen 30 — "Kathryn Tucker Windham (and Jeffrey!)" (6/17/11) 56:32 [711] A look back at the life of Kathryn Tucker Windham — photographer, journalist, collector of southern ghost stories and raconteur extraordinaire — who died this week at 93. Also: sit down Indian-style on the rug as Ms. Windham tells ya the story of the University of North Alabama in Florence, and the ghost of Molly's dog who haunts a fraternity house there.

The Midnight Citizen 31 — "They Shoot Pink Elephants, Don't They?" (6/28/11) 1:06:25 [711] Keep your eyes open with an all new episode and an anything goes buffet of topics, including Dunkin' Donuts, Clarence Clemons, Bill and Ted, and Attack of the 50 Foot Eye Soars. Also: I reluctantly play for you my brief, slightly cringe-inducing conversation with my idol, Joe Bob Briggs, from Straight Talk with Tonja Walker this past weekend on News Talk 1400 WSTC!

The Midnight Citizen 33 — "Too Much Tobacco" 56:21 (8/2/11) [711] After a month of all work and no play, I settle down for another show in the studio. Topics include changing a tire in early morning rush hour, Joe Bob Invades Birmingham, last month's journal of podcast procrastination, early 90s Nickelodeon nostalgia, and MTV turns 30 (aka why are we celebrating this bullstuff?). Also, my review of the Maculey Culkin psych drama "The Good Son" will have you throwin' Mama from the cliff!

The Midnight Citizen 34 — "The Church" (8/12/11) 55:59 [711] Here in the South, religion, politics and sports are rolled up into one great big Venn Diagram of social mores, where everyone wants to be at the intersection, and anyone in the satellite ether is left to fend for themselves. On this episode, I recount what it's like to unknowingly be under constant scrutiny from the church congregation when I was younger. Also: the REALLY real "Amityville Horror".

The Midnight Citizen 35 — "Accidental Curmudgeon" (8/19/11) 1:09:04 [711] How do people get old? Outside the usual ways, I think it's a lot easier now for folks to get older, faster, what with all the Internet web sites and airplanes and telephones. Also: a look at Bham's Ruffner Mountain, America's largest urban park and a monument to the city's lush industrial history.

The Midnight Citizen 36 — "The Final Girl Theory" 1:14:43 (9/23/11) [711] After a month's absence, I get on back to the microphone for another landmark episode. Actually, this is a show that was supposed to be posted weeks ago, just after Birmingham's Sidewalk Film Festival in late August, but due to a slew of technical problems (no procrastination for once, I promise), it's just going up now. It's still cool and relevant, though, I swear! ¶ On this episode, I've got an interview with Mark Trammell, pop culture and entertainment editor for UAB's Kaleidoscope newspaper, who gives the most extensive review you'll hear of the grassroots Sidewalk Film Festival. I talk with Mark about why Sidewalk matters in the film festival scene, and get a breakdown of all the independent flicks that played at this year's event that you need to see. Tell your girlfriend, tell your parents — truly something for everybody!

The Midnight Citizen 37 - "Fast" (10/12/11) 59:56 [711] A high-octane, teeth-on-the-floor, kick-in-the-groin show, with a look at this Fall's high speed road-sploitation adventure, FAST. Also, a sneak preview of THE MIDNIGHT CITIZEN HALLOWEEN SPECIAL (check your local listings), and the first installment of the new show segment, "Henry Winkler and Fonzie". This show sponsored unknowingly by "Holy Smoke", the Alabama-based company that takes your beloved relative's cremated remains and turns em' into shotgun shells. ¶ "FAST" Cast: Jessica Clark....."Girl", Kevin Van Hyning....."Mr. Farm", Dave Smith....."Mechanic", Josh Davenport....."Herman Bull" ¶ Special album artwork: Josh Davenport

The Midnight Citizen 38 - "Let's Go Camping!" (10/26/11) 1:53:32 [711] Here's a bunch of audio I got on my camping trip to Noccalula Falls, AL to do my Halloween show, which will be posted this weekend. Very raw and unpolished, recorded with an indescreet Zoom, which draws some very curious stares from random passersby, mainly in Wal-Mart when I'm buying food and beer for the campsite. Topics include equipment check, "Henry Winkler and Fonzie", jackhammer outside my bedroom window, the cat's meow, flat tires, a trip to the Briary to pick up some cigars, road work that leads to about a one hour detour, Super Listening, Chadcast, "I just put the ketchup on the last burrito!", Frank Nora and the Overnightscape, Occupy Wall Street, vacation follies, Wal-Mart shopping, beer buying, hobo chicken, Evil Dead, a nice morning stroll around the camp ground, a final cigar, a return to civilization and responsibility, and being solicited crack at the country filling station.

The Midnight Citizen 39 - "The Halloween Show" (10/28/11) 1:30:57 [711] On location from the Alabama wilderness at Noccalula Falls campground. Hang out at the campfire and listen closely for Indian spirits, while enjoying some spooky stories and fun tips to get the most out of Halloween 2011. Also, come with me on location, first to the Terrortorium Dark Ride in Oxford, AL, and then to one of those controversial Judgement Houses at Farmstead Baptist Church in Jasper. Grab a beer and warm up in the late October night! ¶ Cover art: Josh Davenport

The Midnight Citizen 40 - "Friday the 13th Press Kit" (11/7/11) 1:14:40 [711] I start out with a review of the flick "Money Ball", then go on to a few more rants, interspersed with the ritualistic smacking of Quaker Oat Meal Squares cereal, chased with a PBR. Fun stuff. ¶ Check out my friend Hunter's online comic Vexxarr here, as well as his Apple "Think Different" parody from (circa?) 2004.

The Midnight Citizen 41 - "Praxis Crash" (11/12/11) 57:46 [711] Exhausted after taking the grueling Praxis test, I nevertheless sit down to do a show, fraught with weird ideas and suggestions, such as what to do with my body after I die, and quitting teaching altogether to open a video store. There's a drinking game for this episode: take a shot of Ancient Age every time I say "You Know". ¶ Music for this episode performed entirely by Persson, off their wonderful Creative Commons album, "Outside the Walls".

The Midnight Citizen 42 - "HB 56" (11/19/11) 1:04:39 [711] This week saw one of the first arrests under Alabama's controversial new illegal immigration law. On this episode, I try to explain the law - best as I can understand it - and why it's being used as a prop for my home state to go to war with the Obama admin. Also: the movie "Cape Fear" (original and remake), the Natalie Wood drowning case being reopened after 30 years, and why Blues musicians can't get respect.

The Midnight Citizen Special - "I am the Galleria" (11/25/11) 53:25 [711] Nothing "special", really; just some recordings of me and Jessica walking around the Galleria mall on Black Friday. WITNESS the chaos, without worrying about being trampled upon by avaricious Americans, and FEEL the intensity of the third degree by a righteous security guard we run briefly afoul of. Other topics and random ambiance ensue.

The Midnight Citizen 43 - "Spiked Apple Cider, 2 Bloody Mary's, and 2 coffees spruced with whiskey" (11/26/11) 1:03:09 [711] A more relaxed recording, where I sit out on the front steps of my apartment building and recount the Thanksgiving weekend - a little drunk. Also: Iron bowl weekend, a review of "The Muppets". ¶ Special album photo: Jonathan Sweatt

The Midnight Citizen 44 — "My Regular Saturday Night Thing" (12/10/11) 55:25:16 [711] It's been a tough couple of weeks, as you'll hear me recount. However, I manage to stay upbeat through the crystal pure spirit of night radio, and large quantities of caffeine. Also: a new segment, "Stellar Jokes from My Failed Stand-up Comedy Career", the deception of December, and Christmas Coke can recall. ¶ Music for this episode by Kevin MacLeod (Creative Commons Attribution License.)

The Midnight Citizen 45 — "The Exploding Whale" (12/19/11) 58:36 [711] How highway engineers had a "whale of a good time" in the 1970s. Also: rude Xmas letters from Preachers, Iconoclast Tony Danza, and a surprise call from my new manager, Mr. Cressell. ¶ Music for this episode: Kevin MacLeod (Creative Commons Attribution License.); Big Bill Broozy (Public Domain); Croxford/Andrews (Creative Commons Attribution/Non-commercial/Share-Alike).

The Midnight Citizen 46 — "Coffee Talkin'!" (12/21/11) 1:38:08 [711] This episode devoted to catching up with an old friend, Alex Justinger, who lives in LA now and cuts trailers for the movies. ¶ Music for this episode: Kevin MacLeod (Creative Commons Attribution License.); Big Bill Broozy (Public Domain); Work Dogs (Creative Commons Attribution-Noncommercial-No Derivative Works 3.0 United States License).

The Midnight Citizen Special — "Jean Shepherd Christmas Foibles" (12/22/11) 1:03:44 [711] A December 24, 1974 recording of Jean Shepherd reading from his story "Duel in the Snow, or Red Ryder Nails the Cleveland Street Kid" — which inspired the film "A Christmas Story" — on his WOR New York radio show. Plus some extra Shep goodies to keep you company this holiday season. ¶ Special thanks to Humanist.org for providing this audio, by the way.

The Midnight Citizen 47 — A Christmas with Garret Scone (12/24/11) 53:38 [711] What's all this Christmas joy I keep hearing about? A last ditch effort to give you and myself some happiness this Holiday season, without resorting to the proverbial "bottle" as a default. Also: Garret Scone, once again, sings "Silver Bells" — a tradition of sorts on the show — and why I will forever be traumatized by "Christmas Light Looking". ¶ Music for this episode: Nullsleep (Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivatives (aka Music Sharing) License); Paul Slocum (Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivatives (aka Music Sharing) License); R. Tists for Christmas (Attribution-NonCommercial-ShareAlike License); Amil Byleckie (Attribution-Noncommercial-Share Alike 3.0 United States License).

The Midnight Citizen 48 — "MobMov" (2/27/12) 56:38 [711] An exercise in getting my groove back. Here's a show to re-create the narrative; a self-pitying look at what this new year has looked like to me, as well as a glance at my new project, "MobMov". Plus: "The Sadist", and dealings with Alabama's ongoing controversy, HB56.

The Midnight Citizen 49 — Too Old for this Spit (3/12/12) 1:06:42 [711] My first reflections of visiting the extensive hiking trails of the new Red Mountain Park in Birmingham, and the long, hard process you have to go through to buy anything behind a glass case in Wal-Mart. Also: out-of-school, out-of-mind; The "Wilhelm" scream; Eddie Murphy.

The Midnight Citizen 50 — "Between Want and Need" (3/27/12) 59:16 [711] I have a cleansing moment of clarity... and then lose it, as I continue to figure out how a person actually "grows up". Also: Drive-in Movie project update Mike Daisey and "This American Life" Popcorn Noir Sci-fi Channel in the mid-90s.

The Midnight Citizen 51 — "Between Night and Day/Where to Begin" (5/4/12) 57:05 [711] After a month away from the microphone, I get on back to it with an extensive, in depth interview with the awe-inspiring, and perhaps mildly — yet entertainingly — delusional Duke Fightmaster, of "This American Life" fame, who quit his lucrative day job to follow his creative ambition, of hosting a late night talk show on You Tube. Duke's story makes me wonder if I should do the same. Do you need the "day" to make the "night" happen. Also, was my mind-bending car wreck perhaps a happy accident — something that might allow me to follow in Duke's footsteps and focus all my energy on creative pursuit? ¶ If you haven't heard Duke Fightmaster's odd story, check it out here.

The Midnight Citizen 52 - "The GrillMaster" (June 2012) 1:13:47 [711] Hanging out in the driveway on a wet hot Alabama summer night, then finishing up on a bike ride the next cloudy morning. Talking about the Downtown Drive-in, multilevel marketing cults, and coffee black. Also: the Talking Heads, snark, and being the so-called "Grill Master" (aka: in charge of other people's happiness).

The Midnight Citizen 53 - "The Front Stoop" (June 2012) 1:03:54 [711] I take a walk through Lakeview on a Saturday night after some kids take over my stoop, and end up in the park at midnight talking about tobacco addiction and working on the Downtown Drive-In (which one is worse for my health?). Then, cut to a few nights later in the studio, with updates on the DD-I, and reflections about "Prometheus" (some SPOILERS). ¶ Music: "Sultan Soul" by the Bayou Trio (CC-Share Alike)

The Midnight Citizen 54 — "Story of a 3 Hour Pass" (7/1/12) 1:32:01 [711] Night radio...in the day! Stopping by a park bench on my way home from the paper route, finishing a cigar, and thinking about the future of — what else? — the Downtown Drive-In. Then, onto the other job — at the zip line — working from my tree house office on a three hour pass through tour with guests coming and going. Hang out with me and the birds and talk about some pop culture on the back half of this very long and experimental episode.

The Midnight Citizen 55 — "Watching the Skies" (7/11/12) 1:18:26 [711] A possible UFO sighting on my paper route? Also: close-up deer encounter; new show formats; Andy Griffith and how celebrity deaths come in 3's; Carl Sagan and "Cosmos"; time travel, wormholes and "Back to the Future"; FedFlix — "Straight Up" video starring Louis Gossett, Jr., and; Louis C.K., "Huck Finn". ¶ Music For this episode: "Be Brave" by Antony Raijekov; "Woodstock Blues" by the Bayou Trio. The Midnight Citizen 57 — "Back in the Saddle" (January 2013) 58:20 [711] The first show in seven months, recorded on a cold, late Saturday night in early January. It's a good example of "analog horror" that the kids are all talkin' about! ¶ Also: what is "analog horror," and why is it everywhere on the Internet? How it's evolved from films like Ghost Watch (1992) and The Blair Witch Project (1999) to creepypastas, Slenderman, and whatever the heck "the backrooms" are. The Midnight Citizen 261: "The Monster Fraud" (6/1/24) 1:45:18 [999] Join Mike in the studio late at night, where he remembers the time he met the cast of 1987's "The Monster Squad," and how they took off with his social security number. Also, are movies over? That's the question after the mega-budget "Mad Max" movie bombed last week. Mike investigates, though he gets sidetracked by how much a Youtuber talking about the same subject looks like a werewolf. Anyway... ¶ In other news: the real-life "Dennis the Menace," awaiting trial for terrorizing his neighborhood with a slingshot, dies at 81; remembering "Creepfest," my late-night horror hosting show; making a whiskey sour (sans egg white); how to pick up girls with magic! ¶ Music breaks: "Garden Sounds" by Lobo Loco; "St. John's Cemetery" by Secret Lover. ¶ Video Street Video Store: "Super Dave Osborne's Wrecking Ball Stunt"; "Flirting with Magic" (1990). ¶ Backing Music: "Balanced" by 1st Contact; "Sunset Drive" by DayNightMorning; "Double Tunnel" by Checkie Brown; "Harley Davidson" and "Lonesome Nights" by Beat Mekanik; "Small Steps" by Mr. Smith. ¶ Join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! ..."Wolfman's got nards!"

Also: what the h-e-double-hell is "Donnie Darko" about anyway? And recounting the career resurgence of Drive-In movie critic Joe Bob Briggs — how he's gone from a forgotten 90s TV celebrity to doing personal appearances for 10 people in Corn Country to suddenly being on top again — at least, in the so-called "horror community".Join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! ..."Sometimes I doubt your commitment to Sparkle Motion!"

The Midnight Citizen 263: "The Valley of Despair" (6/15/24) 1:44:50 [999] Join Mike in the studio late at night, where he wonders why kids aren't taking summer jobs as much as they used to, and if this means that child labor should be reinstated? Chick-Fil-A tried it this week, and got some mixed responses. ¶ In other news, I tried some child labor of my own the past couple weeks, running a playwriting sweat shop in a theater summer camp. There were also some sharks in the Gulf that attacked two teenage girls from Birmingham, and I recount my eerie experience walking through the quiet and unsettling "backrooms" of an old country church last weekend (what the Internet kids now call a "liminal space"). ¶ Check out the new home over at mikesbonfire.substack.com! ¶ See my discussion with Bob LeMent on his show STATIC RADIO! ¶ Music for this episode: "Gee, I Really Love You" by Heavy Trash; "Hey Lowdown" by Big Sandy and His Fly-Rite Boys Backing Music: "Balanced" by 1st Contact; "Country Boy" (Instrumental) by Lobo Loco; "Late Nite Train" by Vans in Japan; "Double Tunnel" by Checkie Brown; "Swampland" by Chris Haugen ¶ Video Street Video Store: Saturday Night Live — Albert Brooks — "Fall Preview" (1979); "Terminator 2 3D" Discovery Channel Excerpt ¶ Remember to check out bigger, longer episodes of the VIDEO STREET VIDEO STORE every Tuesday over at mikesbonfire.substack.com. ¶ ...And be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! ..."I can't believe I used to like these guys."

Hang out with him and his friend Dave in the backyard, as they discuss all things past and present — how they met as roommates in a mutual friend's "home of wayward children", the spaceship in the basement of that house that became a favorite drinking spot, Dark Rides, ghouls, memories of Six Flags Over Georgia in the 80s and 90s, and way, way more! The Midnight Citizen 265: "2 Days in the Jones Valley" (6/29/24) 1:55:38 [1000] Join Mike on an epic excursion of summer slacking. After returning from a long delivery trip for Amazon that took him deep into the country and the town where he grew up, he sits out back and reflects on growing up in small town Alabama, and wonders what might have happened if he'd stayed there. Prison maybe? ¶ The next day, I venture out into the world to work, but end up at the mall drinking coffee and playing pinball, then go hunting for discounted movies from the Criterion Collection. ¶ Be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! ..."My little black medical book!" ¶ This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution Noncommercial Share-Alike US License. The Midnight Citizen 266: "Fred's Twentieth" (7/6/24) 1:37:21 [1000] On America's birthday, Mike takes a few minutes to remember another historical milestone — the 20th anniversary of "Fred's Oasis," the low-budget, low-class exploitation film he made with some friends in college. Listen along as I recount its conception, production and aftermath, which lingers with me to this day, and forces me to ask that eternal question: am I right to be overwhelmed with shame? ¶ Watch "Fred's Oasis" and you tell me! ¶ Also, I recount my disastrous history with fireworks, which may be the result of a genetic disorder, and review the new trash can from Target I bought my wife for her birthday. ¶ Music for this episode: "You Shake Me" by Stompin' Riff Raffs; "Toxic Revenge" by Shannon and the Clams Backing Music: "The Stevie Shuffle Remix" and "Be Cool" by Mr. Smith; "Beer Blues" by Koi Discovery. ¶ Video Street Video Store: "Satanic Cults and Ritual Crime" (1990); "The Making of The Monster Plantation" (1981) ¶ Remember to check out bigger, longer episodes of the VIDEO STREET VIDEO STORE every Tuesday over at mikesbonfire.substack.com. ¶ ... Hear about his latest run-afoul with his unfriendly neighborhood crime ring, and Watch some bits n' pieces of "RoboCop" from '87, including the part where Kenny gets eviscerated by ED-209. Also, why is the crime boss Boddicker WAY scarier than that AI killing machine. Is it his glasses? ¶ Later, I review the latest book I've been reading — "Fletch" by Gregory Macdonald, and discuss — at length — the fraught reality show, "Project Greenlight". ¶ Be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! ..."Can somebody please call a paramedic!"

The Midnight Citizen 269: "Alabama Mud" (7/27/24) 1:45:30 [1000] Join Mike for a drink outside on a Friday night, as he recalls the legendary crime fighting ex-wrestler-turned-cop of Corinth, Mississippi Buford Pusser, and the long-standing rumor that he ran out of town one of Alabama's longest-serving and most-revered mayors. Is it true or bull-scat? Also, who else is opting out of watching the Olympics in favor of spectating its ugly-but-more-entertaining stepsister, The World Games? ¶ Later, I discuss odd rainbow myths, Thomas Pynchon and Elmore Leonard, and yeah... ughhhh...politics. ¶ Be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! ..."Leonard is the filet of the crime genre, you know..."

The Midnight Citizen 270: "The Midnight Exploited" (8/4/24) 1:38:02 [1001] Join Mike for a morning cup o' joe on the back patio, and later for a night drive and after-work drink. ¶ Topics this week include Alabama's dumb education laws and how a recent one could hold back as many as 4,500+ 3rd graders in the state; a kind-of "Deadpool and Wolverine" review; the "Miami Vice" soundtrack makes you feel comfortably depressed; sketchy elevators and "LA Law"; the built-in exploitation of delivering for gig companies, and how you just accept it; the "hot" medium of radio and podcasting, and more! ¶ Be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! ..."And where is the Batman? The Midnight Citizen 275: "When the Cult Comes to Town" (2/1/25) 1:31:36 [1007] Join Mike in the studio on a Friday night, just in from seeing "The Brutalist", a 4-hour long movie about a guy who builds a community center. Everything was fine until he suggested to the salon's owner he install a barber pole out front to drum up new business. There was a deafening silence, and things went down hill from there. ¶ Also, petty tyrants go global, the U.S. hopes to establish a homeland for tourism, and Moe's rebrands itself an "outlaw" in the Burrito space. The Midnight Citizen 277: "Scream Into The Void" (2/15/25) 1:03:19 [1007] Join Mike in the studio late on a Friday night, where he screams all his innermost thoughts, desires, and shame into the void of a social media platform...and no, it's not Substack. Also, what is it with Substack? Why do they only show people what you do when you say nice things about them? More paranoia linked to the tech industrial complex. ¶ Thanks for reading Mike's Bonfire! Not to get too political, but if Satan wants to really torture us for all eternity, he'll need to do some redecorating in hell. Also, why the movie Eyes Wide Shut (1999) is becoming more of a documentary; the secret currency of the rich explains why we all hate Valentine's Day; and how AI has made us that old man at Wendy's training his 16-year-old replacement. ¶ But some good news: The White Lotus is back on HBO, and Alabama has some of the best coffee in the world? ¶ ????Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast... ¶ Watch The Midnight Citizen Vlog every Monday on YouTube and Substack! Also, how do I know where JD Vance got his approach to foreign diplomacy? Because he grew up in my era, attending the same public schools that valued wrestling over civics. Speaking of bad education, we gotta get our kids out of this bad area — especially as the new SecEd Linda McMahon is invited to use the department as her own personal RAGE room. ¶ Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast... ¶ Watch The Midnight Citizen Vlog every Monday on YouTube and Substack! The Midnight Citizen 280: "Psycho Mormon" (3/8/25) 58:07 [1008] Join Mike in the studio late at night, where he asks why he was such an a-hole to a nice young Mormon on his own turf. This snark-by-default has deep roots, perhaps, in growing up in the Southern Baptist MLM groove, where every interaction was a sales pitch, a chance to earn posthumous perks. ¶ Hear about what it was like growing up a Jesus Brat; how it was so hard to sell salvation in the South — a territory that had already been covered long before you got there. Also, why "cool" Jesus was another reason it was terrible to grow up in the 90's, and how prayer protocol — or a lack thereof — continues to inflame my OCD to this

Isn't anyone on the same news cycle anymore? Anyway, he's devastated to learn that the truth of Saucy Jack's real identity is much dumber than any theory has ever suggested, which reinforces his Rule for Life #2: Never Solve Your Mysteries. ¶ Also, other rules for life, like Never Meet Your Heroes and Never Do Again What You Did Well 40 Years Ago, as demonstrated by Lucille Ball in her last sitcom "Life With Lucy", but hopefully, will perhaps not be shown in "Spinal Tap 2". ¶ Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast... ¶ Watch The Midnight Citizen Vlog every Monday here on the Substack. ???? The Midnight Citizen 282: "Memory Farm" (3/22/25) 1:47:04 [1008] Join Mike back in the studio late at night, where he goes for a long memory jog trying to remember what that Disney movie "The Shaggy DA" was about. He could just Google it, but doesn't want to farm out his memory to the phone. It's something we should all resist. ¶ Later, I ask if there's a statute of limitations on synchronicity. I wonder this as I drink a toast to George Foreman, who died Friday at 76, a few hours after my mom asked me if I wanted a Lean, Mean Fat Grilling Machine she had lying around. ¶ Also: should I change the name of this show? I talk about why I picked THE MIDNIGHT CITIZEN as a title 15 years ago, standing in line at a Spirit of Halloween store after a car accident. And let's talk about "The White Lotus". The Midnight Citizen 283: "The Past Can Be So Hostile" (3/29/25) 1:29:41 [1008] Join Mike in the studio late at night, where he recounts how he visited a place from his distant childhood this week — the atrium lobby of his dad's old office building from the 80's. Not having been there in nearly 40 years, he was prepared to receive nothing but warm, nostalgic vibes, but instead suffered the wrath of a hangry woman in scrubs. ¶ Later, I spend some time looking for a job in the jungle scam market of LinkedIn, check out the new trailer for "One Battle After Another," ostensibly based on the Thomas Pynchon novel, "Vineland", and consider buying Signal stock...now that it's the official texting app of political perverts. ¶ Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast... ¶ Watch Video this episode over at Youtube | @the_themidnightcitizenpodcast ¶ ...and be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! ..."These are the real people of the world." ¶ This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution Noncommercial Share-Alike US License. The Midnight Citizen 284: "Christy, the Night Manager" (4/5/25) 1:30:08 [1009] Join Mike in the studio late at night for a free-flowing ramble. ¶ On this episode, he recounts the Friday night scramble of his first job — racing to close down the dollar theater lobby in time to make it to the video store before they locked the gates. Thankfully, Christy, the night manager, would keep the lights on just a little longer, giving rise to their own unofficial after hours film society. ¶ Also: Irishing up my coffee to make a toast to Val Kilmer, browsing the classifieds again in my ongoing job search saga, and just when you thought Pulp Fiction had given up all its secrets... new theories emerge... ¶ Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast... ¶ Watch Video of this episode over at Youtube | @the_themidnightcitizenpodcast ¶ ...and be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! ..."...my little black medical book!..."

The Midnight Citizen 285: "Microwave Epiphany" (4/19/25) 1:29:59 [1009] Join Mike in the studio for another late night ramble. ¶ Tonight, it's all about looking for a new business to get into, like maybe buyin' a drone and selling my services as a "droneprenuer". It seems to work for all those folks on Youtube infomercials, and as far as shady enterprise goes, it's really no more sketchy than any other classified ad on LinkedIn. ¶ Later, I have a religious epiphany over a box of frozen ravioli, give my final thoughts on "The White Lotus", and play you a clip of a white nationalist who sounds like Ned Flanders. The Midnight Citizen 286: "The Margaritaville HOA" (4/19/25) 1:38:33 [1009] Join Mike in the studio for another late night ramble. ¶ Tonight, we explore life after the rat race in Margaritaville, FLA, where a flock of 55-and-up Parrot Heads and coastal grandmothers are wastin' away in an oasis by the sea. Also, Katy Perry and Gayle King go to space, and to all our chagrin, come back; meanwhile, back on Earth, I pay my taxes and cause a car accident, consider taking a job teaching homeschool for a Christian company that sounds like a soap opera, and check out the upcoming Thomas Pynchon novel, "Shadow Ticket", which sends me further into the bottomless pit of trying to understand postmodernism. ¶ Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast... ¶ Watch Video of this episode over at Youtube | @the_themidnightcitizenpodcast ¶ ...and be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! ... The Midnight Citizen 287: "Night Shift Intellectual" (5/3/25) 1:04:25 [1010] Join Mike on a rainy night in the suburbs of Birmingham, AL, as he sits in his parents' garage, freshly unemployed, and ponders the next big move. ¶ Really, instead of making any definite decisions, I get hung up on spotting "The Club" security bar on the steering wheel of somebody's late model POS in a Walgreens parking lot — probably the first time I've seen one since the 90's. Gets me thinking about why they stopped making them, or why they apparently still do, given their inherent security flaws — like, for instance, being ridiculously visible. ¶ Also, didn't Heather Graham have a Club in that movie Swingers? I investigate. ¶ Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast... ¶ Watch Video of this episode over at Youtube | @the_themidnightcitizenpodcast ¶ ...and be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! ..."Breakfast anytime? The Midnight Citizen 288: "Tetraphobia" (5/11/25) 1:07:17 [1010] Join Mike back in the studio on a Saturday night. ¶ This week: some audience participation! What was your worst job interview ever? For me, it was that time I got detained for peddling coupon books in a federal building. I should've done more to heed the number 4, a bad sign for good fortune. ¶ The interviews lately haven't been that bad on my most recent run of unemployment. I mean, there's no job yet, but at least no police have been called. ¶ Meanwhile, I keep on yo-yoing around town, delivering food for food, and doing the best at it I can, despite, well... Let's just say that when you make house calls, ordinary customers are not ordinary people. ¶ Also, thanks to audience participation, I find a likely answer to why there's no 4th floor at the university hospital. The Midnight Citizen 289: "Palindrome Days" (5/25/25) 1:28:51 [1010] Join Mike in the studio late at night. ¶ After fighting a long, drawn-out battle to some stubborn window blinds, I give in and just get on with the show. Starting with listener comments about their absolute worst job interviews. Then an update on my continuing job hunt gets me thinking about how my lifestyle lately is fitting for these palindrome days of May — the same forwards and backwards: Drinking coffee, job hunting, delivering food, job hunting, drinking coffee. ¶ Also: thoughts on the new "Mission: Impossible" (Spoiler-free because the plot's too complicated to spoil)...and how my dad and I came close to being pariahs in the theater for ratting out a lady and her granddaughter. ¶ Then we wrap up the show by watching an instructional video telling us all how to talk cool in the 90's, and read some more listener comments about Tetraphobia. A true palindrome experience. Sit back and listen with your favorite after-dark drink — but be careful not to get bucked, y'all! ¶ Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast... ¶ Watch Video of this episode over at Youtube | @the_themidnightcitizenpodcast ¶ ...and be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! ..."Kittridge, you've never seen me very upset..."

The Midnight Citizen 290: "Bully for Kilroy!" (6/1/25) 1:47:57 [1011] Join Mike in the studio late at night. ¶ Tonight, a real experimental episode as we cross over into June, and I do my first live show in over 2 years! Of course, you're downloading it, but still… Witness the drama as I attempt to engineer a livestream while clumsily monologuing about bullies, 90s self-help videos for kids hosted by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Teddy Roosevelt, and memes from World War II featuring Kilroy, the perpetual schlemiel of late 20th century pop culture. You know the drawing — I didn't until yesterday, but everybody else I talk to seems to. ¶ Later, I drink a toast to Loretta Swit, "Hot Lips" Houlihan on "M*A*S*H", who died this week at 87… and two more toasts to other recently passed folks George Wendt and Simpsons composer Alf Clausen leaves me a little too flighty to talk about Thomas Pynchon's first novel V…but I do it anyway. ¶ Also…we're bringing MUSIC BREAKS back to the show! Tonight, enjoy a back-to-back serving of music by Caühaüs and our favorite band from New Jersey, Forget the Whale! ¶ "Rednecks with White Faces" by Caühaüs (CC-BY) ¶ Slow Dancing with Your Ghost" (CC-BY-NC) ¶ And…I'm excited to take you back down to the Video Street Video Store, where we'll check out a double feature of tapes on how to get a date in the 90's! ¶ "Looking for Love: Dating in the 90's!" The Midnight Citizen 291: "Millennial Falcon" (6/8/25) 1:56:06 [1011] Join Mike in the studio late on a Saturday night. ¶ Tonight, I'm wondering why my generation has gotten such a bad rap for so long. Is it really just our love for Avocado toast, or something much deeper? Maybe we're all looked down on because all the 80s and 90s pop culture we're so nostalgic for was kind of vapid and banal, or it's simply the fact that we never claimed to not wanna sell out? Whatever it is, we're tired of taking it, and I dedicate a large portion of this episode to my kid sister, born in '84, who went viral recently for turning her middle school history classroom into a "Museum of the Millennial", making the case that we did have a unique culture that, like so many generations before us, is totally antiquated and wholly mysterious to the kids of today. ¶ You can check out my sister's "Museum of the Millennial" on Instagram (@hipsterhistorywithmrsn)… Also, here's the article that Fast Company did on Malinda's amazing lesson! ¶ Later on… ¶ I play some music before I tell you about the new movie I saw — Friendship, starring I Think You Should Leave's Tim Robinson and Paul Rudd (who has a mustache in this one, which means it's kind of artsy — but not really; it's just darkly funny and demented in a very non-mainstream way). Anyway, I give a sort of review with no spoilers, but mostly talk about what the movie has to say about adult men, loneliness, and also the whole "A24" thing… ¶ And lastly… I relate the particulars of my latest existential crisis — this one happening over paying too much for a donut at the Circle K. Kind of dramatic, I know. But really… Why are we all so cool to live in a world where a day old donut costs the same as a gallon of gas? The answer, I guess, lies in the work of post-war Critical Theory and that ultimate Debbie Downer, Michel Foucault. ¶ Music Break "The 80s" by Sean Ferree (CC-NY-NC-ND) ¶ "Hey Lowdown" by Big Sandy and His Fly-Rite Boys (CC-BY-NC) ¶ Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast… ¶ Watch Video of this episode over at Youtube | @the_themidnightcitizenpodcast ¶ …and be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! …"I buy all my clothes from the Oceanview Dining Club. The Midnight Citizen 292: "Live and Mercy" (6/15/25) 2:04:59 [1011] Join Mike in the studio late (and LIVE!) on a stormy Saturday night… ¶ Tonight, on the eve of Fathers' Day, and in the absence of having kids of my own, I pass onto you some sage advice handed down to me by my dad…or maybe it was the funny coach from Teen Wolf: ¶ "Never get less than 12 hours sleep… never play cards with a guy who has the same first name as a city… …and never get involved with a woman with a tattoo of a dagger on her body." ¶ Anyway, the second week of Camp was smashing. I taught the kids how to write plays using tried-and-true methods for creating conflict given to us by that Sylvester Stallone arm wrestling trucker movie Over the Top. It all went real well, which I know because the kids wrote a song about throwing me down a well. (Don't ask, you just have to listen to the show and it'll all make sense.) ¶ Later… The job hunt continues…poorly. I kind of lose it on this episode when it dawns on me that Nazi Scientists were able to get gainful employment so quickly after Nuremburg…yet I continue to go unemployed. Honestly, it's getting real desperate these days — like posting-on-LinkedIn and attending "Networking Events" desperate. I even emailed back a podcast spammer to ask if he had any jobs going. ¶ Well, enough of that… After I play you some music, I invite you to take a toast with me to Brian Wilson, who passed this week at 82. Kick on back in the proverbial sand as we remember the great creative genius, his fraught relationship with the jolly Svengali Dr. Landy, and the woman who saved him — all depicted in the excellent, underrated film Love and Mercy (2015). Along the way, we'll enjoy some memorable television moments with Brian and his late brothers…and, yeah, even Mike Love. ¶ And finally… We take a look at Sammy's Gentlemen's Club, the infamous house of ill repute in the button-down Birmingham suburbs, that closed last year after the dancers united over unfair tipping practices…and will soon be holding its grand reopening as something called "The Pony Lounge" …Oo-la-la… I wonder if they're hiring. ¶ Music Break: ?"Belmont Jail Song"? by Crete Boom (CC-BY-NC-ND) ?"When You're Gone"? by Bombay Laughing Club (CC-BY-NC) ¶ Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: ?https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast…? ¶ Video Street Video Store ?"Tom Savini on 'Friday the 13th' 1 & 4"? ?The Beach Boys on 'Good Morning America!' The Midnight Citizen 293: "Pots-Secret" (6/29/25) 1:32:49 [1011] Join Mike in the studio late at night. ¶ Tonight, to kick off 4th of July week, I bring to you some quotes from a barrage of great American patriots — George Washington, Justice Potter Stewart, Missile Command Champ and former Playgirl Centerfold Roy "Mr. Awesome" Schildt. From there, we get onto the idea of "underground" postal systems, which Thomas Pynchon talks about in his Crying of Lot 49, and how the Internet was kind of a natural successor to the Trystero system...until it got infiltrated by, among other sinister agents, your mom. ¶ Music Break: "Morning, Noon, and Nite" by Daddy Long Legs (CC-BY-NC-ND) "Nature Boy" by Harpo (CC-BY-NC) ¶ Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: ?https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast ¶ Video Street Video Store: ?"Mr. Awesome — Roy Shildt"? ?"Waffle House Training — Harassment"? ¶ Check out the video for this show over on Spotify and Youtube | ?@the_themidnightcitizenpodcast? ...and be sure to join the ?Facebook page? and find me on ?Instagram?! ..."True pornography is given to us by vastly patient professionals."

The Midnight Citizen 294: "Full Tilt Patriotic" (7/6/25) 1:47:25 [1012] Join Mike in the studio late on a Saturday night. Tonight, check your commie cynicism at the door and give yourself a little permission to be a proud Ameri-CAN on this 4th of July weekend. Go on, now — call a ceasefire on the whole "Us vs. Them" thing. Just watch yourself a little "Back Up, Terry" and I promise, it'll all feel right as rain... ¶ Now that we're all feeling appropriately patriotic, join me as I check in on the newest branch of the armed services, the United States Space Force. Who are they and what are they doin' with all those golf ball antennas that look like Spaceship Earth? ¶ Anyway... Once the fireworks are over, I return to bein' a mean old man, and try to get at what the cause of all this cynical ire in me — and maybe most of us — really is. Maybe it's, like I've said before on the show, all this truth you learn that has no where to go if you don't have kids. Existential indigestion? Or maybe it's just the textbooks they gave us when we were kids ourselves — those that taught us that history was all in the past and everything these days is mostly a-O.K. Yeah, that's probably it. ¶ Later... After I play you some music, I talk about small town crime and the Dixie Mafia, and one shocking murder that went down in Biloxi, Miss. in the 1980s. It inspired Edward Humes's excellent book "Mississippi Mud", which itself maybe even kicked off that whole sick, wonderful ¶ ¶ obsession we all have with True Crime.Also... The Midnight Citizen 295: "Get a Real Job" (7/19/25) 1:44:28 [1012] Join Mike outside on a Friday night. ¶ Hang out on the makeshift back patio with me while I reminisce on morning TV and what happened after that on those long hot days in the summer when you had nothing to do and all day to do it.Anyway, I was feeling real nostalgic today when I took a small break to take in a double feature — something I don't get to do much these days when I'm driving for dollars and looking for more stable work. ¶ Later on in the night, I speculate on the identify of the mystery person who left an odd trinket on my podcast patio. My own personal Boo Radley? Or just some strange coincidence, as the artifact is, indeed, the facsimile of an old-time radio microphone. ¶ Also...an encounter I had this week with a real bad sport, and reviews-of-sorts of my Al Pacino double feature: Michael Mann's The Insider (1999) and Sidney Lumet's Serpico from 1973. ¶ ????Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: ?https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast...? ¶ ...and be sure to join the ? The Midnight Citizen 296: "Good Luck in Your Future Endeavors" (8/7/25) 1:34:42 [1013] Join Mike outside on a Friday night. ¶ This week, I'm sitting on the back porch of my folks' house in suburban Birmingham, AL., gazing out into the serene channel of woods and darkness, wondering why my family chose to live here in the late summer of 1992. I guess I've never thought of it before, or, for that matter, why one of our neighbors, the heir to one of the state's great Department Store fortunes, chose to build his dream house here back in the late 70's — a dream house that was torn down a couple weeks back after Mr. Pizitz's passing at 86. ¶ Have a drink with me while I tell you what I know of my former neighbor, a mysterious guy who was kind of like the neighborhood Howard Hughes — aloof and reclusive, but who had a lot to do with the shape and character of Birmingham in the 70's and 80's. ¶ Content Warning: It's not my intention in this episode to misrepresent Merritt Pizitz; everything I say is constructed from my own memory, local myth and conjecture, and the record. You can read the Bham Wiki article on him here. ¶ Later on in the night, I give you the Tonight, we begin the countdown to the series finale of The Midnight Citizen show. It's been a long, strange trip, but after 15 years, I've decided to close the curtains and throw up the "Closed" sign for good at episode 300. Tonight, we continue the countdown to Episode 300 — the series finale of The Midnight Citizen. Although, after tonight's show, I'm not sure I'll make it that long — this after a FREAK SCARE about an hour into it, when my whiskey toast to Diane Keaton was cut short by a ghoulish face outside the studio, staring in at me. The Midnight Citizen 299: "Brennschluss" (10/20/25) 1:44:05 [1015] After a long day of grading papers and driving for dollars, I crashed out on Saturday night and slept right through my scheduled live show. But no worries, join me in the car on Sunday morning as I deliver food to the good, hung-over people of Birmingham, AL. Later that night, sit with me outside to celebrate the milestone of what I'm choosing to believe those thousands of screaming, cigar-puffing folks were cheering on in Tuscaloosa on Saturday Night. In-Between Whatever: "One Battle After Another" (7/28/26) 34:04 [1024] {9/30/25} While I'm in-between producing shows or whatever, enjoy one of the random recordings I've been posting on my Spotify feed a little bit before and after the last episode of my podcast, The Midnight Citizen, back in November 2025. ¶ This one I recorded after seeing the much-anticipated film, One Battle After Another, based on Thomas Pynchon's 1990 book, Vineland.

In-Between Whatever: "The French Connection" (7/28/26) 43:43 [1024]{11/21/25} While I'm in-between producing shows or whatever, enjoy one of the random recordings I've been posting on my Spotify feed a little bit before and after the last episode of my podcast, The Midnight Citizen, back in November 2025. ¶ This one I recorded after seeing one of my favorite movies, The French Connection (1971), at the local independent movie theater. I walk around downtown and talk about it, and duck into a quiet cellar bar for a bit to grab a drink and take a rest from the chill November air.

In-Between Whatever: "Eyes Wide Shut" (12/25/25) 45:00 [1025] Originally posted December 25, 2025 on The Midnight Citizen Spotify feed ¶ While I'm in-between producing shows or whatever, enjoy one of the random recordings I've been posting on my Spotify feed since the last episode of my podcast, The Midnight Citizen, back in November 2025. ¶ This one I recorded on a humid Christmas night in Birmingham, AL. Join me for a drink as I mull over Stanley Kubrick's last movie "Eyes Wide Shut" — the weirdo plot, theories old and new, and why nobody "saw" it when it came out…even though I processed countless late fees for the VHS at Blockbuster.

In-Between Whatever: "Scream" (5/21/26) 1:22:54 [1025] While I'm in-between producing shows or whatever, enjoy one of the random recordings I've been posting on my Spotify feed since the last episode of my podcast, The Midnight Citizen, back in November 2025. ¶ This one I taped on the back porch of my folks' house in Birmingham, AL after seeing the latest Scream sequel. I don't really talk about that one too much because it was stupid, but I do talk about the original from 1996, how it was forbidden fruit in the house when I was 14 years old, and how my big sister snuck me a copy to watch, which blew my little mind and to this day, when I watch it, still surprises me how good it is.

In-Between Whatever: "Rolling Thunder" (6/6/26) 32:39 [1025] While I'm in-between producing shows or whatever, enjoy one of the random recordings I've been posting on my Spotify feed since the last episode of my podcast, The Midnight Citizen, back in November 2025. ¶ On this episode I'm back on the back porch, where I'm offering up some thoughts about (and inspired by) the 1970s revenge classic, Rolling Thunder. ¶ Join Mike outside for some thoughts about (and inspired by) the 1970s revenge classic.

In-Between Whatever: "Dispatch from Quincy, IL" (7/18/26) 1:30:24 [1025] Originally posted July 18, 2026 on The Midnight Citizen Spotify feed ¶ While I'm in-between producing shows or whatever, enjoy one of the random recordings I've been posting on my Spotify feed since the last episode of my podcast, The Midnight Citizen, back in November 2025. ¶ On this episode, join me in the midwest — first in a vacant lot overlooking the Mississippi River at dusk in small town Quincy, and later on a walk around the famous arch in St. Louis, Missouri.

In-Between Whatever: "Another Dispatch from the Midwest" (8/30/26) 1:46:59 [1025] While I'm in-between producing shows or whatever, enjoy one of the random recordings I've been posting on my Spotify feed since the last episode of my podcast, The Midnight Citizen, back in November 2025. ¶ On this episode, join me on another trip to Quincy, IL, where I walk along the waterfront of the Mississippi River and loiter in the parking lot of the posh local boating club. Later, I sit on the back porch of a shuttered bar close to my hotel and reflect on anything and whatever.

Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubénerd Show 316: The Opera House episode (1/1/16) 44:53 [772] The first episode of 2016! Join Ruben on a stunning morning in Sydney's Circular Quay as he watches the ferries go past the Sydney Opera House and Harbour Bridge. Also inexplicable discussion on traffic helicopters, naming anime episodes in Plex, puddled iron in the Eiffel Tower, palm trees, Running Man, Americans who like Vegemite, disappointing San Fran coffee, alternate terms for podcasting, The Rocks precinct, and what's possibly Australia's oldest surviving house. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubénerd Show 318: The unverted imbrrella episode (1/6/15) 59:48 [772] Drizzly data centre trips, birds, cryptographic randomness (lava lamps, headphone cables as sources of entropy), uber-ing a crowdsourced paradigm of synergising disruption, listener feedback (Jimbo, Bi-Coastal Becky), hoarses [sic], Jimbo interviewing me on his podcast, Kevin Tan, functionally-challenged data centre bathrooms, trudging through the rain, high school athletics I didn't suck at (gymnastics, badminton), winning a primary school writing contest, and finding the chipset from the first computer I built in 1998. Now with all-new abrupt endings! Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubénerd Show 319: The Lift episode (1/12/15) 24:05 [772] A shorter exposition of three terrifying scary trends: Ruben messing up Rubénerd Show 318, the changing of Lift to Fanta Lemon, and becoming subservient to computers through floods of information. Listener feedback provided by Jimbo. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubénerd Show 320: The world simulator episode (1/18/16) 40:26 [772] A mini heatwave and monsoon, psychological torture, taking the stairs in lieu of lifts, Sydney's expensive New Year fireworks, late 1990s DirectX graphics, feeling like the world is a simulation, viewing empty skylines, nihilism and being the only real person, beautiful bird sounds, evening storms, taxis targeting pedestrians, a sufficiently vast universe to harbour other life, evolution, holodecks, philosophical honesty, rendering the world around humans, the observer effect, and that darn Star Trek Prime Directive! Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubénerd Show 322: The reading into Straya episode (1/27/16) 52:35 [772] Anyone will tell you it's a prison island, hidden in the summer for a million years. Happy Australia Day with this discussion of what should be the anthem, Captain Cook, our native peoples, where we all live, cliché Australian tourism advertising, Outback Steakhouse, and humbling flights over the desert. Topped off with a Midnight Citizen-inspired discussion on rapidly fading music and book retail (Coconuts, Borders, Angus & Robertson, Tower Records, HMV in Singapore, the magical late 1990s), and the darn space all those books and DVDs take up. Released late because work has been tough, hope it was worth it! Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubénerd Show 323: The front fell off episode (2/2/15) 21:27 [772] Clark and Dawe, fronts of tankers falling off, fronts of financial systems falling off, fronts of cars falling off, fronts of moose (mooses? moosii?) falling off, and other related ruminations. This episode would have been longer, but the front fell off. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubénerd Show 325: The long lost 2013 episode (2/8/15) 10:55 [772] I found my first attempt at rebooting the Rubénerd Show from January 2013! Topics included time stamp counters, audible tangents, tea, being back in Sydney, and torched coffee shops. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

my last week as a 20-something! Chatting about rattling Sydney tin can trains, the previous triple digit episode (Rubenerd Show 222 nine years ago), and the oddly specific power board café culture in Malaysia, Singapore and Australia. Was almost 24:00! Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubénerd Show 334: The lanyard episode (3/24/16) 32:45 [772] Show four of six documenting my last days before turning 30! Chatting about data centre noise, keycard silliness, submerging computers, running across streets, family religion, increasingly scared about turning 30, a drag-racing Kia and Maserati, Candanavian [sic] and Irish weather and landscapes, Frank Nora pointing out difference between holidays and vacations, and alienating people with poorly-imitated accents. Rubénerd Show 342: The DisplayPort episode (6/5/16) 30:13 [903] What happens when Ruben is too tired, busy and/or stressed to do a show? He does one on a routine work trip to OfficeWorks! Hilarity and deep, philosophical discussion also ensues (not a guarantee). Recorded on Thursday, 02nd of June. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubénerd Show 343: The light episode (6/13/16) 32:02 [903] A quiet, late night by a power transformer pontificating on origins of light and energy, taming nature, work-life balance, "y'know", quantum observation, robots running the world, Waking Up with Sam Harris, artificial and alien intelligence, and is human evolution really the peak? To keep the chronology of episodes accurate, this is a quick recap of this part of our trip, recorded back around my dad's new place in North Arm Cove. Intro by ZAGAT. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubénerd Show 356: The Jim Kloss episode (11/15/16) 1:01:01 [908] This is a very special episode of the Rubénerd

Show, possibly the best one ever. In a cute Philadelphia coffee shop in October 2016, I finally got to sit down with Jim Kloss; mentor, online confidant and dear friend. We set the record straight on Whole Wheat Radio, the pioneering independent online music community; and the NOCHANGE BBS system with its ingenious two factor authentication system and delightful inception. Along with Frank Nora and Israel Brown, Jim was the reason I started this audio magazine in 2005. It was a delight, and an honour to talk with him. I hope you feel the magic I did. Recorded in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Licence for this track: Creative Commons Attribution 3.0. Attribution: Jim Kloss, Clara Tse and Ruben Schade.

Rubénerd Show 360: The revolutionary episode (4/24/17) 1:29:42 [913] Because it's episode 360! Shaddup. Take a wander with your esteemed host as he records three separate episodes, doesn't have time to produce all of them, and subsequently smashes them into one convenient episode. In Buzzfeed style, you'll never guess what he talks about! Mostly because the episode doesn't have a proper description. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubénerd Show 367: The Kansai episode (8/7/16) 1:01:11 [917] Ruben wanders back from Namba to their Airbnb in Osaka, rambling about visually impaired assistance, political posters, Japanese curry, police, pachinko, lack of street names, complicated bathrooms, and Mashu/Shielder from Fate/Grand Order. Then Clara and Ruben wander around Ninna-ji in Kyoto chatting about the Rurouni Kenshin films, anime flashback episodes, and mushrooms. Then over to Arashiyama talking about soba and Kyoto tofu, beautiful scenery around the Katura River, Kyoto trolley trains, bamboo forests, rickshaws, late-opening shops, and the Togetsukyo bridge. Thank you Kansai ♡. Recorded 31st July 2017. Recorded in Osaka, Japan.

Rubénerd Show 369: The wurst episode (9/1/17) 26:16 [918] This may be the worst episode of the show ever recorded. Its saving graces were a few clips from the Hypothetical Institute, one of the non-Onsug shows Ruben listens to. Topics include illness, backmasking, and the only appropriate way to unsubscribe from email. Don't listen to it! Or just skip to the clips. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubénerd Show 370: The Canberra episode (9/26/17) 20:44 [918] Quick report from a business trip to Canberra, with unreality, Australia's worst Thai food, evil vending machines, cashew bags, flight delays, and other fun. Rubenerd Show 379: The Kevin Tan Show episode (10/7/18) 1:03:32 [931] In the first of what I hope to be many episodes in the Rubenerd Rewind series, we take a journey back thirteen years to my university dorm to hear Kevin Tan's show! He heard me doing Rubenerd Shows when we were both studying in Adelaide, and thought he'd give it a try. Each of his six episodes are preserved and presented here in one easy-to-listen programme. Shows recorded by Kevin Tan in 2005-06, introduction recorded by Ruben Schade in 2018, and an Adelaide Channel 7 news clip from 2006. Recorded in Adelaide, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 380: The three-eighty episode (10/18/18) 28:02 [931] This could be the least-inspired episode title ever! But for good cause, discussing the Mitsubishi 380, Farmer's Union Iced Coffee, a Rubenerd Show clip from 2005, and other Adelaide nostalgia. Also making a coffee live on the programme, poorly-sized thermos containers, and a recurring sneeze. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 382: The mock food episode (10/27/18) 25:58 [931] A rare single-topic episode tackling fake foods and beverages! Discussing decaffeinated coffee, non-alcoholic beer, mock meat (including having an Impossible Burger in Los Angeles, and Linda McCartney vegetarian fare in Sydney), sugar-free drinks, grilled plastic cheese slices, and other effective hipster repellent. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 383: The portable episode (11/12/18) 31:11 [932] Recognising two distinct trends on the programme of late, obsessive spreadsheeting, resenting new computer hardware, more thoughts around working from coffee shops instead of home/work, the computer dock and concept pioneered by the late OQO, and some speaking in between the coughs! Feedback from Chad Bowers and Dave on Onsug.com. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 384: The down low-fi episode (11/20/18) 30:11 [932] Recording on a terrible mic, so taking the opportunity to produce at a ludicrously low bitrate for some nostalgic fun. Topics include Zip drives, work phones, mobiles without cameras, inadvertent box smashing, eschewing (gesundheit) plastic, middle class life qualms needing perspective, Nespresso, regions of Sydney and Los Angeles, difficulty photographing anime figures, nostalgia for my 2004 job while listening to The Overnightscape and Whole Wheat Radio, the fate of internet communities, and coffee shop sounds. Special guest appearance by 1990s Iomega. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 385: The Jeffersonian Keynsham episode (12/3/18) 31:36 [933] An homage to The Overnightscape episode Mother's New Mineral Dream. Talking about white walls everywhere in new buildings, 1970s era shopping malls, struggles with junk, Staten Island, and personally generated media. Because you can't take it with you. Cover art of the Metropolitan Museum of Art taken from Clara's and my trip to NYC in 2016. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 386: The somewhat serious episode (12/11/18) 26:45 [933] Light through leaves at night, life-work balance, changing directions, making decisions, being lost in thought, importance of family and friends, and then randomly the HP 620 LX. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 387: The upsidedown Xmas episode (12/27/18) 30:06 [933] A Christmas special coming to you from a Sydney Boxing Day in the heat of summer! Also retiring the Rubenerd Annexe, self-titled Blogging Experts, a shoutout to Radio Free Shambles and The Midnight Citizen, and best wishes for the season. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 388: The archived hat episode (1/12/18) 18:11 [934] The unpublished 2018 spectacular episode, broken headphones and keyboards and floppy drives and internet quotas and stomachs, social networks turning people into arseholes, Marie Kondo, archiving websites you care about, supplanting Facebook, and the Red Hat FTP archive. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 389: The 2018 spectacular episode (1/14/19) 3:19:56 [934] Every unreleased episode from Q4 2018 in one stitched package! Topics include Sydney Trains, TECHNOBOYS PULCRAFT GREEN-FUND, Honda San, Singapore, flowers, rampling, cicadas, apparently unmanly things, studying, podcast elitism, indie media, late night Mascot, continents, construction, soulless glass boxes, Wikipedia, marketing language, dearth of power points, ocean liners, promises, selling an iMac, making coffee, email, the next leap for computing, Tiger Balm, and sneezes. Best to avoid listening to this all at once! Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 390: The Overnightscape Pegasus episode (2/17/19) 1:23:35 [935] A tribute to the last few episodes of The Overnightscape. Topics include wood veneer dishwashers and TVs, moving to Chatswood, when I started listening to The Overnightscape, Lunar New Year, abandoned cityscapes in the real world and in simulations, nostalgia for space, gift giving, Gateway 2000, gaming business models, Fate/Grand Order, and the Carlton Branch... plus Side B (at 01:03:56)... opening production credits for A Chinese Ghost Story (1987)[VCD], The Computer Chronicles – Windows 3.0 (1990)[Archive.org], Hypothetical Institute theme (2019)[Podcast], Clark and Dawe, The Front Fell Off (1991)[YouTube], Cantonese Golden Harvest bumper (1986)[VCD], Digital Flotsam episode 54, baseballs and music (2004)[Archive.org], tech5 episode 38 on early Microsoft magazines (2007)[Podcast], Prospects by Chris Juergensen (2005)[Archive.org, Creative Commons 2.5 Attribution], Rising Bubbles sound loop from Apple Logic (2007), introduction to construction of the Sydney Harbour Tunnel (1992)[YouTube], and my first MadPlayer recording (2005) [Archive.org]. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 391: The lemon grove episode (3/16/19) 1:12:50 [936] It's another Rubenerd Squish, where I stick a few unrelated episodes into one! Part one discusses the most bizarre advertisement I've ever seen, in an audio journey through a 1970s era shopping centre that has barely changed. Part two discusses fabric couches, fun with spirometry, the Clipboard Mafia, and certain frustrating podcast ads. Part three discusses duopolistic allegiances, and fun with reverb-berb-reverb. Recorded February-March 2019. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 392: The Otemachi episode (3/19/19) 55:03 [936] Join Clara and I on our first day back in Japan! Wandering around Otemachi in Tokyo looking for an ATM for a sinister card that refused to work, travelling from Narita, egg sandwiches from convenience stores, and too much more to write notes on when we should be sleeping! Recorded in Tokyo, Japan.

Rubenerd Show 393: The Ikebukuro episode (20/3/19) 1:10:35 [936] Join Clara and I on our second day back in Japan! Recorded in Tokyo, Japan.

Rubenerd Show 394: The hierarchical coffee episode (4/15/19) 43:59 [937] Join Ruben in a soulful, bronchital state; a word that almost certainly doesn't exist. Topics include Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs, secret apartment doors, Apple keyboards really are that bad, stabbing myself in the eye with a poster, Australia's obsessive coffee culture, Arashiyama in Kyoto, and accidental beverages. Break song by the delightful Good Mythical Morning gents who trained a predictive text bot. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 395: The corned mindfulness episode (6/29/19) 51:02 [939] Join Ruben as he takes a somewhat narcissistic view of work, life in one's thirties, mindfulness or lack thereof, charities, the events in Hong Kong, the ergonomic considerations behind corn chips, wandering around Artarmon thinking the same things, and a classic clip from Flight of the Conchords. You want to sit down but you sold you chair, so you... you just stand there. Recorded over a few weeks in June 2019. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 396: The Brisbane Perth episode (9/17/19) 42:30 [942] Join Ruben as he discusses himself in the third person, and his business trip adventures to two Australian cities on the exact opposite sides of the country for added convenience; the former of which he hadn't been to since he lived there in the 1990s! Then some nostalgia for coffee chains, specifically the giant Dômes in Singapore. Recorded early September 2019. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 397: The Marina Square episode (9/25/19) 54:03 [942] Returning to the birthplace and spiritual home of the Rubenerd Show in Singapore, and where I first heard The Overnightscape. Wandering around Marina Square with Clara making random observations about life here compared to the 1990s and 2000s, with sounds of the Singapore F1 Grand Prix in the background. Then jumping on the MRT back to Novena, and walking in the late evening. It's a remote-working holiday, but I'll take it! Recorded in Marina Bay, Singapore.

Rubenerd Show 398: The KLCC again episode (10/26/19) 24:32 [943] The Rubenerd Show returns to Kuala Lumpur after thirteen years! Playing a retrospective clip from episode 103 in June 2006, then back to October 2019 with Clara wandering around the Petronas Twin Towers and Jalan Ampang. I never thought I'd be doing this again! Recorded in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.

Rubenerd Show 399: The smokeless Melbourne epsiode (12/11/19) 28:40 [945] Bushfires have engulfed Sydney for more than a week now, so it was a relief and joy to wander around back in Melbourne on a business trip with blue skies, even if only for a couple of days! Talking about the inevitable comparisons between Sydney and Melbourne, Stanley Kubrick-inspired data centres, health nonsense about Kombucha, tree-lined streets, and wishing for a Ricoh GR III pocket camera. Creative Commons music by Chris Jurgenson. Recorded in Melbourne, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 400: The Quadricentennial episode (12/26/19) 1:06:42 [945] It's the four hundredth episode of my sporadic podcast! In lieu of formal celebrations, I discuss the surreal circumstances within which we find ourselves, along with various other ruminations about the holidays, significant figures, keyboard memories, ranting about fires, LPs, and more. Thank you so much for listening to my silly audible emissions, here's to the next 400. ♡ Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 401: The on fire episode (12/31/19) 20:56 [945] I intended this episode to be about something completely different, but now that every state in Australia is on fire, and my dad has evacuated his house, suddenly my other interests and topics seem less pressing. Thanks, and please consider donating to the NSW RFS. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 402: The hidden PPPoE episode (1/5/20) 24:25 [946] Thanking people for Australian bushfire feedback, Malcolm Turnbull'd internet, pronouncing abbreviations as acronyms (PPPoE… pehpehpehooee?), the Ricoh GR III camera, finding a stream and an old key in a forest near Cammeray, the plight of inefficient portable air conditioners, wooden shelving, and various challenges when selling incomplete anime figures. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 403: The hot cake episode (1/12/20) 52:15 [946] Forbidden 403 HTML status codes, unhelpful profiling, Australian bushfire updates (looters, conspiracy theories, hot takes), unexpected Adelaide nostalgia and early breakfasts, unintentional philosophical ramblings on the character and motivations of certain people, and an ongoing good natured but otherwise inexplicable retail saga. With thanks to Phil Collins. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 404: The 29th griddle episode (2/29/20) 44:51 [947] The second Rubenerd Show to be released on the 29th of February, HTTP 404 status codes, a new griddle, SARS, Phua Chu Kang, bushfire update, why you shouldn't need a reason not to be a dick, and a nostalgic snack review from Singapore. Recorded early Febuary 2020. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 405: The Walkenbach Envelope episode (3/7/20) 34:32 [948] ¶ Making a caffeinated beverage LIVE on the show like I used to, remembering Murni's Warung in Ubud, the joys of envelope budgeting, John Walkenbach from Whole Wheat Radio helping me through his Excel books all these years later, and why it's still so difficult for people without IT backgrounds to export data from shut down sites. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 406: The chipped hero episode (3/8/20) 31:52 [948] Wait, didn't we only just get Rubenerd Show 405?! Discussing the production of chip-based comestibles, submerged data centres, etymology behind radio buttons, being tired of Boomer and Millennial labels, and when meeting your hero perhaps wasn't such a good idea. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 407: The overengineered everything episode (3/14/20) 25:32 [948] What started as a discussion regarding an ugly new concept car turned into pontifications about design, and anti-patterns in cars and websites. If overenginering is to make something intentionally more complicated for no benefit other than to ship product, why are we so compelled to do it? Or did I just answer my own question? Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 408: The deserted tape episode (4/18/20) 39:20 [949] Wandering around a deserted Chatswood late at night, peeking into the empty stores, and watching the regular stream of empty commuter and metro trains roll by. Discussing working from home, trying to reconnect with music, critiquing streaming services, and a rose tinted view of audio tape. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 409: The uncanny silhouette episode (5/6/20) 29:37 [950] Join Ruben for a late-night wander around the abandoned Sydney suburb of Chatswood during these lockdown adventures. Topics include 100 days of COVID-19, stairwall-derived exercise, Australia and New Zealand's potential new travel bubble, finding coffee shops, spooky silhouettes in the night, a Liverpool FC barber, JoAnne Hook paintings, active voice, saying "you too!" to retail staff, and the uncanny valley as it pertains to… sheep? Recorded Monday 4th May 2020. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 410: The apothecary coffee episode (5/31/20) 25:23 [950] Not knowing a place till you leave it, the fascinating triangular windows of the old Belle Vue in Singapore, faded knock-off Lego blocks, Albert Einstein's travels, finding new coffee shops, apothecary tables, government posters, a 1990s-era glass foyer, and a borderline rant on my butterfly Apple keyboard. Recorded early May 2020. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 411: The FreeBSD cat(1) episode (6/16/20) 28:45 [951] A discussion about feline creatures liking me despite having never owned one… turned into a rant about desktop software quality, remembering Wintel and desktop Java, running OpenZFS on FreeBSD and NetBSD with cgd, BSD on an iBook back in the day, being burned by btrfs, BSDCan comments about home labs now being production, and wandering outside in beautifully-mild winter weather. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 412: The wandering mug episode (9/1/20) 47:35 [954] An impromptu discussion on everyone's favourite comestible beverage conveyance, among several other unrelated topics. Recorded July 2020, only getting around to producing… gulp! Hey, that's the sound someone drinking from a mug makes. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 413: The Wheaty 2021 episode (1/20/21) 13:57 [958] Jim Kloss returned to the Whole Wheat Radio airwaves again for a chat! I was not prepared, and even started typing over it towards the end when work pinged me, but I couldn't let this moment of Internet audio history go unrecorded.

Rubenerd Show 414: The thingy stuff episode (5/12/21) 14:00 [962] A discussion about how my fervour for independent writing hasn't translated into improving podcast imposter syndrome! Also RSS, distribution, how social networks have convinced people to only write for them, and related ruminations. Thanks for your patience while I produced this one :). Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 415: The Amehhhhh Sharipov episode (7/2/21) 55:49 [964] In part one, your sophisticated host attempts to make an Aeropress coffee live on air, namedrops his friend, mentions some Minecraft LEGO adventures, and discusses some listener mail from Oskar Sharipov regarding audio recording, OGG files, and independent production. Then we timeskip a week to when your aforementioned host walks around an abandoned Chatswood street late at night to find which coffee shops are open during the Sydney lockdowns. Mmm, coffee. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 416: The microwaved nostalgia episode (8/18/21) 32:51 [965] Join Ruben as he takes an evening lockdown socially-distancing stroll as he discusses UniSA campus nostalgia in Adelaide, adventures with side effects, a freezing family holiday to Germany in the early 2010s, and an extended discussion on the merits and flaws of contemporary electronic microwave oven appliance design affordances (I think Dire Straits did a song about that, though in significantly fewer words. Custom kitchen deliveries, and all that). Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 417: The stormy apartment episode (8/28/21) 27:47 [965] Why am I out here under a shelter while there's a storm outside? Talking about the HoloCouncil, why am I out here, missing travel, it's a bit windy out here, where I'd live if I had a spare billion dollars between the proverbial couch cushions, and why am I out here? Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 418: The tiled pattern episode (9/19/21) 27:47 [966] Join Ruben as he pours one out for airline pilots, Australia being European in Asia, travelling with Clara, nostalgia for Singapore and working remote from there, The Coffee Bean and Tea Leaf in Bishan, introverts and Third Places, saying goodbye to a friend, Robin Williams, and mismatched tiles. Warning, I might even get half-serious at certain points this time! Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 419: The musically soaked episode (9/24/21) 53:50 [966] Join your host as he enjoys some milder Sydney weather! Talking about monsoons in Singapore and Hong Kong, wanting to live in the latter after it blew me away (metaphorically, not in a monsoon), slim Japanese clothing, water-retaining socks, always feeling the need to be productive, embarrassing nerd magazines on the train, old-school MP3 players, downtime, meditation, a rant about music streaming platforms, and collecting music again. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 420: The belated holiday episode (1/1/22) 36:36 [970] Join your host as he finally gets around to uploading some festive cheer and other rambling nonsense. Talking about Xmas lights, the programming VCR meme, Travan tapes, health fun, couch potato-ism, coffee chains in Asia, trying a seasonal brew, and the infamous "much more!" Happy new year from us to you. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 421: The flying progress episode (1/20/22) 21:50 [970] The risk of ordering clothes online, Simon Whistler, AviationTag memorabilia from the A380 and B757, humans needing physical contact, appreciating technological and medical progress, and giving people permission to have new year resolutions!

Rubenerd Show 422: The caffeinated travel episode (7/19/22) 28:23 [976] Hey, I remember when I recorded stuff! Making coffee, talking about the state of the world, some personal notes, putting the kettle on, not being fancy with tea, a letter from strata, and thoughts about travel. I'll be back to doing these regularly again when I feel up to it, thanks for listening :). Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 423: The Tokyo 2022 episode (12/22/22) 33:53 [981] We're overseas again for the first time in three years! Recorded at the busy Kudanshita Tokyo Subway station (complete with jingles!), then wandering around near the Imperial Palace one night. It's a bit all over the place, but that was my mental state at the time. Part two coming soon, thanks for listening. Recorded in Tokyo, Japan.

Rubenerd Show 424: The Midosuji line episode (4/18/23) 21:44 [985] Join me on a brief wander through Namba Parks, then onto the Osaka Metro to Daikokujo! Talking about being back in Japan, why Clara and I love the Kansai region even more than Tokyo, topping up Suica and ICOCA cards, the growing number of bikes here, and almost walking into someone. Sumimasen! Recorded in Osaka, Japan.

Rubenerd Show 425: The goodbye Jim episode (5/22/23) 25:15 [986] This episode is dedicated to the memory of Jim Kloss, whom I interviewed on the show in 2016 in Philadelphia. Jim was one of my dearest friends, a mentor in life, and a wonderful human being. Recorded late one evening wandering around a park in Sydney. ¶ Jim was, along with Frank from The Overnightscape, the reason I got into internet radio back in 2003. I wouldn't be uploading my thoughts in audio and text if it weren't for his inspiration and words of encouragement. He will be missed, but remembered. ? ¶ Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 426: The clever curtains episode (07/08/23) 30:40 [988] Join Ruben on a muggy, cold Sydney evening talking about James from James' Coffee Blog starting his own podcast, why I'm allergic to Melbourne, and meeting my favourite ever vtuber Pavolia Reine from Hololive Indonesia! Rubenerd Show 428: The balcony memories episode (6/20/24) 28:16 [999] Sitting outside on this blustery winter morning talking about Mike Karels, Gordon Bell, Dave Ross, and Jim Kloss, with some trademark digressions and a hot mug of coffee. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 429: The pa-paya pa-pa-paya episode (10/3/24) 41:19 [1003] A few things today, but mostly a discussion of our beloved Amelia Watson wrapping up her regular English vtuber activities with Hololive, and the adventures of buying our first home! When one thing ends, another thing starts. Microwave ovens. Custom kitchen delivery. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 430: The two mugs episode (2/21/25) 14:22 [1007] Bit of a weirder one today; talking about the time last week when the trolls won! But I got some amazing feedback and some help, so maybe there are lessons here I can pass on. Have you heard of this thing called the block button? I should do that! Thanks again, will be a more normal episode next time. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 431: The AI episode (4/24/26) 11:15 [1021] What… what are we doing? Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Eddie Murray has been a major presence on The Onsug since 2009. He sent Frank his "Trampler Sampler" in May 2009 - the very first show by another host that was added to The Overnightscape Underground - which led to The Onsug as the group channel we know today. Since then, Eddie's done nearly 200 episodes of his shows Trampler, Cloud Base 44/88, and The Wool Gathering. He's also made nearly 100 appearances on Overnightscape Central, and joined in on many Exit Ramps as well.

I'd been aware of Eddie's earlier podcasts - TedPod and Conspiracast - and I wanted to add them to the archive. I was able to find 31 of the 33 episodes of Conspiracast from 2008 on a still-existing "PodOmatic" page. Unfortunately, Eddie couldn't find the two missing episodes - but he did find a hard drive with 41 episodes of TedPod from 2005. We know TedPod went to at least episode 107 in 2007 - but Eddie wasn't able to find any more episodes, and none are to be found online.

I explored the Internet Archive's Wayback Machine to find as much information as I could for both of these shows. We have full original show notes for Conspiracast, and a partial set for TedPod.

On TedPod, similar to a broadcast radio show, Eddie played commercial music tracks - so I went in and edited them out, just leaving the beginning and end of each song, as an aircheck might be edited.

This is truly a remarkable collection. I'm hoping some of the missing episodes may turn up in the future - I may have some on my old CD-Rs and DVD-Rs... if I ever get around to indexing them. And if by chance anyone out there has any missing episodes, let me know.

Conspiracast Episode 3 (2/22/08) 1:00:00 [604] Written by Edward J. Murray ¶ New World Order ¶ Thank You for listening back into Conspiracast, In this Third episode I just run quickly through what Conspiracast is about again, and we are going to listen to part two of the interview with Frank Edward Nora from http://theovernightscape.com who also runs a new video rambling site http://inramble.com ¶ Also some bad news and good news, the bad news is the Davids Sereda ageement for interview seems to have gone by the way side for now, but we do have another agreement for an interview with David Icke , who is also in Japan at the moment and he did a 6 hour presentation at the Tenkuh Theater of Tokyo Art Center. ¶ The artcile on Benjamin Fulford before this episode on Http://conspiracast.com is something we talk about in the show so for background on that guy who interviewed David Rokefeller please read that article. We also listen to one of the Benjamin Fulford you tubes ¶ We quickly run through the current state of politics regarding elections in the USA and ask people to phone or write in their views. i also talk about new news articles on the JFK file here is one camera angle that suggests the shot came from the front, also we talk about if the depleting oil syndrome is really as bad as its been made out to be after all these years . ¶ Thank you to Ian Mullen and DerrenCrawford for submitting those articles repectivley. ¶ We also mention Gary The Space man from 640AM Toronto Radio , you can listen to the recorded shows on the yahoo group. Lastly there is two articles I mention that i briefly stumbled upon about Titans natural Recources from Nasa, and also how some Japanese scientists are planning with a projected 2030 launch date to beam solar energy down to earth from space there is also a Wiki article on it. ¶ In Future shows we are going to flip the coin and question these Conspiracies using debunker theories and interviewing certain skeptics. ¶ On a sidenote, I have encountered someone very high up in freemasonry here in asia (32nd Degree) so that could prove to be an interesting connection here and I will keep you updated here as to what will be the outcome of that.

Conspiracast Episode 4 (2/29/08) 1:00:00 [604] Written by Edward J Murray ¶ UFO ¶ Welcome back to Conspiracast Episode 4! This week we have a packed full show of Cool, Intruiging, Truth Seeking Conspiracies. With no Guest and a cold this week I turn to Stumble Upon for Some Answers without too many questions. We give a big shout out to our Japanese visitors, I am a big fan of your Ramen! The first site we come across is Truthism.com, where we read the proof of reptilians in ancient times, we brush passed the face on Mars in the place called Cydonia, and mention that Cidona is also nice :) Briefly mention some masonic symbols and companys, you can also check out falsebeliefs.com. We then take a quick break to listen to the promo from intoyourhead.com, a fellow Irish podcaster. The next thing we stumble upon is the wiki page for Operation Northwoods, a very important document, very similar to the 9/11 attacks and shows false flag operations have been around for a long time as a military tactic, mentioned a lot on Alex Jones documentaries. Which leads us into the next website conspiracyrealtytv.com where we talk about some featured videos including Zeitgeist, and talk about cross refrenceing historical documents like great researcher Jordan Maxwell, The Corporation, Freedom to Facism, and Money Masters are others that are featured, we find some of the latest news about votes being shredded on Ron Paul which reminded me of another documentary on vote fraud in America on bushes first election called Hacking Democracy. Next we talk about and listen to news reports of recent sightings of UFO's in Texas, I recommend to watch Nasa case for UFO's, also to check out Mexicos public release of military chasing UFO's. Also you should check out this account of a military man Walter Haut, involved in Roswell leaving an Affidavid to be opened after he died to say the Roswell Incident was Covered up. Also some wise advice for secret societys and scientology. You could also check out some David Icke videos in the lead up to his interview in April here at Conspiracast! We briefly mention Magick and Sygils. I do a quick Hip Hop Conspiracast Jingle to livin things up. RFID is the next topic, whether this is good technology or not? Maybe its good for stocks with Digital Angel as the manufacturing umbrella. I also mention some predictions like major security on the street stretched out from 9/11 type security in airports like China, the North American Union (NAU) and new currencies like the Amero, and that in Olympics in 2012 there might be something big to look out for the more the media will push Terrorism claims towards that time and place. Lastly we talk about how the US goverment admited to lying so they could further spying through telecommunications (maybe google?) reading an article from the LA Times, spotted on operationawakining.wordpress.com, Also new technology in the UK that can see your blood so they know your human, and also a flashlamp that is set to a certain frequency that makes humans very ill. We quickly run through the Moon Landing as a hoax with Squidoo.com. The last two sites i mention are mind-deprogramming.com and truestories videoblog. Be carefull of any mind control techniques that surround us everywhere especially if you are involved in certain societys and working sectors like the Police and Army. Also please get involved in the forums and give your opinions on the current elections in the US and Chemtrails and anything else you want to talk about! Or email me or phone in your opinions and feed back.

Conspiracast Episode 5 (3/7/08) 1:00:00 [604] Written by Edward J Murray ¶ UFO BluePrint ¶ Thankyou for tuning back into Conspiracast Episode 5! The very first topic on the show is an article from Rense.com headlined bush authorised 9/11 attacks, Stanley Hilton a senior advisor to sen. bob dole, read out an exerpt of a transcript from his interview on Alex Jones' radio show (I also do a bad impression of AJ ;) ¶ Then I Briefly cover some Insider trading information relating to 9/11 from prisonplanet.com with investigations still continuing. Including Jerome Karviel's latest stunt for the Iluminati of 7 billion. Continuing on with the trading theme more up to date information with an article from the Jones Report about Dennis Kucinich revealing that he is initiating an investigation into the insider trading. ¶ Wikileaks is another important site we look at and talk about the US court attacking web freedom including trying to completley shut down wikileaks website which is an incredible move with no foundation and threatens all our freedoms. I then play a quick clip of JFK giving his speach on Secret Societys. ¶ Timecube.com is a strange site where the author claims that "I am knower of 4 corner simultaneus 24 hour days that occur within a single 4 corner rotation of the earth" among many many other wonderfully strange Ideas that I dont understand in anyway, however he mentions Adam and Eve which reminded me of Jordan Maxwell talking about Atlantis heres Michael Tsarion talking about it indepth for 3 and a half hours :) sORRY Stage 6 closed, well heres a similar one for two hours. Why not check out his website too at MichaelTsarion.com ¶ AboveTopSecret.com Is another great site I must not fail to mention, its chocfull of all the latest and breaking news and so much more besides, I highly recommend that and also TED talks. ¶ More from ATS we Talk again about UFO's and whether they are man made or not, which reminded me of Episode 2 of Conspiracast where we talk to John Hutchison, and two other websites to check out AmericanAntiGravity.com and the disclosureproject.org ¶ I hope you have enjoyed Conspiracast Episode 5, please give your opinions and feedback either in email or on the forum, and feel at home here, and get the conversation going!

Conspiracast Episode 6 (3/14/08) 1:00:00 [604] Written by Edward J Murray ¶ View from Space ¶ Conspiracast Episode 6 at Conspiracast.com. Welcome Back, or if youve just found us look around at http://conspiracast.com. I talk about the Concentration Camps in the U.S for a while along with the North American Union and the Amero . Also self healing rubber science article. Next I talk about Indias Ancient flying machines, and an old Buddhists enlightenment through physcial punishment to achieve self mumification . I read out some listener email feedback. I also mention Sacharia Sitchen and the ancient sumerian artifacts, which reminded me of going to see 10,000 BC in the Cinema. The next topic we listen to from rense.com is the O'Hare Ufo Incident, (sorry in 06 not 07, Wiki) and an eyewitness telling his story. Also a 1 hour guide to 9/11 . We burst through some websites you could research; conspiracyarchive.com is the first one which reminds me of Blackwater again, and also where I find the article on HAARP, Rense.com, Stphelie.com, David Icke.com, the8state.com. Ctrlaltdelete.ca, Guba.com, Openyoureyes.web.1000.com, propagandamatrix.com, and RedIcecreations We then also go into talking about Dulce underground activity, transcript of interview with security officer, also here an mi5 whistle blower i never got to talk about.

Global Warming (2/16/08)

Written by Edward J. Murray

Global Warming and Cooling

Well? Do you believe it? I dont mean the chart, do you believe that the current hype about global warming is man made? and that we really need to reduce carbon emissions? OR Is it really just a case of natural cycles? Yes, the earth is getting warmer, but hasnt it being doing that for thousands of years? But why would someone make that up? There are many charts to go by. One more famous one taken from deep drilled ice samples, suggests that our temperature rises coincide with carbon emissions. This looks quite evident at a glance, yet some have pointed out that when superimposed on top of each other (Temp & Co2) the opposite seems to be true. In other words Co2 lags behind the temperature slighty indicating that it is infact the natural rise of temperature that affects the increase in Co2 and not the influence of us Humans and our dirty machinery. If your interested to learn more about this side of the coin you would not be the only one, infact there is thousands of scientists that say that this contrary to popular opinion is the real deal! check out some of the great global warming swindle videos for more on this intruiging debate.

Benjamin Fulford (2/20/08)

Written by Edward J. Murray

Rockefeller and Benjamin

This guy Benjamin Fulford , a Tokyo based Journalist (was with Frobes magazine for 8 years) from Canada, is comming under the spot light of many a conspiracy blog, along with the likes of rense.com and the digg effect, especialy after interviewing that old guy standing beside him, yes one of the richest most powerfull men in the world, David Rockefeller . Benjamin claims that he has joined the secret society in Japan and is protected by them, and therefore has the freedom of speach to more-a-less give a large slap on the hand to the big fish i.e the "Illuma-naughty" this includes rockefeller, some UN delegates, the banking system etc..

All because the lady loves milk tray, or in this case all because the shadow Asian goverment are sick of the western world holding the totalitarian whip and using underhanded war cloaks to get their missions acomplished, there is most definatley a threatening tone behind it in the form of Ninja assasins.

With Benjamin seemingly elected as some kind of spokesperson to get the "word out on the street", this could be easily brushed off as something of an attention seeking sensationalist, if it wasnt for the ammount of evidence he produces. Number 1. He Interviewed David Rockefeller, people dont "just get" that kind of gig, ya dig? And - The way he got it? Well, with a badge ofcourse, from a very high ranking freemason who is also a white Ninja assasin trained through US goverment but willing to turn on the big fish becasue they "understand" the situation and probably have a lot of alegence to their Ninja heritage (It takes that to be a true Ninja, i know this but i wont tell you how just now ;)

Are you confused? Its extreemly Intruging isnt it? Well thats why i tried to contact Benjamin in Japan, I think there is something to be said about this guy and i think there is some substance behind what he is saying, i suspect it may be slightly exagerated? But i certainly do not disbelieve it for a minuite, it sounds quite plausable, and secret societys in Asia are very tight, i know this becasue i am living here. Anyway Benjamin has not yet replied, but i have an ip that sais he looked at the site so maybe he is mulling it over, so come on the Show Benjamin if you get time we would love to hear from you i would do some secret hand gestures if i could but i can say im traveling from the west going to the east in search of light. Aside from that in my opinion i think this is a very positive message if proved to be true. Maybe he could have some new news for us now as i know for some of you Conspiracy buffs this is last years catch; but still good to get it out there right? In the Rockefeller interview he also brings up Ron Paul!

He was also mentioned on the Colbert Show (sorry cant find the video) whos son is also based in Tokyo also known as Governer Watts, infact i just missed him on his last trip to the Philippines . We emailed each other so next time your over Governer you know where to come ;)We brush off this topic also in the next show so stay tuned for that one on friday!

Oh Also Check out my Conspiracast plug on Tom Green! You see how it all ties in together now? "Save the cheerleader, save the world?"

Imagine meeting your heroes eh?

9/11 Truth (3/5/08)

Written by Edward J Murray

me with Prof David Ray Griffin

Well I cant get by far on a Conspiracy website without writing an article on this one, and I hope for some of you I can provide some useful information. I want to begin by showing you how many people claim that the official story is very questionable, just incase you havnt found it to be fishy in the first place. There is 1000's if not Millions in academia including some very respected professors that study this and some very actively publishing their work and pursuing scholarly endeavors regarding 9/11. For example physics professors and structural engineers questioning the way the towers collapsed. We need these guys they keep the speculation to a minimal and let the proof shine through facts. Heres Professor David Ray Griffin on one of his many lectures, I highly recommend his books, I met him in Ireland in 2007.

There is also a tonne of pilots for 9/11 Truth that believe there is no way those planes could have made the maneuvers mentioned, including by the way the actual pilot of flight 175 and 293, who obviously was not on duty that day. If that dosnt scream somethings wrong here to you then I shall just continue on.

There is now certain Stars going main stream trying to break through to the news including the latest oscar winning woman Marrion Cotillard (i just love the quaint spin the BBC gives it, "she really regrests saying it") and Charlie Sheen among others who are afraid to step up becasue they know this is "Big".

I want to personally give a shout out to the lads and ladies for 9/11 truth in Ireland who are doing some great work and still handing out leaflets at the GPO in O Conell street, Dublin, and confronting Gerry Adams, and talking with Micheal Tsarion and Alex Jones, who Im also trying to get for Conspiracast! come on AJ, we need you for this one ;)

There is simply too much evidence to mention here in one article but there is an emmense ammount of Documentarys online about it and it has become a vast debate on the internet with a great division of some still disbelieving, I think its because they havnt had or given the time to have studied it properly, although i certainly advocate getting both sides of the story, yet i have studied it long enough to know what side weighs heavier on this justice scale.

Some of the most common arguments against the official story are, (incase the reasons above are not enough for you) Proior to the attacks there was unusal evacuations for "security" reasons months and weeks leading up to the drastic day. The third building that collapsed WTC7 was a demolition, with recorded demolition terms as evidence to that effect, and the fact that it stood a lot to gain from the highest insurance policy ever taken out on a building months prior to the event by Larry Silverstein. Also the fact that no building in history ever collapsed due to fire with documented evidence as testimony, and yes even ones which other big planes flew into, infact some burned for days and where still standing. They also say a lot of people mysteriously didnt go to work that day and some have been brave enough to tell that they where warned not to.

There is insurmountable evidence as to explosions happening, from video and from survivors including one Janitor William Rodreguez who is still fighting along with thousands of families of lost loved ones who decided not to take the compensation and instead try to expose the truth. Some say There was also a man called John O' Neil put in charge of security of the WTC on sept 11, (who quit the CIA before becasue they would not listen to his informing inteligence on evidence collected on Osama) Replacing none otherthen Bushes brother Marvin Bush.

Some even say there where no planes and that the communication tower was on top of the wtc and it was rerouted under control and the media was superimposed, i know how crazy that sounds but until you have looked at the evidence for this yourself, i would encourage you not to dismiss it off the cuff because of how far fetched it may sound. In any case just ask yourself, would there be this much smoke without fire? I am not just one guy on the internet blogging about this, its world wide and its a massive movement growing ever bigger, the more people find out about it.

Incase you are wondering why would a “Country” would do that to itself, please be aware that false flag operations are a very common military tactic and have being going on for a long time, In secret agencys people infultrate and dress up to look like the other all of the time, as we also mentioned before Operation northwoods is one documented piece of paper from the 60’s declassified that is in-fact a very similar rendition to 9/11.

One things for sure the people that did this either want us to know who they are and that they are in control, or else they want this to be old news as fast as possible, so that they can continue to push their agenda. Do look at the debunker articles aswell, please be informed of both sides of the story, infact if you would like to write one for Conspiracast you are very welcome to do so, im sure you can do better then my sloppy style :)

But as long as you are looking at the evidence, then i have done my job well. Im not here to "care so you dont have to" ;) I want you to search for the truth and care too, sure life is too short, but it always has been, enormous change is among us, and its this new information that is the power, so please spread the word. Set up groups, debate about it, dont let this slide under old news and history like the rest of the dastardly deeds that sicken us about humaitys past, let us finaly not coward away from these elites, and show them whos really boss, have you ever watched A Bugs Life?

Concentration Camps (3/12/08)

Written by Edward J Murray

U.S Concentration camps

Camps are being built across the U.S. that can only be concentration camps. (Is this why they are working so hard to take away the guns?) Hawthorne, Nevada is the home of a large military bomb/explosive/missle facility. My travels take me through Hawthorne as I travel from Las Vegas to Reno quite often. In the span of the last several months, I have seen HUNDREDS of warehouses go up; like 7-8 hundred. These warehouses are surrounded by chain-link, razorwire fences and resemble every modern prison anyones seen. The warehouses are three story, a-frame roof, (resembling cell blocks for sure),no windows, and not wide enough to house any aircraft other than Cessna 172s.or similar small crafts. I cannot see room for elevators etc. for any type of bomb/missle storage handling. This bomb facility in Hawthorne is 99% underground bunkers.I dont think they are suddenly switching to above-ground bomb storage. Ill leave it to you to make any revelations and deductions. But first..... to this you must add the fact that MANY steel companies, including Gunderson Steel in Portland are secretly building rail cars reminiscent of the Nazis, complete with shackles and guard shacks at each end.. My information is: 11 companies are building these railcars. Should any of you have additional information on these cars or the camps, please e-mail me.. In the case of the camps, please try and provide location as precisely as possible and any other pertinent info.

The U.S. Army confirmed the validity of a memorandum relating to the establishment of a civilian inmate labor program under development by the Department of the Army. The document states, "Enclosed for your review and comment is the draft Army regulation on civilian inmate labor utilization" and the procedure to "establish civilian prison camps on installations."

Since the Senate hearings in 1975, the steady development of highly specialized surveillance capabilities, combined with the exploding computerized information technologies, have enabled a massive data base of personal information to be developed on millions of unsuspecting American citizens. It is all in place awaiting only a presidential declaration to be enforced by both military and civilian police.

In 1982, President Ronald Reagan issued National Security Directive 58 which empowered Robert McFarlane and Oliver North to use the National Security Council to secretly retrofit FEMA (Federal Emergency Management Agency) to manage the country during a national crisis. The 1984 "REX exercises" simulated civil unrest culminating in a national emergency with a contingency plan for the imprisonment of 400,000 people.

REX 84 was so secretive that special metal security doors were installed on the FEMA building's fifth floor, and even long-term officials of the Civil Defense Office were prohibited entry. The ostensible purpose of this exercise was to handle an influx of refugees created by a war in Central America, but a more realistic scenario was the detention of American citizens. actual facilities to house U.S. Citizens to be used as forced "slave" labor (prison inmate) work camps to produce goods for the elite and ruling classes. That was one of the major topics on Clinton's agenda when he visited China recently as he wanted to learn how the Chinese produce most of their mass produced products so cheaply.

There is one brand new camp near Las Vegas that is being used to train local police departments nationwide in urban warfare. Why do police need to be trained to conduct war against civilians? What are they planning for us?

On several websites, there are lists of over 300+ such camps and some show recent stages of construction and remodeling in scanned photos revealing 20+ foot high guard towers (where machine guns will be mounted), Chain link fences with razor wire strung out along the top, and buildings with huge gas pipes and conduits leading into windowless holding tank and prisoner cell buildings. That is for discussion of the Red and Blue lists, priority levels of U.S. Citizens who will be temporarily housed in the CCCCs for a short time until they are eliminated.

The Feds even have a specially constructed train with closable steel window Lonvers (air tight shutters). This train is designed to house dissident civilians enroute to huge air tight sealed structures for "fumigating." They won't even bother offloading the prisoners like Hitler did.

This is G o o g l e's cache of http://www.abovetopsecret.com/pages/camps.html.

There over 600 prison camps in the United States, all fully operational and ready to receive prisoners. They are all staffed and even surrounded by full-time guards, but they are all empty. These camps are to be operated by FEMA (Federal Emergency Management Agency) should Martial Law need to be implemented in the United States.The Rex 84 Program was established on the reasoning that if a mass exodus of illegal aliens crossed theMexican/US border, they would be quickly rounded up and detained in detention centers by FEMA. Rex 84 allowed many military bases to be closed down and to be turned into prisons.

Operation Cable Splicer and Garden Plot are the two sub programs which will be implemented once the Rex 84 program is initiated for its proper purpose. Garden Plot is the program to control the population. Cable Splicer is the program for an orderly takeover of the state and local governments by the federal government.

FEMA is the executive arm of the coming police state and thus will head up all operations. The Presidential Executive Orders already listed on the Federal Register also are part of the legal framework for this operation. The camps all have railroad facilities as well as roads leading to and from the detention facilities. Many also have an airport nearby. The majority of the camps can house a population of 20,000 prisoners. Currently, the largest of these facilities is just outside of Fairbanks, Alaska. The Alaskan facility is a massive mental health facility and can hold approximately 2 million people.

A person named Terry Kings wrote an article on his discoveries of camps located in southern California. His findings are as follows:

Over the last couple months several of us have investigated three soon-to-be prison camps in the Southern California area. We had heard about these sites and wanted to see them for ourselves. The first one we observed was in Palmdale, California. It is not operating as a prison at the moment but is masquerading as part of a water facility. Now why would there be a facility of this nature out in the middle of nowhere with absolutely no prisoners? The fences that run for miles around this large facility all point inward, and there are large mounds of dirt and dry moat surrounding the central area so the inside area is not visible from the road. There are 3 large loading docks facing the entrance that can be observed from the road. What are these massive docks going to be loading?

We observed white vans patrolling the area and one came out and greeted us with a friendly wave and followed us until we had driven safely beyond the area. What would have happened had we decided to enter the open gate or ask questions? This facility is across the street from the Palmdale Water Department. The area around the Water Department has fences pointing outward, to keep people out of this dangerous area so as not to drown. Yet, across the street, the fences all point inward. Why? To keep people in? What people? Who are going to be it's occupants? There are also signs posted every 50 feet stating: State of California Trespassing Loitering Forbidden By Law Section 555 California Penal Code. The sign at the entrance says: Pearblossom Operations and Maintenance Subcenter Receiving Department, 34534 116th Street East. There is also a guard shack located at the entrance.

We didn't venture into this facility, but did circle around it to see if there was anything else visible from the road. We saw miles of fences with the top points all directed inward. There is a railroad track that runs next to the perimeter of this fenced area. The loading docks are large enough to hold railroad cars. I wonder what they are planning for this facility? They could easily fit 100,000 people in this area. And who would the occupants be?

Another site is located in Brand Park in Glendale. There are newly constructed fences (all outfitted with new wiring that point inward). The fences surround a dry reservoir. There are also new buildings situated in the area. We questioned the idea that there were four armed military personnel walking the park. Since when does a public park need armed guards?

A third site visited was in the San Fernando Valley, adjacent to the Water District. Again, the area around the actual Water District had fences logically pointing out (to keep people out of the dangerous area). And the rest of the adjacent area which went on for several miles was ringed with fences and barbed wire facing inward (to keep what or who in?) Also, interesting was the fact that the addition to the tops of the fences were fairly new as to not even contain any sign of rust on them. Within the grounds was a huge building that the guard said was a training range for policemen. There were newly constructed roads, new gray military looking buildings, and a landing strip. For what?

Police cars were constantly patrolling the several mile perimeter of the area. From the parking lot of the Odyssey Restaurant a better view could be taken of the area that was hidden from site from the highway. There was an area that contained about 100 black boxes that looked like railroad cars.

We had heard that loads of railroad cars have been manufactured in Oregon outfitted with shackles. Would these be of that nature? From our position it was hard to determine. In searching the Internet, I have discovered that there are about 600 of these prison sites around the country (and more literally popping up overnight do they work all night). They are manned, but yet do not contain prisoners. Why do they need all these non-operating prisons? What are they waiting for? We continuously hear that our current prisons are overcrowded and they are releasing prisoners because of this situation. But what about all these facilities? What are they really for? Why are there armed guards yet no one to protect themselves against? And what is going to be the kick-off point to put these facilities into operation? What would bring about a situation that would call into effect the need for these new prison facilities? A man-made or natural catastrophe? An earthquake, panic due to Y2K, a massive poisoning, a panic of such dimensions to cause nationwide panic?

Once a major disaster occurs (whether it is a real event or manufactured event does not matter) Martial Law is hurriedly put in place and we are all in the hands of the government agencies (FEMA) who thus portray themselves as our protectors. Yet what happens when we question those in authority and how they are taking away all of our freedoms? Will we be the ones detained in these camp sites? And who are they going to round up? Those with guns? Those who ask questions? Those that want to know what's really going on? Does that include any of us? The seekers of truth?

When first coming across this information I was in a state of total denial. How could this be? I believed our country was free, and always felt a sense of comfort in knowing that as long as we didn't hurt others in observing our freedom we were left to ourselves. Ideally we treated everyone with respect and honored their uniqueness and hoped that others did likewise. It took an intensive year of searching into the hidden politics to discover that we are as free as we believe we are. If we are in denial, we don't see the signs that are staring at us, but keep our minds turned off and busy with all the mundane affairs of daily life.

The Rex 84 program is documented in the public record and civilian internment camps were publically admitted by Congressman Henry Gonzales in 1997. With the influx of of foreign military equipment into the United States as well as the Executive Orders registered on the Federal Register it would be impudent to ignore this information.

Also heres some You Tubes on it. Also check out http://www.apfn.org/apfn/camps.htm

My guess is an engineered outbreak of a man made virus like bird flue or similar, and the mainstream will probably report 5% of this epidemic ofcourse not reporting the man made or engineered part, plus they will praise fema for their prudence and foresight to have these "emergency" "quarantine" facilities. Either that or a faked asteroid event. They like to contract our "businesses" to do this work for them for example check out BLACKWATER

Thats What.

When? Good question.

Why? Well why ever? Why war?

Where? Heres a few spots http://i10.tinypic.com/6juou1f.jpg and this article mentions a few places aparantly they are still building so keep an eye out for the delivery trucks if you live near, and help fight the new world order.

FEED (9/16/08)

Uncategorized

I've noticed none of the feeds are working, and its seems to be because of a conflict between

PodPress 8.8 and WordPress 2.6!!
as you can see from the link below
watershedstudio.com/blog/2008/07/podpress-88-and-wordpress-26/

Anyway, Its a massive pain in the butt for loads of people not just here at conspiracast.

I have tried using a fix for no review plugin, but that dosnt seem to be working and its not possible to rollback to any previous version afaik.

So the best thing to do is just sit tight and stream or download from here for the moment until a proper update comes along.

Sorry for the inconveinient pain in the butt. Stay subscribed please, should blow over in time ;)

Moving Home (9/26/08)

Sorry, but I'll have to skip this weeks conspiracast - have been busy movin this week and there is Eff All research done - so it would just be me talkin shite without any cool links and stuff which would suck :P

Thanks for your mojo -

Also, never fear because mighty mouse is on his way for the feeds over at www.mightyseek.com/ so maybe next week everything will be hunky dory, keep feelin da love.

11. Who hosts the show?

Greg and Rob host The Paunch Stevenson Show. We grew up in Belleville, NJ, throughout the 1980s and 90s. Our education consisted of several public schools, which could have easily doubled for insane asylums. Some of our favorite toys were Transformers, He-Man and the Masters of the Universe, the Real Ghostbusters, Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles, the Atari 2600, the Nintendo Entertainment System, and the Super Nintendo Entertainment System.

Now, Greg is a computer systems analyst in NJ and Rob is a graphic artist in NYC. Both locations provide an abundance of dumb situations and people – and some nice ones, too – which we discuss on the show.

12. Who is Paunch Stevenson?

Who is Monty Python?

13. Do you have a MySpace page? Are you on YouTube?

Yes! Be our friend and help spread the word about the show:

Paunch on MySpace (Does anyone care about MySpace anymore? We certainly don't.)

Paunch on YouTube

As an alternative, you can subscribe to The Paunch Stevenson Show for free. To subscribe in iTunes, click here...or you can copy and paste our podcast RSS feed http://www.paunchstevenson.com/rss.xml into your RSS reader or "podcatching" program. New episodes will be downloaded automatically.

15. When did The Paunch Stevenson Show materialize?

We considered starting our own podcast way back in early 2005 and finally got off our butts and recorded a couple of practice episodes a few months later during the summer. Once we felt slightly more comfortable recording the show, we took the plunge and started producing official episodes in early October. The complete Paunch Stevenson Show web site was launched on October 31, 2005. (It had previously featured the teaser "Paunch is coming..." with a photo of a toilet.)

16. How come the sound quality in the earlier episodes is so bad?

We recorded the first episode of The Paunch Stevenson Show together in the same room. In fact, we shared one microphone. It sounded pretty good, but we realized traveling back and forth from NJ to NYC and vice versa every week would be inconvenient, so in episode 2, we started recording the show via the internet (Greg in NJ and Rob in NYC – Rob didn't move back to NJ until mid 2008). As a result, the sound quality in episodes 2 through 7 isn't that great. For some reason, Greg ended up sounding like he was talking on a telephone, which was weird and stupid.

Because we are geniuses, we came up with new, secret recording techniques that drastically improved the show's sound quality starting in episode 8. In episode 45, we finally started recording the show using Skype. We're constantly experimenting and fine-tuning the recording process and looking for ways to make the show sound better than ever.

17. Is there any Paunch Stevenson Show merchandise?

Yes! Currently, we have stickers and a few different t-shirts available to purchase online in our store. We'll eventually add better stuff, so keep listening to the show for updates.

18. What is a podcast and what is podcasting?

Podcasts, also referred to as internet radio shows or netcasts, are just regular audio files that are available online, but with one cool addition: listeners can subscribe.

Sure, you can visit The Paunch Stevenson Show web site every week and download our new episodes by hand, but if you subscribe, your computer will download new episodes automatically!

This might not seem like a big deal if you only listen to one or two podcasts, but if you have a bunch of favorites (The Paunch Stevenson Show, The Overnightscape, This Week in Tech, Windows Weekly, etc.), every new episode will be downloaded automatically, which is pretty convenient.

To subscribe to The Paunch Stevenson Show in iTunes for free, click here...or copy and paste our podcast RSS feed http://www.paunchstevenson.com/rss.xml into your RSS reader or "podcatching" program. It will download new episodes automatically.

You can listen to podcasts on any MP3 player or computer, not just ones made by Apple.

19. What if I have a question that isn't on this page?

Email it to us or post a comment anywhere on our site. We'll answer it, we promise.

Thanks for listening!

The Paunch Stevenson Show – Episode 0 (6/4/05) 29:40 [702] Since we're all now in the 10th year of the life sentence to The Paunch Stevenson Show, here's the oft mentioned aborted attempt at our first episode. It was riddled with audio distorted by the air conditioner in Greg's car, some profanity, and quite a bit of offensiveness which we apologize in advance for. Blame Esteban, he insisted we release this! *Recorded Saturday, June 4, 2005, in car driving around the Jersey Shore. In this episode: Nintendogs, officially released $40 pornography on Sony's PSP, Rob's awful roommate nightmare, seemingly never ending spew of bad shareware games on the Commodore 64, Japan's love of virtual pets and robots, and even more complaining.

The Paunch Stevenson Show - Episode 001 (10/31/05) 24:00 [701] In this episode: Minute Maid fruit punch, the book So You Want to Be a Dancer (1979) by William E. Cannell), a get-rich-quick scheme (Medieval Times Dinner and Tournament), Halloween, lame trick-or-treats, changes in girl's fashion, a local psycho (George and Jesus), a worthless mass communications course, George Takei, and more stupid styles.
