ROB & GREG

THE PAUNCH STEVENSON SHOW

2005–2022
Hosted by Rob and Greg

Greg & Rob from New Jersey started The Paunch Stevenson Show, “The Ultimate Pop Culture Podcast”, way back in October 2005. Frank added their complete archive to Onsug in January 2013, and posts all their new episodes as well. Rob has known Frank since 2000, when they were both part of the band Fuzzy Daupner.

BECKY

BI-COASTAL BECKY

2010–2016
Hosted by Bi-Coastal Becky

Bi-Coastal Becky has been a listener since 2004. Frank met her in 2005 when he went to California and she picked him up at the airport and took him to Disneyland and Ontario Mills Mall. She was Becky From California until 2010, when she started her show, Bi-Coastal Becky, and began contributing to Overnightscape Central. She has sent boxes of snacks and beverages for him to review and was a subscriber to the ABM Show.

INTO YOUR HEAD

Hosted by Neal from Ireland

Into Your Head podcast is a unique caffeine-fueled acquired-taste barrage of humour and nonsense by Neal from Ireland. Since 2006. 792 episodes were produced between 2006 and 2016.

In March 2020, 221 episodes of Into Your Head were added to the The Onsug, with Neal's blessing. Special thanks to Jan Erik from Norway for sharing his personal collection of episodes, which added a number of shows to the ones Neal had posted to the Internet Archive.

In October 2023, Into Your Head returned after seven years.

WAYNE
SPARETIME RADIO

2010–2012
Hosted by Wayne Reichert

Wayne Reichert from Long Island, NY, joined The Onsug in February 2010, with a reboot of his show, Sparetime Radio. He had a great run of shows, and was a big presence on Onsug for several years. Wayne did shows under a number of different titles – they are all presented here in one list, chronologically.

STEVE DUPONT
The Obtuse Angle

2005-2007

Hosted by Steve Dupont

"A man with one functional brain cell expounds upon life, liberty and the pursuit of coherence."

"Steve Dupont was known for his rants on the Obtuse Angle podcast. After publishing his debut novel Therein Lies the Problem in 2007, Steve left the literary world behind, returning to graduate school and ultimately becoming a Registered Dietitian/Nutritionist."

Steve Dupont, from Birmingham, Alabama, produced his podcast, The Obtuse Angle, from May 2005 to June 2007. After the show ended, Steve pursued a new career as a registered dietitian. You can still find him today at stevedupont.com

In those early days of podcasting, I was a fan of The Obtuse Angle, and Steve also listened to my show, The Overnightscape. We would mention each other's shows, send in comments and emails, and occasionally record audio for the other show.

A few months back, I thought of The Obtuse Angle and started looking to see if any of the episodes were preserved. I was immensely pleased to find that a near-complete archive had been posted to The Internet Archive by archivist "apphands" in December 2021. I found few early episodes which were missing, in another archive posted by archivist Sketch the Cow in March 2019. Then, using the Wayback Machine, I was able to build a full list of episodes, along with show notes. In the end, the archive was complete, except for four episodes. If anyone has copies of these episodes, let me know, and I will add them to the archive.

I contacted Steve Dupont, and he gave his blessing to this new collected archive of The Obtuse Angle.

The show fits in extremely well with the other shows here in Onsug Radio, and I am thrilled to preserve The Obtuse Angle for future generations.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE May 18, 2005 New Podcast Exposes Perils of Brain Damage (Birmingham, Alabama) – The rapidly expanding universe of podcasting grew yet larger today – but not necessarily brighter – with the official launch of The Obtuse Angle, a soliloquy-based program hosted by failed writer/bootlegger Steve Dupont. “It’s a tremendous opportunity for me to … to leverage the sort of … you know what’s weird about leverage?” said Dupont. “Like in judo, a little tiny dude can flip a big huge dude over his back … Hey! You remember that TV show called Sidekicks? Where that little Chinese kid helped Buck Rogers fight crime with his martial arts prowess? That was [expletive deleted] awesome!” Known widely in fringe medical circles as the “Single-Celled Sensation,” because of his remarkable ability to function independently with only one brain cell, Steve Dupont has astounded neurologists for years with his vacuous, yet prolific, ramblings on everything from aardvarks to xenophobia (rarely does he discuss topics beginning with Y or Z, the one notable exception being yuletide cheer and other yuletide-related byproducts). “He demonstrates remarkably little knowledge or expertise in a vast number of arenas,” said Frederick Houthoffengarten, MD, who’s also the founder of The Steve Dupont Project, a medical task force assembled in 1973 to study this unprecedented neurological anomaly. “In spite of its disjointed and altogether illogical nature, Mr. Dupont’s level of cognition far exceeds what many of us ever expected. That is, from an individual whose IQ essentially mirrors that of a PEZ candy dispenser.” Having decided to launch 10 installments of The Obtuse Angle all at once, Dupont posted four longish shows instead and called it a day. In the first episode, entitled “Colin Powell’s Penis,” Dupont shares a rather bizarre conspiracy theory pertaining to the former Secretary of State’s genitalia. In episode two, called “Hotel Room Hole-Up,” he locks himself in a posh Chicago hotel room only to pace frantically and babble on about fetuses, starfish and Jon Bon Jovi’s henchmen. Show number three, “Faux-Bachelor Beachcombing Bonanza,” takes us to the Florida panhandle, where Dupont goes for a long walk on the beach by himself, preoccupied with utopia, scurvy and teenage girls. Then, in show number four, “Full Throttle Stupidity” we bear witness to the mental regression brought on by whiskey and taurine-infused energy drink cocktails, including Dupont’s insistence that trees are not made out of wood, as commonly believed, but dirt. “There’s a real abundance of well-structured, professional, intelligent podcasts out there,” said Donovan Forte of Wired magazine. “And clearly, this isn’t one of them.” To experience The Obtuse Angle podcast, visit: http://obtuseangle.libsyn.com. Due to its caustic psychological effects, however, The National Institutes of

Health (NIH) advises against this. # # #

JEFF FROM HOUSTON
THE MEANDERING MOUSE

2006–2011
Hosted by Jeff from Houston

The Meandering Mouse Podcast – Streams of Consciousness from the Happiest Place on Earth. Real adventures traveling the world!

Meander On! Walt Disney World / Disneyland / Disney Park Adventures in stereo sound and video.

Welcome Disney and Podcast Fans!

Nominated for Best Travel Podcast 2007 and a featured travel podcast in iTunes since 2005! Join Disney theme park enthusiast and your host, Jeff from Houston, on his adventures and mis-adventures at the Disney resorts throughout the WORLD on The Meandering Mouse podcast. The Meandering Mouse audio podcast is a personable take on Disney attractions both large and small including quality stereo audio recorded live in the parks, unique commentary, interesting facts on past attractions, and the occasional wacky surprise. Meandering Mouse Club TV is you chance to take visual adventures throughout ALL the DIsney parks around the globe. Entire coverage of Hong Kong, Tokyo, and Paris will be featured. At the Meandering Mouse Podcast your hosts don't borrow audio from overseas; we go there and share the fun with you through the magic of audio and video. The Meandering Mouse founded The Disney Podcast Network. MMCTV is produced in association with Frikitiki Productions.

Release notes (by Frank Edward Nora, November 2021): In September 2021, Jeff contacted me about archiving The Meandering Mouse in The Onsug. I was happy to do it, as I've known Jeff for a long time, and his rambling, wandering style fits in well with The Onsug. And I'm also a lifelong Disney Parks fan. I converted the MMCTV videos to audio, but the originals can still be seen on YouTube. Enjoy this amazing archive!

Best_Read_Me_Files_Ever

The Wizard of Speed and Time himself, Mike Jittlov, released a free Mac font in 1996, including a massive and amazing set of “Read Me” files. You needed a Mac running OS 9 to read the files properly, but I was able to open them (back when OS X could still emulate OS 9) and convert them to PNG. With Mike’s blessing, I released them as one big PNG in November 2009.

Delicious_Links

I’d used del.icio.us / delicious.com to bookmark links for many years till its demise circa 2015. This is the final export of all my links – it should make for some interesting exploration!

FLEA DEVIL SOLITAIRE FROM ONSUG RADIO

Introduction

Flea Devil Solitaire is a unique card game invented by Frank Edward Nora over the course of 16 years (2007–2023). From its origin as "Shufflin' Jamboreee", to its slow development over the years, to the flurry of activity in 2022 which led to its penultimate form, to the summer 2023 breakthroughs, every step can be heard on Frank's show, The Overnightscape.
This game is a companion to Onsug Radio, and can be played while listening. Flea Devil Solitaire is unique in that you hold the deck in your hands at all times – there is no need to place cards on a flat surface at any time. It also can be paused at any time. It's a pocket game system and natural digital detox.

The theme of the game is buying and selling items at a flea market. That's where the name comes from – "Flea Devil" is a made-up term for someone who is very good at buying and selling things at a flea market.

Being so different from other games, Flea Devil Solitaire can take some time to learn. But once you know it, the deck of cards you've always had will become your best friend. It's a whole new leisure pursuit!

Overview

A Flea Devil Solitaire game is played over a number of rounds. Each round can end in a win, with a score, or a loss, which counts as a strike. Keep playing rounds till you reach your third strike, which ends the game. Then add up your score.

Equipment

Flea Devil Solitaire game uses a 56-card deck – a standard 52-card deck of playing cards, plus two Zonkers (jokers) and two Parking Lots (the other 2 cards that come in most decks). You'll also need a way to keep score – paper or digital.

Zonkers

Zonkers represent weirdos hanging out at the flea market, and are represented by jokers. Unlike jokers – Zonkers are not wild – they just get in the way, and prevent Flea Hops. They have no suit or rank.

Whenever the two Zonkers are adjacent, you can Zonk Out and send one of them face down to the Easy Go, for free. Also, if a Zonker is adjacent to a Parking Lot, you can Zonk Out for free.

Parking Lots

Parking Lots are represented by the two additional cards that come with most playing card decks. Ideally, they should have the same cardback as the rest of the cards – as is the case in some higher-end decks. But it will work no matter what is on the extra cards.

After shuffling, the first move of the round is to choose one of the two Parking Lots to move to the bottom of the deck – to make a dividing line between the Market and the Easy Go (see more details below). If one of the Parking Lots is already at the bottom, you can choose to keep it at the bottom and that counts as moving it. Note that no card in the Market can be moved under this dividing line.

Then, before making any moves, check for a "Hangout" around the other Parking Lot – two cards of the same rank on either side of the Parking Lot. If so, then both those cards – plus their matches – may be hauled for free. If this then brings another matched pair on either side of the Parking Lot, those also and their matches can be removed for free. (After this starting phase, the Hangout move can be done for $3). During this phase, Zonk Outs can also be done (so for example, you can Zonk Out a Zonker next to a Parking Lot, and if that brings up a Hangout – it can still be done for free, since it's before regular gameplay starts).

Note that if both Parking Lots have Hangouts in the initial Market – you still need to move one Parking Lot to the bottom before doing the Hangouts – so only one Parking Lot can benefit from the initial Hangout(s).

As mentioned above, any time a Zonker is adjacent to a Parking Lot, it can be Zonked Out for free.

Areas

There are 3 areas in the game. The Market is the main face-up set of cards. The Bankroll is the set of face-down cards above the Market, and the Easy Go is the set of face-down and face-up cards below the Market.

Shuffling

You can shuffle the deck any way you like, but in keeping with the "table free" nature of the game, shuffling in hand is recommended. I use a combination of overhand and (imperfect) faro shuffles (look them up).

Jamboree

When at round start, after you move your Parking Lot, if you have no Hauls in the Market, and no Flea Hops, Zonk Outs, or Hangouts to make Hauls – meaning you can't get started at all – you have a Jamboree. This counts as a win, with zero score, and adds one free "strike" to the strike total.

Play

Once the cards are shuffled, turn the deck face-up. This is the Market.

In the opening phase, your first move is to move one of the Parking Lots to the bottom of the Market. Then, in the second part of the opening phase, before you make any moves, you may Zonk Out Zonkers, and take free Hangouts if available. Then, regular play begins.

You can "Browse" through the Market without limit, while keeping the order unchanged. There are 7 different moves that can be made. Note: all moves are optional, never "forced" (besides the opening move of putting a Parking Lot on the bottom, which is "forced").

Haul – when 2 cards of the same rank (like 44 or KK) are adjacent (next to each other) you can remove them from the deck. If they are Stuff (ranks 2 through 10) – place them face down above the market in the Bankroll. Each card in the Bankroll is worth one dollar. If they are Royalties (ranks J-Q-K-A), you can choose to Bank them, just like Stuff, or Score them, by placing them face-up in the Easy Go. Note that when a pair of Royalties is Hauled, you can choose to split them – Banking one and Scoring one. Note that any of these moves cannot be reversed once done.

Bargain – you can swap the position of any two adjacent cards in the Market by paying one dollar. To pay one dollar, move a card from the Bankroll to the Easy Go, keeping it face down.

Flea Hop – move a card one or more spaces for free – this is the essential move in Flea Devil Solitaire! In the Market, find a continuous set of two or more cards of the same suit. The leftmost or rightmost of these cards can jump away from the set – moving one or more spaces, by "pushing off" the rest of the cards in the set. For example, if there are three clubs in a row, a jump of one or two spaces can be made. If there are five clubs in a row, a jump of one to four cards can be made. Once the card "lands" from the hop, it may not be in contact with a card of its same suit or a Zonker – so check beforehand. (You can jump over a card of the same suit – what matters is what cards are next to it when it lands).

Devil Hop – a "Devil" is a set of four adjecant cards with one of each suit. If there are two or more Devils in the market, you can Devil Hop. Pay three dollars, and move one Devil next to another Devil. This is a big move that can really change things!

Walky Talky – find a run of three cards in the Market, forward or backward (like 3-4-5 or Q-J-10), the middle card can move next to a matching card in the Market, for three dollars. Note that 2-A-K and K-A-2 are allowed. If the moved cards are Stuff (ranks 2 through 10) – you may turn them into Antiques as opposed to Banking them. To do this, place one or both of the Stuff cards face-up in the Easy Go. At round end, each Antique counts as an Ace

Zonk Out – if two Zonkers are adjacent in the Market, you can move one of them face-down to the Easy Go. You can also Zonk Out if a Zonker is adjacent to a Parking Lot.

Hangout – if there are two cards of the same rank on either side of a single Parking Lot, you may Haul both, along with their matches, if still in the Market, for $3. This is a very powerful move! (Note that, at the very start of the game, this move can be done for free – see above).

Desperado – Three Royalties in the Easy Go can be turned face down in the Easy Go to give you $1. Note that each Antique also counts as a Royality for this. Obviously, you would only do this if you are desperate – as it is taking away from your final score. But it can save the game, sometimes!

Parkinglotageddon – When the other Parking Lot reaches the one at the bottom of the Market, you can send it face down to the Easy Go, and then also teleport the card that was next to it anywhere in the Easy Go. (Note that if both Parking Lots are touching at start of round, Parkinglotageddon doesn't apply, since one must be moved to the bottom of the Market before anything else can happen).

Quadrun – if you Haul four of matching adjacent cards, you can then Haul another set of four matching cards from anywhere in the Market. Note that if there are no more sets of four left, you cannot settle for a pair – it must be a set of four.

Snafu

Mistakes happen in life, and Flea Devil Solitaire is no exception. From dropping cards, to messing up hauls, to shuffling a game in progress, Snafus are going to happen.

If you make an unintentional mistake, and can't undo it, that's a Snafu. The round ends, and you notate a Snafu on your score. The first Snafu is free, counts as a win, and scores zero – but subsequent Snafus in the same game count as a loss, and add a strike.

Scoring

A round can end with a win (by clearing the Market so that only the two Parking Lots, and any remaining Zonkers are left) or a loss (running out of moves before the Market is cleared). Note that you can concede and take a loss at any time in a round.

If won, a round is scored based on the Royalty Scores in the Easy Go. The Bankroll does not count for scoring. Face cards score 1 for the first one, 2 for the second, etc. Multiply the face card score by the number of aces (zero aces counts as one for this purpose). Each Antique (Stuff card) in the Easy Go counts as one Ace. Note that you can win with a score of zero (called a "Wash"). Since this is a bit tough to calculate, use the scoring chart. You can move all the face up Royalties to the top of the deck to make scoring easier (separating Faces and Aces).

Play a sequence of rounds, where each loss is one strike. Play until you reach 3 strikes. Add up the score of all the won rounds. This is your final score.

Can you reach 1,000 points in a single game?

Strategy

Choosing which Parking Lot to move to the bottom of the deck is the first choice you make each round. Proximity to potential Hangout and Zonk Outs can inform this choice.

After this, you need to build up your Bankroll – so find natural Hauls, and make Hauls with Flea Hops and Hangouts. Once you have some Bankroll you can Bargain into more Hauls. Always look at the Flea Hop potential to make a Haul. Walky Talky can help when everything is far away. Always Zonk Out. When Hauling Royalties, you always need to consider the state of the game, if you can afford to Score them as opposed to Banking them? This can be a tough choice, and can really affect the round. Royalty pairs at the edges of the market can be saved till the situation is clearer. Toward endgame, if the Market is tough, you need to figure out which Hauls to go for, considering the Flea Hops that can help. Remember, every Haul brings all the cards closer together – so even if things look bleak, you can often pull off a win.

Shortcuts

When you get the hang of the game, you can take shortcuts. For example, if a Haul is one away, spend $1 and then Haul the two cards, without first moving them together. If there's a Haul two cards apart, and you have at least two dollars in the Bankroll, you can have them pay for themselves, and move straight to the Easy Go. How you handle shortcuts is completely up to you.

The Deck

Playing Flea Devil Solitaire is much easier with the right deck. Premium cards with "silky" finishes tend to work better. Also, playing demands a degree of manual dexterity. If it doesn't come naturally, it will improve over time. Decks can even seem to have different "personalities" – some give you more wins, some less. The best deck I have found to play with is "The Beatles" deck from Theory Eleven.

Zonkertop

If there's a Zonker at the top of the Market, it means the game will be that much easier. So Zonkertop means cool, nice, excellent, etc.

Scoring Table

	0-1 Ace	2 Aces	3 Aces	4 Aces	5 Aces	6 Aces
0 Faces	0	0	0	0	0	0
1 Face	1	2	3	4	5	6
2 Faces	3	6	9	12	15	18
3 Faces	6	12	18	24	30	36
4 Faces	10	20	30	40	50	60
5 Faces	15	30	45	60	75	90
6 Faces	21	42	63	84	105	126
7 Faces	28	56	84	112	140	168
8 Faces	36	72	108	144	180	216
9 Faces	45	90	135	180	225	270
10 Faces	55	110	165	220	275	330
11 Faces	66	132	198	264	330	396
12 Faces	78	156	234	312	390	468

Note: Antiques count as additional Aces – which is why more than 4 Aces are shown. More than 6 Aces is possble, though rare, using Antiques. In this case, multiply the total number of Aces by the value in the "0-1 Ace" column.

Rules Update January 2025

After a great amount of playtesting, these rules are solid, they work.

I did come up with one additional rule, Tramp.

When there is at least one dollar in the bankroll, the top, face down card of the Bankroll can be placed into the Market, as Tramp. It cannot ever move below the bottom Parking Lot. If it ever reaches the Bankroll again, it revert to being a regular dollar in the Bankroll. If there is no remaining Bankroll, and Tramp reaches the top of the Market, it becomes the Bankroll, and revert to being a dollar and is no longer Tramp (though it can be re-inerted into the Market to become Tramp again.)

While in the Market, Tramp is like a wildcard in that it can represent any suit, but it has no defined rank.

So, Tramp can help Flea Hops and Devil Hops by becoming any suit.

There can only be one Tramp at a time.

Rules Update March 2025

Walky Talky – upon activation, middle card can teleport to anywhere in the Market (this then matches the Parkinglotageddon teleport).

Antique – For the "teleport" moves (Walky Talky and Parkinglotaggedon), if the card is teleported to a match, and the card is "stuff" (2–10) as opposed to "royalty' (J,Q,K,A) – one or both of the matched cards can be placed face up in Easy Go to count as Aces. This must happen immediately. If another move is made after the teleport, Antique is no longer possible. (This relates to the need for the game to be "pausable" at any time with full game info intact, and there would be no way to record whether or not a pair could be hauled as an antique after the fact).

Crack of Dawn – after the very first move of the game (moving one parking lot to the bottom of the market), you enter "Crack of Dawn", in which "Hangout" can be done for free. "Zonk Outs". Zonk Outs are also permitted during this phase. The phase ends when a move other than "Hangout" or "Zonk Out" is made. Nested Hangouts are possible, for a "double crack", triple crack", etc.

Hangout – upon activation (free during Crack of Dawn, $4 after), when there are matching rank cards on either side of the main parking lot, those two cards, along with their matches elsewhere in the Market, are Hauled immediately. Note that, if the other pair matching the cards is already out of the Market, it would be cheaper to Bargain that to Hangout.

Devil Hop – the charge for Devil Hop is now $2 (down from $3)

Clarification on the 13 moves:

FREE MOVES
Haul
Flea Hop
Zonk Out
Crack of Dawn
Parkinglotageddon
Quadrun
Tramp

$1 MOVE
Bargain

$2 MOVE
Devil Hop

$3 MOVE
Walky Talky

$4 MOVE
Hangout (after Crack of Dawn)

SPECIAL MOVES
Desperado (does not cost dollars, but does "cost" royalties)
Antique ($3 if using Walky Talky, free if using Parkinglotageddon)

Rules Update April 2025

Zilch – winning the game with zero points in a "Zilch". If you get a third Zilch, the game is over, similar to getting three losses. Zilches and Losses are counted separately. So you could have two Losses and two Zilches and still be in the game. But a third Loss or third Zilch will end the game. Note that if you are heading for a Zilch, you can choose to resign and take a strike instead.

Tramp can Zonk Out Zonkers when adjacent to them.

Tramp can itself hop using Flea Hop

Rules Update April 2025

When clearing the Market, if Tramp is stuck between the two Parking Lots, it needs to be moved to the Bankroll by spending $1. If the Bankroll is empty, and no Desperado is available, the game is a loss, as the Market is not fully cleared. This situation is called Tramplock.

New rule: Plus. In a won game, add the number of dollars left in the Bankroll, divided by three, to your final score. That is, for every three dollars left in the bankroll at the end of the game, add one point to your score. For example, if you have $5 left in the Bankroll, you'd add one point. If you had $10, you'd add three points.

Rules Update May 2025

Crack of Dawn, when Hangouts are free, lasts until the first dollar enters the Easy Go.

Parking Lots – start of game, if after shuffling a Parking Lot is already at the bottom of the Market, you then bypass the need to move a Parking Lot to the bottom of the Market – the one that's there stays there. (This rule update is in the interest of allowing the game to be "pausable" at any time and still contain all needed information.)

Thinking about a few rule changes… such as Parkinglotageddon, teleport a card, which can currently make an Antique, maybe rescind the Antique part? Reasoning… at end of a won game, often you can make an Antique without really trying, which is kind of not cool.

Also, Zilch as opposed to Strike… thinking that Zilch could just be a Strike, to make things simpler. Reasoning… keeping track of Zilch and Strikes is kind of overkill, too much, too complicated.

Also, Plus… seems like a lot of work for little reward… maybe eliminate it?Or, maybe, for each X cards you can use one card in the Bankroll as an Ace or Face… I'll think about it…

Rules Update May 2025 II

After Hours – this is the new name for the Minus/Plus. At game end, for every 6 dollars in the Bankroll, a card in the Bankroll can be moved face up to the Easy Go as Royalties. Still fine-tuning the number. With the new Zilch rule (below) maybe it should be reduced to, say, 5?

Valet – new name for Parkinglotageddon. Same as before, but cannot make Antiques.

Zilch – major new rule. Zilch is a score of zero, and counts as a Strike. Now, you multiply the Faces times the Aces, but zero Aces gives a score of Zilch!

Rules Update August 2025

After Hours – keeping the value at 6 cards has been working out well.

Hangout – If there's a Zonker on each side of a Parking Lot, you can remove (send to Easy Go face down) both of them for free.

THE DIGITAL EXTENSION

The Digital Extension is digital-only addition to Onsug Radio. It contains all show art and show descriptions, and The Grand Chronology, listing all shows in chronological order. It also contains The Old Channel List, which is how the archive is currently organized on The Internet Archive.

At the time of this book's publication, The Digital Extension is still a work in progress. It will hopefully be completed sometime in 2024.

THE FILES

All files are available on The Internet Archive. However, I have put together a set of the same files, in much better order, which can fit on a 1TB drive. Right now, there is not an easy wat to distribute these files. Hopefully I will come up with a way sometime in the future.

Nightstation PC Demo Discovered [10/4/21]

Back in 2014 I made a VR demo called "Nightstation Ride One" which I presented at the SVVR conference in Mountain View, California.

It was the next year, I think, that I thought to make a non-VR version of it – and I recently found it!

It runs great on my laptop. It's Windows only. Download:

http://www.theovernightscape.com/shows/Nightstation_Ride_One_PC_win32.zip

Instructions: Move mouse to look around. Hit ALT-F4 to quit.

As this is an old demo, I don't know how well it will work on any other computer, so use with caution.

Here's an old video of the VR version. The non-VR version does not have the "split screen" effect:

Onsug Radio Update – October 2021 Added [11/3/21]

The Meandering Mouse podcast archive added to The Onsug [11/24/21]

Onsug Radio 823 – The Meandering Mouse

Release notes (by Frank Edward Nora, November 2021): In September 2021, Jeff contacted me about archiving The Meandering Mouse in The Onsug. I was happy to do it, as I've known Jeff for a long time, and his rambling, wandering style fits in well with The Onsug. And I'm also a lifelong Disney Parks fan. I converted the MMCTV videos to audio, but the originals can still be seen on YouTube. Enjoy this amazing archive!

Some Content Temporarily Offline [5/17/22]

My web host automatically moved a large folder of content, and I am in the process of working with them to restore it. Till then, some stuff will not be accessible.

Site Content Partially Restored [5/21/22]

Recently, my web host moved a large directory of content offsite. While I can't bring it all back, I did restore all site images, and all shows from 2022.

So, some shows from before 2022 may not be able to be played or downloaded from the site for the time being. But, remember, all shows are available in the archive at:

Leisure Cassette System [7/20/23]

Sit back, relax, and chill out with Leisure Cassette System. Featuring 500 songs for over 25 hours of music, this set was created to be background music for Onsug Radio, but it can be used far beyond that. Just set it on shuffle and feel your troubles slipping away with the late night groove. Produced on a MadPlayer with software version P1.29.06, on the Cool Mix setting, by Tree Bag Ask (aka Frank Edward Nora). Mastered in Reason, with songs named in semi-random fashion using Oren Tirosh's mnemonic word list. See also Frank's previous similar projects, Midnight Cassette System (2010), New Midnight Cassette System (2012), and 500 Song Trip (2012). Released 7/20/23.

Site Hosting Issues [2/12/24]

The site has run into some hosting issues, which I'm currently working on resolving.

You may notice some shows or art will not be available at this time.

Site Hosting Issues – Update [2/14/24]

I think I found a solution – but it may take a few days to implement. It should restore all the missing shows, going back at least a year.

I fixed the shows from this month (Feb. 2024) that were not playing.

For those posting shows – there will be a new FTP account after the fix. For now, email me about posting.

Site Hosting Issues – Update 2 [2/14/24]

I upgraded the server to a higher tier, which should prevent any further mass file deletions by the web hosting company.

The site had crashed upon migration, but somehow I fixed it, with one line of code.

Still in the process of restoring content, and fixing the FTP for other hosts posting.

Site Hosting Issues – Update 3 [2/14/24]

For hosts posting their shows – I think I got everything back to how it was. You can use the same FTP login you've been using.

All that's left to do is to re-upload the missing files.

Once done, all shows from the past year or two should play on the site. The rest can be heard in the archive.

Site Hosting Issues – Update 4 [2/15/24]

Unfortunately, the files were never transferred over to the new server – though it said they were being transferred. I contacted support and they said they will need to manually migrate the files.

I thought everything was fixed, but who knows what will happen on the new server.

Site Hosting Issues – Update 5 [2/17/24]

We are on the new server, and things seem to be working!

If you are posting to the site, everything should be the same as before.

Let me know if you run into any issues.

Whychock [7/27/24]

Whychock.pdf

Whychock is a continuation of Thinkfank (thinkfang.com), a book of psychedelic Gen X poetry by me, Frank Edward Nora, host of The Overnightscape podcast, on Onsug Radio (onsug.com). The project began in the early 1990s as Superior, and was a regular feature in my ezine OsoaWeek, starting with the first issue on 7/28/94. Over the course of its run in OsoaWeek till its end on 2/16/03, Superior went through three more phases: Parking, Duskaway, and Hurricaner. A fifth phase, Thinkfang, began on 6/19/04 and lasted till 12/2/07, with the last poem suggesting an addition phase to bring the total number of poems to 1,254 (209×6). This then, that that final phase, which took over seven years to complete. The final poem was finished being written on 7/27/24, making the total length of the project exactly 30 years.

But that's not all! This year, 2024, I began a process to review the entire work, and remove any text that I felt wasn't good, to arrive at a new version that would hopefully be much better, on the whole. This new work is called Whychock Revival, and will be released later this year.

Pocket Onsug Radio – Limited Edition [11/15/24]

Pocket Onsug Radio is a 256GB flash drive containing the entire Onsug Radio audio archive in "lo-fi" audio (complete up to October 2024), plus extras, in a limited edition of 11 copies.

The idea is to get some backup copies of the archive out there. We use the Internet Archive as our main archive copy, and since it's been having difficulties recently, I wanted to make this alternate copy.

So, if you'd like to help out by keeping a copy in your possession, and are open to the possibility of making additional copies for others (additional cover stickers will be included), please request a copy by emailing my at frank@theovernightscape.com

To browse the files in Pocket Onsug Radio without a copy, you can use this Virtual Volumes View (VVV) catalog:

Pocket_Onsug_Radio_Catalog.zip

A portable Windows copy of VVV is included. Mac and Linux versions can be found online.

(The specific flash drive used is "SanDisk 256GB Ultra Dual Drive USB Type-C – USB-C, USB 3.1 – SDDDC2-256G-G46,Black")

The Obtuse Angle podcast archive added to Onsug Radio [2/18/25]

Onsug Radio 811 – The Obtuse Angle

"A man with one functional brain cell expounds upon life, liberty and the pursuit of coherence."

"Steve Dupont was known for his rants on the Obtuse Angle podcast. After publishing his debut novel Therein Lies the Problem in 2007, Steve left the literary world behind, returning to graduate school and ultimately becoming a Registered Dietitian/Nutritionist."

Steve Dupont, from Birmingham, Alabama, produced his podcast, The Obtuse Angle, from May 2005 to June 2007. After the show ended, Steve pursued a new career as a registered dietitian. You can still find him today at stevedupont.com

In those early days of podcasting, I was a fan of The Obtuse Angle, and Steve also listened to my show, The Overnightscape. We would mention each other's shows, send in comments and emails, and occasionally record audio for the other show.

A few months back, I thought of The Obtuse Angle and started looking to see if any of the episodes were preserved. I was immensely pleased to find that a near-complete archive had been posted to The Internet Archive by archivist "apphands" in December 2021. I found few early episodes which were missing, in another archive posted by archivist Sketch the Cow in March 2019. Then, using the Wayback Machine, I was able to build a full list of episodes, along with show notes. In the end, the archive was complete, except for four episodes. If anyone has copies of these episodes, let me know, and I will add them to the archive.

I contacted Steve Dupont, and he gave his blessing to this new collected archive of The Obtuse Angle.

The show fits in extremely well with the other shows here in Onsug Radio, and I am thrilled to preserve The Obtuse Angle for future generations.

Legacy Show Creators [9/13/25]

Shows on Onsug Radio are produced by independent creators, and are all released under a Creative Commons license. At the time of the release of each show, it is the intent of each creator to be associated with Onsug Radio.

Sometimes, unfortunately, show creators move on in life, and are no longer associated with Onsug Radio. These are "Legacy Show Creators" (see list below). In this case, their shows remain in the archive under the original Creative Commons licenses, which are perpetual and non-revokable (until such time that the work enters the public domain).

https://commons.m.wikimedia.org/wiki/Commons:License_revocation

Onsug Radio has no exclusive rights to any shows archived on Onsug Radio. The rights granted in the Creative Commons licenses apply to the public at large. Anyone may duplicate and share the shows within the provisions in the Creative Commons licenses.

With this in mind, we encourage everyone to download and save their own copies of parts of, or the entire archive, to preserve and share. We are committed to preserving the complete Onsug Radio archive on into the far future, so that new generations of listeners can enjoy the audio treasures within.

Some shows, such as The Meanderer and Post-Arlen Monologix, are added directly to the archive without being posted on onsug.com.

This time, I also caught up with Into Your Head directly in the archive, as I'd fallen behind posting them on onsug.com.

CHANNEL LIST

As of the end of October 2025:

244 Channels
12,588 Tracks
661:09:13:52
15,873 hours
1 year, 9 months, and 22.2 days of audio
862 GB

The Onsug is the complete archive of The Overnightscape Underground ("Onsug" for short), a little network of talk shows with a laid-back, late-night style. Our hosts record for you, the future archive listener, and all episodes are preserved for easy listening, anytime. Topics are wide-ranging, and include pop culture, food, technology, weirdness, coffee, TV, philosophy, old time radio, NYC, time travel, whiskey, popcorn, cartoons, and the mysteries and pleasures of life.

This book contains complete track listings and show notes. You can browse or search, then note the channel number on each listing (3 digits in brackets). It can all be heard at:
archive.org/details/onsugradio

Note that Onsug Radio is organized in the archive by Channel. Up to March 2016, the set is organized by show. Starting in April 2016, each Channel is a monthly update, containing all shows released that month. However, the Companion organizes the entire archive by show in the Omnibus listings.

Topics: The Overnightscape Underground, Onsug Radio, Pop Culture, Weirdness, Eclectic, Freeform, Night Radio, Monologues, Stream of Consciousness, Talk Shows, Weird Old Variety, Rampling, Ramplers, Comfortable Weird Audio Travels

Enjoy exploring Onsug Radio!

For a complete, searchable list of all tracks and show notes, check out the Onsug Radio Companion

Onsug Radio - Pocket Edition collects each channel into a single audio file (at lower quality) for easier downloading.

Hosted by Frank Edward Nora
========== ==========

The Frank Nora Show starts as the "ug" hosting level of the early phase of The Overnightscape Underground, after the 5 "Days". This set starts with a few stray tracks from November 2008 to January 2009 - but then kicks into gear in August 2009 as The Overnightscape Underground become's Frank's new main platform, after he cancels The Overnightscape and The Rampler. Toward the end of September, he finds out his WFMU show has been cancelled as well. And on October 15, Frank decides to take a "radio vacation" to try and figure out how to move forward.

As the Onsug network of shows continues developing in April through June 2010, Frank names his "The Frank Nora Show". He numbers the show starting with 1500, taking into account all previous episodes of The Overnightscape, The Rampler, etc. When Frank revives The Overnightscape in 2011, he does away with this confusing numbering scheme.

Enjoy a wild variety of alternate recordings with the host of The Overnightscape, Frank Edward Nora. First, explore the Outer Boroughs of NYC with Roel from The Netherlands and Manny the Mailman. Then go with Frank to the Podcast Expo in California. And after a trip to Atlantic City, enter the annoying yet fascinating world of "Andy Kaufman Lives". Finally... get ready for some surreal comedy (and hostility) with Mad Mike, on the amazing ABM Show...

A ragtag assortment of Overnightscape-related tracks, including the first two "beta" episodes, a variety of field trips, experiments, concept shows, and much more. The Inramble Audio is the complete sound from a video series that never took off. The Severe Repair Universe is an incomplete reading of Frank's sci-fi novel. Plus dreams, introductions to previous archives, and a set of shows selected for an art gallery in England. A real mixed bag, but you're sure to find a lot to listen to here!

Also included is the Vault, a collection of old websites and files:

Join Frank and Peter on their zany adventures, starting with Train Crap & Blood - a comedy show recorded in Peter's basement room way back in 1991... then revived briefly in 2000. Circumstances required that the show's be name changed, so The Motor Excursion Ruffians arrived in 2001, with 5 occasional episodes recorded up to 2010. Also included are a set of random shows from 1999 to 2013, including several where Frank and Peter are joined by Bryan, forming The Three Weasels...

Sneaky TT began as an experimental video series where Frank commented on public domain videos. Then it became a show where Frank hosted various audio clips and music. Macho Condor used similar audio material, but without commentary. These ideas eventually led to the Other Side of The Overnightscape.

Frank has had a streaming station for various experimental broadcasts over the years. Since August 2015 it has been playing this 87-hour track, Sneaky TT Epic, over and over again, to very few listeners. It's a mind-bending collection of Other Side music and audio tracks. Now you too can listen to it over and over again!

Check out this compilation of music that Frank had a hand in creating or curating. In Fuzzy Daupner, Frank wrote lyrics and co-produced. Frank created his own music under various names like Polar Lion, Little Frankie Nora, Tree Bag Ask, and Choston Bands & Junkard Sane. He collected songs for Trash Am Records and Music for Night Driving in VR, and archived songs for a defunct website, MyVirtualBand. It's an eclectic collection of tunes, most of which you'll find only here.

Onsug Radio - Channel 234
Leisure Cassette System (2023)
by Tree Bag Ask
========== ==========

Sit back, relax, and chill out with Leisure Cassette System. Featuring 500 songs for over 25 hours of music, this set was created to be background music for Onsug Radio, but it can be used far beyond that. Just set it on shuffle and feel your troubles slipping away with the late night groove. Produced on a MadPlayer with software version P1.29.06, on the Cool Mix setting, by Tree Bag Ask (aka Frank Edward Nora). Mastered in Reason, with songs named in semi-random fashion using Oren Tirosh's mnemonic word list. See also Frank's previous similar projects, Midnight Cassette System (2010), New Midnight Cassette System (2012), and 500 Song Trip (2012). Released 7/20/23.

Nightstation Classic 1 (2011)

========== ==========

Nightstation began as an experiment in Internet radio, with the idea of creating "virtual live" broadcasts. Each "patch" was around 8 hours long, and played on a streaming station. While the project didn't last long, the ideas did live on, influencing many later Onsug shows. This selection has the first set of patches by Frank and PQ, from November and December 2011.

Early Eddie: TedPod and Conspiracast (2005-2008)
Hosted by Eddie Murray

Eddie Murray has been a major presence on The Onsug since 2009. He sent Frank his "Trampler Sampler" in May 2009 - the very first show by another host that was added to The Overnightscape Underground - which led to The Onsug as the group channel we know today. Since then, Eddie's done nearly 200 episodes of his shows Trampler, Cloud Base 44/88, and The Wool Gathering. He's also made nearly 100 appearances on Overnightscape Central, and joined in on many Exit Ramps as well.

I'd been aware of Eddie's earlier podcasts - TedPod and Conspiracast - and I wanted to add them to the archive. I was able to find 31 of the 33 episodes of Conspiracast from 2008 on a still-existing "PodOmatic" page. Unfortunately, Eddie couldn't find the two missing episodes - but he did find a hard drive with 41 episodes of TedPod from 2005. We know TedPod went to at least episode 107 in 2007 - but Eddie wasn't able to find any more episodes, and none are to be found online.

I explored the Internet Archive's Wayback Machine to find as much information as I could for both of these shows. We have full original show notes for Conspiracast, and a partial set for TedPod.

On TedPod, similar to a broadcast radio show, Eddie played commercial music tracks - so I went in and edited them out, just leaving the beginning and end of each song, as an aircheck might be edited.

This is truly a remarkable collection. I'm hoping some of the missing episodes may turn up in the future - I may have some on my old CD-Rs and DVD-Rs... if I ever get around to indexing them. And if by chance anyone out there has any missing episodes, let me know.

Into Your Head (2006-2016)
Hosted by Neal from Ireland
221 tracks - 109:32:52

Into Your Head podcast is a unique caffeine-fueled acquired-taste barrage of humour and nonsense by Neal from Ireland. Since 2006. 792 episodes were produced between 2006 and 2016.

In March 2020, 221 episodes of Into Your Head were added to the Onsug Radio Archive, with Neal's blessing. Special thanks to Jan Erik from Norway for sharing his personal collection of episodes, which added a number of shows to the ones Neal had posted to the Internet Archive.

"A man with one functional brain cell expounds upon life, liberty and the pursuit of coherence."

"Steve Dupont was known for his rants on the Obtuse Angle podcast. After publishing his debut novel Therein Lies the Problem in 2007, Steve left the literary world behind, returning to graduate school and ultimately becoming a Registered Dietitian/Nutritionist."

Steve Dupont, from Birmingham, Alabama, produced his podcast, The Obtuse Angle, from May 2005 to June 2007. After the show ended, Steve pursued a new career as a registered dietitian. You can still find him today at stevedupont.com

In those early days of podcasting, I was a fan of The Obtuse Angle, and Steve also listened to my show, The Overnightscape. We would mention each other's shows, send in comments and emails, and occasionally record audio for the other show.

A few months back, I thought of The Obtuse Angle and started looking to see if any of the episodes were preserved. I was immensely pleased to find that a near-complete archive had been posted to The Internet Archive by archivist "apphands" in December 2021. I found few early episodes which were missing, in another archive posted by archivist Sketch the Cow in March 2019. Then, using the Wayback Machine, I was able to build a full list of episodes, along with show notes. In the end, the archive was complete, except for four episodes. If anyone has copies of these episodes, let me know, and I will add them to the archive.

I contacted Steve Dupont, and he gave his blessing to this new collected archive of The Obtuse Angle.

The show fits in extremely well with the other shows here in Onsug Radio, and I am thrilled to preserve The Obtuse Angle for future generations.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE May 18, 2005 New Podcast Exposes Perils of Brain Damage (Birmingham, Alabama) – The rapidly expanding universe of podcasting grew yet larger today – but not necessarily brighter – with the official launch of The Obtuse Angle, a soliloquy-based program hosted by failed writer/bootlegger Steve Dupont. "It's a tremendous opportunity for me to … to leverage the sort of … you know what's weird about leverage?" said Dupont. "Like in judo, a little tiny dude can flip a big huge dude over his back … Hey! You remember that TV show called Sidekicks? Where that little Chinese kid helped Buck Rogers fight crime with his martial arts prowess? That was [expletive deleted] awesome!" Known widely in fringe medical circles as the "Single-Celled Sensation," because of his remarkable ability to function independently with only one brain cell, Steve Dupont has astounded neurologists for years with his vacuous, yet prolific, ramblings on everything from aardvarks to xenophobia (rarely does he discuss topics beginning with Y or Z, the one notable exception being yuletide cheer and other yuletide-related byproducts). “He demonstrates remarkably little knowledge or expertise in a vast number of arenas,” said Frederick Houthoffengarten, MD, who’s also the founder of The Steve Dupont Project, a medical task force assembled in 1973 to study this unprecedented neurological anomaly. “In spite of its disjointed and altogether illogical nature, Mr. Dupont’s level of cognition far exceeds what many of us ever expected. That is, from an individual whose IQ essentially mirrors that of a PEZ candy dispenser.” Having decided to launch 10 installments of The Obtuse Angle all at once, Dupont posted four longish shows instead and called it a day. In the first episode, entitled “Colin Powell’s Penis,” Dupont shares a rather bizarre conspiracy theory pertaining to the former Secretary of State’s genitalia. In episode two, called “Hotel Room Hole-Up,” he locks himself in a posh Chicago hotel room only to pace frantically and babble on about fetuses, starfish and Jon Bon Jovi’s henchmen. Show number three, “Faux-Bachelor Beachcombing Bonanza,” takes us to the Florida panhandle, where Dupont goes for a long walk on the beach by himself, preoccupied with utopia, scurvy and teenage girls. Then, in show number four, “Full Throttle Stupidity” we bear witness to the mental regression brought on by whiskey and taurine-infused energy drink cocktails, including Dupont’s insistence that trees are not made out of wood, as commonly believed, but dirt. “There’s a real abundance of well-structured, professional, intelligent podcasts out there,” said Donovan Forte of Wired magazine. “And clearly, this isn’t one of them.” To experience The Obtuse Angle podcast, visit: http://obtuseangle.libsyn.com. Due to its caustic psychological effects, however, The National Institutes of Health (NIH) advises against this. # # #

The Meandering Mouse Podcast - Streams of Consciousness from the Happiest Place on Earth. Real adventures traveling the world!

Meander On! Walt Disney World / Disneyland / Disney Park Adventures in stereo sound and video.

Welcome Disney and Podcast Fans!

Nominated for Best Travel Podcast 2007 and a featured travel podcast in iTunes since 2005! Join Disney theme park enthusiast and your host, Jeff from Houston, on his adventures and mis-adventures at the Disney resorts throughout the WORLD on The Meandering Mouse podcast. The Meandering Mouse audio podcast is a personable take on Disney attractions both large and small including quality stereo audio recorded live in the parks, unique commentary, interesting facts on past attractions, and the occasional wacky surprise. Meandering Mouse Club TV is you chance to take visual adventures throughout ALL the DIsney parks around the globe. Entire coverage of Hong Kong, Tokyo, and Paris will be featured. At the Meandering Mouse Podcast your hosts don't borrow audio from overseas; we go there and share the fun with you through the magic of audio and video. The Meandering Mouse founded The Disney Podcast Network. MMCTV is produced in association with Frikitiki Productions.

Release notes (by Frank Edward Nora, November 2021): In September 2021, Jeff contacted me about archiving The Meandering Mouse in The Onsug. I was happy to do it, as I've known Jeff for a long time, and his rambling, wandering style fits in well with The Onsug. And I'm also a lifelong Disney Parks fan. I converted the MMCTV videos to audio, but the originals can still be seen on YouTube. Enjoy this amazing archive!

Frank Edward Nora's father, Frank Ralph Nora, passed away on May 11, 2023 at age 81. To celebrate his father's life, Frank has collected all of the interviews he did with him on his podcast, The Overnightscape. Starting in 2005, FRN started telling stories from his days in the Navy, in Liberia in the early 1960s. After that he explored a multitude of topics, including trips, experiences working as a civil engineer in New Jersey, eccentric people he has met, and much more. Also included are several older recordings (1969-1986) featuring FRN. Released 7/13/23

Overnightscape Central – 2017

Hosted by Jimbo / PQ Ribber

Overnightscape Central, hosted by Jimbo / PQ Ribber, is a show where Onsug hosts and listeners are invited to discuss a new topic each week. In 2017, Jimbo hosts the show until November, when he sadly passed away, and PQ takes on hosting duty again. Topics include Your Favorite Snacks, Vic and Sade, Films of Alfred Hitchcock, New Wave Music, Your Grandparents, and Jimbo Remembered.

OVERNIGHTSCAPE CENTRAL [337.b] – Films of Alfred Hitchcock (Addendum) – with Doc Sleaze (5/15/17) 48:39 [914] We are truly blessed at the ONSUG with some very talented people. Though he is quiet, Doc Sleaze continues to impress with his smooth voice and powerful insight – especially in the field of movies. ¶ When Doc Sleaze was a no-show for the prior Overnightscape Central, I was truly disappointed; I knew in my heart that no one at the ONSUG could cover the topic of Hitchcock's films more cleverly, more knowledgeably or with more class than Mr. Sleaze. ¶ However, he did show up (a bit late) and we are proud to provide him a platform with this addendum. And he does not disappoint. If you are a fan of "Hitch", you will wish Doc would talk for hours. He is never boring and he's like a walking Hitchcock encyclopedia. ¶ Please do not miss his very entertaining look at the "Master of Suspense". Jimbo rattles on as well

OVERNIGHTSCAPE CENTRAL [338] – Show of Shows 2017 (5/22/17) 3:18:13 [914] It's time for a Show of Shows! You never know what will happen on one these shows. We'll begin with Shambles Constant, who gives us one of his "Radio Free" shows – in segments! Chad Bowers is in the house doing crazy things as always! Then, Frank Edward Nora brings back his one and only: "EarWeird"! [See the contents] Doc Sleaze shows up with some unusual (for him) "Rural Ramblings"! The always-popular Week-in-Review is here! Lastly, with permission from the pokee, Jimbo pokes fun at Chad -musically- [TITLES: Let's Go to Poncho's and Stuff Ourselves with Some Mexican Food .. (He's Got a) Hitler Haircut .. I am Sitting at My Desk with a Big Iced Tea .. I've Got This Feeling Chad Owns an Amiga .. Listen to the Story that Chad Tells (It Goes Everywhere) .. People of Dallas are Smarter than the People of Mobile .. Chad, You're So Diminutive] Hosted by Jimbo. ¶ You're all invited to be a part of next week's show; you can tell us all what's on your mind about the following topic: ¶ PQ Ribber ¶ Please have your contributions sent to Jimbo by 7 pm EDT, May 29, 2017. OVERNIGHTSCAPE CENTRAL [342] – Collections and Collectables (6/19/17) 2:23:13 [915] An eclectic mix of collectors talk about their collections! ¶ YARDY MCSALESPANTS makes his ONSUG debut and talks Star Wars toys .. DAVE DUCKERT talks about his cartridge collection .. CHAD BOWERS talks in-depth about Hot Wheels cars .. SHAMBLES CONSTANT talks about collecting television shows .. JIMBO has the Week-in-Review .. FRANK EDWARD NORA hits on numerous subjects! ¶ You're all invited to be a part of next week's show; you can tell us all what's on your mind about the following topic: ¶ Weird! ¶ Please have your contributions sent to Jimbo by 7 pm EDT, June 26, 2017. If you know Jimbo's e-mail address, send your contribution there. Otherwise, send your contributions to onsugcentral@gmail.com. ¶ Music credit: Who Can it Be Now? (IGE) [original by Men at Work] (YouTube) ¶ Shout-out to Ruben and Clara!

OVERNIGHTSCAPE CENTRAL [342.b] – Addendum: Doc Sleaze on Collections and Collectables (6/19/17) 40:56 [915] Doc Sleaze talks fluently about collecting, hoarding, The Canadian Pickers TV show, oil can collecting, model railways, sci-fi and men's magazines, finding men's mags as a kid, lack of space, Storage Hunters TV show, Barry Weiss, online magazines, restoring collectables, old but not rare

OVERNIGHTSCAPE CENTRAL [343] – Weird (6/26/17) 2:14:29 [915] PQ Ribber pops up to explain his weirdness and brings new music, Doc Sleaze weighs weirdness, Frank Edward Nora (and Peter) are trippin' in Pennsylvania, Shambles Constant is in a weird mood and Chad Bowers produces his usual weirdness! Plus the Week in Review by your under-the-weather host Jimbo. ¶ You're all invited to be a part of next week's show; you can tell us all what's on your mind about the following topic: ¶ Nobody Told Me… ¶ Please have your contributions sent to Jimbo by 7 pm EDT, July 3, 2017. If you know Jimbo's e-mail address, send your contribution there. Otherwise, send your contributions to onsugcentral@gmail.com. ¶ Thanks to Frank Edward Nora for allowing me to use and abuse his show art! ¶ Music credit: Mama (Angra) (original by Genesis) ¶ The host apologizes for his performance as he was ill for most of the recording.

OVERNIGHTSCAPE CENTRAL [344] – Nobody Told Me (7/3/17) 1:33:29 [916] It's a slow, hot, holiday-like, weekend-like weekday! And that means a slow Central… but not without it's merit! Central veteran Dave Duckert tells an amusing story about alcoholic drinks! Frank Edward Nora shares his world of wisdom with us all! And Jimbo has a big bag of fun at the end of the show, relaying how NOBODY TOLD HIM this, that and the other – plus the Week in Review. Brief holiday fun for one and all. Grab some fireworks and listen to the gang shoot their mouths off! ¶ You're all invited to be a part of next week's show; you can tell us all what's on your mind about the following topic: ¶ Frank Zappa (A guaranteed superfun musicfest!) ¶ Please have your contributions sent to Jimbo by 7 pm EDT, July 10, 2017. OVERNIGHTSCAPE CENTRAL [345] – Frank Zappa (7/10/17) 2:41:47 [916] A celebration of the music, politics, memories and the conspiracy surrounding a no-doubt genius, Frank Zappa. ¶ intro .. Frank Edward Nora explores MK Ultra (etc.) and Zappa .. PQ Ribber recalls fond days growing up with Zappa in his ears .. Marc Rose testifies to the political side of Zappa .. Shambles Constant recalls his few memories of the man .. Your host Jimbo has the Week in Review and explores the musical side of Zappa ¶ You're all invited to be a part of next week's show; you can tell us all what's on your mind about the following topic: Close Calls ¶ Please have your contributions sent to Jimbo by 7 pm EDT, July 17, 2017. If you know Jimbo's e-mail address, send your contribution there. Otherwise, send your contributions to onsugcentral@gmail.com. ¶ Music credit (in order): ¶ Florentine Pogen (intro) (Napoleon Murphy Brock), Uncle Remus (Ike Willis), Call Any Vegetable (Zappatime), Twenty Small Cigars (Tyler Bartram), Zomby Woof (Rachael Flowers), I'm the Slime (The Jauntee), San Ber'dino (unknown), Inca Roads (Mike Keneally and Bryan Beller)

OVERNIGHTSCAPE CENTRAL [346] – Close Calls (7/17/17) 1:49:01 [916] The always-interesting Dave Duckert and Frank Edward Nora share their personal "close calls" with host Jimbo, who brings a bellyful of perilous predicaments to the Central table as well, plus, a surprise or two and the Week in Review! ¶ You're all invited to be a part of next week's show; you can tell us all what's on your mind about the following topic: Strange but True ¶ Please have your contributions sent to Jimbo by 7 pm EDT, July 24, 2017. If you know Jimbo's e-mail address, send your contribution there. Otherwise, send your contributions to onsugcentral@gmail.com. ¶ Thanks to Laura Duyn for the voice work! ¶ Thanks to Frank Edward Nora for allowing me to use and abuse his show art! ¶ "Vic and Sade" was written by Paul Rhymer. Check out Jimbo's THE CRAZY WORLD OF VIC AND SADE for more fun!

OVERNIGHTSCAPE CENTRAL [346.b] – Addendum: Close Calls of Doc Sleaze (7/17/17) 28:25 [916] It's a ONS Central Addendum with Doc Sleaze! He's had some unusual close calls! ¶ Thanks to Frank Edward Nora for allowing me to use and abuse his show art!

OVERNIGHTSCAPE CENTRAL [347] – Strange but True (7/25/17) 3:29:03 [916] It's a STRANGE BUT TRUE BONANZA!! Dave Duckert (from dairy-rich Wisconsin) returns with a couple of strange stories; Chad Bowers shares weirdness two different times, PQ Ribber comes out of the woodwork and does some fancy promoting, Frank Edward Nora's fascination with cartoon owls will be prevalent in his bizarre presentation and Doc Sleaze puts on the presentation of the year with his incredibly creative multi-story feast! Also: Jimbo honestly recounts the most odd moments from his career for all to chew on! Plus the "Week in Review" and fascinating facts galore!! ¶ After the show, check out the 2004 HGTV Dream Home in SE Georgia USA, where Jimbo delivered that pizza he mentioned. ¶ You're all invited to be a part of next week's show; you can tell us all what's on your mind about the following topic: Hero/Almost a Hero ¶ Please have your contributions sent to Jimbo by 7 pm EDT, July 31, 2017. If you know Jimbo's e-mail address, send your contribution there. Otherwise, send your contributions to onsugcentral@gmail.com. ¶ Thanks to Laura Duyn for the voice work!

OVERNIGHTSCAPE CENTRAL [348] – Hero, or Almost a Hero (7/31/17) 2:11:36 [916] If statistics mean anything, then Internet audio pioneer Frank Edward Nora is a HERO. Your host Jimbo has an exclusive, candid interview with him. Chad Bowers has his own Dystopia/hero story; Dave Duckert, from the frozen(?) tundra of Wisconsin, is back with another special story – this one about the time he broke up an 'old boy political network'; Jimbo has a really goofy "Week-in-Review" that you won't want to miss [Godzilla and Timo vs the Kyoto Cicadas?] and later talks about heroes in his life. ¶ You're all invited to be a part of next week's show; you can tell us all what's on your mind about the following topic: 'Aha' Moments (Moments when the light bulb came on!) ¶ Please have your contributions sent to Jimbo by 7 pm EDT, August 7, 2017. If you know Jimbo's e-mail address, send your contribution there. Otherwise, send your contributions to onsugcentral@gmail.com. ¶ Thanks to the talented Laura Duyn for the voice work! ¶ Thanks to Frank Edward Nora for allowing me to use and abuse his show art!

OVERNIGHTSCAPE CENTRAL [349] – Aha! Moments (8/7/17) 2:42:31 [917] Jimbo's no Oprah Winfrey, but like Oprah, he asks the vocal forum to spout their AHA MOMENTS. And the forum responds: Shambles Constant returns (with the story about his newly broken ankle); Dave Duckert talks about his 'blinding flash of light'; Chad Bowers, too, recounts moments of illumination – from a strangely serious point-of-view (I think), Frank Edward Nora talks about AHA MOMENTS in a way that only he can and Doc Sleaze spends a day at the beach and shares some time with us! ¶ Meanwhile, Jimbo has been busy making hay and I'm certain if you will download and listen in and to the end, he will surprise you in ways that may surprise you!! Yes, you read that correctly. Plus, he has a Hall of Fame-type 'Week in Review' — or he modestly thinks so. ¶ So, what are you waiting for? Patch in for fun! ¶ You're all invited to be a part of next week's show; you can tell us all what's on your mind about the following topic: A Tribute to… ¶ Please have your contributions sent to Jimbo by 7 pm EDT, August 14, 2017. If you know Jimbo's e-mail address, send your contribution there. Otherwise, send your contributions to onsugcentral@gmail.com. ¶ Thanks to the talented Laura Duyn for the voice work! ¶ Thanks to Frank Edward Nora for allowing me to use and abuse his show art!

OVERNIGHTSCAPE CENTRAL [350] – A Tribute to… (8/14/17) 2:54:44 [917] Tributes! ¶ Chad Bowers is in the house and takes us along to a Texas grocery store and gives small tributes (plus an interesting 'look' at a North Texas magazine section) .. Dave Duckert's tribute is to his dad and a motorcycle .. Frank Edward Nora has a big tribute to 1982's video games .. Doc Sleaze talks of obituaries and has a tribute to John Heard ..your host Jimbo has a couple of small tributes (to fast-food chain Arbys and another to a young Bill Idelson) – plus the Week in Review! ¶ You're all invited to be a part of next week's show; you can tell us all what's on your mind about the following topic: Disappearance ¶ Please have your contributions sent to Jimbo by 7 pm EDT, August 21, 2017. If you know Jimbo's e-mail address, send your contribution there. Otherwise, send your contributions to onsugcentral@gmail.com. ¶ Thanks to Frank Edward Nora for allowing me to use and abuse his show art!

OVERNIGHTSCAPE CENTRAL [351] – Disappearance (8/21/17) 2:37:21 [917] It's been a week, but we're back! We have NOT disappeared! ¶ Chad Bowers is serious when he talks about the disappearance of truth in media, 'drugstore horses' and other important things; Dave Duckert has three personal stories on exhibit and I think you'll enjoy them all; Doc Sleaze has a few items about news suppressed by the media and disappearances of old TV series and films; Frank Edward Nora talks about the disappearance of all kinds of things and various people in his very interesting piece; and your host Jimbo chimes in with 'disappearance memories' of his own (Mark Fidrych, Bill Idelson, Jerry Lewis – plus the time Jimbo disappeared). ¶ You're all invited to be a part of next week's show; you can tell us all what's on your mind about the following topic: Whatever ¶ Please have your contributions sent to Jimbo by 7 pm EDT, August 28, 2017. If you know Jimbo's e-mail address, send your contribution there. Otherwise, send your contributions to onsugcentral@gmail.com. ¶ A very special thanks to Jeff Pollard and to Shambles Constant for lending their voices to skits on this show.

OVERNIGHTSCAPE CENTRAL [352] – Whatever (8/28/17) 2:43:01 [917] Just… whatever! ¶ Your host Jimbo presents WHATEVER! He and fellow ONSUGgers have skits and the Week in Review; Eddie Murray makes a rare Central appearance and talks about wanting a sailboat, among other things! Chad Bowers is… doing WHATEVER! Dave Duckert talks about… WHATEVER! Frank Edward Nora has a grab bag of audio clips for our listening pleasure! ¶ You're all invited to be a part of next week's show; you can tell us all what's on your mind about the following topic: Embarrassment ¶ Please have your contributions sent to Jimbo by 7 pm EDT, September 4, 2017. If you know Jimbo's e-mail address, send your contribution there. Otherwise, send your contributions to onsugcentral@gmail.com. ¶ A very special thanks to Shambles Constant and to Milt "Mort" Kanes for lending their voices to skits on this show. And to Marc Rose for all of his help!

OVERNIGHTSCAPE CENTRAL [352.b] – Addendum: Ruben Schade's Whatever (8/29/17) 11:07 [917] Australia's Ruben Schade braves the flu to talk about "whatever" in this brief ONS Central Addendum.

OVERNIGHTSCAPE CENTRAL [353] – Embarrassment (9/4/17) 47:51 [918] A very short Overnightscape Central! Frank Edward Nora and Doc Sleaze are the stars of the show! Your host Jimbo has the Week in Review! Woop woop de doo! ¶ You're all invited to be a part of next week's show; you can tell us all what's on your mind about the following topic: For No Reason! ¶ Please have your contributions sent to Jimbo by 7 pm EDT, September 11, 2017. If you know Jimbo's e-mail address, send your contribution there. Otherwise, you can send your contributions to onsugcentral@gmail.com. ¶ Thanks to Frank Edward Nora for allowing me to use and abuse his show art! ¶ Check out Jimbo and PQ Ribber's non-ONSUG podcasts (CLUB 78 and SHORT PLAY) where they play 78s from Archive.org's vast collection! These are updated every few days!

OVERNIGHTSCAPE CENTRAL [354] For No Reason (9/13/17) 2:02:06 [918] Wow, what a week! Jimbo is back from a harrowing experience and his mind is frazzled… but on with the show… ¶ Cali Dingo shows up FOR NO REASON!!!!!!!!! Frank Edward Nora shows up (because he owns the place) but then Dave Duckert shows up FOR

NO REASON!!!!!!!!!! And of course, Jimbo is here with jots and tittles and the Week in Review! ¶ You're all invited to be a part of next week's show; you can tell us all what's on your mind about the following topic: Power ¶ Please have your contributions sent to Jimbo by 7 pm EDT, September 18, 2017. If you know Jimbo's e-mail address, send your contribution there. Otherwise, you can send your contributions to onsugcentral@gmail.com. ¶ Thanks to Frank Edward Nora for allowing me to use and abuse his show art! ¶ Check out Jimbo and PQ Ribber's non-ONSUG podcasts (CLUB 78 and SHORT PLAY) where they play 78s from Archive.org's vast collection! These are updated every few days!

OVERNIGHTSCAPE CENTRAL [355] – Power (9/18/17) 2:40:36 [918] Feel the power of the Central, starring: Dave Duckert (from Wisconsin), Cali Dingo, Doc Sleaze, Frank Edward Nora, PQ Ribber and Chad Bowers. Also, Chad, Frank, Shambles Constant, Jeff Pollard and Marc Rose all bring their incredible thespian resources to us. There are some really great entries in this one that you don't want to miss! Also, Master of Ceremonies, Jimbo, is here with the Week in Review, commentary and much more. ¶ You're all invited to be a part of next week's show; you can tell us all what's on your mind about the following topic: Ridiculous. Please have your contributions sent to Jimbo by 7 pm EDT, September 25, 2017. If you know Jimbo's e-mail address, please send your contribution there. OVERNIGHTSCAPE CENTRAL [357] – Your Grandparents (10/2/17) 3:17:20 [919] We're talking about your grandparents. Well, maybe not YOUR grandparents but… hey, just listen and stop trying to start an argument! ¶ Your host Jimbo talks about his grandparents, their pecans and bananas .. Dave Duckert has humorous tales aplenty .. Chad Bowers takes us back to his Poppy's farm (and more) .. Frank Edward Nora testifies about his grandparents in his very entertaining segment .. Cali Dingo shows off his sly comedic skills and then talks about Disney .. Doc Sleaze humorously remembers his family .. and Jimbo sneaks in the Week in Review ¶ (No Jimbo audio comments for Doc Sleaze because his entry was so late) ¶ This is a very entertaining show! ¶ You're all invited to be a part of next week's show; you can tell us all what's on your mind about the following topic: Your Cousins ¶ Please have your contributions sent to Jimbo by 7 pm EDT, October 9, 2017. If you know Jimbo's e-mail address, send your contribution there. Otherwise, send your contributions to onsugcentral@gmail.com. ¶ Thanks to Frank Edward Nora for allowing me to use and abuse his show art!

OVERNIGHTSCAPE CENTRAL [358] – Your Cousins (10/9/17) 2:08:08 [919] Not quite your brother. Not quite your sister. A hybrid sibling-friend. This is was a cousin is. ¶ Chad Bowers, Dave from Wisconsin, Frank Edward Nora, Cali Dingo and your host, Jimbo kinda-sorta talk about cousins!!! Jimbo has the Week in Review, too! ¶ You're all invited to be a part of next week's show; you can tell us all what's on your mind about the following topic: Your Dream Vacation ¶ Please have your contributions sent to Jimbo by 7 pm EDT, October 16, 2017.
