There must have been a better way, but after trying everything I can think of and failing even after consulting the online Audacity manual (as well as various Apple FAQs, etc.) I just gave up in favor of the tried-and-true voice recorder. Shambleshow Announcement

STAND BY FOR THIS IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

Coming soon: a new phase, new format, new era for The Shambleshow, starting with episode #103. The ongoing series hosted by Shambles Constant will be released on a frequent, semidaily basis, in episodes of roughly 30 minutes in length. Exact starting date has not yet been determined, but if all goes well it will be before the end of July. As of today (7/14/13) two shows have been recorded, and Shambles (that's me!) has been quite pleased with the results.

Meanwhile, the recordings from this year's vacation to Minocqua, Wisconsin will see release eventually, but will no longer be packaged as Shambleshows. They will now be released as episodes of Falling Cow in the Field.

The Tapestry series will return at some future date, but for now it's on hold.

Falling Cow Productions is excited to continue its association with the Overnightscape Underground. Now dance, merry listeners!

This is one of my favorite recording experiences ever. Join me as I take a long walk and record lots of talky-talk on a gorgeous Fourth of July back in 2011. There is so much about that day that I'd forgotten, and it was great to revisit it during the editing process. The original recording was about 3 hours and 21 minutes long; I had to cut a few bits out that would have revealed personal information about people I knew at the time or that had copyrighted music playing for too long to be considered fair use. So walk with me, talk with me, and awaaaaaaay we go. RFS 232. Radio Free Shambles #236: A Day in the Life (5/23/20) 55:44 [950] Here's a cassette I recorded 29 years ago, when I was 16. My then-friend Jay and I took my tape recorder to school and made an audio document of our day to be remembered forever more. Throughout the tape you'll hear various people referring to a fight between two girls, which as I recall never actually occurred but was fun to speculate about. That's my nephew Erik you'll hear toward the end. I released several portions of this cassette as part of The Shambleshow #7: KZ-93 back in 2012, but this is an improved remaster of the entire tape (minus a couple of brief cuts). You'll also hear very brief snippets of the music that was on the tape before I used it for this little project. RFS 236. Most of this tape was released as the central focus of The Shambleshow #20: Actors, but in remastering it I discovered that there were a few sections that for whatever reason were not included in that episode and that I had forgotten about. The title on the cassette is Archives, Part One, and I know there was a Part Two recorded the next day (4/14/94) but I have not been able to find it so I am assuming it is lost. RFS 237. Middle-Eight Dream State #1: (Just Like) Starting Over (5/16/21) 2:01:55 [962] CDC announcement about masks, late night trip to Meijer, new show – that's weird, Benny/McGee, derealization, is there life on other planets?, maladaptive daydreaming, Wendy's training video rap song, Grateful Dead, sleep schedule gone amok, movie review – Kids in the Hall: Brain Candy. M8D 001. Recorded 5/13/21 through 5/16/21.

Middle-Eight Dream State #2: Sasquatch Motorcycle (5/23/21) 2:38:01 [962] Saturday morning walk, weird headspace, places opening up, Jimbo got people involved, searching for a bathroom, weird dream generator, song that never ends and secret word, virus cases declining, fun run, movie review – The Map of Tiny Perfect Things, theatre performed in person, sitcoms set in the workplace, audio of techies getting sound equipment ready and actors doing mic checks, sunburn. M8D 002. Recorded 5/20/21 through 5/23/21.

Middle-Eight Dream State #3: Field Recording Box Set (12/31/22) 9:08:40 [981] I am reviving the Middle-Eight Dream State series, albeit under a different premise. Whereas Radio Free Shambles will continue to chronicle some of my day-to-day adventures, and Bumper Chain Cosmic carries on under its weekly schedule of collected found audio, Middle-Eight Dream State will contain longform and/or experimental material and will be released whenever seems appropriate to my weird creative impulses. Included in this episode: Minocqua Unabridged (recorded 7/2/2013) – the full recording which was released in severely edited experimental form as part of The Lost Minocqua Recordings; Arizona 1989 (recorded 6/2/1989 through 6/10/1989, starts at 3:39:37) – the audio portion of the video footage from the family trip to Tucson, Arizona when I was 14; and Springfield Adventure (recorded 7/10/2021, starts at 6:17:16) – my recording from a visit to the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library and Museum with my wife, daughter, and mother. M8D 003.

Middle-Eight Dream State #4: Insomniac (1/31/23) 1:30:06 [982] Middle-Eight Dream State is a series that contains longform and/or experimental material and will be released whenever seems appropriate to my weird creative impulses (or possibly once a month). This particular episode consists of a semi-random sound collage of clips from my personal archive of field recordings and audio journal entries. All of these clips are between three and five minutes in length (except the very last one which is about seven minutes), and most of this material has never been released on the Overnightscape Underground in any form. Recorded between 1987 and 2023, compiled 1/23/23. M8D 004.

Middle-Eight Dream State #5: Celebrations 1987-88 (11/5/23) 3:12:59 [992] Middle-Eight Dream State is a series that contains longform and/or experimental material and will be released whenever seems appropriate to my weird creative impulses (okay, so it's been a while). This episode is audio taken from an old VHS tape which I had converted to digital format about two years ago. It contains footage of a series of parties celebrating various birthdays, as well as two Christmases, with my family and two other families we were close friends with at the time. I was 12-13 years old during this period. The lighting wasn't always up to snuff, but naturally that doesn't concern us here at all. Portions of this audio have been released in Falling Cow Compendium and Bumper Chain Cosmic episodes, but this is the entire videocassette with all banter, laughter, and talky-talk intact. Recorded 11/13/1987 through 12/25/1988. M8D 005.

Keystone Victrola: Jack Benny, Set #1 (5/17/15) 2:00:12 [541] Starting a new series of Keystone Victrola episodes featuring OTR comedy shows arranged into sets. Keystone Victrola will alternate between The Jack Benny Program, Fibber McGee & Molly, and Lum and Abner (and quite possibly other OTR comedies as time goes on). This episode consists of the earliest Jack Benny episodes known to exist, originally broadcast in 1932 and 1933. These early Benny shows are a bit of a mixed bag, but there are glimpses of greatness and much of historical interest contained therein. Enjoy! ¶ Jack Benny, Set #1 (5/2/32-4/21/33) ¶ Jack's First Episode on the Radio (5/2/32), Review of 1932 (1/1/33) *, Bertha the Sewing Machine Girl (1/22/33) *, Mary Does "She Done Him Wrong" (3/31/33), Guest Edward G. Robinson (4/21/33) ¶ *Partial (all material that is known to exist)

Keystone Victrola: Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #1 (5/24/15) 2:45:45 [541] The earliest known episodes of Fibber McGee & Molly in existence, including a series of fragments from Marian and Jim Jordan's earlier Smackout program. Note the pre-McGee appearance of the Little Girl character (AKA Teeny). The first three McGee shows predate Wistful Vista and the wacky characters found there. ¶ Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #1 (1931-9/23/35), Smackout excerpts (1931), The Motorcycle Cop, the Judge, and Fibber (4/16/35), Hot Dogs and a Blowout (4/30/35), A Dip in the Ocean (7/15/35), The McGees Win 79 Wistful Vista (8/26/35), Anything to Get Out of Scrubbing the Back Porch (9/23/35)

Keystone Victrola: Lum and Abner, Set #1 (5/31/15) 1:16:26 [541] The earliest existing shows from Lum and Abner. Friday Night Sociable is one of my all-time favorite pieces of OTR audio. Lion Hunting is an "orphan episode" from an otherwise lost storyline. The oil well storyline was apparently being wrapped up at the start of 1935. From this point on a large percentage of episodes have been preserved for our enjoyment. ¶ Lum and Abner, Set #1 (1933-1/9/35), Friday Night Sociable (1933) , Lion Hunting (1934) , Selling The Oil Well (1/4/35), Squire Skimp President (1/7/35), Squire's Visitor (1/8/35), Oil Boom is Over (1/9/35)  ¶ *Partial (all material that is known to exist) ¶  One or more lost episodes followed this one in the original broadcast run

Keystone Victrola: Jack Benny, Set #2 (6/8/15) 2:00:00 [541] More episodes of The Jack Benny Program, all complete in the archives this time. Jack does some of his first movie parodies here, which will later become a staple of his program. The first existing birthday show comes along, and it is not (as will later become customary) Jack's birthday, but Mary's! Mary is a much different character at first: young, naïve, and not at all snarky. ¶ Jack Benny, Set #2 (6/2/33-12/10/33), Sherlock Holmes and King Kong Part 2 (6/2/33), Who Killed Mr. X (6/9/33), Mary's Birthday (6/23/33), Uncle Tom's Cabin (12/10/33)

Keystone Victrola: Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #2 (6/14/15) 1:57:45 [541] Some more very enjoyable Fibber McGee & Molly shows. Oh, that crazy Fibber, always tryin' to get away with sump'n 'r 'nuther. Heavenly days, McGee. The latter two episodes are the first two in the batch of 67 shows that had been missing from the archive and were recently rediscovered. In addition to Teeny the little girl, Marian Jordan also plays the fast-talking Geraldine at this point in the series. ¶ Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #2 (10/28/35-11/25/35), Halloween Party (10/28/35), Papering the Dining Room (11/4/35), Lighting the Furnace With Gasoline (11/18/35), Buying Vegetables At A Roadside Stand (11/25/35)

Keystone Victrola: Lum and Abner, Set #2 (6/19/15) 1:35:54 [541] More fun with Lum Edwards (Eddards) and Abner Peabody! We get to actually follow a continuing storyline (for the most part – there is a gap between 1/25/35 and 1/30/35). A little deception in launching their matrimonial bureau (the Match.com of its day) leads to Abner getting into hot water with the missus. Two Broken Arms aired on my pre-birthday, making its debut exactly forty years before I did. ¶ Lum and Abner, Set #2 (1/18/35-1/31/35), The Pine Ridge Matrimonial Bureau (1/18/35), Mail For The Matrimonial Bureau (1/21/35), Reading The Mail (1/22/35), Matrimonial Bureau Moves (1/23/35), Telegram For Abner (1/24/35), Abner To Meet Hortense (1/25/35) , Is Abner Having An Affair (1/30/35), Two Broken Arms (1/31/35) ¶ Partial (all material that is known to exist)

Keystone Victrola: Jack Benny, Set #3 (6/29/15) 1:53:53 [541] More fun with The Jack Benny Program! Some of this audio footage is of lower quality than I would hope, but it is all still a valuable part of old time radio history. Jack is starting to slow down his pace a bit, which is all to the good. Sponsored by Chevrolet (not Jell-O, Grape Nuts, or Lucky Strikes, those come later). Mostly fragments of shows here, although we do get portions of six consecutive shows from early 1934. ¶ Jack Benny, Set #3 (2/11/34-3/18/34) ¶ Miniature Women (2/11/34) *, Don't Live Right (2/18/34) *, My Life as a Floorwalker in Omaha (2/25/34) *, Duel in the Graveyard (3/4/34) *, Haunted House – Request Letter from John Dillinger (3/11/34) *, An Arizona Western – Play of the Golden West (3/18/34) * ¶ *Partial – all material that is known to exist

Keystone Victrola: Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #3 (7/2/15) 1:57:33 [541] We're seeing out 1935 (in the McGee chronology at least) in style! The McGees do some rampling on the streets of Wistful Vista, Christmas shopping at a local department store, arranging a rousing game of bridge, and ringing in the new year of 1936. It'll be loads of fun, I betcha! ¶ Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #3 (12/2/35-12/30/35) ¶ Man On The Street Radio Interviews (12/2/35), Christmas Shopping (12/9/35), The Bridge Game (12/16/35), New Year's Celebration (12/30/35)

Keystone Victrola: Lum and Abner, Set #3 (7/12/15) 1:38:18 [541] The old fellas have to pretend that Abner's arms are broken (it makes sense in context) while also selling special flashlights for Horlicks (an interesting parallel to a real-life advertising promotion on the part of the show's sponsor). Along the way they find themselves running against each other to be President of the Jotem Down Store, to be decided by write-in vote. Lots going on here… enjoy! ¶ Lum and Abner, Set #3 (2/1/35-2/12/35) ¶ Finance Reopening Of The Jotem Down Store (2/1/35), Horlicks Flashlights (2/4/35), More Letters Arrive (2/5/35), Who Will Be President (2/6/35), Lum Tells On Abner (2/7/35), Abner Collects From Insurance (2/8/35), Nervous Lum (2/11/35), Lum Arrested (2/12/35)

Keystone Victrola: Jack Benny, Set #4 (7/21/15) 2:02:20 [541] Welcome aboard, Don Wilson! The great radio announcer begins his twenty-year association with The Jack Benny Program. And here we have a bunch of fragments; in fact, only one of the seven episodes represented is complete in the Benny archives. The audio is of varying quality, but that's still better than no Benny at all! Enjoy. ¶ Jack Benny, Set #4 (4/1/34-5/18/34) ¶ Guest Alois Havrilla – The Eternal Triangle (4/1/34) *, First Show for General Tire – Frank Parker's Music Store (4/6/34), Bridge Game (4/13/34) *, New Hampshire Through a Keyhole, or Lord of the City (4/27/34) *, The Hills of Kentucky (5/4/34) *, Home Cooking at Don's (5/11/34) *, Jack is Taking a Taxi to the Studio – A Visit to the Parkers (5/18/34) * ¶ *Partial (all material that is known to exist)

Keystone Victrola: Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #4 (7/28/15) 2:00:39 [541] The McGee antics continue in these fun episodes from early 1936! ¶ Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #4 (1/13/36-2/3/36) ¶ Master of the Kennel (1/13/36), Running the Drug Store (1/20/36), McGee Tangles With a Tough Chef (1/27/36), Crime Expert McGee (2/3/36)

Keystone Victrola: Lum and Abner, Set #4 (7/30/15) 1:51:14 [541] All right, so there's a spoiler in the unofficial title of the last episode in this set. But don't let that stop you from enjoying the show! Step back in time with me to February 1935 in the lively little town of Pine Ridge. ¶ Lum and Abner, Set #4 (2/13/35-2/25/35) ¶ Dick Gets Lum Out Of Jail (2/13/35), Lum Is Winning (2/14/35), Campaign Posters (2/15/35), Restocking The Store (2/18/35), Squire Cashes Abner's Check (2/19/35), Newspaper Reports (2/20/35), Squire's Donation (2/21/35), Vote For Lum (2/22/35), Lum Wins (2/25/35)

Keystone Victrola: Jack Benny, Set #5 (8/7/15) 2:08:02 [541] Schlepperman! Sam Hearn will stick around for a few years. The show's format is resembling its more popular 1940s stylings more and more all the time, albeit with more corny jokes. In the last ten minutes of this collection Morton Downey, Jr. gets a surprise namecheck despite that he is not yet two years old. (Hint: it's more a reference to his singing father.) Jack, Mary, Don Wilson, and some other people star in these shows from 1934. ¶ Jack Benny, Set #5 (7/20/34-9/21/34) ¶ Who Killed Mr. Stooge Part 5 (7/20/34), The Stooge Murder Case Part 1 – to New York on the 20th Century Ltd. (8/3/34) *, The House of Rawchild (8/24/34) *, The House of Benny (8/31/34), School Days Part 2 (9/14/34) *,School Days Part 3 (9/21/34) * ¶ *Partial (all material that is known to exist)

Keystone Victrola: Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #5 (8/12/15) 1:57:43 [541] Today (8/12/15) is my tenth wedding anniversary, and it seems fitting that I release this collection of episodes from that great married couple (on-air as well as off), the McGees (AKA the Jordans). ¶ Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #5 (2/10/36-3/2/36) ¶ A Job in Grand Rapids (2/10/36), Visiting Fireman (2/17/36), Waiting for the Radio Repairman (2/24/36), ¶ Encyclopedia Salesman (3/2/36)

Keystone Victrola: Lum and Abner, Set #5 (8/24/15) 1:52:22 [541] We're coming up to the circus story arc, which may just be my favorite arc of early Lum and Abner. Radio Free Shambles is in hiatus until sometime in September – oh yeah, did I mention that?* – but we've got us some Keystone Victrola OTR fun and good times to give away. Roll up, roll up! ¶ * August has been a very busy month. ¶ Lum and Abner, Set #5 (2/26/35-3/8/35), The Jotem Down Store Reopens (2/26/35). Boss Abner (2/27/35), Ten Cases Of Wonder Soap (2/28/35), Squire Buys The Rights To The Soap (3/1/35), Divide The Store (3/4/35), Divide The Merchandise (3/5/35), Trader Abner (3/6/35), Trading With Snake (3/7/35), The Circus Comes To Town (3/8/35)

Keystone Victrola: Jack Benny, Set #6 (9/26/15) 1:20:13 [541] We've got us a few fragmentary episodes of The Jack Benny Program from almost exactly 81 years ago. Jell-O enters the picture and will bounce around here for several years (by the OTR history, that is). Radio Free Shambles is still on hiatus for the time being (although I recorded one in a dream I had last night). ¶ Jack Benny, Set #6 (9/28/34-10/28/34), Last Show of the Season – Rise of the House of Rawchild (9/28/34) *, First Show for Jell-O – Jack Benny, Grocery Store Owner Part 1 (10/14/34) *, Jack Benny, Grocery Store Owner Part 2 (10/21/34) *, The Bennys of Wimpole Street (10/28/34) * ¶ *Partial

Keystone Victrola: Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #6 (10/23/15) 2:00:14 [541] Heavenly days, it's me! ¶ Fibber McGee & Molly, Set #6 (3/9/36-3/30/36), Beware of Pickpockets on the Bus (3/9/36), Check Room Attendants (3/16/36), Spring Cleaning (3/23/36), A Room in the Hospital (3/30/36)

Keystone Victrola: Lum and Abner, Set #6 (11/13/15) 1:38:41 [541] More circus fun with Lum, Abner, Cedric, Squire, and whoever else shows up! ¶ Lum and Abner, Set #6 (3/11/35-3/20/35), Abner's

Falling Cow Compendium

2018-2021
Hosted by Shambles Constant

It was time to give Tapestry a name change, so here we go with a new series of found audio presentations. It's good to get a fresh start at something on occasion, keeps life from becoming stagnant, keeps us experiencing new things. So take a new journey through the universe of sound with every episode!

Blind Duncan's Blues, Chapter 1: Winter in Duncanworld (2-26-12) 4:20 [561] Blind Duncan's Blues by Arthur Jaz (aka Shambles) ¶ This is my first novel, Blind Duncan's Blues, which I completed in 2004 and am now releasing here upon an unsuspecting public. Blind Duncan's Blues is a novel consisting of interrelated short stories about a boy named Duncan Pierce. It covers various incidents in Duncan's life, ranging from the age of eighteen months through about eleven years. There are eighteen chapters in all, which will be released sporadically on Onsug.com. Read by the author. ¶ There are certain autobiographical elements to this book, but they mainly consist of general impressions of what it was like to be a child in the early 1980s in Illinois. I never had an older brother who made me eat cat food; my parents had a much happier and stronger marriage than Duncan's own folks; none of my teachers ever made me wear a dunce cap. The situations that arise for Duncan from being in a large family (as well as a dysfunctional one) I had to either steal from other people's experiences or fictionalize entirely. ¶ However, I did start writing stories at an early age, and I did play Santa Claus one year in the Christmas program. Most of the rest is fictionalized. ¶ I am currently working on a sequel, Bentleyville Tigers, which will be completed one of these days.

Great Moments From Lum and Abner

A compilation of some of my favorite clips from my favorite old-time radio program, Lum and Abner.

Great Moments From Lum and Abner, Part 1 (6/23/13) 1:01:39 [561] A compilation of some of my favorite clips from my favorite old-time radio program, Lum and Abner. First of four audio releases. I'm hoping these clips will give you a good idea who the varied characters are. Keep in mind that most of these characters were played by either Chester Lauck (Lum Edwards, Grandpappy Spears, Cedric Weehunt) or Norris Goff (Abner Peabody, Dick Huddleston, Squire Skimp, Mousey Gray, Ulysses S. Quincy, Doc Miller). These clips are taken from various storylines from the run of the series, but hopefully I've included enough that they can be easily followed outside of context of the episodes. The "two old fellows" manage the Jotem Down Store for most of the series, with the occasional side venture into some other business, including a movie theater, a circus, a bank, and a radio station, among many others. This collection just barely scratches the surface of this top-notch old-time radio program, which aired from 1933 to 1954. Oh, what a beauty day!

The Sounds of Disneyworld, Part 1 (3/27/14) 2:12:37 [561] Part 1 recorded 9/24/13 through 9/26/13. ¶ Shambles and the Constants explore Disneyworld! Includes Mad Tea Party, Enchanted Tales With Belle (I was cast as one of Belle's guards), Under the Sea, Buzz Lightyear's Space Ranger Spin, Walt Disney's Carousel of Progress, Space Mountain, and all sorts of other Magic Kingdom fun. ¶ Parts 2 and 3 coming soon to an Onsug near you.

The Sounds of Disneyworld, Part 2 (4/10/14) 2:34:08 [561] Part 2 recorded 9/27/13. ¶ Shambles and the Constants explore Disneyworld! This time we're at Epcot. Follow us from the front gate all the way through much of the park, and let's have fun! ¶ Part 3 coming soon to an Onsug near you. ¶ Not to be confused with Frank Edward Nora's Sounds trilogy.

The Sounds of Disneyworld, Part 3 (4/16/14) 2:25:50 [561] Part 3 recorded 10/2/13 and 10/4/13. ¶ Shambles and the Constants explore Disneyworld! We're back at Epcot, catching a few attractions we had missed before (and a revisit to Turtle Talk; the audience participation makes every visit with Crush a little different). Starting at about 1:05:51, and continuing for the next hour, you will hear an ambient soundscape as I walk all the way around the countries of the Epcot world. (In fact, I think I walked all the way around twice!) ¶ In the last ten minutes Jackie and I do The Sum of All Thrills, where you can design your own roller coaster track. Jackie wrote a report on this experience for school. She said she really enjoyed it, and her teacher said her report turned out great. ¶ This concludes the Sounds of Disneyworld Trilogy.

The Lost Minocqua Recordings, Part 1: Wisconsin Lottery Tickets (4/13/16) 25:53 [901] At long last the recordings from my trip to Minocqua, Wisconsin way back in July 2013 are finally beginning to see the light of day… well, in condensed edit form anyway. This is the first of a series of six episodes, each projected to be roughly a half hour in length, presented in a sort of audio collage. They will be released sporadically over the next month or two. Part 1 recorded 7/2/13, edited 4/9/16.

The Lost Minocqua Recordings, Part 2: The Rest of the Drive (4/17/16) 34:38 [901] More summer vacation fun with audio collage. Part 2 of 6. Recorded 7/2/13, edited 4/9/16.

The Lost Minocqua Recordings, Part 3: Fishing Kickball Casino (4/20/16) 28:36 [901] The audio collage continues as we arrive at our destination and engage in a variety of activities for the remainder of the day. Part 3 of 6. Recorded 7/2/13, edited 4/14/16.

The Lost Minocqua Recordings, Part 4: Shambleshow? (4/28/16) 44:00 [901] In which I roam around on my own in an odd state of vacation malaise. Much rampling contained herein. Part 4 of 6. Recorded 7/3/13, edited 4/20/16. ¶ Special note: Due to a scheduling snafu, there will not be another Lum and Abner Showcase episode released this week because I forgot to record one. Yeah, my bad.

The Lost Minocqua Recordings, Part 5: Paraded (7/12/16) 27:43 [904] We conclude this series (Part 6 has been cancelled due to substandard recording) with a sound collage of the Lac du Flambeau parade. Recorded 7/4/13, edited 7/4/16.

Shambles – Misc

2011-2018
Hosted by Shambles Constant

Assorted shows by Shambles.

Eighteen Eyes (2-5-12) 55:18 [561]

A new sound collage from Falling Cow Productions, created by Shambles of The Shambleshow. This collage is layered with old-time music (frequently manipulated for extra weirdness), a discussion panel from the Chicago TARDIS Doctor Who convention on November 25, 2011, and occasional intrusions of my field recording Water Fights at Angela's as well as other sounds. Embrace the randomosity!

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivs 3.0 United States License. Attribution: by Shambles – more info at onsug.com

Glass Parameters (3-20-12) 4:38:57 [561]

New from Falling Cow Productions, Glass Parameters is a compendium of old-time radio shows with a science fiction (for the most part) theme. Also featured are several songs recorded in the first half of the 20th century, a considerable amount of talky-talk from me (this is Shambles typing this, so I'm the me I mean), and perhaps another treat or two in here somewhere. And now the show notes:

Yearning, Just For You (Gene Austin, 1925), Glass Parameters Intro, And The Moon Be Still As Bright (Dimension X, 9/29/50), Ray Bradbury and other topics, Selections from Sunny Side Up (The Victor Light Opera Company, 1930), driving to work, The Blue Eyed People (Theater Five, 12/30/64), melanin, Brown Eyes, Why Are You Blue? (Nick Lucas, 1925), The Twilight Zone and other topics, clip from Attack of the Monsters (1969), DVD box sets of public domain films and other topics, Encountering New Race (Planet Man, 1950), where to find more Planet Man, Shine On Harvest Moon (The Southerners, 1930), preservation of pop culture and other topics, The Time Machine (Escape, 5/9/48), a brief word from Jackie, Sugar Lump (The Victor Military Band, 1914), The Time Machine and other topics, Queen of Space (Space Patrol, 11/15/52), rain, Love Me Tonight (Annette Hanshaw, 1929), stories in multiple forms of media and other topics, Meet John Smith, John (Quiet Please, 10/3/48), Glass Parameters Outro, Destination K.C. (Kansas City Seven, 1944).

And now the important texty-text about Creative Commons licensing and stuff like that:

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivs 3.0 United States License. Attribution: by Shambles – more info at onsug.com

And now (or any time at all, all you gotta do is call) you can listen to Glass Parameters. And I'll be there!

Wingless Animal (7/21/12) 1:09:04 [561]

Anytown, USA (4/16/13) 1:11:24 [561]

Sound collage of clips from many episodes of various American old-time radio comedies, arranged in random, haphazard, often repetitive fashion, then scrambled up again and again just for good measure. I did not listen to any of the clips (or even the episodes they came from) beforehand, so the resulting collage is as much a surprise to me as it is to you. Compiled 3/25/13.

Change Your Mind (11/27/17) 1:21:10 [920]

An old cassette tape consisting of music demos and rehearsals and random moments featuring my high school/college friend Jay, myself, and whoever else happened to be around. I do not play any instruments on this recording, nor would I have had any business doing so. I do sing on occasion (for which I apologize in advance); I also portray a couple of original characters in comedy bits, as does Jay. Several of the songs (marked with a *) contain lyrics I wrote. Recorded November 1994 through sometime in 1997.

Iteration (1/17/18) 30:57 [922]

Sound collage for your enjoyment, or at least tolerance. Random bits and pieces from a field recording at a local park event back in 2013, the most recent Tapestry episode, and the Highway 209 – Florida track from Onsug Radio provided the sounds for this one – sliced, diced, and pureed into the final product you will find here.

Timelines (1/22/18) 21:51 [922]

The main timeline splits off into two. One of them continues to run in the correct speed. The other one starts to slow down. When the first timeline ends, the second one increases its speed in hopes of finding out where the first one went.

Use of headphones is highly recommended for the full effect.

8 people 1 taxi? take 2! (1/31/18) 1:33:03 [922]

An old cassette tape consisting of music demos and rehearsals and improvised tunes featuring my high school/college friend Jay and some of his friends, performing as the band Jaycob's Ladder. I do not appear on this cassette; however, they do perform three songs for which I wrote the lyrics (Change Your Mind, After The Party, and Stephanie's Song). Recorded January and February 1999.

Barbecue Sauce (4/15/20) 56:54 [949] A collection of field recordings I made between 5/20/11 and 5/23/11. All clips were thirty seconds or less, compiled in the order in which they were recorded, mixed into two longer tracks to resemble a Side A and Side B. This sound collage was originally released on the Internet Archive on 5/28/11. Chadcast: Freaky Fried Friday of Jimbo and Chad – (5/20/16) 1:21:18 [902]

A cosmic event switches Chad and Jimbo resulting in a crossed up audio journal that serves as a diary of a day, and a historical record of the mixed up cosmic circumstances leading to this Freaky Fried Friday. It's electric.

JM: Got up at 5:54 am (muggy feeling, it's quiet, I see the big spider, the dogs stayed over – awaiting them to get up so I can take them out)

CB: woke up at 6:30 and my mom had left after visiting all weekend, I made cereal with fresh blueberries, my dogs like to line up to receive their one blueberry each morning. I made coffee with one artificial sweetener, drove to work and did'nt fall asleep driving

JM: Thinking hard about what to cook for lunch… (bone-in rib eye – cooked on the grill, baked potatoes, corn on the cob, or should I cook bacon cheeseburgers on the grill?)

CB: made it to work, turned on TV in guest area, fixed myself a big glass of water and grabbed a diet coke from the fridge, felt like i was going to fall asleep, stared at computer, Read media guide from magazine targeting municipal power companies. They have a lot of percentages and factoids that they are proud to share.

JM: Watched “Gunsmoke”; it was about “what the whiskey-drummer saw”. I enjoyed it very much as I also had Mentos candy, fruit flavored, although they were a bit stale. When I watch Gunsmoke, I always wonder how they keep getting around the fact that Kitty basically works in a brothel and Matt Dillon obviously indulges her every so often.

CB: picked my wife up for lunch, went to sonic, she had a BLT with cheese, tots and iced tea, I had a number one mustard burger, fries, and iced tea, we listened to dr laura make fun of her callers

JM: My favorite baseball team, the Texas Rangers, fisticuffs and bravado; a glorious sight for any fan who feels their team may have fallen asleep at the switch. I’ve just been reading about it and re-watching the fight. I felt like I was a part of the fight.

CB:came back from lunch and left early to go to autobody shop, the place where they fixed my car, wasn’t fixed right, some type of plastic clip was broken and the gap between panels look funny, they said they would order some parts. I went home and went to sleep.

JM: I drink my water out of one gallon plastic containers. The water does not have to be (and usually is not) cool or cold in any way shape or form. The water remains out and in handy access; always ready for me to quench my thirst

CB: I tried to record for central at my desk, using my gtrack, but it was all too complicated and made me feel like a prisoner to these devices, I turned it off and grabbed my portable recorder, the little red sony that I like, it has a flip out USB port and since it records in mp3, it makes it simple. But then I added some intro music and a soundFX bed in audacity.

JM; I enjoyed my lunch on the front porch. I somehow had a kernel of corn get into my nose today. After removing it, I saw a lizard walk over it.

CB: Laura came home, the dogs went crazy barking, then I cut some croissants in half with my Texas bread knife, always cut them cool, when they are warm, they get all pillow and cloud like, so I cut up a couple avocados and made some quick salt and pepper guacomole, it tasted great with the buttery bread.

Schlock Express: Ladies Night – (8/21/15) 30:44 [791] This edition of the 'Schlock Express' focuses on the fairer sex, looking at Lindsay Shonteff's two low budget movies featuring lady private eye Harriet Zapper, before finishing up with Italian jungle exploitation classic 'Tarzana the Jungle Girl'.

Schlock Express – B Movie Britain (9/17/15) 47:09 [791] This time the Schlock Express travels deep into the heart of B Movie Britain, where we meet The Projected Man, find out if The Earth Dies Screaming and have a close encounter with The Terrornauts as they abduct a 'Carry On' star. Along the way we'll meet some of Britain's top schlock producers, Hammer's fallen idol in exile Terence Fisher and his excursions into B Movie Britain and pass through Merton Park studios, spiritual home of British Schlock.

Schlock Express – Nasty Videos (10/28/15) 1:05:56 [791] This time we journey into the murky world of 1980s direct-to-video releases, the last resort of Britain's beleaguered exploitation film industry. Taking in sex crazed killer computers, video nasty inspired psycho-killers and brutal gang warfare in Manchester's clubland, we explore the careers of three of the UK's most prolific, yet least known, film makers. From down-on-his-luck old pro Derek Ford via low budget maestro Michael J Murphy, the Express winds its way to the lost movie making empire of the legendary Cliff Twemlow.

Schlock Express – Where the Spies Are (11/30/15) 36:06 [791] To celebrate the release of a new James Bond movie, we look into the world of 007 knock offs, with the Schlock Express making a dangerous journey to wherethe spies are. From sun drenched Portugal, where TV's Dr Ben Casey battles porn obsessed villain Hammerhead and his crew of British character actors, via a global quest to discover whether Jaguar Lives, we wind up in Italy to check whether it's OK Connery as we follow the excapades of Sean's plastic surgeon, hypnotist, secret agent and jobbing builder brother. Along the way, we'll try to ascertain just what it is that makes the real Bond, well, Bond.

Schlock Express – Slap and Tickle (2/22/16) 41:01 [791] The Schlock Express journeys back to seventies Britain to investigate the evolution of the British sex comedy. From the 'ripped from the headlines' of the 'Sex Clinic', we join Scotland Yard's investigation into the nefarious activities of 'The Sex Thief' before getting 'Spaced Out' in a tale of alien abduction by tinfoil spaceships. Along the way, we uncover 007's sex film connections and Bob Saget's 'appearance in a sex comedy.

Schlock Express – Black Magic (5/25/16) 36:06 [902] Join the Schlock Express as it journeys into the dark world of occultism and black magic. This time around we take a look at the way witchcraft has been portrayed by exploitation cinema. Along the way we'll see Ian McShane hallucinating that he is a bear in an obscure seventies fable of witchcraft among the jet setters, learn the naked truth about the dark arts in an over earnest faux documentary, before watching cinematic magic as Italian occult Mondo gold is transmutated into all American witchcraft Schlockumentary!

Schlock Express – London Swings (12/18/16) 39:18 [909] The Schlock Express takes a journey back in time, to the so-called 'Swing London' of the late sixties and early seventies. But did London really swing? Italian 'Mondo' movie 'Naked England' gives us an outsider's look at 'Swinging England' – free drugs, transvestites, violence, happenings and lots and lots of nudity – before we turn to three of the titans of British celluloid sleaze to give us the gutter level view of the era. Sex killers stalk the swinging scene in Lindsay Shonteff's 'Night, After Night, After Night', teenagers find themselves ruthlessly exploited in the groovy capital city in Pete Walker's 'Cool it Carol' whilst the 'Groupie Girl' uncovers the seedy side of the pop scene in Derek Ford's sexploitation classic Schlock Express – The Horrors of it All! (4/18/17) 33:42 [913] The Schlock Express is back on the rails and heading back into the seventies to explore the evolution of British horror movies. From the prehistoric terrors to be found of the 'Horror Express', through the freak shows and experiments of 'The Mutations' to the brain eating, electric drill brandishing cannibal grannies of 'Frightmare', we take a journey from English Gothic horror traditions, through sex, nudity and Soho to urban gore and the proto slasher movie. It's all here: Telly Savalas chewing up the scenery, Tom Baker as you've never seen him before and little old ladies' cracking open skulls to get at the brainy goodness within! So jump aboard the Schlock Express now!

Schlock Express: Mondo Soho (1/8/18) 37:00 [922] The Schlock Express is back on the rails, taking a look at London's Soho in the sixties through a Mondo lens, courtesy of three classic 'shockumentaries'. First stop is a trek through the 'West End Jungle' and its clip joints, photography 'clubs' and escort agencies. We also see 'London in the Raw', with its vista of East End pubs, West End clubs, meths drinkers, drug addicts, cat food eating beatniks and hair transplants. Finally, we confront 'Primitive London' and its tribes of mods, rockers and beatniks, horrible murders and factory farming.

Schlock Express: Italian Style! (8/15/18) 33:28 [929] The Schlock Express goes on a continental summer excursion to take in the sights of classic Italian exploitation movies. Watch as beautiful women are urged to Strip Nude for Your Killer in possibly the sleaziest Giallo ever made, while the Doc muses on the sexual politics of seventies slasher movies. Rogue cops, meanwhile, Live Like a Cop, Die Like a Man as the 'polizioteschi' genre goes psycho. Finally, The Wild Beasts, the bastard mutant offspring of the Mondo movie and, well, God knows what, sees drugged up zoo animals invade the streets of Frankfurt in some of the most irresponsible film making in the history of exploitation!

Schlock Express: Psychedelic Heist (9/30/18) 28:57 [930] Travel back in time with the Schlock Express to examine a trio of swinging sixties psychedelic heist movies. Watch silver fox Stewart Grainger battle killer nuns as he tries to get to the bottom of 'The Trygon Factor'! Thrill to the psychedelic antics of Italian anti-hero Diabolik as he robs the establishment and keeps it all in his far out hideout! Finally, gasp as middle aged drop out 'Duffy' conspires to commit a sea going groovy bullion heist! Along the way, we'll ruminate over how the swinging sixties mythologised itself and the morality of movie heroes!

Schlock Express: The Devil's Work (2/27/20) 30:51 [947] The Schlock Express is back to look at cinematic portrayals of the Devil and all his works. We kick off with a continental excursion to get 'Nude for Satan', followed by some home counties deviltry with 'Satan's Slave', before winding up by looking into 'The Eye of Satan', another ultra low-budget outing from Cliff Twemlow and his merry Manchester direct-to-video crew.

Schlock Express: Space Oddities (5/21/20) 35:17 [950] Schlock Express is back with a no-frills lockdown episode. From plastic bikinis and clunky robots to space heroes with drawn on moustaches, we take a look into the wild world of Italian Star Wars knock offs. ¶ Kicking off with The Humanoid and its cast of James Bond veterans, we move on to possibly the high point of this sub-genre with the magnificently surreal Starcrash before plumbing the depths with Alfonso Brescia's poverty stricken space opera, Star Odyssey.

Schlock Express: Fun With the Living Dead (1/28/25) 43:48 [1006] Doc Sleaze is back with his 'other' show (after a lengthy hiatus) for some 'Fun With the Living Dead'. So, board the 'Schlock Express' for a journey through a selection of seventies and eighties zombie movies which all take radically different approaches to the living dead. From shambling Voodoo monsters to respectable – but dead – citizens and from the graveyards of Old England to the coastal resorts of New England, join our journey through four different perspectives on the zombie.

Schlock Express: Cannibal Capers (3/18/25) 50:00 [1008] Doc Sleaze welcomes you back on board the 'Schlock Express' for some 'Cannibal Capers'. This time around we explore the bizarre world of the Italian cannibal movie, including a softcore/cannibal crossover, before taking a look at some foreign attempts to cash in on this most Italian of exploitation genres, including an entry that draws on the UK's own cannibal story traditions.

Schlock Express: No Justice For Vigilantes (6/27/25) 1:01:06 [1011] We're back on the Schlock Express to explore the world of low-rent vigilante movies, looking at the difference between rogue cops and vigilante cops enroute. A selection of eighties titles gives us a chance to explore the idea of Vietnam as a causal factor in urban vigilantism, lady vigilantes fighting for the kind of feminism that male viewers of this schlock can cheer on and a fake sequel to a non-existent original.

DS – 1: A Man Called Sleaze (12/22/17) 36:25 [909] A new start for Doc Sleaze incorporating some musings on the nature space, time and identity with regard to the web. While special guest Hillbilly Joe composes a theme song and tells us of how the Good Doc helped Cletus triumph against all odds in the Fuckle County 'King of Filth' contest, the Doc himself asks: 'Who is Doc Sleaze?' Will answers be forthcoming? Probably not, but that doesn't stop Doc from asking the questions.

DS – 2: The Myth of the Perfect Christmas (12/24/17) 39:54 [921] Season's greetings and goodwill to all!

Christmas past and present collide as Doc Sleaze's musings on modern festivities are contrasted with archive recordings of Christmas 1940 in war torn London (including part of the real King's Speech). While the Doc dissects the 'Myth of the Perfect Christmas', battles Christmas shoppers and settles down to enjoy some seasonal TV, 1940 Londoners prepare to enjoy a rationed Christmas in the air raid shelters. (Music: 'Sleaze's Greetings' by Doc Sleaze via Music Maker Jam).

DS – 3: Between Two Bank Holidays (12/31/17) 37:19 [921] Caught between Christmas and New Year Bank Holidays, Doc Sleaze ponders the paradoxes of January Sales in December, online shopping and the neediness of the web and why it has to make everything personal. Meanwhile, 'Behind the Blue Door' – the most insightful Dr Who podcast on the net – investigates, with the aid of the Alternative Doctor Who Appreciation Society, the "Doctor Who Never Was". Finally, Big Ben chimes us into the New Year. Music: 'Sleaze's Greetings (New Year Remix)' by Doc Sleaze via Music Maker Jam.

DS4: Doubled Up (1/30/18) 1:01:29 [922] Bela Lugosi Meets a Brooklyn Gorilla! Zombies on Broadway! Watch Out, We're Mad! From Lewis and Martin impersonators to the fake Terence Hill and Bud Spencer, a look into the world of fake movie double acts – and their doubles!

DS5: A Kind of Limbo (3/1/18) 42:18 [924] The Doctor's Wife (1953) extols the virtues of Ex Lax as part of our meditation on illness and medicine. Dire diagnoses! Sickening side effects! Weird dreams and witchcraft by e-mail! Hairy feet as the key to health! All part of a general rumination on the limbo long term sickness can leave us in!

DS6: Tea and Terror (4/23/18) 37:45 [925] Ripped from the headlines! Doc Sleaze risks life and limb to uncover the truth about the recent nerve agent attack on his hometown! Was it all a 'false flag' attack by the local Chamber of Commerce to drum up tourism business? ('Tea and Terror' tours, anyone?) Local TV and police responses – caught on the hop? Are the Russians out-sourcing assassinations? The role of SPECTRE. Is the UK being held to ransom? The investigation is conducted with assistance from The Satan Bug (1965), 7 Golden Women Against Two 07 (1966), Assignment K (1968), Special Mission Lady Chaplain (1966), Agent For H.A.R.M (1966) and Secret Agent Super Dragon (1966).

DS7: Taking Back the Streets (From the Street Entertainers) (6/29/18) 33:15 [927] Desperate to put out a new episode, Doc Sleaze raids his blog for some recent musings on pop culture. Pausing only for an altercation with a living statue, our fearless host ponders the problems of the rogue paperwork generated by maverick cops before dissecting so called 'must see TV' and posing the question of whether Netflix is the true descendent of Universal Pictures B Movie unit? Finally, having declared that modern pop culture is rubbish, we explore some unpopular opinions on supposed pop culture classics. Guest appearances from Clint Eastwood, Boris Karloff, John Carradine and Lon Chaney Jr.

DS8: Shooting Wars (7/7/18) 32:59 [928] The world of war movies examined, anachronistic equipment fighting on both sides and shooting conventions. New movies from old! The use of 'cut and paste' techniques explored – watch Tobruk become Raid on Rommel and 633 Squadron transform into Mosquito Squadron. Republic serials and TV shows using second hand footage. Italian war movies and recycled props and footage. Strategic support provided by Tobruk (1967), Raid on Rommel (1971), Mosquito Squadron (1969) and Eagles Over London (1969).

DS9: The Wrestling (10/25/18) 49:20 [931] British wrestling remembered. The Doc recalls the halcyon days of 'The Wrestling' in the 1970s. Kent Walton, Dickie Davies and 'World of Sport'. Every Saturday at Four O'clock – The Wrestling. Mick McManus, Big Daddy, Giant Haystacks and Jackie 'Mr TV' Pallo remembered. Les Kellett – hardest man in British wrestling. Brian Glover and Pat 'Bomber' Roach: from wrestling ring to film and TV. Was it all fixed? Audience participation. WoS – British TV wrestling reborn? The immortal Kent Walton signs us off.

DS10: Ghost Stories (11/30/18) 45:24 [932] As the nights draw in and Winter approaches, we gather around a crackling fire to recount (and sometimes debunk) tales of ghost ships, while the master of the ghost story, Algernon Blackwood himself, joins us to tell his chilling tale 'Lock Your Door'. Why do ghost stories continue to fascinate us? Does everyone have a ghostly experience to share? Where are the modern ghost stories of the haunted world wide web? ¶ (Apologies for the quality of the Algernon Blackwood segments – they are audio from a 1949 short film, now in the public domain).

DS11: A Merry Christmas and Custard! (12/23/18) 44:40 [933] After being visited by three ghosts, Doc Sleaze learns to embrace the true spirit of Christmas. Hearing that a Christmas pudding containing £80 in silver sixpenny pieces has been stolen from a local orphanage, the Doc sets off in pursuit of the thieves, braving the perils of mince pie throwing carol singers, a suicide bomber Santa and nearly drowns in custard. This synopsis probably bears no relationship to the actual content of this broadcast – except that it is about Christmas and carols are sung. Merry Christmas (with custard).

DS12: Commercial Break (1/31/19) 58:08 [934] Doc Sleaze recalls his youth via the medium of TV commercials, providing a commentary on a series of UK television ad breaks from 1967 to 1982. We chart the development of the TV ad, the changing product mixes advertised on TV and even encounter the odd celebrity endorsement. Dudley Moore assures us that size isn't everything while Arthur Fowler from 'East Enders' tries to convince us that that Britain's most reviled car is actually cutting edge. Talking chimps, Martian robots and many more bizarre spokespeople try to sell us stuff they just wouldn't advertise on TV any more.

Doc Sleaze: Automating Fascism (2/27/25) 38:23 [1007] Elon Musk comes under the microscope as we explore his family connections to Ernst Stavro Blofeld and investigate his plans to automate fascism. Also, did the UK government try to produce a race of super immigrants by irradiating chapatis in the sixties? Plus, obscure movie talk encompassing 'Psycho Biddy' sub-genre, 'Emmanuelle' imitations and futuristic nudie movies. Includes: X is Not Enough ¦ 'The Curious Female' (1969) Trailer ¦ Movie in Brief – 'The Curious Female' (1969) ¦ Conversations on a Train ¦ Case of the Radioactive Chapatis ¦ 'Die, Die, My Darling' (1965) Trailer ¦ The Persecution of Youth? Doc Sleaze: Psycho Nation (3/31/25) 48:05 [1008] As a new age of American fascism dawns, Doc Sleaze explores his theory that the US elected a psychopathic fascist as president because they are a nation of psychopaths. The Doc also gives short shrift to media attempts to rationalise the chaos of the Trump administration, lectures the UK press on its inability to grasp the principles of democracy and looks into the UK right's obsession that foreign criminals are 'crowding out' indigenous villains. Plus, we get a preview of where the US is heading via some news from the future and look at low budget seventies exploitation movies. Patrick Stewart is on hand to soothe outraged American listeners (yeah, I know that nobody ever listens to these shows) with his dulcet tones. Includes: Patrick Stewart Reassures Americans ¦ Target: Trump ¦ 'The Ultimate Warrior' (1975) Trailer ¦ Movie in Brief – 'The Ultimate Warrior' (1975) ¦ News From the Future ¦ Psycho Nation ¦ More News From the Future ¦ 'They Come Over Here, Stealing Our Crimes…' ¦ 'Malibu High' (1979) Trailer ¦ Forgotten Film – 'Malibu High' (1979) ¦ News From the Future Again ¦ Democracy Misunderstood ¦ 'No Means No…' ¦ Rationalising the Irrational ¦ The Wisdom of Patrick Stewart

Doc Sleaze: It Definitely Didn't Happen to Me! (4/30/25) 57:20 [1009] By decree of Donald J Trumper, this is a politics free edition. Well, maybe. This time around, Doc Sleaze's natural scepticism is put to the test as he ponders as to why he has never been invited to join the local coven and why weird phenomena never happen to him, either. Also included, an excursion into classic British smut and the sexual orientation of the Tate brothers. Little Miss Strange brings us some entirely deniable celebrity scandal and gossip in 'Total Bollocks' and we drop in on edition of 'Action Business Bulletin' to examine the impact of US tariffs. Plus a couple of slimy monster movies discussed. Includes: Donald J Trumper's Content Guarantee ¦ Natural Born Sceptic ¦ Forgotten Film – 'From Beyond' (1986) Including Trailer ¦ Total Bollocks with Little Miss Strange ¦ Local Evil ¦ Action Business Bulletin – Monster Markets ¦ It Definitely Didn't Happen to Me ¦ Forgotten Film – 'Hunchback of the Morgue' (1972) Including Trailer ¦ More Total Bollocks with Little Miss Strange ¦ Getting Straight (Out of the Closet) ¦ 'Carry on Camping' (1969) Trailer ¦ Authentic British Smut ¦ Sid James Has the Last Laugh

Doc Sleaze: Fear and Loathing at the Supermarket (5/26/25) 46:04 [1010] Another dose of nonsense from Doc Sleaze who, this time around, looks at the frustrations of being a journalist on a right-wing newspaper when your idols are in power, but deeply unpopular. Also, who has the biggest 'rocket' with which to blast women into space? Plus, an investigation into the decline of the Great British Bank Holiday, fear and loathing at the supermarket and how to get thrown out of heaven, female-led exploitation films, listener's letters, celebrity gossip and more. Doc Sleaze: Is Your Neighbour a Witch? (5/30/25) 56:17 [1010] Another edition of the best podcast you've never bothered listening to! This time around you'll be missing some ruminations on circuses without animals, unnecessary movie remakes and the madness of King Trump. You'll also miss Doc Sleaze's musings on when a hermit becomes a recluse, some hauntingly insane exploitation films and the wild, wild world of tabloid hate. Plus, invaluable advice on how to tell if your neighbour is a witch, while Little Miss Strange has her own celebrity experience and more. So go on, break the habit of a lifetime and actually give it a listen! Includes: The Circus Comes to Town! ¦ Total Bollocks with Little Miss Strange ¦ The Wild, Wild World of Tabloid Hate ¦ Movies in Brief – 'The Uninvited' (1944) inc trailer ¦ Have You Been Shagged by a Spy? ¦ A Hermit's Life for Me ¦ Commercial Break – Accidents4U ¦ Avoidance Tactics ¦ Celebrity Bollocks with Little Miss Strange ¦ The Madness of King Trump ¦ Forgotten Film – 'The Black Cat' (1989) inc trailer ¦ Is Your Neighbour a Witch? ¦ Unnecessary Remakes ¦ Closedown

Doc Sleaze: Transactional Jesus (6/30/25) 56:51 [1011] This the description you aren't going to read for another show you won't bother listening to! So you won't know that you'll be missing a look at what form a modern Second Coming might take – will it be 'Miracles for Money' from a Transactional Jesus? Also, a contemporary take on Dracula, seventies interpretations of two classic monsters and an investigation into what religion offers the modern consumer. Plus, Dr John gives us some medical advice, we want to know if you've been shagged by a celebrity and more. Includes: Dracula Today ¦ Movie in Brief – 'The Boy Who Cried Werewolf' (1973) (inc trailer) ¦ Dr John's Surgery – The Scorching Wind ¦ Exploring the Mundane ¦ The Wind That Burns ¦ Transactional Jesus ¦ 'It's a Rip Off' – God Botherers ¦ The Criminal Classes ¦ Movie in Brief – 'Dr Frankenstein on Campus' (1970) (inc trailer) ¦ 'Have You Been Shagged by a Celebrity?' ¦ Going Backwards

Doc Sleaze: The Great Artificial Intelligence Swindle (7/29/25) 41:16 [1012] This time around we put AI – and those who create it – under the microscope and ask 'Is it all a scam?' Plus, stop worrying about Epstein and that list – he never existed, so couldn't have had a client list which Donald Trump couldn't be on. Also, man eating plants and bizarre jungle adventures – more obscure schlock movies examined. In between all of this, Ash Dieback and Diane Butz take a deep dive into the question of 'Is meat murder?' Includes: There is no Epstein! ¦ Ash Dieback and Diane Butz discuss 'Is Meat Murder?' ¦ More Billionaire Idiocy ¦ More from Ash and Diane on militant vegans ¦ Movie in Brief – 'The Blood Suckers' (1967) ¦ 'Is Meat Murder?' Doc Sleaze: Toward a Unified Conspiracy Theory (7/31/25) 49:24 [1012] Doc Sleaze gropes toward formulating a theory which can tie together and reconcile all existing conspiracy theories, but gets side tracked into contemplations about classic British war movies, bad remakes and reboots of classic film and TV properties and unpopular opinions as free speech. Plus, a classic B-movie horror double bill recreated, the winner of 'Have You Been Shagged by a Celebrity?' competition, a look at some classic British soap operas and more. Includes: Unpopular Opinions and Free Speech ¦ Shagged by a Celebrity ¦ Understated Stoicism – Some Thoughts on the Classic British War Movie ¦ Soft Soap (Part One) ¦ Another Unnecessary Remake ¦ Movie in Brief – 'The Deadly Bees' (1966) inc trailer ¦ Commercial Break ¦ Toward a Unified Conspiracy Theory ¦ Movie in Brief – 'The Vulture' (1966) inc trailer ¦ Soft Soap (Part Two) ¦ Voyeur With a Camera

Nothing is Real #1 (11/7/24) 40:11 [1004] The first of an occasional series created with AI tools, beginning with 'Sleaze Talk', a chat show where two guest experts discuss a selection of stories from my site The Sleaze. ¶ Herb Herzheimer introduces Ash Dieback and Diane Butz as they discuss allegations of cannibalism at a burger bar, underground monkey abuse rings and look into the conspiracies surrounding the attempted assassinations of Donald Trump. ¶ Ash Dieback and Diane Butz appear via NotebookLM, a Google utility that analyses sources in a variety of formats and produces digests, reports and an AI generated audio discussion between two AI characters. ¶ Herb Herzheimer and the other characters appearing in this edition were created via Textspeakpro, a text to speech service which offers a range of AI characters. ¶ In the unlikely event that anyone is interested in checking the accuracy of the NotebookLM generated discussions, the original sources for the Ash Dieback/Diane Butz segments are as follows: All Flesh is Meat ¶ Spanking the Monkey ¶ I Shot Trump

Nothing is Real: Christmas Special (12/22/24) 20:09 [1005] In a special edition of 'Sleaze Talk', noted festive experts Ash Dieback and Diane Butz investigate the phenomena of so called 'Rogue Santas' – the fakes who can ruin kiddies' Christmases, scarring them for life. From shopping malls to department stores to rip-off Christmas theme parks, these low life Santa impersonators are a blight on our seasonal cheer.

Nothing is Real #2 (4/26/25) 39:36 [1009] Another of our occasional series created with AI tools, this time presenting 'Ghost Talk', a chat show about ghosts, apparitions and hauntings where several guest experts discuss a selection of supernatural stories culled from my site The Sleaze. ¶ Jules Bidet introduces Dr Keith Uppock discussing the reign of terror of a resurrected Victorian ghoul in contemporary London, while paranormal experts Ash Dieback and Diane Butz discuss a series of bizarre modern day hauntings in Britain's New Towns and housing estates. Finally, resident agony aunt the Reverend Leonard Fanny tries to get to the bottom of a listener's ghostly experiences.

Into the Time Warp #1 – Doomsday Picnic (3/31/18) 1:22:29 [924] Gildy and Leila confront their mortality in two episodes of The Great Gildersleeve from 1946. Dave in Kentucky provides background and commentary, and explains why these episodes are still relevant to our lives today. ¶ Theme song, 1st verse: "Man, I'm sick of this bathtub gin! Put the 21st Amendment in! I made a quantum leap into a time warp! Get my Congressman on the phone! I'm tired of subsidizing Al Capone! I made a quantum leap into a time warp! While we've been caught in this Prohibition, the Reds are plotting some new sedition. Hitler's takin' over in Berlin, I'm a-drinkin' this bathtub gin, and I'm a-doin' that rag, doin' that Time Warp Rag!"

Into the Time Warp #2 – Dueling Propaganda (6/1/18) 1:38:33 [927] Mr. and Mrs. Piper ("The Couple Next Door") fight for the right to teach their own version of history to their kids. When this conflicts with the official narrative of the state, the forces of government, media, society and big business unite against them. Dave in Kentucky uses the ensuing propaganda war as an excuse to present his own version of the truth. But that's okay, because his propaganda is true! ¶ Theme Song, 2nd verse: "Mussolini's got the trains on time! FDR had best get off the dime! I made a quantum leap into a time warp! I lost a million when the market crashed! I can't remember where the rest is stashed! I made a quantum leap into a time warp! While we've been starting this Great Depression, the Reds are plotting an insurrection. The market's takin' it on the chin, I'm still drinkin' my bathtub gin, and I'm a-doin' that rag, doin' that Time Warp Rag!" ¶ Show Art: Peg Lynch & Alan Bunce as Mr. & Mrs. Piper, the Couple Next Door.

Into the Time Warp #3 – Resurrections (8/10/18) 1:43:15 [929] Dave in Kentucky resurrects the subject matter of "Themes Like Old Times #5" in this special crossover episode, which includes the resurrections of: (1) Mary Lamont, (2) the Dr. Kildare series, and (3) Lew Ayres' career. ¶ Theme Song, 3rd verse: "Thought I was stuck in 1933! 1940's lookin' good to me! I made a quantum leap into a time warp! Won't never drink no more bathtub gin! Gee, I hope that Wendell Wilkie wins! I made a quantum leap into a time warp! Japs flying sorties in the Pacific! The nineteen-forties still look terrific! Ain't nothing worse than what we just been through! Ain't no question what I'm gonna do: I'll be a-doin' that rag, doin' that Time Warp Rag!"

Into the Time Warp #4 – Road Trip (8/24/18) 1:44:23 [929] In 1940, Jack Benny treats the regular cast members of his radio show to a four-day vacation in Yosemite National Park, but first they have to drive there in Jack's vintage 1923 Maxwell. Easier said than done, and a lot quicker too! Dave in Kentucky provides the commentary to this four-episode story arc, with Jack, Mary, Rochester, Phil, Dennis and Don providing the laughs. Still funny after all these years!

Into the Time Warp #5 – Radio Priest (1/1/19) 1:34:24 [934] A brief history of the radio career of Father Charles E. Coughlin, who went from ardent supporter of FDR to one of his harshest critics, resulting in the loss of both his weekly radio show and his weekly magazine. Was he really anti-Semitic and pro-Nazi, as his enemies claimed, or were these charges merely Stalinist denunciations designed to de-platform him? Inquiring minds want to know! Posted on the eightieth anniversary of Father Coughlin's New Year's Day message for the year 1939, which this episode analyzes in detail, providing extensive historical context.

Into the Time Warp #6 – Federal Reserve (2/8/19) 1:25:31 [935] The conclusion of our two-part retrospective on Father Charles E. Coughlin, the radio priest who influenced many across America, Catholic and non-Catholic alike, through his weekly broadcasts from the Shrine of the Little Flower in Royal Oak, Michigan. Last time we examined some of his political views and his defense against charges of anti-Semitism. This time the emphasis shifts to his economic views on banking, money creation, and the Federal Reserve, based on two of his broadcasts from April of 1940, just before he was banned from the public airwaves.

Into the Time Warp #7 – Shep in Kentucky (3/6/19) 1:38:04 [936] Before he defected to WOR in the Big Apple, Jean Shepherd worked at several other radio stations, four of which (WSAI, WCKY, WKRC, WLW) were in the Cincinnati area. During one of these brief bouts of employment, Shep spent a summer in Covington, Kentucky. Dave in Kentucky introduces and comments on four show segments in which Shep in New York talks about Shep in Kentucky. While staying mostly out of the master storyteller's way, Dave does manage to sneak in one of his own stories near the end. (Show art: WKRC promotional photo, circa 1948.)

Into the Time Warp #8 – July Heat (7/26/19) 1:22:11 [940] Dave in Kentucky proudly presents two high-quality episodes of Broadway is My Beat from July, 1951. Larry Thor stars as Lieutenant Danny Clover, a New York plainclothes detective with both a flair for the poetic and an impatient desire to cut to the chase. The heat is on in more ways than one in this gritty police procedural. Feel the heat! ¶ Show art: Larry Thor (CBS Radio publicity photo, circa 1951).

Into the Time Warp #9 – Father Coughlin on Propaganda (5/30/20) 58:37 [950] Join Dave in Kentucky for an examination of the first half of Father Charles E. Coughlin's Golden Hour of the Little Flower from May 9, 1939, entitled "Propaganda at Work". Topics include: British propaganda for two World Wars, Woodrow Wilson, Franklin Roosevelt, the Neutrality Acts of the late 1930s, cash-and-carry, Schoolhouse Rock's "I'm Just a Bill", Social Justice magazine, the sinking of the Lusitania, Karl Goetz, Wellington House, David Knight, Capt. B.H. Lidell Hart's book series The Next War, Sidney Rogerson's Propaganda in the Next War, John F. Kennedy, Edward Bernays, Imperial Chemical Industries Ltd., Senator Gerald Nye, Pearl Harbor, Confessions of a Nazi Spy, Edward G. Robinson, Paul Lukas, Eddie Murphy, Mussolini's definition of Fascism, the National Association of Broadcasters, Marsh v. Alabama (1946), Keeper of the Flame, Katharine Hepburn, Charles Lindbergh, Philip Roth, The Plot Against America, HBO and other Hollywood smear factories. ¶ Show art: Father Coughlin making an emphatic point. Note the early hands-free microphone, circa 1930s.

Into the Time Warp #10 – Back Back Back (7/9/20) 3:06:04 [952] To celebrate the imminent return of major-league baseball, Dave in Kentucky presents the 1957 All-Star Game, and talks about Chris Berman, the '56 and '57 Chevys, Sputnik, the Red Scare, Reds and Redlegs, stuffing the ballot box, the Cincinnati Times-Star, Burger Beer, Waite Hoyt, Ed Bailey, Johnny Temple, Roy McMillan, Don Hoak, Frank Robinson, Wally Post, Gus Bell, Buddy Bell, David Bell, George Crowe, Ted Kluszewski, Ford Frick, Willie Mays, Hank Aaron, Ted Williams, Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra, Jim Bunning, disenfranchising the fans, Harry Caray, Falstaff, Budweiser, Jim Brosnan, The Long Season, Pennant Race, Jim Bouton, Ball Four, Fred Hutchinson, Giants and Dodgers moving to the West Coast, different versions of the national anthem, the Three Stooges and more. ¶ Show art: the best buck-fifty you never spent.

The Closet Excavationist #1 – Acoustic Blues (1/9/19) 58:30 [934] How did the sale of a house, the purchase of a new washer and dryer, and a reading from a psychic medium spawn a brand-new show that is like a cross between "Tape Land" and "Al Capone's Vaults"? You'll never know unless you listen to this episode! ¶ Episode 1 deals with, among other things, the rediscovery of four blues recordings from "ought-five" that had been thought lost. Be one of the few living humans who have heard these! Dave in Kentucky provides the audio liner notes.

The Closet Excavationist #2 – School Days (1/19/19) 1:01:34 [934] The closet excavation continues, with the latest find being an old photo album containing the school picture shown in the show art. Dave in Kentucky conducts this one-hour seminar on the academia of yesteryear. Are you smarter than a second grader? Is pi round or square? Who was hotter, Fran Allison or Shari Lewis? Inquiring minds want to know! Take your seat beside Little Jackie Benny and have a heaping helping of pi doled out to you by Quizmaster Dave. There's the bell; class is now in session!

The Closet Excavationist #3 – Happy Trails (2/15/19) 1:00:37 [935] Tonight, on a very special episode of 'The Closet Excavationist', spend an hour with Dave in Kentucky as he reminisces about life on the farm in the 1960s, running the gamut from juvenile Westerns, playsets and capguns to sex, drugs and rock 'n' roll, from the Sons of the Pioneers to the Quicksilver Messenger Service, and from the coming of age to the saying of goodbye.

The Closet Excavationist #4 – Procrastination (6/28/19) 1:03:00 [939] Dave in Kentucky talks about the books and movies that have been occupying all his time and preventing him from cleaning out his closet. (Well, he'll blame it on that, anyway.) Dave reviews both of Harper Lee's novels (To Kill a Mockingbird and its sequel, Go Set a Watchman) as well as the movie with Gregory Peck, George Orwell's 1984 (both the book and the movie), plus Stanley Kubrick's 2001: A Space Odyssey and Friedrich Nietzsche's Thus Spake Zarathustra.

The Closet Excavationist #5 – Grandma's Trunk (7/3/19) 1:00:03 [940] Join Dave and Lisa in Kentucky as they dig through the contents of Dave's grandma's old trunk, which has remained unexplored for many years. Will they find the mysterious belt of which the medium spoke last year? Press play to find out.

The Closet Excavationist #6 – Sister's Trunk (7/12/19) 1:15:57 [940] Another week, another old trunk for Dave and Lisa to go through, in search of the elusive belt or "something else" that goes around one's waist. This latest "treasure chest" had belonged to Dave's older sister before she passed away a few years ago.

The Closet Excavationist #7 – Apron Strings (7/20/19) 33:18 [940] Lisa was unavailable, so Laverne (see show art) co-hosts with Dave in Kentucky as he examines a couple of academic papers from a half-century or so ago. Parental over-protection, separation anxiety and school phobias are discussed in both psychological and personal terms. Dave reminisces, Laverne comments.

The Closet Excavationist #8 – Monkey Business (8/1/19) 56:43 [941] Do the dead listen to The Overnightscape? Why else would Frank Edward Nora be mentioned in a reading by Dave and Lisa's psychic medium? Was Dave in Kentucky's apron-string theory confirmed or denied? Did Dave's grandpa object in principle to rural electrification, farm planning, crop allotments and the like, or was he simply an inveterate procrastinator? Find out the answer to some of these questions (perhaps) on this episode of The Closet Excavationist.

Fahrenheit 450

Hosted by Dave in Kentucky

Dave in Kentucky launches yet another new show, this one based on the "dangerous" books he is reading or has read. Will this be another abortive attempt, or will he actually make it to double-digit episodes this time? Only the alien time-travelers know for sure.

Fahrenheit 450 #1 – Idle Tools in the Devil's Hands (2/2/21) 30:18 [959] Dave in Kentucky launches yet another new show, this one based on the "dangerous" books he is reading or has read. Will this be another abortive attempt, or will he actually make it to double-digit episodes this time? Only the alien time-travelers know for sure.

Fahrenheit 450 #2 – An Anthem for a Post-1984 World (2/15/21) 30:16 [959] Dystopia, anyone? Dave in Kentucky continues his looks at books that are only one degree of separation from being burned — or at least fried like Bacon. This episode finds common ground between the ultra-capitalist Ayn Rand's Anthem and the inexplicably-socialist George Orwell's 1984.

Fahrenheit 450 #3 – Question: When Does Money Die? (3/2/21) 30:04 [960] Father Coughlin returns, this time in book form. Dave in Kentucky relates Coughlin's views on fractional-reserve banking to Adam Fergusson's book about hyperinflation in the Weimar Republic following World War I. Could it happen again in 21st Century America, just as it happened again in 21st Century Zimbabwe, or 21st Century Venezuela? And could going totally cashless accelerate the process? Inquiring minds want to know.

Fahrenheit 450 #4 – Burn the Book or Burn the Movie? (3/31/21) 30:05 [960] Dave in Kentucky compares and contrasts the 1951 novel Fahrenheit 451 with the 1966 movie based on same, and in passing talks about Ray Bradbury Theater, HBO, Stacy Keach's Mike Hammer, Mel Gibson's Gallipoli and The Year of Living Dangerously, Linda Hunt, Dr. Seuss, Yertle the Turtle, "Little White Jimbo", "Jake" from State Farm, "Mikey" from Life Cereal, "Rachel" Levine, Twitter vs. Gab, free speech, Julie Christie and Dr. Zhivago, among other topics.

Hosted by Dave in Kentucky

Dave in Kentucky offers a verse-by-verse analysis of the first two chapters of the Book of Genesis, as he launches yet another new show. Will this one finally turn out to be his true calling? God only knows.

This show is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivs 3.0 Unported License. Attribution: by Dave in Kentucky – more info at onsug.com.

SERMONS #1 – "In the Beginning…" (4/27/21) 30:16 [961] Dave in Kentucky offers a verse-by-verse analysis of the first two chapters of the Book of Genesis, as he launches yet another new show. Will this one finally turn out to be his true calling? God only knows. ¶ Also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #2 – Serpents & Siblings & Spawn, Oh My! (5/10/21) 29:48 [962] Dave in Kentucky continues his look at Genesis from an "ancient astronauts" perspective, including Chapter 3 (Eve & the Serpent), Chapter 4 (Cain & Abel), and Chapter 5 (the generations preceding Noah), as well as much supplemental material from the non-canonical Book of Jasher. ¶ Also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #3 – They Might Be Giants (5/25/21) 29:30 [962] Dave in Kentucky expounds and expands upon the first four verses of Genesis 6, when the "sons of God" mated with the "daughters of men" and produced giant offspring. The Ethiopic Book of Enoch (aka First Enoch) provides the full story, which is begun here and will be continued (and possibly concluded) in the next episode. ¶ Also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #4 – Of Watchers & Nephilim (6/7/21) 29:30 Dave in Kentucky concludes the story of Enoch & the Watchers that was begun in the previous episode, and poses the following questions: Are the Nephilim giants, fallen angels, ancient astronauts, or all of the above? Does the term Nephilim apply to the Watchers, their offspring, or both? Are the Watcher and the "holy one" from Nebuchadnezzar's dream in Daniel 4:13 two distinct beings, or only one? Who are the irin, the malachim, and the cherubim? Tune in for the answers; you just might learn something. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #5 – Noah's Barbecue (6/21/21) 30:35 [963] In this episode, the Yahweh Elohim decide to destroy mankind — or do they? Noah and his family are spared, plus enough other creatures to repopulate the planet, so what was the point? Noah is grateful, however, so he builds an altar and barbecues some of the surplus clean beasts for them. This becomes a tradition, even after the gods are no longer physically present. But the meat could still be consumed via long distance, as in the contest between Elijah and the Prophets of Baal, with its highly disturbing denouement! ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #6 – Noah's Hangover (7/5/21) 30:30 [964] What happens the morning after the big barbecue bash Noah threw for the Yahweh Elohim, when he discovers that he has passed out drunk without a stitch of clothes on and become an object of ridicule as a result? Spoiler alert: Family ties are stretched well past the breaking point. Also, what was the Tower of Babel, and what method was used to confuse the language of its builders? Dave in Kentucky has the answers, or thinks he does anyway. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #7 – Abram and Sarai (7/16/21) 30:27 [964] Against the backdrop of rapidly-declining lifespans, the epic soap opera of Abram and his wife Sarai unfolds. After enriching themselves by pimping and hoeing to the rich and famous, they engage a surrogate mother to produce an heir, but that is not what their alien overlords had in mind. What was the nature of the plague visited on Pharaoh's house due to his dalliance with Sarai? What was behind the Yahweh Elohim's insistence on circumcision? What was the significance of Hagar the maid's encounter with El-roi the angel? Listen and learn. This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #8 – Abraham & Sarah (8/5/21) 29:39 [965] The continuing story of Abraham and Sarah, including Abraham's and Lot's encounters with the Yahwelian landing party, Abraham's haggling with the Lord, the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah and how it led to the decline and fall of the ancient Sumerian civilization, what happened between Lot and his daughters in the fallout shelter, what if anything happened between King Abimelech and sexy nonagenarian Sarah, Abraham's revelation about Sarah's parentage, the medical procedure that enabled the birth of Isaac, and Lots more. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #9 – Abraham & Isaac (8/17/21) 29:05 [965] Once it appears that Abraham and Sarah's "miracle baby" Isaac will survive to become a legitimate heir, Abraham sends the secondary heir and his mother the maid packing, then is shocked to find out that Isaac is scheduled to be the entrée at the Yahwelians' next barbecue, with Abraham serving as grillmaster. Abe's predicament is compared to that of Job, as well as to that of the Gregory Peck character in 1976's The Omen. Was Abraham's Kierkegaardian "leap of faith" justified by virtue of the absurd, or was it unjustifiable by virtue of the insane? ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #10 – Kissin' Cousins & Red Lentil Stew (9/13/21) 30:12 [966] Isaac's first cousin Rebekah is selected by the Yahweh Elohim to be his bride, in defiance of the dangers of inbreeding. After a childless decade or two, a Yahwelian fertility procedure results in fraternal twins, the hairy Esau and the slick (perhaps too slick) Jacob, who eventually cheats his slightly older brother out of his birthright. This leads to a discussion of what our birthright is, and who is trying to cheat us out of it. Dave flips to the back of the book for the answers (in Revelation 13) and presents his own ideas about the mark of the beast, the name of the beast, and the number of its name, as well as about the infamous number 666, which (we are told) is the number of a man. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #11 – Isaac, Rebekah & Sons (12/29/21) 29:40 [969] The story you are about to hear may or may not be true. It involves cases of mistaken identity, disputes over water rights, receiving blessings under false pretenses, plots of revenge, and violations of airspace by unidentified craft. Some of the names may have been changed, but not for the purpose of protecting the innocent, since no one involved was innocent. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #12 – Swindles, Superstitions & Spells (2/9/22) 29:37 The love triangle of Jacob, Rachel and Leah can be summed up in the words of the Lovin' Spoonful: "Sometimes you really dig a girl the moment you kiss her, but then you get distracted by her older sister." Except in this case, it's the girls' father who masterminds the distraction. A battle of wits ensues in which two con men attempt to out-con each other, and two sisters vie for the same man's affection, by methods both normal and paranormal. It's a Biblical confection with a musical surprise in the middle. Sit a spell, listen a spell, maybe even fall under a spell. Dave in Kentucky does the casting. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #13 – Encampment of the Gods (2/21/22) 30:38 The Biblical soap opera continues, with Laban in hot pursuit of Jacob and his family. Once he catches up, Rachel proves herself to be a clever smuggler, whereupon a treaty establishes a demilitarized zone. Jacob happens upon an encampment of the gods, and wrestles with one of them until dawn. Esau greets Jacob's party with a force of four hundred men. Dinah is defiled, but her defiler wants to make an honest woman out of her, which requires that he and the other men of his country submit to genital mutilation. Say what?? ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #14 – From Jacob to Israel & Esau to Edom (4/30/22) 30:33 [973] Jacob's sons play a dirty trick involving circumcision, and Jacob is outraged, though not in any moral sense. Accepting Yahwelian protection, Jacob banishes any other gods, real or imagined, and builds an altar to the Yahwelians. El Sadday, the Almighty God, appears to Jacob and renames him Israel before beaming back up. The lineage of Esau culminates in the dukes and kings of Edom. Who were these Edomites, and if they were a different race than the Israelites, how did that happen, since both groups sprang from the same pair of twins? Inquiring minds want to know. SERMONS #15 – Of Joseph and Judah (5/18/22) 29:54 [974] Joseph's brothers get tired of him tattling on him, so they sell him into slavery, where he must resist the persistent advances of his master's promiscuous wife. The aptly-named Onan commits a capital offense by practicing the coitus interruptus method of birth control. The widow Tamar plays the harlot, and Judah gets his former daughter-in-law pregnant. There's not much here about ancient alien astronauts, but it's pretty hot stuff, so give it a listen anyway. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #16 – Dream Weaver (6/3/22) 30:05 [975] Joseph interprets the dreams of Pharaoh's butler, Pharaoh's baker and Pharaoh himself, and gives such accurate readings that he is not only released from prison; he becomes Pharaoh's second in command and immediately launches a major government project to deal with a predicted catastrophe. Soon to become a major motion picture in an alternate timeline. Scenes include: "Take me, Mandingo," "Pharaoh's corn," "'E's an 'Ebrew," "I Married a Sun Worshipper," and "Wouldn't you like to be a prepper, too?" ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #17 – The Prepper Gene (6/17/22) 29:57 [975] After bringing in the sheaves throughout seven years of plenty, during the following lean years Joseph gradually releases surplus grain from the Strategic Corn Reserves. Word reaches famine-stricken Canaan that Egypt has plenty of food, so Jacob sends ten of his sons there to buy some, where they fail to recognize Joseph as their long-lost brother. He recognizes them, but he doesn't let on. Instead he accuses them of being spies, frames them for theft, lets them cool their heels in jail for a few days, then releases nine of them but holds one hostage until they return with their other brother, Benjamin. Paybacks are hell. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #18 – The Road to Serfdom (7/2/22) 30:02 [976] Is the universe teleological, or merely logical? Who or what was the Gnostic demiurge? Did Egyptian cattlemen conduct range wars against Hebrew sheepherders in the Land o' Goshen? Did Ancient Egypt suffer hyperinflation due to too much silver chasing too little bread? How can people with livestock aplenty suffer from a famine? (No, they weren't vegan.) Was there an Agenda 2030 B.C.? These and other questions are asked and/or answered as the epic story of Joseph continues. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #19 – Hebrew Speedwriting (7/11/22) 30:28 [976] How did the lack of vowels in ancient Hebrew writing lead to mistranslations and mispronunciations? Were the Hebrew patriarchs morally upright, or were they just a bunch of hooligans? Was their morality (or lack of same) determined by their environment, or was it in their DNA? How might German translators have contributed to the mispronunciation of Biblical names? These and other questions are asked and answered as we peruse the final chapters of Genesis, covering the last days of Jacob and Joseph. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #20 – Eden Reconsidered (7/30/22) 30:16 [976] If you think the Garden of Eden story in Genesis 2 through 4 is just a fairy tale, think again. And listen again, because Dave in Kentucky got it wrong the first time around, and corrects the record with this episode, revealing the location of the garden, the real reason man was created, and perhaps most surprising of all, the identity of the serpent. (It ain't the devil.) ¶ Show art: The Rebuke of Adam and Eve (1626) by Domenico Zampieri (aka "Domenichino"), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #21 – Bull Rushers & Bush Burners (8/11/22) 29:56 [977] A new book of the Bible, a new theme song, but the same old host. Dave in Kentucky begins his exposition of Exodus. Topics include Egyptian Replacement Theory, Habitat for Midwives, Hebrew Lives Matter, Egyptian Lives Don't Matter, Hebrew-on-Hebrew Crime, the degradation of holographically reconstructed patterns, and the effect of time dilation on the lifespans of the gods. Plus, in a look back at Genesis: How Lot's wife was turned into a pillar of salt. ¶ Show art: Pharaoh's Daughter Finds Baby Moses (1886) by Edwin Long (1829-1891), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #22 – Let My Extras Go (8/20/22) 29:59 [977] The hologram in the "burning bush" gives Moses a mission, should he choose to accept it: to go to Pharaoh and demand the release of the Hebrew slaves so they can serve the Yahwelians instead. Moses is provided with the gadgetry and passwords necessary to complete the assignment, and is teamed up with his slick-talking brother Aaron, who serves as his mouthpiece. Once the hologram self-destructs, Moses applies for and is granted leave by his employer and father-in-law, His Excellency the Priest of Midian. Moses packs up the family, loads them on the family ass and heads back to Egypt, but along the way a near-fatal encounter with a Yahwelian results in spousal conflict and genital mutilation. Then when Moses and Aaron present their demands at Pharaoh's court, Pharaoh not only refuses to release the Hebrew slaves, he increases their workload out of spite. Oy vey! ¶ Show Art: a still from Cecil B. DeMille's 1923 version of The Ten Commandments, from a scene filmed in the Guadalupe Dunes of Santa Barbara County, Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #23 – Ecological Dominoes (9/1/22) 30:00 [978] A series of ecological disasters ostensibly designed to convince Pharaoh to release the Israelite slaves into Yahwelian custody only serves to strengthen Pharaoh's resolve to keep them under Egyptian rule. But of course Jehovah El-Sadday knew all along that this would happen, so he has kept a few surprises in reserve. Also: Was Moses' reluctance to engage in public speaking due to a speech impediment? ¶ Show art: Moses and Aaron Speak to the People (1896-1902) by James Tissot (1836-1902), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #24 – Escalation of Hostilities (9/14/22) 30:31 [978] When their "Domino Theory" of ecological disasters fails to produce the desired results, the Yahweh Elohim resort to chemical weapons and weaponized weather modification, fittingly resulting in plagues on a Biblical scale, but Pharaoh still refuses to free the slaves. Just who was this stubborn Egyptian king? By piecing together the historical, Biblical and scientific records, Dave thinks he has found the answer. ¶ Show art: The Plague of Boils and Blains (1896-1902) by James Tissot (1836-1902), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #25 – The Silence of the Lambs (9/28/22) 29:56 [978] The death squads of the gods fan out across Egypt, finally convincing Pharaoh to release the Israelite slaves, who have stocked up on borrowed goods that they have no intention of returning. (Is that any way to treat thy neighbors?) The ensuing blood bath is enough to make Dave in Kentucky consider pollo-pescatarianism. How many children of Israel set out on the Exodus? Did they leave from the city of Rameses, or from Avaris? And what's so special about unleavened bread? ¶ Show art: The Death of Pharaoh's Firstborn Son (1872) by Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema (1836-1912), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #26 – Parting Shots (10/10/22) 30:02 [979] What did Moses forget that caused him to have to take the long way around to the Promised Land? Did the Exodus take place in Egypt's Middle Kingdom, 2nd Intermediate Period, or New Kingdom? Which Land o' Goshen city did the Israelites depart from, Rameses or Avaris? What "revelation" did Mark Twain have when he viewed the erupting Kilauea volcano in Hawaii? To what body of water does the Hebrew name "Yam Suph" refer? How would Mr. Wizard explain the parting of the Red Sea? Who issued Cecil B. DeMille's Artistic License? Dave in Kentucky answers all these questions, and more. ¶ Show art: Map of the Sinai Peninsula (1888) by the American Bible Society, Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #27 – Floor Show at the Coconut Grove (10/15/22) 30:17 [979] With their Egyptian pursuers all washed up, the Israelites celebrate on the shoreline. Sister Miriam is the hit of the party, and shows promise as a pop singer. In the days that follow, however, they must face the harsh reality that drinkable water, edible food, and usable routes are not easy to find. Fortunately they have friends in high places who can airdrop K-Rations, engineer massive gamebird kills, and show them how to purify water. When it comes to navigation, however, Moses and Aaron are on their own, and it takes them forty years to figure it out. ¶ Show art: The Songs of Joy (1896-1902) by James Tissot (1836-1902), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #28 – Striking Water & Doing the Wave (10/29/22) 30:36 [979] They say you can't get blood from a turnip, but how about water from a rock? Dave lets you in on how it might have been done. Also, correlation may not imply causation, but it can be a pretty good indicator that of two correlated events, one may be causing the other. What is sometimes less clear, however, is which is the cause and which is the effect. "Go Israelites, beat Amalekites!" Finally, take your father-in-law's advice and learn to delegate before you work yourself to death. ¶ Show art: Moses Draws Water from the Rock (1642) by Francois Perrier (1590-1650), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #29 – Descending in Smoke and Fire (11/11/22) 30:01 [980] At the behest of the Yahweh Elohim, Moses sets up a security perimeter behind which the Israelites can safely view the spectacle of a Yahwelian ship descending in smoke and fire, and landing on a plateau atop Mt. Sinai. When the Yahweh have second thoughts about allowing the humans to breach that perimeter and mingle with the gods, Moses goes back down to ensure order while the speaker system of the gods blares out a Top Ten list of commandments. Dave in Kentucky provides the linguistic analysis. ¶ Show art: "The Ten Commandments" Bible Cards (1907) by the Providence Lithograph Company, Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #30 – "If a Man Sell his Daughter…" (11/18/22) 30:06 [980] Less well-known than the Top Ten commandments, and perhaps rightly so, are the Top One Hundred or so that follow. Dave in Kentucky isn't quite sure which of these deserve a bullet, but he will break them down for you, including the ones about animal control, witchcraft, and bestiality. While the Top Ten were composed by the Big Idea contingent of the Yahweh Elohim, the remaining laws were apparently developed by a committee of legalistic bureaucrats, with uneven results. ¶ Show art: Inspecting New Arrivals (before 1917) by Giulio Rosati (1858-1917), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #31 – "Into the Midst of the Cloud" (11/27/22) 30:00 [980] The Top One Hundred Commandment Countdown finally concludes, as Dave in Kentucky discusses the Golden Rule and Kant's Categorical Imperative, the practice of usury, the origin of the Divine Right of Kings, the physical urges of the gods, the different types of justice, the basics of agricultural land management, the suppression of inconvenient history, the origin of the patriarchy and much more, including whether Moses went up in a cloud of smoke. Grab yourself a Manna Ready to Eat and get ready for some edification. ¶ Show art: Moses on Mount Sinai (1895-1900) by Jean-Leon Gerome (1824-1904), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #32 – Origin of the Lost Ark (12/11/22) 29:46 [981] This episode presents Chapter One of the prequel to Raiders, with more chapters to follow as we progress through the Old Testament, and also deals with the design and construction of the Tabernacle, the Menorah and the Holy Coffee Table. Why was the Tabernacle just a big tent, and why did all its furniture pieces have rings and poles for carrying them? Did the Yahweh Elohim suffer from yeast intolerance resulting in ungodly flatulence? Why do churches traditionally have such high ceilings? Why was the Ark even called an ark, since all that gold made it far too heavy to float? As always, Dave in Kentucky leads the speculative investigation into our distant past. ¶ Show art: Moses and Joshua in the Tabernacle (1896-1902) by James Tissot (1836-1902), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #33 – The Holy Barbecue Grill (12/26/22) 30:54 [981] In addition to the Ark, the Holy Candelabra and the Holy Coffee Table, the Yahwelians order the construction of a curiously oversized barbecue grill, made to a godly scale yet tended at least part of the time by a priestly class headed up by Moses' older brother Aaron, one of whose vestments is a twelve-gemstone breastplate of "Lights and Perfections" (Urim and Thummim) which in concert with the Ark of the Covenant provides a means of communication when the Yahwelians are not physically present in the Tabernacle. Dave in Kentucky speculates on the nature of the code they may have used. ¶ Show art: Part of an illustration from the 1890 Holman Bible, artist unknown, Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #34 – The Holy Incense Burner (1/7/23) 29:47 [982] More instructions for how Aaron and his sons are to conduct the high priest's office, more specifications for furnishings for the tabernacle, and recipes for oils and perfumes that are so special they are considered intellectual property. While the original Creator Elohim were concerned with Big Ideas, the Yahweh Elohim tended to micro-manage everything, including the exact procedures for dispatching the countless animals who ended up on the Holy Barbecue Grill. What's the difference between a "wave" offering and a "heave" offering? How much was the annual half-shekel tabernacle tax in today's dollars? And if sacrificing a lamb twice a day was purely symbolic, how come bread and wine was served with it? ¶ Show art: Illustration from Henry Davenport Northrop's Treasures of the Bible (1894) showing the High Priest at the Altar of Incense, artist unknown, Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #35 – The Golden Calf & Other Lesser Gods (1/11/23) 30:11 [982] Yahweh recommends a contractor and a sub-contractor to build the tabernacle and its furniture, prescribes drastic punishment for anyone working on the Sabbath, and gives Moses two stone tables with something inscribed on them, though not necessarily the Ten Commandments. When Moses descends the mountain, he finds that leaving his brother Aaron in charge was a big mistake, so he turns big rocks into smaller rocks and proceeds to commit atrocities on a Biblical scale. What god did the golden calf represent, and why was dancing naked around it considered an appropriate form of worship? Dave in Kentucky thinks he has the answers. ¶ Show art: The Israelites Dancing Around the Golden Calf (1899) by Henri-Paul Motte (1846-1922), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #36 – Holy Moses or Horny Moses (1/21/23) 30:24 [982] Since Moses broke the original tables of testimony in a fit of rage, Lord Yahweh teaches him a lesson by forcing him to hew new ones and do part of the engraving himself, instead of having them pre-hewn and professionally engraved by skilled Yahwelian artisans. Dave in Kentucky explains how the lack of vowels in ancient Hebrew writing led to mistranslations, and why the distance to a star system is not the sole determining factor in the amount of time dilation that occurs during lightspeed travel to that system. Did Moses come out of his Yahwelian meetings with a bright, shiny face, or with hornlike implants in his forehead? Dave doesn't know for sure, but he thinks he can explain either one. Maybe not the headlight beams, though. ¶ Show art: Moses and the Messengers from Canaan (1621-1624) by Giovanni Lanfranco (1582-1647), Public Domain. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #37 – Exodus Ends but the Exodus Doesn't (2/6/23) 30:36 [983] The Promised Land is still a ways off when Moses types "30" or "THE END" at the bottom of last page of the Book of Exodus. Who knew?? No doubt a sequel is in the works. Why was there was so much repetition in the early books of the Bible? What language were the stone tablets written in? Were there 603,550 adult male Israelites or were there six hundred squad leaders commanding 3,550 fighting men? What do Ray Bradbury, Devo and Weird Al Yankovic have to do with anything we're talking about? Tune in and Dave in Kentucky will tell you, or at least tell you what he thinks about it. Also: a preview of what comes next in the series (hint: it ain't Leviticus) including some tasty classical accordion music. (Baroque, actually.) ¶ Show art: The Erection of the Tabernacle and the Sacred Vessels by the illustrators of Figures de la Bible (1728) by Gerard Hoet (1648-1733), Public Domain. ¶ Closing theme: Part of "The Arrival of the Queen of Sheba" from Act III of Solomon (1748) by George Frideric Handel (1685-1759), Public Domain, performed by the Accordion Ensemble ARTE in 2017, Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 4.0. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #38 – The Kebra Nagast (2/11/23) 30:14 [983] The Ethiopian sacred text known as the Kebra Nagast tells the full story of the visit of the Queen of Sheba to King Solomon, including what happened to the Ark of the Covenant. It is a decidedly non-canonical and somewhat steamy story, and the action will get even hotter in the next episode when we investigate the Song of Solomon, also known as the Song of Songs, arguably the sexiest book of the Bible. Dav(e) in Kentucky conducts the proceedings, but not the accordions. ¶ Show art: The Visit of the Queen of Sheba to King Solomon (1890) by Sir Edward John Poynter (1836-1919), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "The Arrival of the Queen of Sheba" from Act III of Solomon (1748) by George Frideric Handel (1685-1759), Public Domain, performed by the Accordion Ensemble ARTE in 2017, Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 4.0. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #39 – The Song of Solomon & Makeda (2/17/23) 29:30 [983] The love story of King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba is memorialized not only in the movies and the Kebra Nagast, but in the book of the Bible variously known as the Song of Solomon, the Song of Songs, or the Canticle of Canticles. It resulted in a male love child being born during Queen Makeda's return journey to Sheba (Ethiopia). When this man-child attained his majority, he resolved to make his own pilgrimage to Jerusalem to visit his father, a trip that culminated in a plot to steal the Ark of the Covenant from the Temple of Solomon. ¶ Show art: Movie poster from the silent version of The Queen of Sheba (1921) with Fritz Leiber as King Solomon and Betty Blythe as the titular queen, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "The Arrival of the Queen of Sheba" from Act III of Solomon (1748) by George Frideric Handel (1685-1759), Public Domain, performed by the Accordion Ensemble ARTE in 2017, Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 4.0. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #40 – Location of the Lost Ark (2/22/23) 30:02 [983] Unhappy with King Solomon's plan to deport and exile them, the Delegation of the Firstborn plan to salvage some of Solomon's fabulous riches for themselves, by absconding with the Ark of the Covenant. Azaryas, the son of the high priest Zadok, hatches a plot worthy of one of those 1960s Rat Pack heist movies. Call it Azaryas' Eleven. It's the third and final installment in the Kebra Nagast trilogy, also known as the Ark Arc. ¶ Show art: "Ark of the Covenant church in Axum, Ethiopia" (2004) by Adam Cohn (own work), Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 3.0 Unported. ¶ Theme music: "The Arrival of the Queen of Sheba" from Act III of Solomon (1748) by George Frideric Handel (1685-1759), Public Domain, performed by the Accordion Ensemble ARTE in 2017, Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 4.0. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #41 – "O Thou Who Camest from Above" (3/1/23) 29:48 [984] Dave in Kentucky gets back on the Biblical track by beginning a new book, Leviticus, and introducing a new theme song, "O Thou Who Camest from Above," by a couple of prominent Wesleyans. No animals were harmed in the making of this episode, but they were certainly slaughtered by the millions in Levitical times. I am tempted to use the term "Animal Holocaust" but I'm sure that would be deemed insensitive, to say the least. ¶ Show art: "National Sin-of-Ignorance Offering" by the illustrator(s) of John Dilworth's Pictorial Description of the Tabernacle in the Wilderness: Its Rites and Ceremonies (1878), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "O Thou Who Camest from Above" (words 1762, music 1872) by Charles Wesley (1707-1788) and Samuel Sebastian Wesley (1810-1876), Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2023), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #42 – Serial Sacrifices (3/10/23) 29:36 [984] The animal bloodbath continues, as Dave in Kentucky tries to make sense of a system in which the religious authorities, legal professionals and public health officials are all the same people, and public health is promoted through religious edicts with the force of law. Hey, that sounds a lot like the past few years! Compensation for the priests is handled in much the same way: Since the priests make the laws, they can support themselves by levying taxes on the public. Hey, that sounds a lot like Congress! ¶ Show art: Landscape with the Sacrifice of Noah (1814) by Joseph Anton Koch (1768-1839), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "O Thou Who Camest from Above" (words 1762, music 1872) by Charles Wesley (1707-1788) and Samuel Sebastian Wesley (1810-1876), Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2023), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #43 – Strange Fire (3/22/23) 30:13 [984] Decked out in their priestly finery, the newly-consecrated priests carry out the apparently pointless slaughter of numerous animals, leading up to the glory of the (hologrammatic) Lord appearing to all the Israelites, not just the priests, and the consumption by (phaser) fire of the slaughtered animals. Shortly thereafter, the danger of the newly-installed priests not taking their priestly duties seriously enough is demonstrated in dramatic and tragic fashion, temporarily putting Aaron off his feed. ¶ Show art: The Two Priests are Destroyed (1896-1902) by James Tissot (1836-1902), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "O Thou Who Camest from Above" (words 1762, music 1872) by Charles Wesley (1707-1788) and Samuel Sebastian Wesley (1810-1876), Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2023), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #44 – Clean & Unclean Food & People (4/2/23) 29:43 [985] Old Testament Healthcare was based on the two strategies of making healthy food choices and limiting exposure to the most harmful communicable diseases, both of which are illustrated in this episode. Somewhere along the line we got away from that and started to emphasize pills and injections instead. Study the original medical texts with Dr. Dave in Kentucky. (No, he's not a real doctor, and he doesn't even play one on a podcast, but so what? Does having a license to drive mean you're a good driver? Does having a license to kill mean you're a good double-nought spy? Only Jethro Bodine knows for sure, and he's an idiot.) ¶ Show art: Two illustrations ("The Leper at the Altar" on the left and "The Leper" on the right) from two different editions of Cassell's Illustrated Family Bible, circa 1880, artist(s) unknown, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "O Thou Who Camest from Above" (words 1762, music 1872) by Charles Wesley (1707-1788) and Samuel Sebastian Wesley (1810-1876), Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2023), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #45 – Unclean Emissions (4/10/23) 30:29 [985] After offering a few public health tips about dealing with the clothes and houses of recovered lepers, Dave in Kentucky gets down to the nitty-gritty of the various unclean emissions, nocturnal and otherwise, of us carbon-based life forms. Take a deep dive into the subject matter, but try not to get any on you. ¶ Show art: Carbon Emissions, a photograph by Emma Harris, circa 2019, Public Domain Dedication. ¶ Theme music: "O Thou Who Camest from Above" (words 1762, music 1872) by Charles Wesley (1707-1788) and Samuel Sebastian Wesley (1810-1876), Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2023), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #46 – Scapegoating (4/18/23) 29:29 [985] The scapegoat was both a literal goat that was abandoned to perish in the wilderness, and the disobedient Watcher to whom the goat was thus sacrificed. Leviticus hearkens back to the Book of Enoch, in which we are told to ascribe all sin to Azazel, who taught men to wage war with swords and shields, and women to wage war with jewelry and cosmetics. Also: more on the dangers of consuming blood and fat, and strict new prohibitions against incest. ¶ Show art: The Scapegoat (1854) by William Holman Hunt (1827-1910), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "O Thou Who Camest from Above" (words 1762, music 1872) by Charles Wesley (1707-1788) and Samuel Sebastian Wesley (1810-1876), Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2023), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #47 – Unfruitful Multiplication (4/28/23) 29:36 [985] What do child sacrifice, man-on-man sex and bestiality have in common, and why are they not to be recommended? Dave in Kentucky provides the Yahwelian perspective and motivation. Also: why Canaan was not for the Canaanites, how to avoid food poisoning without understanding it, practical jokes to play on the deaf and the blind, and the punishments for various infractions. Spoiler alert: the death penalty is a very popular punishment. ¶ Show art: Artist's view of a sacrifice to Moloch, from Bible Pictures and What They Teach Us (1897) by Charles Foster, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "O Thou Who Camest from Above" (words 1762, music 1872) by Charles Wesley (1707-1788) and Samuel Sebastian Wesley (1810-1876), Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2023), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #48 – Rules for Me, but not for Thee (5/4/23) 30:25 [986] In this, the penultimate Levitical episode, Dave in Kentucky discusses the rules that applied only to the priests. Why were hunchback priests, midget priests, and priests with flat noses barred from serving in the Holy of Holies? What flaws in food or service would prompt a Yahwelian diner to send back a meal, complain to the chef, and call the manager to the table? Also: feast days and how to properly observe them. ¶ Show art: "Priests of the Tabernacle" from Bible Pictures and What They Teach Us (1897) by Charles Foster, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "O Thou Who Camest from Above" (words 1762, music 1872) by Charles Wesley (1707-1788) and Samuel Sebastian Wesley (1810-1876), Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2023), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #49 – The Great Fifty-Year Reset (5/9/23) 29:56 [986] Just as man needs a day of rest every seven days, the land needs a year of rest every seven years, or so decreed the Yahweh Elohim, and it's still good agricultural practice today. Somewhat questionable, however, is their insistence that everything rests and resets every fifty years. Prisoners are set free, all property reverts to its original owners, and all debts are forgiven. (All debts, mind you; not just student loan debts.) Get ready to yabal the shofars; it's Jubilee Time! ¶ Show art: "Blowing the Trumpets at the Feast of the New Moon" by the illustrator(s) of the 1890 Holman Bible, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "O Thou Who Camest from Above" (words 1762, music 1872) by Charles Wesley (1707-1788) and Samuel Sebastian Wesley (1810-1876), Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2023), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #50 – The Great Flood Reconsidered (5/17/23) 30:17 [986] In addition to the Biblical account of the Great Flood, there were at least three earlier Middle Eastern accounts, in the Eridu Genesis, the Epic of Atrahasis, and the Epic of Gilgamesh. The human heroes of these stories were Ziusudra, Atrahasis, and Utnapishtim, respectively. Were these just different names for Noah, or were they different people altogether? Was the Yahweh who decided to drown mankind the same Yahweh who decided to save them from drowning? Was the flower of monotheism grafted onto polytheistic roots? Were the Igigi "lesser gods" just lower-class Anunnaki? And just exactly what did the gods carry in their handbags? Dave in Kentucky will attempt to answer all these questions and more, and while he may just be talking to the wall, he hopes there's somebody listening on the other side of that wall. ¶ Show art: From an ancient Sumerian cylinder seal depicting the god Enki talking over a wall to Ziusudra, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #51 – Creation Reconsidered (5/27/23) 29:50 [986] Dave in Kentucky begins his own translation of the Hebrew Bible as follows: "In beginning, gods created the skies and the land, and the land was unformed and empty. And darkness covered the ocean surface, and wind from the gods blew across the surface of the waters. Then said the gods, 'Let it become light,' and it became light. And the gods saw that the light was beneficial, and they alternated it with the darkness. They called the time of the light 'day', and the time of darkness 'night'. Thus there was evening and morning from Day One." More than a translation, this is an interpretation and an elucidation of Earth's history involving two different groups of alien gods, the original creator gods and the much-later Yahweh Elohim. Epic in scope, yet condensed to thirty minutes of audio, it is a story of technologies as diverse as weather modification, terraforming and lawn sprinkler installation. ¶ Show art: The first few verses of the Hebrew Bible, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #52 – A Plurality of Numbers (6/4/23) 29:13 [987] Dave in Kentucky finally gets started on the Book of Numbers, and we soon find out why it's called that. There's a little more of the singular vs. plural stuff, too, left over from the previous episode. Discover why the Levites received a Selective Service exemption, how the Israelites conducted their census, and when the Levites and their livestock became the substitute firstborn. Also: the Quimbaya artifacts, pareidolia, and gaslighting. Finally, did the Ark of the Covenant's wooden carrying poles remain in the metal rings of the Ark at all times? If so, why, and if not, why not? ¶ Show art: La Marche des Israelites dans le Desert (1784) by Joseph Romain Joly (1715-1805), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #53 – Voodoo Children of Israel (6/11/23) 30:39 [987] Like all good furniture movers, the Israelites wrapped their furniture in protective coverings before heading off down the road. But how do you cover an altar that is supposed to maintain an eternal flame? And how do the movers transport items that will kill them if they touch them, or perhaps if they even look at them? Dave in Kentucky analyzes this logistical nightmare, as well as the Sotah Ritual, a voodoo-like curse by which a man could purportedly determine if his wife had been cheating on him. Was this superstitious claptrap, or clever psychology? ¶ Show art: "The Sotah Ritual" by Jan Luyken (1703-1762), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #54 – "Wagons, Ho!" (6/21/23) 30:00 [987] When the Israelites pulled up stakes and set out through the wilderness and across the desert, did they travel in a wagon train? Why did Samson believe the source of his great strength was his hair? Was it a blessing to see the face of God, or a death sentence? Weren't all the animal sacrifices literally overkill? Did the voice of God emanate from an old-time radio receiver? Dave in Kentucky doesn't have all the answers, but at least he poses some interesting questions. ¶ Show art: Early photograph showing an ox-drawn covered wagon, date and photographer unknown, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #55 – Fog Machines & Floodlights (6/27/23) 30:02 [987] An active volcano in the distance, which appeared as a pillar of smoke in the daytime and a pillar of fire at night, had previously led the Israelites to Mt. Sinai, where more smoke and fire accompanied the landing of a Yahwelian ship carrying a very important personage with a very important legal document. What better way to lead the Israelites through the wilderness than by artificially producing the symbols that they were already accustomed to following? Also: Passover, bugle calls, manna, food cravings, and fire-of-Yahweh overreactions. Bonus question: Are Jabal al-Lawz and Jabal Maqla the Biblical Mt. Horeb and Mt. Sinai? ¶ Show art: "The Tabernacle in the Wilderness" by the illustrator(s) of the 1890 Holman Bible, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #56 – Return of the Nephilim (7/5/23) 30:04 [988] Complaining about the lack of variety on the menu leads to even less variety for the following month, and a large number of deaths. Miriam doesn't like the fact that her brother Moses has married an Ethiopian woman, so she engages in some seditious talk with her easily-influenced brother Aaron, whereupon as punishment she is turned even whiter than she already was. Moses sends twelve spies to scout out the Promised Land, where they encounter the Anakim, who are giant descendants of the Nephilim. But how is this possible if the Nephilim were wiped out in the Great Flood? Also: Speculation about the role interstellar objects like Oumuamua and the Borisov Comet might have played in the development of early man. ¶ Show art: "Quail in the Wilderness" (1698) by Caspar Luyken (1672-1708), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #57 – Sinkholes & Deathrays (7/11/23) 30:12 [988] Are the Anakim, Nephilim, Watchers and Anunnaki all branches of the same family tree? Do giant tools imply giant tool-users? Does Dave's falsetto voice remind you of a Monty Python skit? Why send out spies if you're not going to believe their reports? Is gathering firewood on the Sabbath deserving of the death penalty? Which is more deadly, a sinkhole or a death ray? Dave in Kentucky tells you what he thinks, and all he asks is that if you don't like his answers, just please don't kill the messenger. ¶ Show art: "Destruction of Korah, Dathan and Abiram" by the illustrator(s) of the 1890 Holman Bible, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #58 – Budding Rods & Bamboo Rhizomes (7/24/23) 29:36 [988] The Yahwelians rig yet another miracle by means of their superior scientific knowledge, but they leave some clues indicating how they did it. Dave in Kentucky attempts to solve what Erle Stanley Gardner might have called The Case of the Blossoming Rod. Also: Did the Levites live high on the hog on the public dime? Why did the Edomites hold a grudge against the Israelites? Why were Moses and Aaron denied access to the Promised Land? Et cetera. ¶ Show art: "Aaron's Staff Buds" (1860) by Julius Schnorr von Carolsfeld (1794-1872), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain. All music performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021-2023), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #59 – Attack of the Seraphim (8/2/23) 29:41 [989] Were the "fiery flying serpents" with six wings who attacked the Israelites angels or jet planes? How did a snake on a pole heal the victims of these attacks? Why did the World Health Organization, the American Medical Association and numerous other medical groups adopt this symbol as their own? What's the difference between the Rod of Asclepius and the Caduceus? Why did Balaam's ass see the angel (malach) in the middle of the road while Balaam did not? Who or what made the ass speak? Dave in Kentucky speaks from a similar source as he suggests answers to these and other questions. ¶ Show art: "Moses and the Brazen Serpent" (ca. 1650) by Esteban March (1610-1668), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #60 – Unauthorized Human Sacrifice (8/21/23) 29:41 [989] Why does Numbers 23:19 point out that the Elohim are neither men nor sons of men? Isn't that redundant? Well, not necessarily. What does the fact that Jesus is both the son of God and the son of man imply? Did the Israelites engage in human sacrifice as well as animal sacrifice? Dave in Kentucky provides answers, and speculates about the existence in ancient times of two competing alien races, the Yahwelians (natch) and the Baalites. ¶ Show art: "Pinchas Killing Zimri and Cozbi with a Spear" (late 17th or early 18th century, colorized) by Otmar Elliger, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #61 – "Keep the Virgins for Yourselves" (9/17/23) 28:52 [990] After Moses is told he will die soon, without ever setting foot in the Promised Land, he deals harshly with the women and children taken prisoner in the Midianite campaign. He would have dealt harshly with the Midianite men, too, but these had already been exterminated by Phineas the Impaler. ¶ Show art: "The Women of Midian Led Captive by the Hebrews" (1896-1902) by James Tissot (1836-1902), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #62 – More Booty, Virgin & Otherwise (10/1/23) 28:12 [991] After helping the Israelites conquer the Midianites, the Yahwelians received tribute which included thirty-two Midianite virgins, without blemish. Why? Strange. Hey, why do you think they call it booty? And it's not like they hadn't mated with earth women before, notably in Genesis 6. Also: cultural destruction and ethnic cleansing of the Canaanite peoples, the laying out of the borders of Israel, and a recap of the main events of the Exodus. ¶ Show art: "Moses Ordering the Slaughter of the Midianites" (circa 1650) by Claes Corneliszoon Moeyaert (1592–1655), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #63 – Suburbs of a Sanctuary City (10/22/23) 30:14 [991] Why did the Levites live in the inner city while their sheep lived in the suburbs? Why were Hebrew heiresses forbidden to marry men from other tribes? When were the first sanctuary cities established, and which homicide suspects were provided safe haven in them? The answers to these and other questions are here in this podcast. ¶ Show art: "The Daughters of Zelophehad" (circa 1908) by the illustrator(s) of The Bible and Its Story Taught by One Thousand Picture Lessons (1908) edited by Charles F. Horne and Julius A. Bewer, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #64 – Lands of the Giants (10/31/23) 30:14 [991] The Great Flood did not rid the world of giants, any more than it rid the world of normal-sized humans. After the Nephilim came the Anakim, the Emim, the Horim, the Zamzummim, the Avim, and God knows how many other plus-sized races or tribes. King Og of Bashan, with his thirteen-and-a-half-foot bed, was thought by Moses to have been the last of the giants, but we know that Goliath came along later. The Bible provides the information; Dave in Kentucky provides the commentary. Show art: Ancient Sumerian carving depicting normal-sized humans in the presence of an Anunnaki giant, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #65 – Consorting with a Slutty Goddess (11/9/23) 30:35 [992] Did Yahweh have a girlfriend who also fooled around with Baal and perhaps other gods? Is this one reason the Bible insists that he is a jealous god? And what does it have to do with cutting down trees or knocking down totem poles? Dave in Kentucky has the answers. (The purported answers, anyway.) ¶ Show art: Clay figurine of the goddess Asherah (circa 13th century B.C.) by an unknown artist, Public Domain. Photo by David Harris of the Israel Museum of Jerusalem. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #66 – "As a Consuming Fire" (11/19/23) 30:50 [992] Were the giants called "Anakim" in Hebrew members of the giant race called "Anunnaki" in Sumerian? Was the Ark of the Covenant the same as the Ark of the Testimony, or were they two quite different boxes, with two quite different functions? What does Deuteronomy 10 mean by a "heaven of the heavens," a "god of the gods," and a "lord of the lords"? Dave in Kentucky will 'splain it to you, loosely. ¶ Show art: An apparently modern work depicting the Ark of the Covenant going before the Israelites into battle, destroying their enemies "as a consuming fire." Title, artist and dates unknown. (Sources failed to attribute.) ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #67 – Serving Other Gods (12/13/23) 29:45 [993] If there is only one God, why are we commanded not to serve any others? If God knows everything already, what new information can tests of faith give him? If he is all-powerful, why doesn't he just destroy the competition and be done with it? And if he is totally benevolent, why does he destroy so many people? Dave in Kentucky poses the questions, but you'll have to provide your own answers. ¶ Show art: "Baalites" (1896-1902) by James Tissot (1836-1902), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #68 – The Divine Right of Kings (1/18/24) 30:38 [994] What did King James mean when he declared in The True Law of Free Monarchies that the king is "the lord of all gods"? Was this a reference to the Yahweh Elohim? Why did all adult male Israelites have to travel three times a year to designated locations where they would deliver their tithes and pay their tribute to their Yahwelian overlords? Dave in Kentucky speculates. ¶ Show art: Frontispiece of Thomas Hobbes' Leviathan (1651) by Abraham Bosse (1604-1676), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #69 – Of Heifers Bovine and Human (2/6/24) 29:49 [995] What is the difference between divination and prophecy? Was "the devil" just another of the minor Elohim? How can false prophecy be detected? Did the Israelites have an all-volunteer army? How were city governments punished for failing to detect and punish the crime of murder? How could a man decide whether he was in love with a female prisoner, or just infatuated? Dave provides the Deuteronomic answers. ¶ Show art: "Laws Concerning Unsolved Murder" (c. 1886), artist unknown, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #70 – Thou Shalt Cover Thy Poop (2/17/24) 30:44 [995] Were all men brothers, or only fellow Israelites? What precautions needed to be taken to prevent unintentional crop hybridization? Why was it inadvisable to plow with an ox and an ass? How important was policing the latrine when the commanding officer was in camp? Dave in Kentucky addresses these and other important questions. ¶ Show art: "Native of Palestine Working with an Ox and an Ass, Holy Land" (c. 1895), colorized, photographer unknown, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #71 – A Blessing and a Curse (3/19/24) 29:57 [996] In this episode, the Israelites are instructed to take a food tithe to the seat of occupied government and appear before a Yahwelian representative while Lord Yahweh himself views the proceedings remotely (from the sky) and bestows blessings accordingly. Learn (among other things) why the law is both a blessing and a curse, what it means to uncover your father's skirt, and the fate of those who not only did not fear Yahweh, but who feared none of the Elohim gods. ¶ Show art: "Offerings of the First Fruits Carried to the Temple of Jerusalem" (circa 1700) by Augustin Calmet (1672-1757), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #72 – More Blessings & Curses (4/13/24) 28:10 [997] Moses continues his extremely long-winded sermon, in which he enumerates all the blessings the Israelites will receive if they obey the Yahwelian commands, and all the curses they will endure if they disobey. ¶ Show art: "Israel at Mts. Ebal & Gerizim" (circa 1720) by Jan Luyken (1683-1762), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #73 – Elyon Assigns Yahweh Israel (4/24/24) 30:26 [997] After he finally gets done with his long-winded sermon, Moses passes the torch to Joshua Ben-Nun and teaches Israel a long-winded song in which it is revealed just how the Chosen People were chosen, and just who chose them. Dave in Kentucky maps pantheons, ancient Hebrew to ancient Sumerian. ¶ Show art: "Ptolemy II Philadelphus talking with Jewish scholars in the library of Alexandria and having the Septuagint explained to him" (17th century) by Jean Baptiste de Champaigne (1631-1681), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: Unknown hymn used as the theme music for Father Coughlin's radio show in the 1930s, Public Domain, performed by Dave in Kentucky (2021), Public Domain Dedication. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #74 – Moses Faked His Death (4/30/24) 30:00 [997] Did Moses fake his own death, or did he have help? Where did he go, and how did he reappear approximately 1200 years later at the Transfiguration of Jesus? Who was that Elias fellow that appeared with him, and how did he get there? How did Moses go 40 days and nights without eating food or drinking water when he finally retrieved a pair of intact stone tablets from Mt. Sinai? What made his face so shiny when he came down? Dave in Kentucky has the answers to these and other important questions, and he tells the story both verbally and musically, with the able assistance of the Suno AI. ¶ Show art: "Moses Viewing the Promised Land" (circa 1890) by an unknown illustrator of the 1890 Holman Bible, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "Moses Faked His Death" (2024), words by Dave in Kentucky, music by the Suno AI, performed by the Suno AI. ¶ This show is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivs 3.0 Unported License. SERMONS #75 – The Council of the Gods (5/11/24) 30:17 [998] Dave in Kentucky takes an in-depth look at the first two chapters of the Book of Job, and finds not just one God, but several gods. Was Satan one of them? Was he one of the Watchers who descended to earth and spawned the Nephilim? What is Yahweh's place in the polytheistic pantheon? Was he subordinate to any other god? If so, who? Answers are found in the canonical Book of Deuteronomy, the semi-canonical Book of Enoch, and even in the Psalms. ¶ Show art: "Council of the Gods before the Deluge" (circa 1550) by Virgil Solis (1514-1562), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "A Bet With Satan" (2024), words by Dave in Kentucky, music by the Suno AI, performed by the Suno AI. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #76 – Jericho's Last Stand, Part 1 (5/17/24) 29:48 [998] Why did the Ark of the Covenant go ahead of the Israelites, when before it had traveled in their midst? Why were the people commanded to stay more than half a mile away from it as it entered the Jordan River? Were those really Levites carrying the Ark, or something else? Why did Joshua's spies visit a prostitute in Jericho? Why are all Dave in Kentucky's AI-generated songs in the Bluegrass style? Why ask why? ¶ Show art: "The Israelites Cross the Jordan River" (1866) by Gustave Dore (1832-1883), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "Jericho's Last Stand" (2024), words by Dave in Kentucky, music by the Suno AI, performed by the Suno AI. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #77 – Jericho's Last Stand, Part 2 (5/21/24) 30:02 [998] Dave in Kentucky completes the first two-parter of the SERMONS series with the story of how "Joshua fit de battle ob Jericho." What do soldiers marching across a bridge have to do with why the walls came a-tumblin' down? How did Rahab's house of ill repute remain standing, since it was built into one of Jericho's walls? Why does Ella Fitzgerald make an appearance in this episode? Take a listen and find out. ¶ Show art: "The Seven Trumpets of Jericho" (1896-1902) by James Tissot (1836-1902), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "Jericho's Last Stand" (2024), words by Dave in Kentucky, music by the Suno AI, performed by the Suno AI. ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #78 – Everybody Must Get Stoned (6/16/24) 30:18 [999] After his smashing success versus the big city of Jericho, Joshua's expeditionary force runs into unexpectedly stiff resistance from the little town of Ai. Troubles abound as he discovers that corruption within the ranks has caused a lack of enthusiasm for the campaign by his superiors. Receiving an ultimatum from the commander-in-chief, he takes drastic corrective action. ¶ Show art: "Achan and Joshua" (circa 1899) by James Tissot (1836-1902) or a follower, Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "Achan and Ai" (2024), words by Dave in Kentucky, music and performance by Suno.ai (v3.5). ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #79 – Mopping-Up Operations (7/15/24) 30:10 [1000] After the battles of Jericho and Ai, which were previously described in detail, the rest of the conquest becomes kind of a blur. There are a few interesting moments, however, like when huge rocks fall from the sky and the sun stands still for about a day. And oh yeah, when a neighboring tribe pulls a scam on Joshua and as punishment they are made to serve as lumberjacks and water boys. ¶ Show art: "Joshua and the Five Kings" (1896-1902) by James Tissot (1836-1902), Public Domain Theme music: "Mopping Up" (2024), words by Dave in Kentucky, music and performance by Suno.ai (v3.5). ¶ This episode, along with all other episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

SERMONS #80 – Caleb's Mountain (8/18/24) 30:15 [1001] Who were the "remnant of the giants" and what was their origin? Where was the "valley of the giants" and what race lived there? What other giant race did Caleb have to drive out before he could possess the mountain he desired? Dave in Kentucky explains, with the able assistance of Suno (his songwriting partner) and Pi (his personal A.I. and Bible reader).Show art: "El-Khalil (Hebron)" (1857) by Charles William Meredith van de Velde (1818-1898), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "Caleb's Mountain" (2024), words by Dave in Kentucky, music and performance by Suno.ai (v3.5). ¶ Bible reading: Pi.ai. SERMONS #81 – Pronouncing the Unpronounceable (9/21/24) 25:04 [1002] Don't miss this, the first SERMONS episode in which Dave in Kentucky does not speak!! His AI buddies, Suno and Pi, take over and conduct the proceedings without him. Listen to find out why. In the process, you will learn more about giants, flesh-and-blood gods and ancient lotteries. ¶ Show art: "Terra Sancta (The Holy Land)" (1759) by Tobias Conrad Lotter (1717-1777), Public Domain. ¶ Theme music: "Unpronounceable" (2024), words by Dave in Kentucky, music and performance by Suno.ai (v3.5). ¶ Bible reading and commentary: Pi.ai. Service, Dan McGrew, Johnny Cash, Sam McGee, "The Restless Corpse of John Barrymore" (Part One, with Lionel and Ethel Barrymore, Errol Flynn and Raoul Walsh), spooky music, Classics IV, Atlanta Rhythm Section, Beatles, Rocky Raccoon, Paul McCartney, Bob Dylan, natural vs. supernatural, Arthur C. Lisa: in Memoriam (10/8/21) 2:00:00 [967] Dave in Kentucky's two-hour tribute to his wife of over 38 years, who recently passed. Included are clips from (at 3:57) the "Paper Mania" episode of the Quaquaversal Satellite, (9:20) the "Cable TV" episode of the Overnightscape Central, (10:54) the "Grandma's Trunk" and (37:08) "Sister's Trunk" episodes of the Closet Excavationist, as well as (1:38:39) an edited recording of Lisa's funeral service.

Christmas Special: "Jesus was an Alien" (12/13/21) 59:21 [969] Spend an hour with Dave in Kentucky as he plays public domain Christmas music, reads the public domain Christmas story from the public domain King James Version of the Bible, and puts his own views about what actually happened into the public domain of ideas. This Christmas Special arrives just in time for the twelve days of Christmas, so in case you don't have a whole hour to spare, five minutes each day will suffice. ¶ This episode, along with all regular episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

Easter Special: To Raise the Dead (3/20/22) 1:00:27 [972] The moveable feast of Easter isn't until mid-April this year, but God only knows whether any of us will still be here by then, so let's make some hay while the sun still shines. Join Dave in Kentucky and Father Charles Coughlin in Michigan for an hour-long look at resurrections both general and specific. Segments include several clips from Father Coughlin's radio show from the 1939 and 1940 Easter seasons, Zephaniah's prophecy of the coming "Day of Wrath", and a public-domain recording of the Dies Irae (Day of Wrath) section of Mozart's Requiem in D minor from 1926! Also, Dave ponders (1) what it may or may not mean to be born again, (2) how one day could possibly be as a thousand years, (3) the significance of grave markers such as crosses, stars, pyramids and obelisks, (4) why the church frowned upon cremation for so many years, (5) St. Paul's argument for a general resurrection of the dead, (6) whether that general resurrection will be more like Night of the Living Dead or Jurassic Park, and (7) exactly when and how the historical Jesus might have been raised from the dead. ¶ This episode, along with all regular episodes of SERMONS, is also available at sermons.blog.

The Midnight Citizen

Hosted by Mike Boody

Mike Boody from Birmingham, Alabama, joined Onsug with the 18th episode of his show The Midnight Citizen in February 2011. Originally recorded in the middle of the night on his paper route, Mike's thoughts and observations hearken back to the classic age of late-night radio. Note that the first 17 episodes, from before Mike joined Onsug, were lost.

The Midnight Citizen 18: "Super Bowl Ditch Party" (2/11/11) 1:34:11 [711] Who needs the Black-Eyed Peas and controversial commercials when you've got my review of "Blue Valentine" and an edge-of-your-seat interview with my good friend Jonathan Sweatt. Also, a very special surprise will keep you listening all the way to the bitter end.

The Midnight Citizen 19: "Meditations in an Experiment" (2/17/11) 1:11:25 [711] I take the show to the streets of my humble paper route, testing out my new digital recorder and microphone. If that's not your jazz, then enjoy an interview with Birmingham writer/actor/stand-up Kevin Van Hyning, taped in the apartment with better equipment. Welcome new Overnightscape listeners and welcome new listeners to the Overnightscape (www.onsug.com)! Give a listen, and I promise I won't destroy your home's greenery with a lethal herbicide. Attribution: by Mike Boody - more info at onsug.com

The Midnight Citizen 20: "FEAR and All That" - 57:51 (2/24/11) [711] A random tribute to the MTV Show "Fear" that somehow takes up almost the entire show. Also, back to the paper route, and the "The Midnight Citizen Friday Night" is introduced.

The Midnight Citizen 21 — "Fat Tuesday/Apartment Hunting" (3/14/11) 1:03:20 [711] No Mardi Gras parade in your town? Well, come along with me as I make a trip with the ole digital recorder down to Birmingham's first parade in 100+ years! Also, I'm down in the basement waiting out a mid-March rain storm, thinking about Mississippi Burning, slumlords, and Rebecca Black's awesomely bad video, "Friday". Party, party, party, yeah!

The Midnight Citizen 22 — "A Show for Adam" - 50:29 (3/27/11) [711] Reflections on Benny Hinn, trustee of modern ministry. Also, 20 music nerds of the movies are remembered.

The Midnight Citizen 23 — "Countdown to Shutdown!" 57:02 (4/8/11) [711] I'm stockin' up on beans, milk, and Coca-Cola as I await the impending shutdown of all things government. Also: new apartment, Birmingham's in the proverbial economic toilet, and Radio Flyer. ¶ Show Note: I seem to have a problem uploading this file; go to www.midnightcitizen.com or download the iTunes file at The Midnight Citizen for a complete episode!

The Midnight Citizen 24 — "Alabama" 50:32 (4/11/11) [711] The first episode of the show ever recorded while the sun is still up. Listen as I struggle through Wal-Mart coffee, as well as reflect about final exams, teaching, and what it's like living in a state despised by every comedian alive.

The Midnight Citizen 25 — "Vindication" 50:05 (4/24/11) [711] It seems creative people have the hardest time getting vindicated for their actions — working super hard on a project, whether it be novel, or screenplay, or acting, only to see their efforts evaporate into the universe of ephemeral appreciation. Well, no more — at least for me! Tonight, I look back on some of my ideas, past and present — ones I've spent huge chunks of time obsessing over, and throw them out there for your enjoyment. And you will enjoy, and I will finally feel vindication for spending most of my life inside my own head.

The Midnight Citizen 26 — "The State of Emergency Show" 32:57 (4/27/11) [711] With massive regional destruction, six people dead, and no end in sight, hear a first-person, blow- by-blow account of what Famed Alabama Weatherman James Spann has called "the worst weather I've seen in my career!" Hear all the severe weather action as I shack up inside my tiny apartment and ride the storm out. Also, witness the tale of how my humble paper route almost ended my life!

The Midnight Citizen 27 — "Wild Horses!" 45:24 (4/28/11) [711] Now that the tornadoes have left and the damage is done, what is the future for hundreds of Alabama residents? Their experiences, plus more, on this first hand account of the bad weather in the Southeast.

The Midnight Citizen 28 — "Miracle Strip" 1:24:14 (6/8/11) [711] Cigars on the porch with Dave — photographer, world traveler, curator of amusement park antiquities. We talk about summers spent at the Miracle Strip amusement park in Panama City, FLA, and how he eventually came to buy its Haunted Castle dark ride. Also: Larry and the Loafers' "Let's Go to the Beach" kicks off the Midnight Citizen summer session!

The Midnight Citizen 29 — "Super 8 Day" 54:50 (6/14/11) [711] After months of stayin' away from the pictures, I go back in full force with "Super 8". Folks are describing this one as the perfect valentine to early Spielberg, a bunch of kids in late 70s suburbia making movies and dealing with aliens. Why does that make me hesitant? Listen as I talk about my reservations before leaving for the theater, and find out if I was right after I get home and give ya my full review.

The Midnight Citizen 30 — "Kathryn Tucker Windham (and Jeffrey!)" (6/17/11) 56:32 [711] A look back at the life of Kathryn Tucker Windham — photographer, journalist, collector of southern ghost stories and raconteur extraordinaire — who died this week at 93. Also: sit down Indian-style on the rug as Ms. Windham tells ya the story of the University of North Alabama in Florence, and the ghost of Molly's dog who haunts a fraternity house there.

The Midnight Citizen 31 — "They Shoot Pink Elephants, Don't They?" (6/28/11) 1:06:25 [711] Keep your eyes open with an all new episode and an anything goes buffet of topics, including Dunkin' Donuts, Clarence Clemons, Bill and Ted, and Attack of the 50 Foot Eye Soars. Also: I reluctantly play for you my brief, slightly cringe-inducing conversation with my idol, Joe Bob Briggs, from Straight Talk with Tonja Walker this past weekend on News Talk 1400 WSTC!

The Midnight Citizen 33 — "Too Much Tobacco" 56:21 (8/2/11) [711] After a month of all work and no play, I settle down for another show in the studio. Topics include changing a tire in early morning rush hour, Joe Bob Invades Birmingham, last month's journal of podcast procrastination, early 90s Nickelodeon nostalgia, and MTV turns 30 (aka why are we celebrating this bullstuff?). Also, my review of the Maculey Culkin psych drama "The Good Son" will have you throwin' Mama from the cliff!

The Midnight Citizen 34 — "The Church" (8/12/11) 55:59 [711] Here in the South, religion, politics and sports are rolled up into one great big Venn Diagram of social mores, where everyone wants to be at the intersection, and anyone in the satellite ether is left to fend for themselves. On this episode, I recount what it's like to unknowingly be under constant scrutiny from the church congregation when I was younger. Also: the REALLY real "Amityville Horror".

The Midnight Citizen 35 — "Accidental Curmudgeon" (8/19/11) 1:09:04 [711] How do people get old? Outside the usual ways, I think it's a lot easier now for folks to get older, faster, what with all the Internet web sites and airplanes and telephones. Also: a look at Bham's Ruffner Mountain, America's largest urban park and a monument to the city's lush industrial history.

The Midnight Citizen 36 — "The Final Girl Theory" 1:14:43 (9/23/11) [711] After a month's absence, I get on back to the microphone for another landmark episode. Actually, this is a show that was supposed to be posted weeks ago, just after Birmingham's Sidewalk Film Festival in late August, but due to a slew of technical problems (no procrastination for once, I promise), it's just going up now. It's still cool and relevant, though, I swear! ¶ On this episode, I've got an interview with Mark Trammell, pop culture and entertainment editor for UAB's Kaleidoscope newspaper, who gives the most extensive review you'll hear of the grassroots Sidewalk Film Festival. I talk with Mark about why Sidewalk matters in the film festival scene, and get a breakdown of all the independent flicks that played at this year's event that you need to see. Tell your girlfriend, tell your parents — truly something for everybody!

The Midnight Citizen 37 - "Fast" (10/12/11) 59:56 [711] A high-octane, teeth-on-the-floor, kick-in-the-groin show, with a look at this Fall's high speed road-sploitation adventure, FAST. Also, a sneak preview of THE

MIDNIGHT CITIZEN HALLOWEEN SPECIAL (check your local listings), and the first installment of the new show segment, "Henry Winkler and Fonzie". This show sponsored unknowingly by "Holy Smoke", the Alabama-based company that takes your beloved relative's cremated remains and turns em' into shotgun shells. ¶ "FAST" Cast: Jessica Clark....."Girl", Kevin Van Hyning....."Mr. Farm", Dave Smith....."Mechanic", Josh Davenport....."Herman Bull" ¶ Special album artwork: Josh Davenport

The Midnight Citizen 38 - "Let's Go Camping!" (10/26/11) 1:53:32 [711] Here's a bunch of audio I got on my camping trip to Noccalula Falls, AL to do my Halloween show, which will be posted this weekend. Very raw and unpolished, recorded with an indescreet Zoom, which draws some very curious stares from random passersby, mainly in Wal-Mart when I'm buying food and beer for the campsite. Topics include equipment check, "Henry Winkler and Fonzie", jackhammer outside my bedroom window, the cat's meow, flat tires, a trip to the Briary to pick up some cigars, road work that leads to about a one hour detour, Super Listening, Chadcast, "I just put the ketchup on the last burrito!", Frank Nora and the Overnightscape, Occupy Wall Street, vacation follies, Wal-Mart shopping, beer buying, hobo chicken, Evil Dead, a nice morning stroll around the camp ground, a final cigar, a return to civilization and responsibility, and being solicited crack at the country filling station.

The Midnight Citizen 39 - "The Halloween Show" (10/28/11) 1:30:57 [711] On location from the Alabama wilderness at Noccalula Falls campground. Hang out at the campfire and listen closely for Indian spirits, while enjoying some spooky stories and fun tips to get the most out of Halloween 2011. Also, come with me on location, first to the Terrortorium Dark Ride in Oxford, AL, and then to one of those controversial Judgement Houses at Farmstead Baptist Church in Jasper. Grab a beer and warm up in the late October night! ¶ Cover art: Josh Davenport

The Midnight Citizen 40 - "Friday the 13th Press Kit" (11/7/11) 1:14:40 [711] I start out with a review of the flick "Money Ball", then go on to a few more rants, interspersed with the ritualistic smacking of Quaker Oat Meal Squares cereal, chased with a PBR. Fun stuff. ¶ Check out my friend Hunter's online comic Vexxarr here, as well as his Apple "Think Different" parody from (circa?) 2004.

The Midnight Citizen 41 - "Praxis Crash" (11/12/11) 57:46 [711] Exhausted after taking the grueling Praxis test, I nevertheless sit down to do a show, fraught with weird ideas and suggestions, such as what to do with my body after I die, and quitting teaching altogether to open a video store. There's a drinking game for this episode: take a shot of Ancient Age every time I say "You Know". ¶ Music for this episode performed entirely by Persson, off their wonderful Creative Commons album, "Outside the Walls".

The Midnight Citizen 42 - "HB 56" (11/19/11) 1:04:39 [711] This week saw one of the first arrests under Alabama's controversial new illegal immigration law. On this episode, I try to explain the law - best as I can understand it - and why it's being used as a prop for my home state to go to war with the Obama admin. Also: the movie "Cape Fear" (original and remake), the Natalie Wood drowning case being reopened after 30 years, and why Blues musicians can't get respect.

The Midnight Citizen Special - "I am the Galleria" (11/25/11) 53:25 [711] Nothing "special", really; just some recordings of me and Jessica walking around the Galleria mall on Black Friday. WITNESS the chaos, without worrying about being trampled upon by avaricious Americans, and FEEL the intensity of the third degree by a righteous security guard we run briefly afoul of. Other topics and random ambiance ensue.

The Midnight Citizen 43 - "Spiked Apple Cider, 2 Bloody Mary's, and 2 coffees spruced with whiskey" (11/26/11) 1:03:09 [711] A more relaxed recording, where I sit out on the front steps of my apartment building and recount the Thanksgiving weekend - a little drunk. Also: Iron bowl weekend, a review of "The Muppets". ¶ Special album photo: Jonathan Sweatt

The Midnight Citizen 44 — "My Regular Saturday Night Thing" (12/10/11) 55:25:16 [711] It's been a tough couple of weeks, as you'll hear me recount. However, I manage to stay upbeat through the crystal pure spirit of night radio, and large quantities of caffeine. Also: a new segment, "Stellar Jokes from My Failed Stand-up Comedy Career", the deception of December, and Christmas Coke can recall. ¶ Music for this episode by Kevin MacLeod (Creative Commons Attribution License.)

The Midnight Citizen 45 — "The Exploding Whale" (12/19/11) 58:36 [711] How highway engineers had a "whale of a good time" in the 1970s. Also: rude Xmas letters from Preachers, Iconoclast Tony Danza, and a surprise call from my new manager, Mr. Cressell. ¶ Music for this episode: Kevin MacLeod (Creative Commons Attribution License.); Big Bill Broozy (Public Domain); Croxford/Andrews (Creative Commons Attribution/Non-commercial/Share-Alike).

The Midnight Citizen 46 — "Coffee Talkin'!" (12/21/11) 1:38:08 [711] This episode devoted to catching up with an old friend, Alex Justinger, who lives in LA now and cuts trailers for the movies. ¶ Music for this episode: Kevin MacLeod (Creative Commons Attribution License.); Big Bill Broozy (Public Domain); Work Dogs (Creative Commons Attribution-Noncommercial-No Derivative Works 3.0 United States License).

The Midnight Citizen Special — "Jean Shepherd Christmas Foibles" (12/22/11) 1:03:44 [711] A December 24, 1974 recording of Jean Shepherd reading from his story "Duel in the Snow, or Red Ryder Nails the Cleveland Street Kid" — which inspired the film "A Christmas Story" — on his WOR New York radio show. Plus some extra Shep goodies to keep you company this holiday season. ¶ Special thanks to Humanist.org for providing this audio, by the way.

The Midnight Citizen 47 — A Christmas with Garret Scone (12/24/11) 53:38 [711] What's all this Christmas joy I keep hearing about? A last ditch effort to give you and myself some happiness this Holiday season, without resorting to the proverbial "bottle" as a default. Also: Garret Scone, once again, sings "Silver Bells" — a tradition of sorts on the show — and why I will forever be traumatized by "Christmas Light Looking". ¶ Music for this episode: Nullsleep (Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivatives (aka Music Sharing) License); Paul Slocum (Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivatives (aka Music Sharing) License); R. Tists for Christmas (Attribution-NonCommercial-ShareAlike License); Amil Byleckie (Attribution-Noncommercial-Share Alike 3.0 United States License).

The Midnight Citizen 48 — "MobMov" (2/27/12) 56:38 [711] An exercise in getting my groove back. Here's a show to re-create the narrative; a self-pitying look at what this new year has looked like to me, as well as a glance at my new project, "MobMov". Plus: "The Sadist", and dealings with Alabama's ongoing controversy, HB56.

The Midnight Citizen 49 — Too Old for this Spit (3/12/12) 1:06:42 [711] My first reflections of visiting the extensive hiking trails of the new Red Mountain Park in Birmingham, and the long, hard process you have to go through to buy anything behind a glass case in Wal-Mart. Also: out-of-school, out-of-mind; The "Wilhelm" scream; Eddie Murphy.

The Midnight Citizen 50 — "Between Want and Need" (3/27/12) 59:16 [711] I have a cleansing moment of clarity…and then lose it, as I continue to figure out how a person actually "grows up". Also: Drive-in Movie project update Mike Daisey and "This American Life" Popcorn Noir Sci-fi Channel in the mid-90s.

The Midnight Citizen 51 — "Between Night and Day/Where to Begin" (5/4/12) 57:05 [711] After a month away from the microphone, I get on back to it with an extensive, in depth interview with the awe-inspiring, and perhaps mildly — yet entertainingly — delusional Duke Fightmaster, of "This American Life" fame, who quit his lucrative day job to follow his creative ambition, of hosting a late night talk show on You Tube. Duke's story makes me wonder if I should do the same. Do you need the "day" to make the "night" happen. Also, was my mind-bending car wreck perhaps a happy accident — something that might allow me to follow in Duke's footsteps and focus all my energy on creative pursuit? ¶ If you haven't heard Duke Fightmaster's odd story, check it out here.

else? — the Downtown Drive-In. Then, onto the other job — at the zip line — working from my tree house office on a three hour pass through tour with guests coming and going. Hang out with me and the birds and talk about some pop culture on the back half of this very long and experimental episode.

The Midnight Citizen 266: "Fred's Twentieth" (7/6/24) 1:37:21 [1000] On America's birthday, Mike takes a few minutes to remember another historical milestone — the 20th anniversary of "Fred's Oasis," the low-budget, low-class exploitation film he made with some friends in college. Listen along as I recount its conception, production and aftermath, which lingers with me to this day, and forces me to ask that eternal question: am I right to be overwhelmed with shame? ¶ Watch "Fred's Oasis" and you tell me! ¶ Also, I recount my disastrous history with fireworks, which may be the result of a genetic disorder, and review the new trash can from Target I bought my wife for her birthday. ¶ Music for this episode: "You Shake Me" by Stompin' Riff Raffs; "Toxic Revenge" by Shannon and the Clams Backing Music: "The Stevie Shuffle Remix" and "Be Cool" by Mr. Smith; "Beer Blues" by Koi Discovery. ¶ Video Street Video Store: "Satanic Cults and Ritual Crime" (1990); "The Making of The Monster Plantation" (1981) ¶ Remember to check out bigger, longer episodes of the VIDEO STREET VIDEO STORE every Tuesday over at mikesbonfire.substack.com. ¶ …And be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! …"Base Up You Blockheads!." ¶ Watch video of this week's show over at the Youtube channel.

The Midnight Citizen 267: "Robo Rent-A-Cop" (7/13/24) 1:45:21 [1000] Join Mike on his latest mini-vacation, housesitting for his folks and throwing a steak on the grill. Hear about his latest run-afoul with his unfriendly neighborhood crime ring, and Watch some bits n' pieces of "RoboCop" from '87, including the part where

Kenny gets eviscerated by ED-209. Also, why is the crime boss Boddicker WAY scarier than that AI killing machine. Is it his glasses? ¶ Later, I review the latest book I've been reading — "Fletch" by Gregory Macdonald, and discuss — at length — the fraught reality show, "Project Greenlight". ¶ Be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! …"Can somebody please call a paramedic!"

The Midnight Citizen 268: "Cruising Altitude" (7/22/24) 1:17:42 [1000]

The Midnight Citizen 269: "Alabama Mud" (7/27/24) 1:45:30 [1000] Join Mike for a drink outside on a Friday night, as he recalls the legendary crime fighting ex-wrestler-turned-cop of Corinth, Mississippi Buford Pusser, and the long-standing rumor that he ran out of town one of Alabama's longest-serving and most-revered mayors. Is it true or bull-scat? Also, who else is opting out of watching the Olympics in favor of spectating its ugly-but-more-entertaining stepsister, The World Games? ¶ Later, I discuss odd rainbow myths, Thomas Pynchon and Elmore Leonard, and yeah…ughhhh…politics. ¶ Be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! …"Leonard is the filet of the crime genre, you know…"

The Midnight Citizen 270: "The Midnight Exploited" (8/4/24) 1:38:02 [1001] Join Mike for a morning cup o' joe on the back patio, and later for a night drive and after-work drink. ¶ Topics this week include Alabama's dumb education laws and how a recent one could hold back as many as 4,500+ 3rd graders in the state; a kind-of "Deadpool and Wolverine" review; the "Miami Vice" soundtrack makes you feel comfortably depressed; sketchy elevators and "LA Law"; the built-in exploitation of delivering for gig companies, and how you just accept it; the "hot" medium of radio and podcasting, and more! ¶ Be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! …"And where is the Batman? The Midnight Citizen 271: "Present Laughter" (8/10/24) 1:19:19 [1001] Join Mike for coffee at night in the studio, and later for a cocktail outside on the patio. ¶ Topics this week include a lament on the university building where I had my first college class some years ago being demolished this week in a spectacular Las Vegas-style kind of violence; thoughts on why it's important to temper our nostalgia, because nostalgia has led us down some uncertain and shady paths lately; reviews of two druggy movies I watched recently — "Requiem for a Dream" and "Trainspotting"; what is a drug?; heroine chic; the wild spirit of 90's indie-filmmaking; drug trafficking in modern America and a book review of "Among the Bros" by Max Marshall, which is about that very thing, and much more! ¶ Be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! …"Well, I got a meeting out West!" ¶ This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution Noncommercial Share-Alike US License. The Midnight Citizen 273: "Work is for People Who Don't Know How to Play Golf" (1/5/25) 1:30:39 [1006] Join Mike for his first show of 2025. On a cold, dark night in the suburbs of Birmingham, AL, he sits under a broken heater, blowing breath into the lonesome abyss, those thoughts preserved for eternity, or as long as Substack and the Internet Archive exist… ¶ Be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! …"You wanna shake hands with the devil? The Midnight Citizen 274: "Virtual Man" (1/31/25) 1:59:25 [1006] The Midnight Citizen in the morning! Join Mike for a Cup and lots of topics, including a shallow dive into why the Virtual Boy failed in 1995. Was it's release on January 6th the worst thing to happen on that day in America? Also, reviews of some recent movies "A Complete Unknown" and "Flight Risk". ¶ Be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! …"That's not an MP, it's a YP."

The Midnight Citizen 275: "When the Cult Comes to Town" (2/1/25) 1:31:36 [1007] Join Mike in the studio on a Friday night, just in from seeing "The Brutalist", a 4-hour long movie about a guy who builds a community center. Hear his thoughts, and stick around for more thoughts on his favorite movie of the year, "Saturday Night". Also, "Curb Your Enthusiasm" goes to Washington, and Birmingham's citizens get invited to join a cult. ¶ Be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! ..."Is there no better description of a cube than that of its construction?"

The Midnight Citizen 276: "The Barber-Salon Industrial Complex" (2/8/25) 1:22:04 [1007]J oin Mike in the studio, where he recounts a tense haircut he recently had. Everything was fine until he suggested to the salon's owner he install a barber pole out front to drum up new business. There was a deafening silence, and things went down hill from there. ¶ Also, petty tyrants go global, the U.S. hopes to establish a homeland for tourism, and Moe's rebrands itself an "outlaw" in the Burrito space. Now go out there and get a little queso on your chin! ¶ Watch The Midnight Citizen Vlog every Monday on YouTube and Substack! I don't know why; I guess because it was so heavily satirized, most notably by my friend Hunter Cressell, who went viral for this video he made pre-YouTube.

The Midnight Citizen 277: "Scream Into The Void" (2/15/25) 1:03:19 [1007] Join Mike in the studio late on a Friday night, where he screams all his innermost thoughts, desires, and shame into the void of a social media platform...and no, it's not Substack. Also, what is it with Substack? Why do they only show people what you do when you say nice things about them? More paranoia linked to the tech industrial complex. ¶ Thanks for reading Mike's Bonfire! The Midnight Citizen 278: "The Elite, Secret Currency" (2/22/25) 1:25:00 [1007] Join Mike in the studio late at night as he mulls over the optics of our new, modern chaos. Not to get too political, but if Satan wants to really torture us for all eternity, he'll need to do some redecorating in hell. Also, why the movie Eyes Wide Shut (1999) is becoming more of a documentary; the secret currency of the rich explains why we all hate Valentine's Day; and how AI has made us that old man at Wendy's training his 16-year-old replacement. ¶ But some good news: The White Lotus is back on HBO, and Alabama has some of the best coffee in the world? ¶ ????Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast... ¶ Watch The Midnight Citizen Vlog every Monday on YouTube and Substack! The Midnight Citizen 279: "Cringe Yellow" (3/1/25) 1:22:10 [1008] Join Mike in the studio on a Saturday night, recalling the combo-pigment of "caution" orange and "piss" yellow that made the school bus so special. Also, how do I know where JD Vance got his approach to foreign diplomacy? Because he grew up in my era, attending the same public schools that valued wrestling over civics. Speaking of bad education, we gotta get our kids out of this bad area — especially as the new SecEd Linda McMahon is invited to use the department as her own personal RAGE room. ¶ Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast... ¶ Watch The Midnight Citizen Vlog every Monday on YouTube and Substack! The Midnight Citizen 280: "Psycho Mormon" (3/8/25) 58:07 [1008] Join Mike in the studio late at night, where he asks why he was such an a-hole to a nice young Mormon on his own turf. This snark-by-default has deep roots, perhaps, in growing up in the Southern Baptist MLM groove, where every interaction was a sales pitch, a chance to earn posthumous perks. ¶ Hear about what it was like growing up a Jesus Brat; how it was so hard to sell salvation in the South — a territory that had already been covered long before you got there. Also, why "cool" Jesus was another reason it was terrible to grow up in the 90's, and how prayer protocol — or a lack thereof — continues to inflame my OCD to this very day, long after I stopped doing it. ¶ Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast... ¶ Watch The Midnight Citizen Vlog every Monday here on the Substack. ???? The Midnight Citizen 281: "The Facts Are So Disappointing" (3/15/25) 1:19:04 [1008] Join Mike outside late at night, where he's stunned to discover that they finally caught Jack the Ripper…like, a month ago. Isn't anyone on the same news cycle anymore? Anyway, he's devastated to learn that the truth of Saucy Jack's real identity is much dumber than any theory has ever suggested, which reinforces his Rule for Life #2: Never Solve Your Mysteries. ¶ Also, other rules for life, like Never Meet Your Heroes and Never Do Again What You Did Well 40 Years Ago, as demonstrated by Lucille Ball in her last sitcom "Life With Lucy", but hopefully, will perhaps not be shown in "Spinal Tap 2". ¶ Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast… ¶ Watch The Midnight Citizen Vlog every Monday here on the Substack. ???? The Midnight Citizen 282: "Memory Farm" (3/22/25) 1:47:04 [1008] Join Mike back in the studio late at night, where he goes for a long memory jog trying to remember what that Disney movie "The Shaggy DA" was about. He could just Google it, but doesn't want to farm out his memory to the phone. It's something we should all resist. ¶ Later, I ask if there's a statute of limitations on synchronicity. I wonder this as I drink a toast to George Foreman, who died Friday at 76, a few hours after my mom asked me if I wanted a Lean, Mean Fat Grilling Machine she had lying around. ¶ Also: should I change the name of this show? I talk about why I picked THE MIDNIGHT CITIZEN as a title 15 years ago, standing in line at a Spirit of Halloween store after a car accident. And let's talk about "The White Lotus". Why are people dumping on Season 3? ¶ Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast… ¶ Watch Video this episode over at Youtube | @the_themidnightcitizenpodcast ¶ Watch The Midnight Citizen Vlog every Monday here on the Substack. ???? The Midnight Citizen 283: "The Past Can Be So Hostile" (3/29/25) 1:29:41 [1008] Join Mike in the studio late at night, where he recounts how he visited a place from his distant childhood this week — the atrium lobby of his dad's old office building from the 80's. Not having been there in nearly 40 years, he was prepared to receive nothing but warm, nostalgic vibes, but instead suffered the wrath of a hangry woman in scrubs. ¶ Later, I spend some time looking for a job in the jungle scam market of LinkedIn, check out the new trailer for "One Battle After Another," ostensibly based on the Thomas Pynchon novel, "Vineland", and consider buying Signal stock… now that it's the official texting app of political perverts. ¶ Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast… ¶ Watch Video this episode over at Youtube | @the_themidnightcitizenpodcast ¶ …and be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! …"These are the real people of the world." ¶ This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution Noncommercial Share-Alike US License. The Midnight Citizen 284: "Christy, the Night Manager" (4/5/25) 1:30:08 [1009] Join Mike in the studio late at night for a free-flowing ramble. ¶ On this episode, he recounts the Friday night scramble of his first job — racing to close down the dollar theater lobby in time to make it to the video store before they locked the gates. Thankfully, Christy, the night manager, would keep the lights on just a little longer, giving rise to their own unofficial after hours film society. ¶ Also: Irishing up my coffee to make a toast to Val Kilmer, browsing the classifieds again in my ongoing job search saga, and just when you thought Pulp Fiction had given up all its secrets… new theories emerge… ¶ Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast… ¶ Watch Video of this episode over at Youtube | @the_themidnightcitizenpodcast ¶ …and be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! …"…my little black medical book!…"

It seems to work for all those folks on Youtube infomercials, and as far as shady enterprise goes, it's really no more sketchy than any other classified ad on LinkedIn. ¶ Later, I have a religious epiphany over a box of frozen ravioli, give my final thoughts on "The White Lotus", and play you a clip of a white nationalist who sounds like Ned Flanders. The Midnight Citizen 286: "The Margaritaville HOA" (4/19/25) 1:38:33 [1009] Join Mike in the studio for another late night ramble. ¶ Tonight, we explore life after the rat race in Margaritaville, FLA, where a flock of 55-and-up Parrot Heads and coastal grandmothers are wastin' away in an oasis by the sea. Also, Katy Perry and Gayle King go to space, and to all our chagrin, come back; meanwhile, back on Earth, I pay my taxes and cause a car accident, consider taking a job teaching homeschool for a Christian company that sounds like a soap opera, and check out the upcoming Thomas Pynchon novel, "Shadow Ticket", which sends me further into the bottomless pit of trying to understand postmodernism. ¶ Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast… ¶ Watch Video of this episode over at Youtube | @the_themidnightcitizenpodcast ¶ …and be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! … "You got your Tony Lama's on/your jeans pressed tight/You take a few tokes make you feel alright/Rockin' and a rollin' on a Livingston Saturday Night"…

The Midnight Citizen 287: "Night Shift Intellectual" (5/3/25) 1:04:25 [1010] Join Mike on a rainy night in the suburbs of Birmingham, AL, as he sits in his parents' garage, freshly unemployed, and ponders the next big move. ¶ Really, instead of making any definite decisions, I get hung up on spotting "The Club" security bar on the steering wheel of somebody's late model POS in a Walgreens parking lot — probably the first time I've seen one since the 90's. Gets me thinking about why they stopped making them, or why they apparently still do, given their inherent security flaws — like, for instance, being ridiculously visible. ¶ Also, didn't Heather Graham have a Club in that movie Swingers? I investigate. ¶ Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast… ¶ Watch Video of this episode over at Youtube | @the_themidnightcitizenpodcast ¶ …and be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! …"Breakfast anytime? The Midnight Citizen 288: "Tetraphobia" (5/11/25) 1:07:17 [1010] Join Mike back in the studio on a Saturday night. ¶ This week: some audience participation! What was your worst job interview ever? For me, it was that time I got detained for peddling coupon books in a federal building. I should've done more to heed the number 4, a bad sign for good fortune. ¶ The interviews lately haven't been that bad on my most recent run of unemployment. I mean, there's no job yet, but at least no police have been called. ¶ Meanwhile, I keep on yo-yoing around town, delivering food for food, and doing the best at it I can, despite, well… Let's just say that when you make house calls, ordinary customers are not ordinary people. ¶ Also, thanks to audience participation, I find a likely answer to why there's no 4th floor at the university hospital. The Midnight Citizen 289: "Palindrome Days" (5/25/25) 1:28:51 [1010] Join Mike in the studio late at night. ¶ After fighting a long, drawn-out battle to some stubborn window blinds, I give in and just get on with the show. Starting with listener comments about their absolute worst job interviews. Then an update on my continuing job hunt gets me thinking about how my lifestyle lately is fitting for these palindrome days of May — the same forwards and backwards: Drinking coffee, job hunting, delivering food, job hunting, drinking coffee. ¶ Also: thoughts on the new "Mission: Impossible" (Spoiler-free because the plot's too complicated to spoil)…and how my dad and I came close to being pariahs in the theater for ratting out a lady and her granddaughter. ¶ Then we wrap up the show by watching an instructional video telling us all how to talk cool in the 90's, and read some more listener comments about Tetraphobia. A true palindrome experience. Sit back and listen with your favorite after-dark drink — but be careful not to get bucked, y'all! ¶ Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast… ¶ Watch Video of this episode over at Youtube | @the_themidnightcitizenpodcast ¶ …and be sure to join the Facebook page and find me on Instagram! …"Kittridge, you've never seen me very upset…"

The Midnight Citizen 290: "Bully for Kilroy!" (6/1/25) 1:47:57 [1011] Join Mike in the studio late at night. ¶ Tonight, a real experimental episode as we cross over into June, and I do my first live show in over 2 years! Of course, you're downloading it, but still… Witness the drama as I attempt to engineer a livestream while clumsily monologuing about bullies, 90s self-help videos for kids hosted by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Teddy Roosevelt, and memes from World War II featuring Kilroy, the perpetual schlemiel of late 20th century pop culture. You know the drawing — I didn't until yesterday, but everybody else I talk to seems to. ¶ Later, I drink a toast to Loretta Swit, "Hot Lips" Houlihan on "M*A*S*H", who died this week at 87… and two more toasts to other recently passed folks George Wendt and Simpsons composer Alf Clausen leaves me a little too flighty to talk about Thomas Pynchon's first novel V…but I do it anyway. ¶ Also…we're bringing MUSIC BREAKS back to the show! The Midnight Citizen 291: "Millennial Falcon" (6/8/25) 1:56:06 [1011] Join Mike in the studio late on a Saturday night. ¶ Tonight, I'm wondering why my generation has gotten such a bad rap for so long. Is it really just our love for Avocado toast, or something much deeper? Maybe we're all looked down on because all the 80s and 90s pop culture we're so nostalgic for was kind of vapid and banal, or it's simply the fact that we never claimed to not wanna sell out? Whatever it is, we're tired of taking it, and I dedicate a large portion of this episode to my kid sister, born in '84, who went viral recently for turning her middle school history classroom into a "Museum of the Millennial", making the case that we did have a unique culture that, like so many generations before us, is totally antiquated and wholly mysterious to the kids of today. ¶ You can check out my sister's "Museum of the Millennial" on Instagram (@hipsterhistorywithmrsn)… Also, here's the article that Fast Company did on Malinda's amazing lesson! ¶ Later on… ¶ I play some music before I tell you about the new movie I saw — Friendship, starring I Think You Should Leave's Tim Robinson and Paul Rudd (who has a mustache in this one, which means it's kind of artsy — but not really; it's just darkly funny and demented in a very non-mainstream way). Anyway, I give a sort of review with no spoilers, but mostly talk about what the movie has to say about adult men, loneliness, and also the whole "A24" thing… ¶ And lastly… I relate the particulars of my latest existential crisis — this one happening over paying too much for a donut at the Circle K. Kind of dramatic, I know. But really… Why are we all so cool to live in a world where a day old donut costs the same as a gallon of gas? The answer, I guess, lies in the work of post-war Critical Theory and that ultimate Debbie Downer, Michel Foucault. ¶ Music Break

The Midnight Citizen 292: "Live and Mercy" (6/15/25) 2:04:59 [1011] Join Mike in the studio late (and LIVE!) on a stormy Saturday night… ¶ Tonight, on the eve of Fathers' Day, and in the absence of having kids of my own, I pass onto you some sage advice handed down to me by my dad…or maybe it was the funny coach from Teen Wolf: ¶ "Never get less than 12 hours sleep… never play cards with a guy who has the same first name as a city… …and never get involved with a woman with a tattoo of a dagger on her body." ¶ Anyway, the second week of Camp was smashing. I taught the kids how to write plays using tried-and-true methods for creating conflict given to us by that Sylvester Stallone arm wrestling trucker movie Over the Top. It all went real well, which I know because the kids wrote a song about throwing me down a well. (Don't ask, you just have to listen to the show and it'll all make sense.) ¶ Later… The job hunt continues…poorly. I kind of lose it on this episode when it dawns on me that Nazi Scientists were able to get gainful employment so quickly after Nuremburg…yet I continue to go unemployed. Honestly, it's getting real desperate these days — like posting-on-LinkedIn and attending "Networking Events" desperate. I even emailed back a podcast spammer to ask if he had any jobs going. ¶ Well, enough of that… After I play you some music, I invite you to take a toast with me to Brian Wilson, who passed this week at 82. Kick on back in the proverbial sand as we remember the great creative genius, his fraught relationship with the jolly Svengali Dr. Landy, and the woman who saved him — all depicted in the excellent, underrated film Love and Mercy (2015). Along the way, we'll enjoy some memorable television moments with Brian and his late brothers…and, yeah, even Mike Love. ¶ And finally… We take a look at Sammy's Gentlemen's Club, the infamous house of ill repute in the button-down Birmingham suburbs, that closed last year after the dancers united over unfair tipping practices…and will soon be holding its grand reopening as something called "The Pony Lounge" …Oo-la-la… I wonder if they're hiring. ¶ Music Break: ?"Belmont Jail Song"? by Crete Boom (CC-BY-NC-ND) ?"When You're Gone"? by Bombay Laughing Club (CC-BY-NC) ¶ Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: ?https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast…? ¶ Video Street Video Store ?"Tom Savini on 'Friday the 13th' 1 & 4"? ?The Beach Boys on 'Good Morning America!' From there, we get onto the idea of "underground" postal systems, which Thomas Pynchon talks about in his Crying of Lot 49, and how the Internet was kind of a natural successor to the Trystero system...until it got infiltrated by, among other sinister agents, your mom. ¶ Music Break: "Morning, Noon, and Nite" by Daddy Long Legs (CC-BY-NC-ND) "Nature Boy" by Harpo (CC-BY-NC) ¶ Listen on Spotify and Apple Music: ?https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast ¶ Video Street Video Store: ?"Mr. Awesome — Roy Shildt"? ?"Waffle House Training — Harassment"? ¶ Check out the video for this show over on Spotify and Youtube | ?@the_themidnightcitizenpodcast? ...and be sure to join the ?Facebook page? and find me on ?Instagram?! ..."True pornography is given to us by vastly patient professionals."

The Midnight Citizen 294: "Full Tilt Patriotic" (7/6/25) 1:47:25 [1012] Join Mike in the studio late on a Saturday night. Tonight, check your commie cynicism at the door and give yourself a little permission to be a proud Ameri-CAN on this 4th of July weekend. Go on, now — call a ceasefire on the whole "Us vs. Them" thing. Just watch yourself a little "Back Up, Terry" and I promise, it'll all feel right as rain... ¶ Now that we're all feeling appropriately patriotic, join me as I check in on the newest branch of the armed services, the United States Space Force. Once the fireworks are over, I return to bein' a mean old man, and try to get at what the cause of all this cynical ire in me — and maybe most of us — really is. Maybe it's, like I've said before on the show, all this truth you learn that has no where to go if you don't have kids. Existential indigestion? Or maybe it's just the textbooks they gave us when we were kids ourselves — those that taught us that history was all in the past and everything these days is mostly a-O.K. Yeah, that's probably it. ¶ Later... After I play you some music, I talk about small town crime and the Dixie Mafia, and one shocking murder that went down in Biloxi, Miss. in the 1980s. In a cute Philadelphia coffee shop in October 2016, I finally got to sit down with Jim Kloss; mentor, online confidant and dear friend. We set the record straight on Whole Wheat Radio, the pioneering independent online music community; and the NOCHANGE BBS system with its ingenious two factor authentication system and delightful inception. Along with Frank Nora and Israel Brown, Jim was the reason I started this audio magazine in 2005. It was a delight, and an honour to talk with him. I hope you feel the magic I did. Rubénerd Show 369: The wurst episode (9/1/17) 26:16 [918] This may be the worst episode of the show ever recorded. Feedback from Chad Bowers and Dave on Onsug.com. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 384: The down low-fi episode (11/20/18) 30:11 [932] Recording on a terrible mic, so taking the opportunity to produce at a ludicrously low bitrate for some nostalgic fun. Topics include Zip drives, work phones, mobiles without cameras, inadvertent box smashing, eschewing (gesundheit) plastic, middle class life qualms needing perspective, Nespresso, regions of Sydney and Los Angeles, difficulty photographing anime figures, nostalgia for my 2004 job while listening to The Overnightscape and Whole Wheat Radio, the fate of internet communities, and coffee shop sounds. Rubenerd Show 391: The lemon grove episode (3/16/19) 1:12:50 [936] It's another Rubenerd Squish, where I stick a few unrelated episodes into one! Part one discusses the most bizarre advertisement I've ever seen, in an audio journey through a 1970s era shopping centre that has barely changed. Part two discusses fabric couches, fun with spirometry, the Clipboard Mafia, and certain frustrating podcast ads. Part three discusses duopolistic allegiances, and fun with reverb-berb-reverb. Break song by the delightful Good Mythical Morning gents who trained a predictive text bot. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 395: The corned mindfulness episode (6/29/19) 51:02 [939] Join Ruben as he takes a somewhat narcissistic view of work, life in one's thirties, mindfulness or lack thereof, charities, the events in Hong Kong, the ergonomic considerations behind corn chips, wandering around Artarmon thinking the same things, and a classic clip from Flight of the Conchords. You want to sit down but you sold you chair, so you… you just stand there. Recorded over a few weeks in June 2019. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 396: The Brisbane Perth episode (9/17/19) 42:30 [942] Join Ruben as he discusses himself in the third person, and his business trip adventures to two Australian cities on the exact opposite sides of the country for added convenience; the former of which he hadn't been to since he lived there in the 1990s! Playing a retrospective clip from episode 103 in June 2006, then back to October 2019 with Clara wandering around the Petronas Twin Towers and Jalan Ampang. I never thought I'd be doing this again! Recorded in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.

Rubenerd Show 399: The smokeless Melbourne epsiode (12/11/19) 28:40 [945] Bushfires have engulfed Sydney for more than a week now, so it was a relief and joy to wander around back in Melbourne on a business trip with blue skies, even if only for a couple of days! Talking about the inevitable comparisons between Sydney and Melbourne, Stanley Kubrick-inspired data centres, health nonsense about Kombucha, tree-lined streets, and wishing for a Ricoh GR III pocket camera. Creative Commons music by Chris Jurgenson. Recorded in Melbourne, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 400: The Quadricentennial episode (12/26/19) 1:06:42 [945] It's the four hundredth episode of my sporadic podcast! In lieu of formal celebrations, I discuss the surreal circumstances within which we find ourselves, along with various other ruminations about the holidays, significant figures, keyboard memories, ranting about fires, LPs, and more. Thank you so much for listening to my silly audible emissions, here's to the next 400. ♡ Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 401: The on fire episode (12/31/19) 20:56 [945] I intended this episode to be about something completely different, but now that every state in Australia is on fire, and my dad has evacuated his house, suddenly my other interests and topics seem less pressing. Thanks, and please consider donating to the NSW RFS. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 402: The hidden PPPoE episode (1/5/20) 24:25 [946] Thanking people for Australian bushfire feedback, Malcolm Turnbull'd internet, pronouncing abbreviations as acronyms (PPPoE… pehpehpehooee?), the Ricoh GR III camera, finding a stream and an old key in a forest near Cammeray, the plight of inefficient portable air conditioners, wooden shelving, and various challenges when selling incomplete anime figures. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 405: The Walkenbach Envelope episode (3/7/20) 34:32 [948] ¶ Making a caffeinated beverage LIVE on the show like I used to, remembering Murni's Warung in Ubud, the joys of envelope budgeting, John Walkenbach from Whole Wheat Radio helping me through his Excel books all these years later, and why it's still so difficult for people without IT backgrounds to export data from shut down sites. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 406: The chipped hero episode (3/8/20) 31:52 [948] Wait, didn't we only just get Rubenerd Show 405?! Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 407: The overengineered everything episode (3/14/20) 25:32 [948] What started as a discussion regarding an ugly new concept car turned into pontifications about design, and anti-patterns in cars and websites. If overenginering is to make something intentionally more complicated for no benefit other than to ship product, why are we so compelled to do it? Or did I just answer my own question? Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 408: The deserted tape episode (4/18/20) 39:20 [949] Wandering around a deserted Chatswood late at night, peeking into the empty stores, and watching the regular stream of empty commuter and metro trains roll by. Recorded early May 2020. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 411: The FreeBSD cat(1) episode (6/16/20) 28:45 [951] A discussion about feline creatures liking me despite having never owned one… turned into a rant about desktop software quality, remembering Wintel and desktop Java, running OpenZFS on FreeBSD and NetBSD with cgd, BSD on an iBook back in the day, being burned by btrfs, BSDCan comments about home labs now being production, and wandering outside in beautifully-mild winter weather. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 412: The wandering mug episode (9/1/20) 47:35 [954] An impromptu discussion on everyone's favourite comestible beverage conveyance, among several other unrelated topics. Rubenerd Show 413: The Wheaty 2021 episode (1/20/21) 13:57 [958] Jim Kloss returned to the Whole Wheat Radio airwaves again for a chat! I was not prepared, and even started typing over it towards the end when work pinged me, but I couldn't let this moment of Internet audio history go unrecorded.

Rubenerd Show 414: The thingy stuff episode (5/12/21) 14:00 [962] A discussion about how my fervour for independent writing hasn't translated into improving podcast imposter syndrome! Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 415: The Amehhhhh Sharipov episode (7/2/21) 55:49 [964] In part one, your sophisticated host attempts to make an Aeropress coffee live on air, namedrops his friend, mentions some Minecraft LEGO adventures, and discusses some listener mail from Oskar Sharipov regarding audio recording, OGG files, and independent production. Then we timeskip a week to when your aforementioned host walks around an abandoned Chatswood street late at night to find which coffee shops are open during the Sydney lockdowns. Mmm, coffee. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 416: The microwaved nostalgia episode (8/18/21) 32:51 [965] Join Ruben as he takes an evening lockdown socially-distancing stroll as he discusses UniSA campus nostalgia in Adelaide, adventures with side effects, a freezing family holiday to Germany in the early 2010s, and an extended discussion on the merits and flaws of contemporary electronic microwave oven appliance design affordances (I think Dire Straits did a song about that, though in significantly fewer words. Custom kitchen deliveries, and all that). Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 417: The stormy apartment episode (8/28/21) 27:47 [965] Why am I out here under a shelter while there's a storm outside? Talking about the HoloCouncil, why am I out here, missing travel, it's a bit windy out here, where I'd live if I had a spare billion dollars between the proverbial couch cushions, and why am I out here? Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 418: The tiled pattern episode (9/19/21) 27:47 [966] Join Ruben as he pours one out for airline pilots, Australia being European in Asia, travelling with Clara, nostalgia for Singapore and working remote from there, The Coffee Bean and Tea Leaf in Bishan, introverts and Third Places, saying goodbye to a friend, Robin Williams, and mismatched tiles. Rubenerd Show 419: The musically soaked episode (9/24/21) 53:50 [966] Join your host as he enjoys some milder Sydney weather! Talking about monsoons in Singapore and Hong Kong, wanting to live in the latter after it blew me away (metaphorically, not in a monsoon), slim Japanese clothing, water-retaining socks, always feeling the need to be productive, embarrassing nerd magazines on the train, old-school MP3 players, downtime, meditation, a rant about music streaming platforms, and collecting music again. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 420: The belated holiday episode (1/1/22) 36:36 [970] Join your host as he finally gets around to uploading some festive cheer and other rambling nonsense. Talking about Xmas lights, the programming VCR meme, Travan tapes, health fun, couch potato-ism, coffee chains in Asia, trying a seasonal brew, and the infamous “much more!” Happy new year from us to you. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Talking about being back in Japan, why Clara and I love the Kansai region even more than Tokyo, topping up Suica and ICOCA cards, the growing number of bikes here, and almost walking into someone. Sumimasen! Recorded in Osaka, Japan.

Rubenerd Show 425: The goodbye Jim episode (5/22/23) 25:15 [986] This episode is dedicated to the memory of Jim Kloss, whom I interviewed on the show in 2016 in Philadelphia. Jim was one of my dearest friends, a mentor in life, and a wonderful human being. Recorded late one evening wandering around a park in Sydney. ¶ Jim was, along with Frank from The Overnightscape, the reason I got into internet radio back in 2003. I wouldn’t be uploading my thoughts in audio and text if it weren’t for his inspiration and words of encouragement. He will be missed, but remembered. ? ¶ Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Rubenerd Show 430: The two mugs episode (2/21/25) 14:22 [1007] Bit of a weirder one today; talking about the time last week when the trolls won! But I got some amazing feedback and some help, so maybe there are lessons here I can pass on. Have you heard of this thing called the block button? I should do that! Thanks again, will be a more normal episode next time. Recorded in Sydney, Australia.

Eddie Murray has been a major presence on The Onsug since 2009. He sent Frank his "Trampler Sampler" in May 2009 - the very first show by another host that was added to The Overnightscape Underground - which led to The Onsug as the group channel we know today. Since then, Eddie's done nearly 200 episodes of his shows Trampler, Cloud Base 44/88, and The Wool Gathering. He's also made nearly 100 appearances on Overnightscape Central, and joined in on many Exit Ramps as well.

I'd been aware of Eddie's earlier podcasts - TedPod and Conspiracast - and I wanted to add them to the archive. I was able to find 31 of the 33 episodes of Conspiracast from 2008 on a still-existing "PodOmatic" page. Unfortunately, Eddie couldn't find the two missing episodes - but he did find a hard drive with 41 episodes of TedPod from 2005. We know TedPod went to at least episode 107 in 2007 - but Eddie wasn't able to find any more episodes, and none are to be found online.

I explored the Internet Archive's Wayback Machine to find as much information as I could for both of these shows. We have full original show notes for Conspiracast, and a partial set for TedPod.

On TedPod, similar to a broadcast radio show, Eddie played commercial music tracks - so I went in and edited them out, just leaving the beginning and end of each song, as an aircheck might be edited.

This is truly a remarkable collection. I'm hoping some of the missing episodes may turn up in the future - I may have some on my old CD-Rs and DVD-Rs... if I ever get around to indexing them. And if by chance anyone out there has any missing episodes, let me know.

The first site we come across is Truthism.com, where we read the proof of reptilians in ancient times, we brush passed the face on Mars in the place called Cydonia, and mention that Cidona is also nice :) Briefly mention some masonic symbols and companys, you can also check out falsebeliefs.com. We then take a quick break to listen to the promo from intoyourhead.com, a fellow Irish podcaster. The next thing we stumble upon is the wiki page for Operation Northwoods, a very important document, very similar to the 9/11 attacks and shows false flag operations have been around for a long time as a military tactic, mentioned a lot on Alex Jones documentaries. Which leads us into the next website conspiracyrealtytv.com where we talk about some featured videos including Zeitgeist, and talk about cross refrenceing historical documents like great researcher Jordan Maxwell, The Corporation, Freedom to Facism, and Money Masters are others that are featured, we find some of the latest news about votes being shredded on Ron Paul which reminded me of another documentary on vote fraud in America on bushes first election called Hacking Democracy. Next we talk about and listen to news reports of recent sightings of UFO's in Texas, I recommend to watch Nasa case for UFO's, also to check out Mexicos public release of military chasing UFO's. Also you should check out this account of a military man Walter Haut, involved in Roswell leaving an Affidavid to be opened after he died to say the Roswell Incident was Covered up. Also some wise advice for secret societys and scientology. You could also check out some David Icke videos in the lead up to his interview in April here at Conspiracast! We briefly mention Magick and Sygils. I do a quick Hip Hop Conspiracast Jingle to livin things up. RFID is the next topic, whether this is good technology or not? Maybe its good for stocks with Digital Angel as the manufacturing umbrella. I also mention some predictions like major security on the street stretched out from 9/11 type security in airports like China, the North American Union (NAU) and new currencies like the Amero, and that in Olympics in 2012 there might be something big to look out for the more the media will push Terrorism claims towards that time and place. Lastly we talk about how the US goverment admited to lying so they could further spying through telecommunications (maybe google?) reading an article from the LA Times, spotted on operationawakining.wordpress.com, Also new technology in the UK that can see your blood so they know your human, and also a flashlamp that is set to a certain frequency that makes humans very ill. We quickly run through the Moon Landing as a hoax with Squidoo.com. The last two sites i mention are mind-deprogramming.com and truestories videoblog. Be carefull of any mind control techniques that surround us everywhere especially if you are involved in certain societys and working sectors like the Police and Army. Also please get involved in the forums and give your opinions on the current elections in the US and Chemtrails and anything else you want to talk about! This is an Interview Special of Conspiracast with the ever insightful Frank Edward Nora from the Overnightscape http://theovernightscape.com We discuss a range of topics including “Nassim Harameins” http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=-1895475242307393956 theories and how they may relate to technologies we may have had before as a lost civilization which the illuminated ones that control our world still have the information on all this and how it relates to the current Elections in the USA. Of course we talk about the start of the rabbit hole for many 9/11 and discuss how it was an inside job. We then wonder philosophically how business relates to government and what capitalism really means through banking where we re-mention to check out the video “money masters” http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=-5153195602561839 36&ei=Q7WaSLfvFYGYqQPY6oQo which leads us to talk about gold and silver banking and why they didn’t amend the constitution against it, and of course as you should know the fed reserve in the usa is actually a private bank, and not federal at all.We also touch briefly upon the North American Union, the Council on Foreign Relations,the United Nations, the European Union, Nafta, Asean, and the rest of the head hunting organization. I talk bout the new energies like the air engine, the water car in japan and the buggy in the U.S, including some perpetual motion machines tried on you tube. Frank talks about the Monarch slave programme http://www.theforbiddenknowledge.com/hardtruth/illuminati_formula_mind_control.htm and how they are similar to the Bourne films and the Manchurian Candidate film http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=-1798412375197890541. Global Warming (2/16/08)

Written by Edward J. Murray

Global Warming and Cooling

Well? Do you believe it? I dont mean the chart, do you believe that the current hype about global warming is man made? and that we really need to reduce carbon emissions? OR Is it really just a case of natural cycles? Yes, the earth is getting warmer, but hasnt it being doing that for thousands of years? But why would someone make that up? There are many charts to go by. One more famous one taken from deep drilled ice samples, suggests that our temperature rises coincide with carbon emissions. This looks quite evident at a glance, yet some have pointed out that when superimposed on top of each other (Temp & Co2) the opposite seems to be true. In other words Co2 lags behind the temperature slighty indicating that it is infact the natural rise of temperature that affects the increase in Co2 and not the influence of us Humans and our dirty machinery. If your interested to learn more about this side of the coin you would not be the only one, infact there is thousands of scientists that say that this contrary to popular opinion is the real deal! check out some of the great global warming swindle videos for more on this intruiging debate.

Benjamin Fulford (2/20/08)

Written by Edward J. Murray

Rockefeller and Benjamin

This guy Benjamin Fulford , a Tokyo based Journalist (was with Frobes magazine for 8 years) from Canada, is comming under the spot light of many a conspiracy blog, along with the likes of rense.com and the digg effect, especialy after interviewing that old guy standing beside him, yes one of the richest most powerfull men in the world, David Rockefeller . Benjamin claims that he has joined the secret society in Japan and is protected by them, and therefore has the freedom of speach to more-a-less give a large slap on the hand to the big fish i.e the "Illuma-naughty" this includes rockefeller, some UN delegates, the banking system etc..

All because the lady loves milk tray, or in this case all because the shadow Asian goverment are sick of the western world holding the totalitarian whip and using underhanded war cloaks to get their missions acomplished, there is most definatley a threatening tone behind it in the form of Ninja assasins.

With Benjamin seemingly elected as some kind of spokesperson to get the "word out on the street", this could be easily brushed off as something of an attention seeking sensationalist, if it wasnt for the ammount of evidence he produces. Number 1. He Interviewed David Rockefeller, people dont "just get" that kind of gig, ya dig? And - The way he got it? Well, with a badge ofcourse, from a very high ranking freemason who is also a white Ninja assasin trained through US goverment but willing to turn on the big fish becasue they "understand" the situation and probably have a lot of alegence to their Ninja heritage (It takes that to be a true Ninja, i know this but i wont tell you how just now ;)

Are you confused? Its extreemly Intruging isnt it? Well thats why i tried to contact Benjamin in Japan, I think there is something to be said about this guy and i think there is some substance behind what he is saying, i suspect it may be slightly exagerated? But i certainly do not disbelieve it for a minuite, it sounds quite plausable, and secret societys in Asia are very tight, i know this becasue i am living here. Anyway Benjamin has not yet replied, but i have an ip that sais he looked at the site so maybe he is mulling it over, so come on the Show Benjamin if you get time we would love to hear from you i would do some secret hand gestures if i could but i can say im traveling from the west going to the east in search of light. Aside from that in my opinion i think this is a very positive message if proved to be true. Maybe he could have some new news for us now as i know for some of you Conspiracy buffs this is last years catch; but still good to get it out there right? In the Rockefeller interview he also brings up Ron Paul!

He was also mentioned on the Colbert Show (sorry cant find the video) whos son is also based in Tokyo also known as Governer Watts, infact i just missed him on his last trip to the Philippines . We emailed each other so next time your over Governer you know where to come ;)We brush off this topic also in the next show so stay tuned for that one on friday!

Oh Also Check out my Conspiracast plug on Tom Green! You see how it all ties in together now? "Save the cheerleader, save the world?"

Imagine meeting your heroes eh?

9/11 Truth (3/5/08)

Written by Edward J Murray

me with Prof David Ray Griffin

Well I cant get by far on a Conspiracy website without writing an article on this one, and I hope for some of you I can provide some useful information. I want to begin by showing you how many people claim that the official story is very questionable, just incase you havnt found it to be fishy in the first place. There is 1000's if not Millions in academia including some very respected professors that study this and some very actively publishing their work and pursuing scholarly endeavors regarding 9/11. For example physics professors and structural engineers questioning the way the towers collapsed. We need these guys they keep the speculation to a minimal and let the proof shine through facts. Heres Professor David Ray Griffin on one of his many lectures, I highly recommend his books, I met him in Ireland in 2007.

There is also a tonne of pilots for 9/11 Truth that believe there is no way those planes could have made the maneuvers mentioned, including by the way the actual pilot of flight 175 and 293, who obviously was not on duty that day. If that dosnt scream somethings wrong here to you then I shall just continue on.

There is now certain Stars going main stream trying to break through to the news including the latest oscar winning woman Marrion Cotillard (i just love the quaint spin the BBC gives it, "she really regrests saying it") and Charlie Sheen among others who are afraid to step up becasue they know this is "Big".

I want to personally give a shout out to the lads and ladies for 9/11 truth in Ireland who are doing some great work and still handing out leaflets at the GPO in O Conell street, Dublin, and confronting Gerry Adams, and talking with Micheal Tsarion and Alex Jones, who Im also trying to get for Conspiracast! come on AJ, we need you for this one ;)

There is simply too much evidence to mention here in one article but there is an emmense ammount of Documentarys online about it and it has become a vast debate on the internet with a great division of some still disbelieving, I think its because they havnt had or given the time to have studied it properly, although i certainly advocate getting both sides of the story, yet i have studied it long enough to know what side weighs heavier on this justice scale.

Some of the most common arguments against the official story are, (incase the reasons above are not enough for you) Proior to the attacks there was unusal evacuations for "security" reasons months and weeks leading up to the drastic day. The third building that collapsed WTC7 was a demolition, with recorded demolition terms as evidence to that effect, and the fact that it stood a lot to gain from the highest insurance policy ever taken out on a building months prior to the event by Larry Silverstein. Also the fact that no building in history ever collapsed due to fire with documented evidence as testimony, and yes even ones which other big planes flew into, infact some burned for days and where still standing. They also say a lot of people mysteriously didnt go to work that day and some have been brave enough to tell that they where warned not to.

There is insurmountable evidence as to explosions happening, from video and from survivors including one Janitor William Rodreguez who is still fighting along with thousands of families of lost loved ones who decided not to take the compensation and instead try to expose the truth. Some say There was also a man called John O' Neil put in charge of security of the WTC on sept 11, (who quit the CIA before becasue they would not listen to his informing inteligence on evidence collected on Osama) Replacing none otherthen Bushes brother Marvin Bush.

Some even say there where no planes and that the communication tower was on top of the wtc and it was rerouted under control and the media was superimposed, i know how crazy that sounds but until you have looked at the evidence for this yourself, i would encourage you not to dismiss it off the cuff because of how far fetched it may sound. In any case just ask yourself, would there be this much smoke without fire? I am not just one guy on the internet blogging about this, its world wide and its a massive movement growing ever bigger, the more people find out about it.

Incase you are wondering why would a “Country” would do that to itself, please be aware that false flag operations are a very common military tactic and have being going on for a long time, In secret agencys people infultrate and dress up to look like the other all of the time, as we also mentioned before Operation northwoods is one documented piece of paper from the 60’s declassified that is in-fact a very similar rendition to 9/11.

One things for sure the people that did this either want us to know who they are and that they are in control, or else they want this to be old news as fast as possible, so that they can continue to push their agenda. Do look at the debunker articles aswell, please be informed of both sides of the story, infact if you would like to write one for Conspiracast you are very welcome to do so, im sure you can do better then my sloppy style :)

But as long as you are looking at the evidence, then i have done my job well. Im not here to "care so you dont have to" ;) I want you to search for the truth and care too, sure life is too short, but it always has been, enormous change is among us, and its this new information that is the power, so please spread the word. Set up groups, debate about it, dont let this slide under old news and history like the rest of the dastardly deeds that sicken us about humaitys past, let us finaly not coward away from these elites, and show them whos really boss, have you ever watched A Bugs Life?

Concentration Camps (3/12/08)

Written by Edward J Murray

U.S Concentration camps

Camps are being built across the U.S. that can only be concentration camps. (Is this why they are working so hard to take away the guns?) Hawthorne, Nevada is the home of a large military bomb/explosive/missle facility. My travels take me through Hawthorne as I travel from Las Vegas to Reno quite often. In the span of the last several months, I have seen HUNDREDS of warehouses go up; like 7-8 hundred. These warehouses are surrounded by chain-link, razorwire fences and resemble every modern prison anyones seen. The warehouses are three story, a-frame roof, (resembling cell blocks for sure),no windows, and not wide enough to house any aircraft other than Cessna 172s.or similar small crafts. I cannot see room for elevators etc. for any type of bomb/missle storage handling. This bomb facility in Hawthorne is 99% underground bunkers.I dont think they are suddenly switching to above-ground bomb storage. Ill leave it to you to make any revelations and deductions. But first..... to this you must add the fact that MANY steel companies, including Gunderson Steel in Portland are secretly building rail cars reminiscent of the Nazis, complete with shackles and guard shacks at each end.. My information is: 11 companies are building these railcars. Should any of you have additional information on these cars or the camps, please e-mail me.. In the case of the camps, please try and provide location as precisely as possible and any other pertinent info.

The U.S. Army confirmed the validity of a memorandum relating to the establishment of a civilian inmate labor program under development by the Department of the Army. The document states, "Enclosed for your review and comment is the draft Army regulation on civilian inmate labor utilization" and the procedure to "establish civilian prison camps on installations."

Since the Senate hearings in 1975, the steady development of highly specialized surveillance capabilities, combined with the exploding computerized information technologies, have enabled a massive data base of personal information to be developed on millions of unsuspecting American citizens. It is all in place awaiting only a presidential declaration to be enforced by both military and civilian police.

In 1982, President Ronald Reagan issued National Security Directive 58 which empowered Robert McFarlane and Oliver North to use the National Security Council to secretly retrofit FEMA (Federal Emergency Management Agency) to manage the country during a national crisis. The 1984 "REX exercises" simulated civil unrest culminating in a national emergency with a contingency plan for the imprisonment of 400,000 people.

REX 84 was so secretive that special metal security doors were installed on the FEMA building's fifth floor, and even long-term officials of the Civil Defense Office were prohibited entry. The ostensible purpose of this exercise was to handle an influx of refugees created by a war in Central America, but a more realistic scenario was the detention of American citizens. actual facilities to house U.S. Citizens to be used as forced "slave" labor (prison inmate) work camps to produce goods for the elite and ruling classes. That was one of the major topics on Clinton's agenda when he visited China recently as he wanted to learn how the Chinese produce most of their mass produced products so cheaply.

There is one brand new camp near Las Vegas that is being used to train local police departments nationwide in urban warfare. Why do police need to be trained to conduct war against civilians? What are they planning for us?

On several websites, there are lists of over 300+ such camps and some show recent stages of construction and remodeling in scanned photos revealing 20+ foot high guard towers (where machine guns will be mounted), Chain link fences with razor wire strung out along the top, and buildings with huge gas pipes and conduits leading into windowless holding tank and prisoner cell buildings. That is for discussion of the Red and Blue lists, priority levels of U.S. Citizens who will be temporarily housed in the CCCCs for a short time until they are eliminated.

The Feds even have a specially constructed train with closable steel window Lonvers (air tight shutters). This train is designed to house dissident civilians enroute to huge air tight sealed structures for "fumigating." They won't even bother offloading the prisoners like Hitler did.

This is G o o g l e's cache of http://www.abovetopsecret.com/pages/camps.html.

There over 600 prison camps in the United States, all fully operational and ready to receive prisoners. They are all staffed and even surrounded by full-time guards, but they are all empty. These camps are to be operated by FEMA (Federal Emergency Management Agency) should Martial Law need to be implemented in the United States.The Rex 84 Program was established on the reasoning that if a mass exodus of illegal aliens crossed theMexican/US border, they would be quickly rounded up and detained in detention centers by FEMA. Rex 84 allowed many military bases to be closed down and to be turned into prisons.

Operation Cable Splicer and Garden Plot are the two sub programs which will be implemented once the Rex 84 program is initiated for its proper purpose. Garden Plot is the program to control the population. Cable Splicer is the program for an orderly takeover of the state and local governments by the federal government.

FEMA is the executive arm of the coming police state and thus will head up all operations. The Presidential Executive Orders already listed on the Federal Register also are part of the legal framework for this operation. The camps all have railroad facilities as well as roads leading to and from the detention facilities. Many also have an airport nearby. The majority of the camps can house a population of 20,000 prisoners. Currently, the largest of these facilities is just outside of Fairbanks, Alaska. The Alaskan facility is a massive mental health facility and can hold approximately 2 million people.

A person named Terry Kings wrote an article on his discoveries of camps located in southern California. His findings are as follows:

Over the last couple months several of us have investigated three soon-to-be prison camps in the Southern California area. We had heard about these sites and wanted to see them for ourselves. The first one we observed was in Palmdale, California. It is not operating as a prison at the moment but is masquerading as part of a water facility. Now why would there be a facility of this nature out in the middle of nowhere with absolutely no prisoners? The fences that run for miles around this large facility all point inward, and there are large mounds of dirt and dry moat surrounding the central area so the inside area is not visible from the road. There are 3 large loading docks facing the entrance that can be observed from the road. What are these massive docks going to be loading?

We observed white vans patrolling the area and one came out and greeted us with a friendly wave and followed us until we had driven safely beyond the area. What would have happened had we decided to enter the open gate or ask questions? This facility is across the street from the Palmdale Water Department. The area around the Water Department has fences pointing outward, to keep people out of this dangerous area so as not to drown. Yet, across the street, the fences all point inward. Why? To keep people in? What people? Who are going to be it's occupants? There are also signs posted every 50 feet stating: State of California Trespassing Loitering Forbidden By Law Section 555 California Penal Code. The sign at the entrance says: Pearblossom Operations and Maintenance Subcenter Receiving Department, 34534 116th Street East. There is also a guard shack located at the entrance.

We didn't venture into this facility, but did circle around it to see if there was anything else visible from the road. We saw miles of fences with the top points all directed inward. There is a railroad track that runs next to the perimeter of this fenced area. The loading docks are large enough to hold railroad cars. I wonder what they are planning for this facility? They could easily fit 100,000 people in this area. And who would the occupants be?

Another site is located in Brand Park in Glendale. There are newly constructed fences (all outfitted with new wiring that point inward). The fences surround a dry reservoir. There are also new buildings situated in the area. We questioned the idea that there were four armed military personnel walking the park. Since when does a public park need armed guards?

A third site visited was in the San Fernando Valley, adjacent to the Water District. Again, the area around the actual Water District had fences logically pointing out (to keep people out of the dangerous area). And the rest of the adjacent area which went on for several miles was ringed with fences and barbed wire facing inward (to keep what or who in?) Also, interesting was the fact that the addition to the tops of the fences were fairly new as to not even contain any sign of rust on them. Within the grounds was a huge building that the guard said was a training range for policemen. There were newly constructed roads, new gray military looking buildings, and a landing strip. For what?

Police cars were constantly patrolling the several mile perimeter of the area. From the parking lot of the Odyssey Restaurant a better view could be taken of the area that was hidden from site from the highway. There was an area that contained about 100 black boxes that looked like railroad cars.

We had heard that loads of railroad cars have been manufactured in Oregon outfitted with shackles. Would these be of that nature? From our position it was hard to determine. In searching the Internet, I have discovered that there are about 600 of these prison sites around the country (and more literally popping up overnight do they work all night). They are manned, but yet do not contain prisoners. Why do they need all these non-operating prisons? What are they waiting for? We continuously hear that our current prisons are overcrowded and they are releasing prisoners because of this situation. But what about all these facilities? What are they really for? Why are there armed guards yet no one to protect themselves against? And what is going to be the kick-off point to put these facilities into operation? What would bring about a situation that would call into effect the need for these new prison facilities? A man-made or natural catastrophe? An earthquake, panic due to Y2K, a massive poisoning, a panic of such dimensions to cause nationwide panic?

Once a major disaster occurs (whether it is a real event or manufactured event does not matter) Martial Law is hurriedly put in place and we are all in the hands of the government agencies (FEMA) who thus portray themselves as our protectors. Yet what happens when we question those in authority and how they are taking away all of our freedoms? Will we be the ones detained in these camp sites? And who are they going to round up? Those with guns? Those who ask questions? Those that want to know what's really going on? Does that include any of us? The seekers of truth?

When first coming across this information I was in a state of total denial. How could this be? I believed our country was free, and always felt a sense of comfort in knowing that as long as we didn't hurt others in observing our freedom we were left to ourselves. Ideally we treated everyone with respect and honored their uniqueness and hoped that others did likewise. It took an intensive year of searching into the hidden politics to discover that we are as free as we believe we are. If we are in denial, we don't see the signs that are staring at us, but keep our minds turned off and busy with all the mundane affairs of daily life.

The Rex 84 program is documented in the public record and civilian internment camps were publically admitted by Congressman Henry Gonzales in 1997. With the influx of of foreign military equipment into the United States as well as the Executive Orders registered on the Federal Register it would be impudent to ignore this information.

Also heres some You Tubes on it. Also check out http://www.apfn.org/apfn/camps.htm

My guess is an engineered outbreak of a man made virus like bird flue or similar, and the mainstream will probably report 5% of this epidemic ofcourse not reporting the man made or engineered part, plus they will praise fema for their prudence and foresight to have these "emergency" "quarantine" facilities. Either that or a faked asteroid event. They like to contract our "businesses" to do this work for them for example check out BLACKWATER

Thats What.

When? Good question.

Why? Well why ever? Why war?

Where? Heres a few spots http://i10.tinypic.com/6juou1f.jpg and this article mentions a few places aparantly they are still building so keep an eye out for the delivery trucks if you live near, and help fight the new world order.

I've noticed none of the feeds are working, and its seems to be because of a conflict between PodPress 8.8 and WordPress 2.6!!

as you can see from the link below
watershedstudio.com/blog/2008/07/podpress-88-and-wordpress-26/

Anyway, Its a massive pain in the butt for loads of people not just here at conspiracast.

I have tried using a fix for no review plugin, but that dosnt seem to be working and its not possible to rollback to any previous version afaik.

So the best thing to do is just sit tight and stream or download from here for the moment until a proper update comes along.

Sorry for the inconveinient pain in the butt. Stay subscribed please, should blow over in time ;)

Moving Home (9/26/08)

Other recurring bits include celebrity deaths (thanks to www.deadoraliveinfo.com), physics experiments with the fake Julius Sumner Miller, Paunch in Time, get-rich-quick schemes, stupid styles, local psychos, the Paunch bad luck, the hobo, What Ever Happened To?, and The Old Jingle of the Episode.

We also feature interviews, music (Screaming Orphans, Weird Paul Petroskey, DJ Boris Yeltsin, Curt Kirkwood, David W. Jacobsen, etc.), listener feedback, and trips to various locations throughout NJ and NYC.

11. Who hosts the show?

Greg and Rob host The Paunch Stevenson Show. We grew up in Belleville, NJ, throughout the 1980s and 90s. Our education consisted of several public schools, which could have easily doubled for insane asylums. Some of our favorite toys were Transformers, He-Man and the Masters of the Universe, the Real Ghostbusters, Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles, the Atari 2600, the Nintendo Entertainment System, and the Super Nintendo Entertainment System.

Now, Greg is a computer systems analyst in NJ and Rob is a graphic artist in NYC. Both locations provide an abundance of dumb situations and people – and some nice ones, too – which we discuss on the show.

15. When did The Paunch Stevenson Show materialize?

We considered starting our own podcast way back in early 2005 and finally got off our butts and recorded a couple of practice episodes a few months later during the summer. Once we felt slightly more comfortable recording the show, we took the plunge and started producing official episodes in early October. The complete Paunch Stevenson Show web site was launched on October 31, 2005. (It had previously featured the teaser "Paunch is coming…" with a photo of a toilet.)

16. How come the sound quality in the earlier episodes is so bad?

We recorded the first episode of The Paunch Stevenson Show together in the same room. In fact, we shared one microphone. It sounded pretty good, but we realized traveling back and forth from NJ to NYC and vice versa every week would be inconvenient, so in episode 2, we started recording the show via the internet (Greg in NJ and Rob in NYC – Rob didn't move back to NJ until mid 2008). As a result, the sound quality in episodes 2 through 7 isn't that great. For some reason, Greg ended up sounding like he was talking on a telephone, which was weird and stupid.

Because we are geniuses, we came up with new, secret recording techniques that drastically improved the show's sound quality starting in episode 8. In episode 45, we finally started recording the show using Skype. We're constantly experimenting and fine-tuning the recording process and looking for ways to make the show sound better than ever.

17. Is there any Paunch Stevenson Show merchandise?

Yes! Currently, we have stickers and a few different t-shirts available to purchase online in our store. We'll eventually add better stuff, so keep listening to the show for updates.

18. What is a podcast and what is podcasting?

Podcasts, also referred to as internet radio shows or netcasts, are just regular audio files that are available online, but with one cool addition: listeners can subscribe.

Sure, you can visit The Paunch Stevenson Show web site every week and download our new episodes by hand, but if you subscribe, your computer will download new episodes automatically!

This might not seem like a big deal if you only listen to one or two podcasts, but if you have a bunch of favorites (The Paunch Stevenson Show, The Overnightscape, This Week in Tech, Windows Weekly, etc.), every new episode will be downloaded automatically, which is pretty convenient.

To subscribe to The Paunch Stevenson Show in iTunes for free, click here…or copy and paste our podcast RSS feed http://www.paunchstevenson.com/rss.xml into your RSS reader or "podcatching" program. It will download new episodes automatically.

You can listen to podcasts on any MP3 player or computer, not just ones made by Apple.

19. What if I have a question that isn't on this page?

Email it to us or post a comment anywhere on our site. We'll answer it, we promise.

Thanks for listening!

goodrob13 music show 1 – (2/8/11) 1:53:36 [702] A NEW Music-Talk show hosted by Rob from the Paunch Stevenson show! ¶ The Overnightscape Underground podcast network, Frank Nora,The Paunch Stevenson Show, walking to my office in Manhattan, figuring out where to post the Goodrob13 Music Show, growing up with old music, percussion instruments and humor, starting rock bands in high school, being the one who could figure out songs by ear, figuring out how to play guitar on my own, making my first home recordings, starting a band as an adult instead of a teenager, 1990s grunge/alternative rock, the evolution of rock music from the late 1950s through the early 1980s, experiencing the evolution of rock music in the 1990s in real-time, the premature death of alternative rock in 1996, not being able to write music, the excitement of experiencing a current band's progression in real time vs. exploring an old band's catalog, three reasons I find current music unlistenable (oversimplified, overperfected, and overprocessed), the progressive lack of dynamic range in music since the mid 1990s, Weird Paul Petroskey, the natural power of musical instruments and simpler recordings, deceptively simple songs like "She Loves You," digitally remastered CDs usually sound worse than older versions, and your music suggestions!

goodrob13 music show 2 – (2/09/11) 48:37 [702] The Free Design!: naming the show, creating new content efficiently (recording during my commute), PATH train problems, analog tape saturation vs. digital clipping, getting used to recording while walking in NYC, the fourth reason I find current music unlistenable (lack of charisma and likable personalities), indie artists acting too serious and pretentious, video games, fun vs. dark and edgy, the irony of public figures wanting privacy, late 1960s-early 1970s jazzy pop group The Free Design, plain and simple singing voices vs. today's affected vocals, the horrible Free Design remix album The Now Sound Redesigned (2005), and some short clips of Free Design songs ("Make the Madness Stop," "I Found Love," "Bubbles," "Girls Alone," "Butterflies Are Free," and "2002 - A Hit Song").

goodrob13 music show 3 – (2/10/11) 46:00 [702] The lost art of TV theme songs and commercial jingles, what do those songwriters, musicians, and vocalists do now?, a generation that finds it weird for products to be advertised with songs, the Toys "R" Us song ("I don't wanna grow up, I'm a Toys 'R' Us kid"), the irony of enjoying commercial jingles while living an anti-commercial life, Mount Airy Lodge, judging theme songs and jingles out of context on their own merits, acknowledging the nostalgia factor, the Kellogg's Frosted Flakes song ("The taste of Tony's Frosted Flakes brings out the tiger in you"), the Tootsie Roll song ("Whatever it is I think I see becomes a Tootsie Roll to me"), gum commercials, hoping for a revival, and a small selection of my favorite intros and jingles (The Electric Company, Alice, He-Man and the Masters of the Universe, One Day at a Time, Big Red, Charles in Charge, Dennis the Menace, Green Acres, Alvin and the Chipmunks, Juicy Fruit, The Munsters, Laverne and Shirley, The Addams Family, G.I. Joe: A Real American Hero, Mr. Ed, Bod, We're Not Candy, Simon in the Land of Chalk Drawings, Jem, Tootsie Rolls, The Great Space Coaster, Josie and the Pussycats, and The Magic Garden).

goodrob13 music show 4 – Screaming Orphans! (2/15/11) 33:58 [702] Screaming Orphans! Goodrob13 Music Show episode 4: the Goodrob13 Music Show on the Overnightscape Underground podcast network, the 53rd annual Grammy Awards (2011), today's pop stars focusing on outlandish costumes and gimmicks instead of good music (Lady Gaga, Cee Lo Green, etc.), wondering how people in the future will judge today's music, feeling stupid saying current artist's names, today's music having no lasting value (disposable music), the New Kids on the Block revival, nostalgia, current music I actually like (Screaming Orphans and Dean and Britta), clips of Screaming Orphans songs ("Liar," "City of Chicago," "Give a Little," "Here Comes Your Man," "Don't You Cry," and "Circles"), L'Avventura (2003), Tony Visconti, good arrangements, and clips of Dean and Britta songs ("Out Walking," "Night Nurse," and "Moonshot").

goodrob13 music show 5 – Jig Dolls! (2/16/11) 22:05 [702] Jig dolls! Goodrob13 Music Show episode 5: More current music I actually like (Camera Obscura, Rilo Kiley, and Dolores O'Riordan), bad audio mastering, my extreme hatred of asymmetrical headphones, Creative Commons vs. copyrighted music and art, my Creative Commons photos on Flickr being used on blogs and in books, Frank Nora talking about jamendo.com free Creative Commons music site, jig dolls (also known as limberjacks- video), and not being able to copy and paste the file path in MS Windows or Mac OS X.

goodrob13 music show 6 – (2/17/11) 47:20 [702] Goodrob13 Music Show episode 6: Watching TV shows illegally, growing up with free 24 hour streaming radio and TV content, getting used to paying for songs and TV shows on computers, getting used to paying for cable TV years ago, the fragmented world of online music and TV content (iTunes, Netflix, Hulu Plus, Rhapsody, etc.), the Overnightscape Central podcast, Wayne from Sparetime Radio talking about George Carlin, most people being too arrogant and/or afraid to admit they've been lied to, poisoned, and cheated their whole lives, turning a blind eye vs. dealing with new knowledge and stressors, my questions about chemtrails, socially acceptable smoke vs. unacceptable smoke, and dangerous substances being viewed as harmless to people who grew up with them.

goodrob13 music show 7 – (2/18/11) 33:01 [702] Goodrob13 Music Show episode 7: Tanya Donelly (founding member of Belly, The Breeders, and Throwing Muses), musicians moving away from rock music as they get older, my introduction to Juliana Hatfield and Blake Babies, a dummy wanting to pull the PATH train emergency brake because a passenger fainted, digital audio and non-linear editing vs. cassette tapes, Hatfield's superb minimally-produced rock album Bed (1998), Become What You Are (1993) and Only Everything (1995), Hatfield's book When I Grow Up: A Memoir (2008), meeting Juliana Hatfield (Maxwell's in 2005, Knitting Factory in 2008, and Bowery Ballroom in 2008), asking her to be a guest on The Paunch Stevenson Show, Jessica Simpson, and does the cream really rise to the top?

The Noid

Will Vinton Studios, the creator of the California Raisins, also created the Noid, the mascot for Domino's Pizza in the late 1980s and early 1990s. The commercials featured stop-motion animation by Tony Merrithew (tonymerrithew.blogspot.com) and the slogan, "Avoid the Noid."

In 1989, Kenneth Lamar Noid thought the commercials were a personal attack on him and held two employees of an Atlanta, Georgia, Domino's Pizza restaurant hostage for five hours. After forcing the employees to cook a free pizza for him, he surrendered to police, was charged with kidnapping, aggravated assault, extortion, and possession of a firearm during a crime, and was later found not guilty by reason of insanity.

In 1990, Capcom produced a video game for the Nintendo Entertainment System called Yo! Noid. It's a classic, right up there with Mega Man and Street Fighter II…not.

Professor Julius Sumner Miller

Julius Sumner Miller

We first saw Dr. Miller's exploits during 12th grade Physics class on old PBS taped episodes of his show. He often attempted crazy experiments which went awry, leaving his studio, props, students, or Professor Miller himself busted up!

Here at the Paunch Show, we have a running skit where we re-enact his experiments on the show, resulting in his lab assistant getting injured. Visit www.abc.net.au/science/features/whyisitso/ to watch original Why Is It So? videos!

About the Professor from the Why Is It So? homepage…

Julius Sumner Miller, as he started making the Why Is It So? series for broadcast, gained much positive response from the public and much outcry from academics. The Professor was in high demand across the globe, appearing in Australia twenty-six times, and eventually had a question posted everyday in The Australian newspaper in 1966.

To finish up, who better than the man himself, who gave his bold goal in the preface to a book of Q & A's, Millergrams which were taken from The Australian's questions.

 "The hope I have here is simply summed up: To stir your imagination, awaken your interest, arouse your curiosity, enliven your spirit – all with the purpose of bringing you to ask, as young Maxwell put it, 'What's the go of it?' – or, as Kepler had it, 'why things are as they are and not otherwise.' Or, more simply in my own phrase, why is it so?"

Origin of our 1980s catchphrase "Razzmatazz"

posted on Jul 10, 2006 | Comments (7)

Many moons ago…..episode 18 to be exact, we recounted a tale of elementary school, where we kept saying the word "Razzmatazz." It eventually became our own little catchphrase, such as other 1980s words as dude, rad, gnarley, etc. Well, with a little research, we think we've narrowed down the most widely used instances of "Razzmatazz." But which one was where we got it from????

Origin of our 1980s catchphrase "Razzmatazz"

A) The song Razzmatazz by the English rock band Pulp in 1993?
B) A disco club in Barcelona, Spain (www.salarazzmatazz.com)?
C) A painting by Roy Lichtenstein?
D) 1977-1982 children's program hosted by Brian Tochi from Revenge of the Nerds?
E) Raspberry flavored Schnapps, made by DeKuyper Co?
F) Crayola crayon color, chosen in 1993 as a part of the Name The New Colors Contest?
G) British 1981-1987 music television show, hosted by Alistair Pirrie and Lisa Stansfield?
H) A Barbershop Quartet singing group (www.razzmatazz.org)?

The late great ITT Tower in Nutley, NJ

posted on Jan 15, 2007 | Comments (1)

ITT Tower picture by Greg

The ITT Research Tower was built along Washington Avenue in Nutley, NJ, in 1947. It stood 300 feet high, and was a landmark visible from miles around. I think it was even present in some of the Microsoft Flight Simulators in the mid 1990's. ITT was a defense-related research company, which had a massive complex on the site. The company would greatly downsize and eventually demolished half of the site and sold it for redevelopment. Part is now the Clifton Commons Mall. Rob and I often road our bicycles there in the early 90's to play volleyball on the sand court, only to be chased out by a fat security guy in a jeep. In fact the above picture is one I took back around 1994 I think, of the tower and the volleyball court.

 NEW JERSEY, NEWARK – German [Thule Society] infiltration of the American military-industrial complex following WWII, via the NSA, I.T.T., ARCO, EXXON, etc., led to the construction of massive joint alien-fascist underground complexes [stemming from the Nazi alliance with an alien collaboration, based under the Gizeh plateau of Egypt - via the Grant Orient Lodge of Egyptian Freemasonry and the various gnostic Bavarian cults that were brought back from Egypt during the Egyptian occupation by the armies of the so-called "Holy Roman Empire" of Italy-Austria-Germany]. Tunnel systems run from the I.T.T. Corporation building in Newark to the I.T.T. facility at Nutley, to Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio [mag-lev tubes], to A.I.L., to Long Island [Montauk Point].

Here is a video of the tower being demolished in 1996, as well as preceding photos and the local news videos of the destruction. What a shame they turned the large green space there into a gated Townhouse community. I hate those. Those are not communities, they are seperated from the community.

Does Stallone expect us to believe he can single-handedly defeat an entire army at age 61? The movies were barely believable when he was in his 30s.

Jesus, Take the Wheel

posted on Jan 19, 2008 | Comments (2)

In 2005, former American Idol contestant Carrie Underwood had a hit song called "Jesus, Take the Wheel," which I hadn't heard until today. Has anyone paid attention to the lyrics? I have and they're ridiculous.

The song is about a woman who is driving too fast during a blizzard. She skids on some ice and starts screaming for Jesus to take control of the steering wheel so she doesn't die. While the car is still out of control, she lets go of the wheel and somehow, the car magically pulls over to the shoulder and comes safely to a stop. The woman thanks Jesus and promises she'll treat people better from now on.

There's only one problem. This woman knows she's a jerk and that it's impossible for her to treat people nicely on her own, so she asks Jesus to take control of her entire life too, just like he did with her car.

Instead of learning her lesson about driving recklessly, the only thing the woman has learned is that whenever she does something stupid, Jesus will bail her out. That's a great message to send to people. "Act like a moron. It's okay. Jesus will protect you."

The last thing people need is an excuse to be even more thoughtless and irresponsible than they already are. Way to go, Carrie Underwood.

The FBI has released the bank's surveillance video and has posted the limping ninja's picture on electronic billboards along major local roads. Maybe someone will recognize him and turn him in soon.

A $1,000 reward is being offered for information leading to the Crutch Bandit's arrest. He is described as a thin Asian man, 25 to 35 years old, approximately 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighing 140 pounds, and crippled.

Michael Bay The Paunch Stevenson Show Lame Idiot of The Year Award

Michael Bay is the winner of The Paunch Stevenson Show Lame Idiot of 2007 Award.

Michael Bay directed the horrible summer blockbuster Transformers (2007) and destroyed the classic science fiction franchise. He ignored the producers' suggestions and decided to stick with a broken script and make the Transformers look like metal skeletons instead of robots.

According to Bay, "Tom Desanto proceeded to tell me how much he had problems with the robot designs and script issues. I realized he was worlds apart in my vision. I said thank you very much and then showed him my office door… I never spoke creatively with Don Murphy. I read his notes kind of trashing the script… he knew I was not going to talk creative with him."

Michael Bay has directed other masterpieces like Bad Boys (1995), Armageddon (1998), and Pearl Harbor (2001). He is also directing the upcoming Transformers 2 scheduled for release in the U.S. on June 26, 2009. Great.

Celebrity Death: Heath Ledger

posted on Jan 22, 2008 | Comments (8)

Heath Ledger

Heath Ledger
Born: April 4, 1979
Died: January 22, 2008 (age 28)

Actor Heath Ledger, 28 years old, was found dead in his $24,000-a-month Manhattan apartment this afternoon. An initial police report cited by The New York Times states foul play is not suspected and that pills had been found near Ledger's body. He was found unconscious and unresponsive in one of the apartment's bedrooms around 3:30 p.m. when a masseuse arrived for a scheduled appointment and the residence's housekeeper went to inform him of the masseuse's arrival.

NYPD confirmed, then later retracted that the apartment belongs to Mary-Kate Olsen. Dummies.

Ledger is starring as the Joker in the upcoming Batman movie The Dark Knight, which is currently scheduled for release in the U.S. on July 18, 2008.

UPDATE: Heath Ledger died of an accidental overdose of painkillers, sleeping pills, anti-anxiety medication, and other prescription drugs, the New York City medical examiner said Wednesday, February 6, 2008.

Space Tourism in 2009

posted on Jan 24, 2008 | Comments (3)

Virgin Galactic SpaceShipTwo

Yesterday, January 23, 2008, entrepreneur Richard Branson unveiled a model of the "spaceship" he hopes will take paying passengers on space flights beginning in 2009. His company, Virgin Galactic, is charging $200,000 per two-and-a-half hour flight.

That's pretty expensive considering the flights won't actually be going into outer space. Technically, passengers will be taken on a sub-orbital flight 62 miles above sea level. By comparison, the Moon is 240,000 miles above sea level. Passengers will be weightless for about five minutes though. Isn't five minutes of nausea worth $200,000?

Over 200 people have signed up so far, including actress Victoria Principal and physicist Stephen Hawking. Imagine him in his wheelchair spinning around weightless puking all over everyone.

Also entering the business is Bigelow Aerospace, a company aimed at creating space hotels. Seriously.

Replacing the Infamously Blinking Nintendo 72 Pin Connector

posted on Jan 24, 2008 | Comments (2)

If you've followed the classic gaming scene at all, or more likely, remember the Famous Nintendo Entertainment System……..Undoubtedly you remember the blinking screen when inserting a game and pressing the power button. Remember the solution back then? Blow onto the cartridge connector, maybe even spit in it! Well, the real solution was some type of cleaning solution and a Q-tip to clean the connectors. Even then, my 20 year old NES has gotten too annoying to use. I can't play a game without cleaning it first, games which were originally mine and would not be dirty.

Modern Age Solution? The equally infamous 72-Pin Replacement "ZIF" connector. That's right, just $4 bucks plus shipping, and I've got a new connector. To replace it?
Follow these directions: http://www.jandar.net/nes72pin/

Here's my image via camera phone….
NES 72 Pin Connector change-out

Wasn't too hard….result? Well, almost all games now work on the first shot, no more blinking. Catch? Of course there is! Paunch curse and all. Try to get the game out of the system! You need Hulk Hogan's 52 inch pythons, it's that stuck in there. I think it gets looser with time, I hope. My thumb is in pain.

Genetically Modified Onions

posted on Feb 7, 2008 | Comments (2)

Yahoo! News – Scientists create tearless onions

Scientists in New Zealand and Japan have created a tear-free onion using biotechnology to switch off the gene behind the enzyme that makes us cry. The research institute in New Zealand, Crop and Food, used gene-silencing technology to make the breakthrough which it hopes could lead to a prototype onion hitting the market before 2018.

Colin Eady, the institute's senior scientist, said the project started in 2002 after Japanese scientists located the gene responsible for producing the agent behind the tears.

"Here in New Zealand, we had the ability to insert DNA into onions using gene-silencing technology developed by Australian scientists. The technology creates a sequence that switches off the tear-inducing gene in the onion so it doesn't produce the enzyme. So when you slice the vegetable, it doesn't produce tears."

Next on scientists' to-do list: creating leafless trees, measuring the speed of mayonnaise, and – if they get around to it – curing cancer.

Val Kilmer is KITT

posted on Feb 10, 2008 | Comments (1)

William Daniels, Will Arnett, and Val Kilmer

Variety – Val Kilmer voices Knight Rider

On Sunday, February 17, 2008, NBC is airing the new made-for-TV movie Knight Rider. If all goes well, NBC will turn it into a TV show.

From 1982 to 1986, William Daniels played the voice of the car KITT in the original Knight Rider show. Now, the honor goes to Val Kilmer. NBC originally wanted Will Arnett from the TV show Arrested Development and the movie Let's Go to Prison (2006), but his contract with General Motors prevented him from accepting the part.

Ford is providing cars for the new Knight Rider and is taking an active role in the marketing and branding of the movie. GM found out about the Ford connection and asked Arnett to decline.

"I was very excited at the prospect of playing the part of KITT," Arnett said. "However, because of a long relationship with General Motors as the voice of GMC Trucks, I had to respectfully withdraw from the project."

America's Most Miserable Big Cities

Forbes – America's Most Miserable Cities

"We looked at only the 150 largest metropolitan areas, which meant a minimum population of 371,000."

1. Detroit, MI – Ranked number 1 in violent crime with an annual rate of 1,251 crimes per 100,000 residents. Ranked number 2 in unemployment at 8.5%.

2. Stockton, CA – It's population increased 28% from 1997 to 2007, which caused home prices to increase 158% between 2000 and 2005. Now, it has one of the highest home foreclosure rates in the country.

3. Flint, MI – More and more people have been leaving Flint since 1990 due to unemployment. On the bright side, home prices have decreased to an average of $104,000.

4. New York, NY – Ranked number 1 in highest income tax rate (10.5%, which is more than twice the U.S. average). Ranked number 1 in worst commuting time at an average of 36 minutes each way.

5. Philadelphia, PA – Ranked in the top 20 in worst commuting time, violent crime, and number of toxic waste sites.

6. Chicago, IL – Long commuting time (an average of 31 minutes each way), a high violent crime rate (619 crimes per 100,000 residents), and freezing-cold winters.

7. Los Angeles, CA – Constant traffic, high income tax rates, and severe air pollution. Beautiful weather, though.

8. Modesto, CA – Ranked number 1 in unemployment at 8.7%.

9. Charlotte, NC – Very high violent crime rate (838 crimes per 100,000 residents).

10. Providence, RI – Ranked number 2 in highest income tax rate (9.9%). Roughly 20,000 residents have left Providence each year for the past four years.

Roy Scheider

Yahoo! News – Roy Scheider of Jaws dies at 75

Sad news is that Roy Scheider died yesterday, at the age of 75. Roy is best known as Chief Martin Brody in Steven Spielberg's Jaws and Jaws II. I also remember him from The French Connection, 2010 (sequel to 2001 Space Odyssey) and many years later, as Captain Nathan Bridger on SeaQuest DSV on NBC. Roy actually was born in Orange, NJ, and attended Columbia High School in Maplewood. Pretty much the Paunch Stevenson neck of the woods. The guy was a terrific actor and one of those who you instantly recognize on screen and who's personality is very authentic and real. One of my favorites and will be missed.

Rotten Tomatoes – Michael Bay Says He Already Wrote Transformers 2

As the Writers Guild of America strike comes to an end, Transformers (2007) director Michael Bay has revealed that he's already written the sequel himself, despite the fact that his screenwriters – Alex Kurtzman, Roberto Orci, and Ehren Kruger – were not allowed to work on the project during the strike.

"I've been writing Transformers 2," Bay said. "I want to make my date. I'm not going to let the strike take me down."

Could Michael Bay be the first to win our Lame Idiot of the Year Award two years in a row?

Transformers 2 is currently scheduled for release in the U.S. on June 26, 2009.

The People Vs. George Lucas

George Lucas

There is some sort of indie or fan film project underway, due out in 2009, seeking to flesh out and understand why there is such divisiveness among Star Wars fans. More specifically, their feelings towards the choices made by George Lucas following the original Trilogy. The structure will be based on several hot topics of debate. Seems as though they have been accepting fan submissions of videos. The writer/director is Alexandre Phillipe. I guess we should make a video?

Airborne Is Officially a Scam

posted on Mar 4, 2008 | Comments (2)

Airborne is a scam

CNNMoney.com – Airborne settles lawsuit for $23.3 million

Airborne claimed its products could cure colds in as little as an hour. That's funny because today, March 4, 2008, Airborne agreed to pay $23.3 million to settle a class-action lawsuit brought against the company for false advertising.

"Airborne is basically an overpriced, run-of-the-mill vitamin pill that's been cleverly, but deceptively, marketed," said David Schardt, senior nutritionist at the Center for Science in the Public Interest.

Customers who still have their receipts will be refunded for any Airborne they have ever bought. Customers without receipts will be reimbursed for up to six packages, which amounts to about $63.

Airborne was created in the early 1990s by Victoria Knight-McDowell, a second grade teacher who decided to mix together a whole bunch of different vitamins and Chinese herbs. GNG Pharmaceutical Services Inc. had conducted a study and concluded that Airborne products were effective in preventing the flu and colds. However, an ABC News report disclosed that GNG Pharmaceutical Services Inc. was actually two guys hired by Ms. Knight-McDowell who conducted the "study" in their house. Idiots.

For more information about how to receive a refund, visit: www.airbornehealthsettlement.com

Transformers: Animated…The Movie that Wasn't

Transformers: Animated

Many moons ago, we commented on Cartoon Network's Transformers: Animated show. It debuted on December 26, 2007, although I've yet to see it because I'm still asleep at 10:30 Saturday morning. However, aside from it using the current animation style of Batman, Star Wars Clone Wars, and Justice League, it seems like a really good representation of the G1 show. There are many characters from the classic show, almost all with their same personality, color scheme, and vehicle mode. They include Optimus Prime, Bumblebee, Ratchet, Prowl, Ultra Magnus, Jazz, Ironhide, Blurr, Arcee, Elita One, Grimlock, Snarl, Swoop, Megatron, Starscream, Soundwave, Shockwave, and more. They have the Ark (Autobot ship), the Nemesis (Decepticon ship), Cybertron, Teletraan I, the original transforming sound effect, the purplish neon energon cubes, and even the original Transformers theme song! Voice actors include Corey Burton, John Moschitta Jr., Weird Al Yankovic, Lance Henriksen, and Bill Fagerbakke (Dauber on Coach). I have yet to see an actual episode, but the videos on the websites below are interesting. It seems as if the flow and dialogue is very close to the original show.

Cartoon Network Official Site
Another Official Website

Corey Burton, the voice of G1 Shockwave, now plays Megatron. David Kaye, the voice of Beast Wars Megatron, is now Optimus Prime, who he also played in several of the recent TF cartoons. Welker said he nor Cullen were offered a role. I have to think that the reason is Cartoon Network preferred to use people it's worked with extensively before.

Special Ed Third Graders Tried to Kill Their Teacher

posted on Apr 5, 2008 | Comments (1)

Fox News – 3rd Graders Plotted to Kill Teacher

Officials at the Center Elementary School in Waycross, Georgia, have thwarted a plot by a group of third grade special education students to kill their teacher. Officials learned of the plot on March 28, 2008, when a student told authorities about the plan before the start of the school day.

The students allegedly brought a broken steak knife, a roll of duct tape, handcuffs, ribbon, and a crystal paperweight to class in a bid to kill their teacher, Belle Carter. The students, ages 8 and 9, were mad at her because she had scolded one of them for standing on a chair.

Three of the students have been identified as ringleaders. They could be expelled, but are too young to be charged with a crime under Georgia law.

Did special ed students really think they could get away with murder in public? They can't even read.

Mario Kart Wii in NYC

posted on Apr 24, 2008 | Comments (4)

I attended Nintendo's Mario Kart Wii promotional event in New York City at 12:00 this afternoon and recorded a video:

I also snapped some photos:
Flickr – Mario Kart Wii promo event, NYC 4/24/08

Based on my experience with other Nintendo events in NYC – the Nintendo World grand opening in May 2005, the debut of Nintendogs with special guest Shigeru Miyamoto in September 2005, and the debut of Super Mario Galaxy in November 2007 – I anticipated a huge crowd, but when I got there, it was just me and one other guy standing in front of the Sheraton hotel on 7th Avenue waiting for Mario. Oh well. When Mario finally walked down the steps, the other guy and I surrounded him and were taking tons of pictures like idiots.

Eventually, a small crowd gathered and children were genuinely excited to see Mario walking down the street. I was surprised by how many adults asked to take a picture with him. It was cool.

The point of this event: Nintendo's new racing video game Mario Kart Wii debuts Sunday, April 27, 2008, in the U.S. To promote it, Mario walked back and forth along the sidewalk holding the steering wheel that's included with the game and hailed taxi cabs for people. Steering wheel…racing game…taxi cabs…it sort of makes sense, right? As a bonus, Nintendo paid $10 toward each fare, including mine. Thanks!

Being a video game fan and a Nintendo fan, I knew what the event was for, but I don't think people walking by did. As you can tell by my video, this was an incredibly quiet publicity event. Mario didn't talk, but neither did the woman who was with him. She should've been belting out, "Hey everybody, Mario Kart Wii is coming this Sunday! It features twelve-player online fun and a motion-sensing steering wheel! Who wants a cab ride? The first $10 is on us!" She wasn't. There weren't even any signs or free keychains.

I realize this event wasn't really necessary because several million copies of the game will be bought automatically by Nintendo fans like me, but still, someone should've been handing out buttons or fliers letting people know what was going on. If you're reading this and work for Nintendo, please consult me for your next game publicity event.

Newspapers Are Obsolete

posted on May 10, 2008 | Comments (4)

With TV, radio, and internet access at home, at work, and on mobile phones, what is the point of newspapers? If people want the latest headlines, sports scores, stock prices, and sales, they can turn on the TV, turn on the radio, or visit Yahoo!, CNN, ESPN, or Amazon for free. Yet, millions of people across the U.S. still spend 50 cents every morning to carry around 100-page newspapers, read day-old information, and get ink all over their hands. It doesn't make sense. The majority of newspaper content is useless advertisements anyway.

Do most individuals use newspapers to sell things anymore? No, they use eBay, Amazon, and Craig's List. Do they use newspapers to look for jobs anymore? No, they use HotJobs, Monster, and Craig's List. Even the New York Times crossword puzzle can be downloaded and printed on demand.

Fifty years ago, newspapers were great. They were 1958's equivalent to the internet. They allowed everyone to have fast access to information, but fifty years later, with our modern alternatives and environmental awareness, do we really need to keep wasting tons of paper, ink, and energy printing newspapers 365 days a year?

Unboxing My New HP Computer

posted on May 18, 2008 | Comments (4)

HP Pavilion Elite m9250f

After months of research and waiting, I finally bought a new computer: an HP Pavilion Elite m9250f. Circuit City had it for a good price and Intel isn't releasing any major new processors for a while, so it seemed like the right time.

I'm still setting up the new computer, but hope to have episode 102 online soon. I copied all of my files from my Dell Dimension 4500 to my external USB hard drive and am now copying them from the USB drive to the HP.

My old Dell from 2002 is still a good computer, but I do a lot of audio editing, image editing, and video editing and this new HP will save me a ton of time. I just performed a test to see exactly how much time I'll save and the results are even better than I anticipated. On my old Dell, applying noise reduction to a 30-minute audio file takes roughly 14 minutes. I thought that was pretty good. On my new HP, it takes roughly three minutes. Wow.

For those of you who are into computers, I posted unboxing photos and photos comparing my Dell tower to my new HP tower:

Flickr – Unboxing my new HP, NYC 5/17/08

For those of you who are really into computers, here are the specs for my old Dell and new HP:

Dell Dimension 4500 and HP Pavilion Elite m9250f specs – text file

As amazingly fast as this new computer is, there are a few things I like better about my old Dell. The Dell tower was designed so it could be lifted and carried easily. The HP tower wasn't. The Dell came with a standard keyboard, which I like. The HP came with a multimedia keyboard, which has a slightly different layout. I use a lot of keyboard shortcuts while working, so I notice the fact that certain keys are different sizes and in different places.

This is my first time using Windows Vista. One thing I don't like about it is that Microsoft changed the audio mixer. The one in Windows 98 and XP was convenient and simple. It was almost perfect. The one in Vista is useless. I'll probably end up searching for a third-party audio mixer online, but I wouldn't have to if Microsoft hadn't ruined it in the first place.

Drivers start your engines, I get Paunched again!

posted on May 20, 2008 | Comments (1)

As many may have picked up, or not, I Greg am quite the motorsports aficionado. One of my favorite days of the year is Sunday, Memorial Day Weekend. This year, while recovering from my 70 mile bicycle ride, I'll be glued to the set for the 92nd Indianapolis 500. Well, while the action has been going on in Indiana for the last 2 plus weeks, you'd think to see it you'd have to fly out to Indy, right? No! On Monday, May 19, they flew the full field of 33 drivers (30 guys and 3 ladies) to New York City, right over the river from me. They all took part in a group

The only problem was A) I didn't find out until afterwards, and B) I was too busy at work to go anyway. But arggggggghhhhh how annoying! Paunch Luck again. The next closest Indycar race is 4 hours away in Watkins Glen, NY. What other chance would I have to see the entire field of drivers though for the Indy 500 without being there? Rats! NASCAR does the same thing, having their actual cars ride through Manhattan in December. I've yet to see it, because I always forget when it is, so I can take off from work.

Stan Lee, former president of Marvel Comics, co-created Spider-Man, the Fantastic Four, the X-Men, Iron Man, the Hulk, Daredevil, and several other comic book characters.

In 1998, he started Stan Lee Media, a new internet-based production and marketing studio, which grew to 165 people and went public. He produced the animated web series The 7th Portal and voiced the characters Izayus, The Drifter, and The Accuser.

Near the end of 2000, investigators discovered illegal stock manipulation and in February 2001, Stan Lee Media filed for bankruptcy. Stan Lee's lawyer Peter Paul fled to Sao Paulo, Brazil. Excelsior!

In 2003, Lee created the animated series Stripperella for Spike TV, which was cancelled after thirteen episodes. In 2004, he announced plans to collaborate with Hugh Hefner on a superhero cartoon featuring Playboy Playmates and announced another superhero show that would feature Ringo Starr as the lead character. 'Natch!

On July 27, 2006, Who Wants to Be a Superhero? starring Stan Lee debuted on the Sci Fi Channel. At the July 2007 Comic-Con International, Hasbro introduced a Stan Lee action figure. 'Nuff said!

Bottled Water Is Evil

posted on Jun 8, 2008 | Comments (2)

USA Today – Thirst for bottled water unleashes flood of environmental concerns

The problem isn’t the water, it’s the use of resources. It takes a lot of oil to make all those little bottles and ship them, sometimes halfway around the world.

Plastic water bottles produced for U.S. consumption take 1.5 million barrels of oil per year, according to a 2007 resolution passed by the U.S. Conference of Mayors. That much energy could power 250,000 homes or fuel 100,000 cars for a year, according to the resolution.

Cornell University professor and environmentalist Doug James said the irony of bottled water is that it’s marketed as clean and healthy when its production contributes to unnecessary environmental degradation.

“Take Fiji water, for example,” he said. “A one-liter bottle is taken out of the aquifer of this little island, and shipped all the way across the world, producing half a pound of greenhouse gases just so you can have this one-liter bottle of water.”

Professor James found that of the 30 billion plastic water bottles sold in the United States in 2005, only 12 percent were recycled. That left 25 billion bottles landfilled, littered or incinerated.

Stop buying bottled water and reuse the ones you already have!

Scott C. Clements Reviews Indiana Jones 4

posted on Jun 19, 2008 | Comments (7)

Scott C. Clements

As we mentioned in episode 104, we were interested to see what filmmaker and Paunch Stevenson Show guest Scott C. Clements thought about Indiana Jones and the Kingdom of the Crystal Skull. He wrote to us:

"Regarding Indiana Jones 4, to be honest, I was so disappointed in it, it's hard for me to even think about it. It was quite a bummer for me.

I remember when I was interviewed on your show, I expressed how skeptical I was about Indy 4 because I had lost faith in George Lucas and I was wary of Harrison Ford's age and the 1950s setting.

As reports came in about Steven Spielberg's attempts to refrain from the Lucas school of film making by sticking with old school action techniques instead of relying heavily on computer graphics, I started to think the project could actually be good. Also, the publicity photos of Harrison Ford and Karen Allen were incredibly flattering and the 1950s setting started to appeal to me because of its roots in George Lucas's early work, American Graffiti.

However, my hope turned to dread as I sat through the movie. My biggest problem was with the villains. They didn't do anything particularly horrible, so it was difficult for me to fear them. It took a second viewing to even figure out that they wanted to rule America with the crystal skull's mind control powers. If I don't fear the villain, there isn't much drama. For example, when Nazi henchman Toht is about to burn Marion's face off with a red hot poker in Raiders of the Lost Ark, my adrenaline starts pumping like crazy. He's going to disfigure her, for God's sake! Same when the Thugee priest Mola Ram, from Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom, rips the heart out of a poor villager and laughs with glee as the man's heart ignites into a ball of flames in his hand! This is one sick bastard and I'm terrified just thinking of what he'll do to our heroes if he gets his hands on them.

This sort of danger was lacking a bit from Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade, which was why that was the weakest film for me…until Indiana Jones and the Kingdom of the Crystal Skull. Cate Blanchett and her Russian henchman did little to make me take them seriously as a threat to Indy or the world. Cate had a rapier, but she didn't stab or torture anyone with it so it was a pointless prop, in a character building sense. I have a strong suspicion that Lucas and Spielberg felt they had to play down the villainy of the Russians for political correctness's sake. We all know the Russians were no Nazis. The Nazis were undeniably evil, so it was quite fitting for Indy to bash the living heck out of them in his previous adventures. But, he did little of that in this film, which really took away from the grittiness a true action film needs. Instead, this played as a mostly comedic Jones family reunion special. Put most simply, this "action" film had no spine.

And don't even get me started on the fact that Indy almost never used his whip or gun! That was absurd! I also hated the lame comedy, including the ridiculously cartoonish-looking CGI gophers and pompadour-sporting monkeys. And what was with the friggin' fridge scene? LAME!!!

I could go on and on bashing this piece of garbage; I am shocked that the critics have been so kind to it. I think they expect so little from Lucasfilm these days, that they've just thrown their hands up in surrender and said, "If you can't beat 'em, join 'em."

Spielberg and Lucas have become too diplomatic in their old age. They've lost the rebellious edge they had in their younger years. I really think they should leave the action blockbusters up to the next generation. Movies like Pirates of the Caribbean (Gore Verbinski) and Spider-Man (Sam Raimi) leave Indy 4 and the Star Wars prequels in the dust. It's a sign of the changing of the guard."

- Scott C. Clements

Thanks for your review, Scott! Even though we enjoyed the movie, we know a lot of fans didn't.

We'd like to know how our other listeners feel about the movie, too. Leave a comment and let us know what you think!

Last of New Jersey Callahan's hot dog restaurant closes

Callahan's, a northern NJ institution in the realm of hot dog joints, has closed its last location this month, on Route 46 in Little Ferry. The small chain was begun by Artie Castrianni in 1950 in Fort Lee. That site and one in Hasbrouck Heights also closed. Really stinks for me, I used to get a burger and fries there for lunch. Leaves only places like the great Rutt's Hutt in Clifton and a few Stewart's locations and places similar as old time NJ eateries.

George Carlin

George Carlin

George Carlin
Born: May 12, 1937
Died: June 22, 2008 (age 71)

George Carlin was a Grammy-winning stand-up comedian, actor, and author noted for his political and dark humor. Carlin's "Seven Dirty Words" comedy routine was central to the 1978 U.S. Supreme Court case F.C.C. v. Pacifica Foundation, in which the judges ruled in favor of the government, granting it the right to regulate Carlin's act on the TV and radio.

From 1963 to 2008, George Carlin had thirteen HBO comedy specials, starred in his own sitcom The George Carlin Show, wrote five books, and released twenty-three albums. He appeared in sixteen movies, including Car Wash (1976), Bill & Ted's Excellent Adventure (1989), Bill & Ted's Bogus Journey (1991), Dogma (1999), and Jersey Girl (2004). He was also the first host of Saturday Night Live, which debuted in 1975.

On June 22, 2008, Carlin complained of chest pain and went to St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica, California. Carlin died of heart failure at the age of 71. He had a history of heart attacks, beginning in the late 1970s.

On a Paunch note, without George Carlin, there would probably not be a Paunch Stevenson Show. Our cynical wit we learned from the master.

iPhone Idiots

Flickr - Apple Store, 5th Ave., NYC 7/12/08 (19 photos)

On Saturday, July 12, 2008, I went to the Apple Store on 5th Ave. in Manhattan. This location is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week. So how come I couldn't go in?

The answer: because hundreds of people were lined up outside waiting to buy the new iPhone 3G and the Apple Store employees were only letting a few people into the store at a time. People like me who weren't buying an iPhone had to wait in a separate line. The entire ordeal was ridiculous and unnecessary.

I hate waiting in line for five minutes at the grocery store, yet these fools were perfectly happy waiting in line for eight or nine hours to buy a telephone. You'd think it were a brand new invention.

What's even more stupid is most of these idiots already have an iPhone from a year ago that's 99% identical to the new one.

Silver Spurs Stinks

a rotten salad at Silver Spurs in NYC

There's a restaurant called Silver Spurs on the corner of Broadway and E. 9th St. in Manhattan, only a few blocks away from Union Square Park. I've walked by it many times, but never ate there until this past Friday.

I went in and ordered the Salada Georgie. The description: "chicken chunks n' shrimp combo atop garden-fresh greens, avocado." The price: $12.75.

Service was below average, but that's usually the case in NYC. I'm used to it by now. What I'm not used to is paying $12.75 for a salad that consists of rotten lettuce and shrimp that still has the shell on it.

I didn't send the salad back or talk to the manager. A customer should never have to do that in the first place. Besides, what would the salad have been replaced with, more rotten salad?

I thought to myself, "How does the chef know he or she didn't prepare this salad for a food critic?" Then I realized, I criticize movies, TV shows, video games, music, and people on The Paunch Stevenson Show all the time, so why not food, too? Hence, this blog entry.

I even took a picture, so you can see the disgusting rip-off salad for yourself. Obviously, I won't be eating at Silver Spurs again.

Nicholas Cage: Unintentionally Hilarious

posted on Jul 25, 2008 | Comments (1)

Several times during the history of The Paunch Stevenson Show, we've joked about Nicholas Cage's goofy acting style and voice. As recently as episode 107, we goofed on how he has become this sort of cult joke, similar to Steven Seagal or Tom Cruise. How can even his serious films, let alone his horror films, be taken seriously?

Well, here are some photos and videos from two instances, Grindhouse (2007) and The Wicker Man (2006). In the Grindhouse double-feature, Rob Zombie contributed a mock trailer called Werewolf Women of the SS. At the end is a cameo from Mr. Cage, dressed as the infamous 1950s B movie character Dr. Fu Manchu. He starts screaming and yelling and doing this horrible laugh:

Nicholas Cage as Dr. Fu Manchu

The Wicker Man: again, this was supposed to be a horror film? Cage is dressed in a bear costume, stung in the head by thousands of bees, keeps punching women in the face, and finally is set on fire and burned alive:

Nicholas Cage about to be burned aliveNicholas Cage in a bear suitNicholas Cage stung in the head by beesNicholas Cage chased by bees

Here's an absolutely terrific video remix of clips from The Wicker Man on YouTube, set to Johnny Cash's "Ring of Fire:"

There's also a "comedy" trailer created by a fan. Priceless!

That Asian Thing, NYC 7/27/08

As discussed in episode 107, Greg and I saw the documentary film That Asian Thing in NYC today, July 27, 2008, as part of the Tribeca Cinemas Independent Features Film Festival. It was written and directed by our longtime friend and Paunch Stevenson Show guest Jonald Reyes.

The film was thought-provoking and humorous. Good job! Afterwards, Jonald held a questions-and-answers session with the audience, during which a woman was being projected onto the movie screen via webcam. That part was unnecessary and confusing. Who was she and what did she have to do with anything?

Gary Coleman, Minor League Baseball "Player"

posted on Aug 3, 2008 | Comments (1)

Coleman Ejected

Gary Coleman, one of our first Hall of Lamers, decided to be yet another in the long list of celebrities trying their hand at perhaps the most difficult professional sport, baseball. Coleman was thrown out of the game before he even got to bat for the Madison Mallards up in Wisconsin.

Here's the story from The Wisconsin State Journal:

 Herbert determined the (pine tar) amount was illegal and — after Coleman offered to "wipe it off" — also found the bat to be corked. The umpire pulled out a piece of black rubber on the end of the bat and watched several "super balls" spill out of the bat.

 "Looks like you're going to have a short night," Herbert joked as he threw Coleman out of the game.

 Coleman took more offense with the short joke than he did his ejection, bumping the umpire to the delight of the 5,000-plus in attendance. Eventually, Coleman set up shop behind the third-base bleachers, signing autographs (at $20 a pop) and posing for photos (those were free).

So the whole thing was a joke? We're not laughing. Billy Crystal earlier this year in spring training, did the same kind of stunt, with the Yankees, at age 60, getting one at bat. Garth Brooks spent a whole spring with the Padres in 1999 and the Mets in 2000, although he at least looked the part. Why do these celebrities try these things when they are old, fat, out of shape, and washed up?

Celebrity Look-a-likes in the UK

posted on Sep 10, 2008 | Comments (4)

Somehow, don't ask me how, I came across a celebrity impersonator/look-a-like agency in the United Kingdom called Fake Faces. Some of the stand-ins either look nothing like the real person, or are simply wearing the costume of the celebrity's most famous character, yet bearing little resemblance otherwise.

However, many…in fact most…are very good indeed, almost having me do a triple take. Here's a few spot-on impersonators of some of our favorite celebrities.

Eddie Murphy and Sean Connery:

It's England, so they've gotta have The Beatles (George, Paul, John, and Ringo):

They have a group photo of the George, Paul, and Ringo impersonators with a guy who looks nothing like John Lennon at all. Again, these guys look like the older, modern day Beatles. Perhaps they are insinuating that John Lennon would be fat and wearing a French beret if he were still alive?

For fun, here's a guy who is supposed to be Billy Connolly. He has the expression and the hair down, but he seems to be constantly dying his goatee different colors. Why?

Kelly Ripa and Regis Philbin with NASCAR drivers

On Wednesday, September 10, 2008, Greg and I were audience members at Live with Regis and Kelly. The guest was Wayne Brady. The musical performer was…Wayne Brady, again. There was also a pre-recorded interview with actress Shirley MacLaine. Wow, we woke up at 6:30 a.m. for this?

Then, Regis and Kelly announced they were going to record an extra segment that would air during one of next week's episodes and asked us audience members to stay an extra half hour. To Greg's surprise, the segment featured the top NASCAR drivers, which was great because he's a big fan, but for some reason, they were throwing ice cream at each other. What sense does that make?

In the screen shot above, you can see us in the audience! We're the two pixelated blobs wearing white shirts.

After thinking about it for a while, I realized NASCAR fans must love ice cream, judging from how out of shape many of them are, so maybe the whole thing made sense after all.

Atari 2600 Nostalgia, Web Sites, and Custom Labels

posted on Sep 27, 2008 | Comments (3)

classic Atari logo

Other than Nintendo, Atari is the most widely used and associated name with video gaming. Though the company, as many of us knew it, has been largely out of business for 15 years, it still rules the roost in terms of classic gaming. Like many, the Atari 2600 was the first video game system Rob and I had.

Here are some great web sites dedicated to the Atari family of home consoles and computers:

 Atari Age is unquestionably the central hub for Atari enthusiasts, with its heavily used forum. All the news, finds, information, expertise, and game trading is there. It also has scans of cartridges, boxes, and manuals, plus screenshots, emulators, and ROMs for the Atari 2600, 5200, 7800, Lynx, and Jaguar.
 Atari Guide has a huge amount of game, box, and manual scans for Atari and the NES. It also has a master list of Atari 2600 games and pictures of the cartridges, all in one page.
 Atari Mania takes the visual archive to the utmost degree. There's an enormous amount of scans of games, catalogs, you name it. All Atari systems are covered.
 Atari Protos has the most updated and thorough information and research on the many Atari prototypes and unreleased games that exist. Check it out and find out why games like The A-Team, Garfield, and Planet of the Apes never got released.
 Pitfall Jones has done the unthinkable! He has consolidated all of the scans of cartridges and screenshots of every Atari 5200, 7800, and 8-Bit Computer game! You can see what every cart looked like, all in one place.
 Atari Gaming Headquarters has a wealth of information for all the Atari consoles and computers, as well as Atari developed arcade machines. Marquees, artwork, advertisements, screenshots, and more.
 Atari 8-bit Forever is a tremendous source of information for the long line of Atari 8-bit computers.
 Atari 2600.com is an online store for a large number of hard-to-find classic console parts and games. It is very well maintained.
 Atari 7800.org has the most detailed technical information on the oft-forgotten Atari 7800 Pro System.
 Atari Museum is just what it says it is.
 4 Jays has a ton of products to purchase for classic systems.
 Best Electronics has untold amounts of official Atari vintage products, especially for making repairs.
 The Video Game Critic is my favorite video game quick-review website. He's got just one screenshot, a short paragraph or two, and a grade for each game. His opinion is unbiased and his web site is organized so much better than the overkill you get on sites like IGN.
 Digital Press Video Games has the tremendous game rarity and price guide. Of course, the forum is the hub for all classic and modern gaming discussion, no matter what console or computer.

There is one more website I've come across, the Atari 2600 Label Maker. The Atari 2600 had fantastic and unique artwork on the cartridge labels. Well, now you can make your own Atari game, so to speak! To that end, I've gone a step further (probably right off the cliff) and with the help of Photoshop…

Here are 140 fake labels of Atari 2600 games. Some are prototypes and unreleased games, but most are licensed titles that could have been made in the late 1970s and early 80s for the 2600: TV shows, cartoons, movies, etc. Some of these labels I found on the Atari Age forums and were done by members Marc Oberhäuser, Atariboy2600, and user42. I took some of their work and put it on scans of real cartridges. I created the majority of these labels, though.

In any case, I think this is the largest custom, faux, "what-if" Atari 2600 label archive in one place!

Ooooh…That Smell!

posted on Feb 7, 2009 | Comments (1)

Read all about it.

No, we're not talking about Lynyrd Skynyrd's 1976 song, which was covered nicely by Three Doors Down a few years ago, by the way. It's the infamous maple syrup smell that has wafted throughout Greater New York City at random times over the last 4 years. I've caught a whiff of it many times. Usually when I am walking into work. Sometimes, like just last week, the syrup smell was very pungent, in my house in the middle of the night, with all of the windows closed!

Well, apparently, after hundreds of complaints from city residents over the years, Mayor Michael Bloomberg finally got to the bottom of it. The city and NJ environmental departments tracked the scent (I don't know how they do that) to a small factory in North Bergen, NJ. The factory was making something with the herb fenugreek, which are seeds that contain an aromatic compound, sotolone, that is also found in maple syrup, so they are sometimes used to produce imitation syrup flavoring.

One might think it is nice to smell maple syrup in the air, that this should mask out the foul odors which have become a punchline for New Jersey. No I say. No. If I wanted to smell maple syrup, I want to be eating a flap jack!

As I've mentioned in episodes past, I am an avid motorsports fan, including the IndyCar series. The series will be shown for the first time on Comcast's fledgling Versus network. Below is a promo from Versus for the coverage. It's a short one done all in computer animation, where the cars transform into animals. Though this is not affiliated with Hasbro or Transformers at all. Yet another example though of the classic and proper way to animate a "Transformer." Unlike the nonsense from Michael Bay.

"Disney only ever made one movie and they've been tracing it ever since."

If you think Filmation's technique of reusing stock footage in the 1980s was a bit excessive, this video demonstrates that Disney has been doing the same thing for decades. The difference is Filmation was producing daily cartoon shows for TV and Disney is producing big-budget theatrical films.

Politicians

The Paunch Stevenson Show Lame Idiot of The Year Award

Normally one big time dimwit gets to win The Paunch Stevenson Show Lame Idiot of the Year Award. Well in 2010, one award was not enough for the cesspool of loserdom otherwise known as American politics. It was a banner year.

1) The "Tea Party" were in full force on the prime issues of the day, first and foremost, that President Obama did not have a birth certificate. Throughout the year, spillover from 2009 in fact, was the battle over Healthcare. Well, the lack of affordable healthcare. As the right wing screamed and yelled about socialism, working people continued to get the shaft. Get sick, don't look at us, it's your problem.

2) Those lovelies were egged on by the grand phony himself Glenn Beck of Fox News.

3) Let's not forget the lack of climate change reform, which has led to a miserable winter where snow is everywhere. More importantly, who can forget the decades of political favors paid to the oil industry. They returned the favor by causing the worst oil spill in US history. BP Chairman Tony Hayward reacted by complaining about not being able to get back to his yachting.

4) And lastly, our wonderful home state of New Jersey has a new Governor, Chris Christie, who fought with everybody. That's not what annoys us. He canceled a project that was long underway to add rail access, via a new tunnel from NJ to NYC. If there's one thing we absolutely abhor, it's our commute to and from work, whether on the roads or on the trains. Any project that lessens the congestion is a wonderful thing. Unfortunately, the governor didn't think so.

In episode 167 and 170 of The Paunch Stevenson Show, Greg and I shared our disgust for stupid talentless dummies getting famous and making millions of dollars for nothing. Is it because we're jealous and bitter about our own lack of fame? Nope! Edie Falco, a famous actress, feels the same way!

When asked if she watches reality television, Falco said, "Who are these people and why are they famous and why are they advertising things and being asked their opinions about things? I just don't understand what these people did to be in a position of having everyone ask their opinions about stuff."

"Who the hell is Kim Kardashian? If there's something about her personality or something that she's accomplished or her philosophy on something – but beyond that I don't understand what's happening. It's actually frightening."

Edie Falco, you summed up our feelings perfectly. How about being a guest on our show? You'd fit right in!

Review of Jeff Bridges' New Album

posted on Aug 31, 2011 | Comments (0)

So the great Jeff "It's Me Barney" Bridges just released his second musical album Jeff Bridges, first since 2000's Be Here Soon. This new album is sort of a continuation of Jeff's work in the film Crazy Heart (2009), about a down and out country singer. He worked with highly successful producer T-Bone Burnett on the album. This album is definitely country, but it's old school country, which is why the country music press hated it! I personally hate newer country, essentially everything made from Billy Ray Cyrus onwards. Anyway, Rolling Stone Magazine gave it 3 out of 5, which I'd probably agree with. Several of the songs were just way too slow and bogged down, although a few were very good, and one is now stuck in my damn head! Here's a quick rundown of the tracks in the CD I got, with 2 Barnes & Noble bonus tracks:

 What a Little Bit of Love Can Do -> The signature track, very catchy, Bridges voice actually works quite well with this song.
 Falling Short -> This is a strange one, seems to go nowhere.
 Everything But Love -> Folksy, very pleasant.
 Tumbling Vine -> Like track 2, written by Jeff Bridges, in the tone of "The Dude," and highly psychedelic.
 Nothing Yet -> Another slow one, put me to sleep.
 Blue Car -> A nice poppy folk song with a easy beat (though slow).
 Maybe I Missed the Point -> Easily my favorite track, and now stuck in my head. Wish he did the whole album like this.
 Slow Boat -> Spoken word? Why?
 Either Way -> Dullish love song.
 The Quest -> Old school country song.
 I Will Wait -> First B&N exclusive bonus, modest.
 Shotgun Bride -> Second B&N exclusive bonus, kind of falls off the cliff.
 Drag Me To The Party -> Amazon MP3 exclusive, more odd spoken words.

Oh, and surprise, I got to meet Jeff Bridges at the Fifth Avenue Barnes & Noble in New York! Here's his signed CD cover and my picture just before getting it signed. We'll talk about the encounter in Episode 177.

Charlie Sheen

posted on Dec 31, 2011 | Comments (0)

Charlie Sheen The Paunch Stevenson Show Lame Idiot of The Year Award

Charlie Sheen is the winner of The Paunch Stevenson Show Lame Idiot of 2011 Award.

Last October, Charlie Sheen was busted for trashing a swank hotel room at New York's Plaza Hotel, admitting to using drugs and having a hooker over. In the face of controversy, Sheen admitted himself to his third attempt at "home rehab." With CBS growing anxious, they decided to halt production on his hit show Two and a Half Men, which infuriated Sheen. He took to the airwaves and the internet, blasted the studio, the network, and the show's creator Chuck Lorre, and refusing to come back to work without a 50% raise. Eventually Sheen was fired, losing his $1.8 million dollar an episode salary.

Shortly after being fired, child services removed his toddler children from his house, where Sheen lived with former porn stars. His ex-wife Brooke Mueller, gets into worse trouble than Charlie. Sheen became an internet sensation, but tweeting nonsensical things like "Duh, winning", "Tiger Blood", and "Warlock." He would repeat these things in prime time interviews, including a bizarre night on Pierce Morgan's show, in which Charlie was clearly wasted. Sheen attempted multiple comebacks by hosting web cam shows, where he spewed more craziness, and a video on Funny or Die.com where he cooked food mixed with cigarettes.

Lastly, Charlie attempted a comedy/improv tour, but he was booed off the stage in Chicago and Detroit, and quit shortly thereafter. He also claimed to be starring in a new movie, Major League 3, even though that film was already produced over 10 years ago with Scott Bakula. Somehow, Sheen, like Keith Richards, has managed not to kill himself, so we expect he'll eventually return to film and TV. Where's Hot Shots part Twee?

Microsoft Xbox One

POSTED ONDECEMBER 29, 2013

xbox_one The Paunch Stevenson Show Lame Idiot of The Year Award

The design, marketing, public relations, and executive team for the newly released Microsoft Xbox One console are the winner of The Paunch Stevenson Show Lame Idiot of 2013 Award. Granted the system has already sold quite well, but Microsoft went from being the dominant seventh generation system (everywhere but Japan) to Sony's doormat.

Why did this happen? First there's the price, debuting at $499, a full $100 more than the Playstation 4. That was thanks to the Kinect device, which all consumers are forced to buy whether they want it or not. Second issue was maybe the most vocal among hardcore gamers: DRM. DRM is digital rights management, and basically means that even though you physically own a game, you kind of don't! The initial plan was that you buy a game, install it to the hard drive, but then couldn't bring it to a friend's house, trade it into a game store, etc., without severe restrictions. Despite highly negative reactions to rumors about this, Microsoft refused to discuss it and after the details were announced, refused to dump the policy for many months.

Hardware wise, the system (like PS4) comes with a 500 GB hard drive. However, unlike PS4, nobody has any idea how you can replace or upgrade the drive in an XBox One. Brilliant. Additional ambiguity is the need to have the system connected to the internet to function, something that isn't possible for all users everywhere in the world. In one instance, an Xbox executive caustically admonished American military troops overseas for complaining that they couldn't keep a system online like that in the middle of the desert. The executive told them "to shut up and keep playing the Xbox 360." Not to mention certain privacy concerns.

Lastly, there's the highly confusing name, Xbox One, which is what most of us have been calling the first Xbox released in 2001. Now Microsoft has relented on certain issues like DRM, and their mistreatment/draconian policies for Indie-game developers. But the damage was done. Lame!!!!!!!

Bill Cosby is the winner of The Paunch Stevenson Show Lame Idiot of 2014 Award.

At one time, Bill Cosby was the biggest TV star in America and everyone's favorite ghost dad. He was one of the top comedians of his generation. He was also the host of Picture Pages and starred in Fat Albert and the Cosby Kids, The Cosby Show, Cosby, and I Spy. And for years, he sold us Jell-O pudding and Texas Instruments home computers.

In 2014, after a comment at a comedy club by comedian Hannibal Buress quickly went viral, the allegations poured in. Around two dozen women, including Lou Ferrigno's wife, have accused Cosby of drugging their drinks and sexually assaulting them. Yet somehow the Coz continues his comedy tour. Appalling and very, very lame.
